The party given by Mr. and Mrs Potts last Saturday night, in honor of the 11th anniversary of their daughter Emma's birthday, was greatly enjoyed by all those present. A splendid repast was served. The Clanton string band kindly furnished music for the merriment of the little folks and all went merry as a marriage bell.

There came near being a disastrous accident at Ehrman's Mill last Saturday. The engine pulling the dinkey got from under control of the engineer and ran into the engine room at the Mill damaging things somewhat, but only injuring one man. If the accident had happened a few moments earlier it is believed that several lives would have been lost.

If King Solomon was alive he would now say: "Go to the travelling man, learn his ways, and be wise." Mr. C. W. Battell, a Cincinnati traveling man representing the Queen City Printing Ink Co., after suffering intensely for two or three days with lameness of the of the shoulder, resulting from rheumatism, completely cured it with two applications of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This remedy is gaining a wide reputation for the prompt cures of rheumatism, lame back, sprains, swellings and lameness. 50 cent bottles are for sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and McNeill & Smith, Jemison, Ala.

We enjoyed a visit Friday from Messrs. Jno. Vinson and B. T. Patrick of Kincheon. They are among our best citizens.

Mr. A. C. Pool of Kincheon was a recent visitor. He believes in his county and reaps a good harvest yearly from the soil.

All ye who suffer with bad teeth and are afraid to have them pull because of pain, remember that Dr. Massey will be in Clanton during Circuit Court ready to apply the painless remedy to you.

Our old friend Mr. Boyd died last Tuesday night. For some time he has been quite ill, and death came as a sweet messenger. He has lived a Christian's life for many years and we are sure, has received a bright reward. To the bereaved family we extend heartfelt sympathy.

Death with busy hand has removed from Bozeman the one who for years had given life and energy to the place, J. H. Marbury, after a busy and useful life is dead. Small is the comfort that can come human lips in a time like this, but the bereaved family and friends rejoice that memory is full of the gracious and useful deeds performed by the departed. He was a successful business man, but while diligent in business he never forgot to be fervent in spirit serving the Lord. He leaves a loving wife, four daughters and two sons, and may the mantle of the father fall upon the sons.

Persons who sympathize with the afflicted will rejoice with D. E. Carr of 1235 Harrison street, Kansas City. He is an old sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism, but had not heretofore been troubled in this climate. Last winter he went up into Wisconsin and in consequence has had another attack "It came upon me again very acute and severe," he said. "My joints swelled and became inflamed; sore to touch or almost to look at. Upon the urgent request of my mother-in law I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm to reduce the swelling and ease the pain, and to my agreeable surprise, it did both. I have used three fifty-cent bottles and believe it to be the finest thing for rheumatism, pains and swelling extant. For sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and McNeill & Smith, Jemison, Ala.

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osgood,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Kincheloe,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. Archer, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION'S PRIZE ACRE.

$500,00 in Cash for Farmers—A Handsome Reward for the Plows of 1895.

We take pleasure in presenting The Constitution's $500 offer for the farmers of 1895. The prize consists of $100 in cash for the best acre of cotton, corn, tobacco, watermelons or sweet potatoes. The announcement is made before the planting of the crop so as to enable all who will to take part in the contest.

Entries may be made up to June 1st, and by that time every contestant must enter his name with The Constitution and state which acre he will compete for.

In every circular The Constitution frankly states that the care taken in the preparation of the land, the selection of seeds, and the use of fertilizers, a record of costs and dates of plowing and other cultivation, and a careful record of the heavy rainfalls, the periods of droughts and all the other data giving the history of the crop from the breaking of the soil to the harvesting, will be an object lesson of vast importance to every contestant, whether he wins the prize or not. This is a practical demonstration that a farm run on the intensive plan by giving careful attention to the thorough cultivation of a few acres properly rather than the poor cultivation of a large area, will be far better than a reduction of farm acreage by resolutions. The offer is made to encourage the raising of home supplies and illustrate the south's great possibilities in agriculture and to stimulate the proper cultivation of every possible acre to aid to the independence of the farmer.

The prizes will be awarded by three competent judges, recognized as high authority in agricultural matters.

The terms are breifly these: Every contestant must be a subscriber to The Weekly Constitution. He must keep a record of The Constitution's acre upon a blank, which will be furnished him free upon application. The contest is open to every southern farmer.

By special arrangement with The Constitution we offer the View with The Weekly Constitution for $1,50 or if you already have our paper, send us $1 and we will send you The Constitution one year. We are pleased to say that our neighbor in Georgia is perhaps the greatest of all American weekly newspapers. Its seventy two columns each week, which will be increased to eighty four shortly, come brim full of the latest news of the world, and many excellent features of special interest to the state, besides its well conducted departments for the farm and the household.

Every subscription recieved through us will entitle the subscriber to enter the prize acre contest as well as to guess in the $2,000 contest, closing May 1st.

This is an extraordinary opportunity to procure two good newspapers for a year, one to supply the county news in the quickest and best possible shape, and the other to bring weekly the news of the world, teeming with political current history, farmers' notes and everything else that will interest every member of the family.

You will find no better season to subscribe nor any greater offer than the present.

Spring Cleaning

Is such a trial that men say "Let the house take care of itself." But the conscientious wife feels bound to risk health and strength in this annual struggle with dust and dirt. The consequence of her feverish anxiety over extra work is depletion of the blood, the source of all life and strength, manifested in that weak, tired, nervous condition too prevalent at this season and very dangerous if allowed to continue. What every man and woman needs in the spring is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It keeps the blood vitalized and enriched, and thus sustains the nerves and all the bodily functions.

"I take Hood's Sarsaparilla every spring, and it is the only medicine I use through the year. It enables me to do my house cleaning and farm work all through the summer. It helped me very much for palpitation of the heart. I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the medicine for everyone and all who take it will never be without it. I have also used Hood's Pills and they are the best I ever tried." MRS. F. H. ANDREWS, S. Woodstock, Ct.

"Gent" for Gentleman.

The use of the word "gent" in place of the word "gentleman" is not of such recent origin as some may imagine. In a complaint made by Thomas, sixth Lord Clifford, against his own son, Henry, who afterwards became the duke of Cumberland, we find the following: "Certain evil-disposed persons, young gents, as well as others." This must have been written early in the sixteenth century, because Thomas died in 1523.

Bringing Up Children.

From earliest infancy, inculcate instant obedience. Unite firmness with gentleness. Let your children understand always that you mean what you say. Never promise them anything unless you are quite sure you can give what you say. If you tell a child to do something, show him how to do it, and see that is done. Always punish your children for willfully disobeying you; but never punish them in anger. Never let them know that they vex you or make you lose your self-command. If they give way to petulance or ill temper, wait till they are calm, then reason with them on the foolishness of their conduct. Never give your children anything because they cry for it. Teach them that the sure and easy way to appear good is to be good.

Milk Pans, and pails, and cans, and bottles (even baby's)—or anything that you want particularly clean, ought to be washed with Pearline. You'll save work in doing it, and it's a great deal more thoroughly done. Dairies and dealers use Pearline extensively. Just try it once, on your milk-ware or butter-ware—and then say if it isn't the most satisfactory way of cleaning. Pearline is the most economical thing you can use, too. You get so much more out of it.

ADVISING THE JAPS.

A DOCUMENT OF WISDOM PROCLAIMED BY THE MIKADO.

He Warns His Subjects to Beware of the Swelled Head.

The Central News correspondent in Tokio telegraphs a summary of an imperial proclamation issued Monday to the Japanese people. The emperor says he is convinced that the peace concluded at Shimonoseki will promote the national prosperity, which has ever been his highest aim.

The glorious result of the war had been achieved by the harmonious efforts of the whole nation. The ministers, the army, the navy and people's representatives in the diet had done everything in their power to make Japan strong and ready to realize the emperor's aspirations. They had omitted nothing in perfecting the plans of national defense. The soldiers and sailors of the empire had won everlasting glory by their behavior abroad. They had advanced and fought, unmindful of winter's bitter cold and summer's blazing heat, and they had triumphed everywhere. They had earned a world-wide reputation for discipline and humanity. No praise was too high for their loyalty and valor and the glory both had added to the empire.

At the same time, much remained to be done in the march toward higher civilization. It was to be hoped that the loyal subjects of the empire would realize this and would guard against the dangers of vanity and conceit. They should cultivate a spirit of modesty and humility and strive to perfect their military defenses, although without going to the extremes of national armament. They should promote education and seek to know the refinements—but not the efficiency—of life.

The emperor rebukes sharply those who, in the intoxication of victory, seem inclined to insult friendly powers and complicate the empire's foreign relations. Now that the breaches of faith had been repented, the exchange of the treaty ratifications should inaugurate a period of forgiveness and friendship. The emperor closes the proclamation with the statement that strict obedience to his wishes, as indicated in this document, will be exacted from all his subjects.

Extends to all Powers.

A dispatch from Tokio to the Central News says that in view of the various European misstatements and misrepresentations in regard to the Chino-Japanese treaty of peace, the government confirms that the commercial concessions obtained by Japan were not exclusive, but extend to all treaty powers. Japan secured these privileges for the general good of all countries, and, therefore, expects her efforts to meet with friendly appreciation.

Where China Borrows Money.

The Cologne Gazette, of Berlin, says: "The loan of 30,000,000 marks at 6 per cent, which has been concluded with a syndicate of German bankers, is merely a provincial transaction which was arranged some time ago by the viceroy of Nankin. The Chinese government has opened negotiations for an indemnity loan of £25,000,000 with a syndicate of British, German and French bankers."

A Permanent Menace.

The Temps, of Paris, says in a strongly worded leader on the terms of peace: "The treaty will constitute a permanent menace to the interests of Europe. It is a grave infringement on the rights of the powers whose possessions have a common frontier with China, and Europe will find it difficult to understand or forgive the one western power that is selfishly holding aloof and thus destroying the efficacy of the peaceful intervention of the others."

What is Russia About?

The London Times' correspondent in Kobe says: "The leave of all the officers of the Russian warships, both here and at Nagasaki, has been stopped and the crews are confined to their vessels. The Russian legation has instructed the commanders to be ready to sail at twelve hours' notice."

Let Them Settle It.

The Times further says: "It is too easily assumed that the powers have the right to step in at the conclusion of the war and dictate the conditions of peace. The present appeal for a demonstration of European concert is not justified, prima facie, either by precedent or policy. We believe public opinion on the continent, as also generally here, will let the question between China and Japan settle itself. We decidedly believe the government wise in refraining from any share in bringing pressure to bear upon the Japanese."

Tailors on Strike.

Two thousand tailors of New York city went on a strike Tuesday morning. The strike was declared by the Tailors' Progressive union. Some 3,000 women, girls and boys, whose work depends upon the tailors, have also been thrown out of employment. The strike is conducted in an orderly manner and no trouble is expected.

Schultz's Shortage Grows.

Instead of a few thousand dollars, as first supposed, the defalcation of the late Paul Schultze, of Tacoma, Wash., who was land agent of the Northern Pacific railroad, will amount to $50,000 and may be more than $200,000, according to the report of the experts who are engaged in examining the accounts of the suicide.

Art Models Go Up in Smoke.

A fire in the School of Arts and Industries at Paris destroyed the models and machines that were preparing for the exhibition to be held in that city in 1900. The loss will amount to about 1,000,000 francs.

Tennessee House for Free Silver.

By a vote of 47 yeas to 33 nays the house of representatives of Tennessee concurred in the senate resolution urging congress to pass a law providing for the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at a ratio of 16 to 1.

THE average annual rainfall over the whole earth is thirty-six inches.

RUBE SMITH DEAD.

Rube Burrow's Partner Serves Out His Sentence.

Rube Smith, the southern outlaw and a member of the notorious Burrows gang of desperadoes, died in the state prison at Columbus, Ohio, Saturday afternoon, where he was serving a life sentence imposed by the United States court for the robbery of a mail and express train on the Mobile and Ohio railroad near Buckatunny, Miss., in September, 1889. Burrows, it will be remembered, was fatally shot while resisting arrest for this crime. Smith died of Bright's disease. According to his statement he was innocent.

English War Ships at Nicaragua.

A New York Herald special cable from Managua, Nicaragua, says that Corinto advices state that an English fleet entered that port Monday, which consisted of the Royal Arthur, the White Swan and the Satellite. The fact that they left Panama under sealed orders caused much speculation about their destination. The government has taken no steps nor arrived at any plan of action in the case of blockade or bombardment.

Missouri Legislature Convenes.

The Missouri legislature convened in extra session at Jefferson City at noon Tuesday. Governor Stone's message was very lengthy and asked for the passage of laws in favor of pure elections and for the relief of railway employes. The governor also made a severe attack on the lobby.

Cholera in Egypt.

Cholera is spreading rapidly in the quarantine lazaretto at Zameron, on the Red sea. There have been sixty deaths among the Mecca pilgrims landed by the steamers Mohammed and Jubeda. The filth in the lazaretto is regarded as the main cause of the outbreak.

Protest Filed Against Japan.

A dispatch received at Berlin from Tokio says that the envoys of Russia, Germany and France have formally protested at the Japanese ministry of foreign affairs at the incorporation by the terms of the treaty of peace between China and Japan of any of the Chinese mainland in the Japanese empire.

Bank Robbed in New Jersey.

The First National Bank at Plainfield, N. J., has been robbed of $22,765. It is thought the theft was committed while there were but two clerks in the bank, when a stranger entered and engaged them in conversation while a confederate reached the vault through the directors' room.

Treaty Has Been Signed.

Official advices were received at Washington Tuesday morning by Minister Yang Yu, the Chinese representative in the United States, from Shimonoseki, Japan, confirming the news that protocols of peace between China and Japan have been signed. The cable message read simply: "Peace negotiations have been signed."

Will Advance Wages Five Per Cent.

General E. S. Boss, resident agent of the Williamantic (Conn.) Linen Company, has received instructions from General Barbour, treasurer of the company, that commencing Monday, April 15th, a general advance of 5 per cent in the wages of employes would take place.

Strike for Higher Wages.

The coopers in the Gallego flour mills at Richmond, Va., have struck for higher wages. They demand 10 and 20 cents per barrel, as against 7 and 10 cents, the present schedule. The number of men involved is comparatively small.

Potteries Close Down.

The potteries of Knowles, Taylor & Knowles at East Liverpool, O., have shut down in several departments, throwing out of employment three hundred men. Overproduction is given as the cause.

New York Police Bill Fails.

The police reorganization bill has been defeated in the New York senate by a tie vote, yeas 16, nays 16. Bradley, Coggeshall, Reynolds and Robertson, (republicans), voted with the democrats.

For Annexation of Canada.

Mr. O'Grady presented in the New York house of representatives a petition to congress and a resolution favoring the annexation of Canada to the United States. The resolution was adopted.

IT is not so much what one says as it is what one does that counts.

ON MAY SIXTH

THE INCOME TAX CASE WILL BE TAKEN UP AGAIN.

It is Supposed That Justice Jackson Will Act as Umpire.

Tuesday the United States supreme court, through Chief Justice Fuller, made the following order in regard to the petitions for a rehearing of the income tax question:

"The consideration of the two petitions (the income tax petitions) for rehearing is reserved until Monday, May 6th, when a full bench is expected, and in that event two counsel on a side will be heard at that time."

Although the order does not explicitly state, it means that argument will be heard, not on the merits of the income tax question itself, but on the question whether or not there shall be a rehearing of the suits heretofore decided.

This argument, it is expected, will include the extent to which the rehearing shall go; that is, whether it shall be confined merely to the point on which the court was evenly divided—the constitutionality of the income tax law as a whole—or whether the whole question shall be reopened and new argument made on the question of whether or not the rents are exempt from taxation, as to which there was a clear majority of the court against this feature of the tax.

The announcement by the court is further corroboration of reports of improvement in the health of Justice Jackson, as it was made only after assurances that unless his case took a turn for the worse he would be able to return to his seat on the bench by the date named in the order.

The course adopted by the court is a most unusual one and gentlemen familiar with its procedure for many years can recollect but one instance in which a like action has been taken, and that was in the '70's. No authoritative statement could be secured of the reasons for the order but theory is advanced that the court is again evenly divided and that Justice Jackson has been virtually made umpire of the question of reopening the cases.

HOLLAND DEFAULTED.

Bank Examiner Discovered a Shortage of $60,000.

Cashier J. R. Holland, of the Merchants and Farmers' National bank of Charlotte, N. C., is a defaulter to the amount of $60,000 or more. Bank Examiner Miller discovered the defalcation. Mr. Holland's peculations have been carried on for eight years past and he has managed till the last few days to hide them from discovery. The exact amount of them is not yet fully known.

No man in Charlotte has in the past been held in higher regard or been more fully trusted than Mr. Holland, and the whole city was greatly surprised and shocked to hear of his embezzlement.

THE TRIAL OF DEBS.

Judge Bunn, of Wisconsin, Will Preside Over It.

Judges Woods and Jenkins, of the United States circuit court, have made the order formally assigning Judge Bunn, of Wisconsin, to preside over the Debs conspiracy case on May 6th. The clerk of the court will summon a venire of 150 men from which to select a jury for trial. Two hundred were called at the previous trial, but not over half were passed upon when the jury was completed.

Another Fruitless Ballot.

The 118th ballot for United States senator, took place in the Delaware legislature Monday and resulted as follows: Higgins, republican, 6; Addicks, republican, 6; Pennewill, republican, 3; Massey, republican, 3; Ridgely, democrat, 9; Tunnell, democrat, 1; absent, 1.

His Accounts Were Short.

Thomas S. Borden, agent and treasurer of the Metacomet and Anawan mills at Fall River, Mass., has fled from the city. He is short in his accounts to the extent of $6,000, and warrants for his arrest have been issued.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Situation as Reported for the Past Week.

Reports from all over the south, for the past week, are to the effect that the recent continued advance in the price of cotton, the increased firmness in the iron market, and the steady demand for the products of southern coal mines have caused a marked improvement in manufacturing and business circles. The New Orleans cotton factors report that adjustments with the growers have been more prompt and satisfactory than for several years. The output of iron is well maintained.

The organization of four new cotton mills are reported for the week, located respectively at Alexander City, Ala., Charlotte, and Franklinville, N. C., and Edgefield, S. C. The Texas and Honduras Oil Manufacturing Co. has been chartered at Cuero, Texas, with $100,000 capital, a $50,000 oil mill is to be built at Edgefield, S. C., and one to cost $40 000 at Clarksville, Texas, and the Southern Phosphate Co. capital $143,000, is to rebuild its works at Macon, Ga. Glass works with $25,000 capital are to be built at Augusta, Ga., a coal company with the same capital has been chartered at Covington, Ky., and a $25,000 mineral paint company at Mandarin, Ga. There is also reported a cotton compress at Decatur, Texas; a distillery at Hamlet, N. C.; electrical plants at Waynesboro, Ga., Owensboro, Ky., Enterprise, Miss., Knoxville and Morristown, Tenn., and a fertilizer factory at Macon, Ga. Iron working plants are reported at Little Rock, Ark., and Chattanooga, Tenn.; a flouring mill at Mint Hill, N. C.; a rice mill at Fernandina, Fla.; tobacco factories at Jacksonville and Tampa, Fla., and woodworking plants at Jacksonville, Fla., Raceland, La., Bovina, Miss., Bamberg, S. C., Brenham, Texas, Intermont and Winchester, Va., and Charleston, W. Va.

Water works will be constructed at Key West, Fla., Waynesboro, Ga., Lancaster, Ky., Opelousas, La., Rutherfordton, N. C., Maryville and Morristown, Tenn., and enlargements of water works at Atlanta and Thomasville, Ga., and Norfolk, Va. The new buildings of the week include a $25,000 brewery at Harper's Ferry, Va.; business houses at Jacksonville, Fla., Victoria, Tex., and Wheeling, W. V.; a $30,000 college building at Raleigh, N. C.; a $20,000 school house at Madison, Ga.; a court house at Charlottesville, Va., and a $35,000 tenement house at Atlanta, Ga.—Tradesman (Chattanooga, Tenn.)

Queer Human Family Statistics.

The estimated population of the world on January 1, 1895, was 1,500,000,000.

Taking the world over there is an average of one death and one and one-fourth births per second. Only one-half of all who are born into the world live to the age of 17 years.

Vital statistics prove that, taking the world over, there are 109 women to every 100 men. Out of every nine sudden deaths reported, eight of the number are men.

The microscope shows that the human body is covered with scales, each scale covering 500 pores.

Only six persons out of each 1,000 born live to be 75 years old, and only one out of the same number reaches the century mark.

Figures by experts in vital statistics prove that not less than 4,745,500,000 human beings die on our globe each century.

The latest anthropological statistics prove that in America the daily, monthly and yearly number of births exceed the deaths in the ratio of 3 to 1.

Huxley's tables show that the human body is made up of thirteen different elements, of which five are gases and eight solids.

A Code of Signals.

First Citizen—It is not enough that bicycles carry bells; the law should enforce a regular system of signals that all can understand.

Second Citizen—What would you suggest?

First Citizen—Well, I don't know exactly, but it might be something like this: One ring, stand still; two rings, dodge to the right; three rings, dive to the left; four rings, jump straight up and I'll run under you; five rings, turn a back somersault and land behind me, and so on. You see, us folks who walk are always glad to be accommodating, but the trouble is to find out what the fellow behind wants us to do.

A Mistake.

The pastor bade her proceed.

"Tell me all," he urged, kindly.

"I put a button in the contribution box," she faltered.

He smiled.

"And did your conscience trouble you?" he asked.

The woman raised her eyes earnestly.

"No," she answered, "I put in the wrong button and broke a set and I would like to exchange it, if you please."—Detroit Tribune.

She Had Eaten It.

"John," said the mistress, "I should like you to find out, if you can, whether there is any of the tinned salmon left without letting the new cook know, as she may have eaten it, and I should not like to make her feel uncomfortable."

"If you please, ma'am," said the butler, "the new cook has eaten the tinned salmon, and she feels very uncomfortable indeed."

The Rose and the Thorn.

She was no longer a rosebud.

Indeed, she was in full bloom, and had been so through several seasons.

But she had money, and he loved her.

How often men do that way.

Oh, money, thou art a honey.

So as time wore on and she grew no younger, his heart throbbed by proposing to her.

He was so sure of her, at her time of life, that anything but a prompt acceptance never occurred to him.

What was his intense, nay painful, surprise then, to hear her say she was very much obliged to him for his kindness, but she really must decline.

"Oh, why, why?" he pleaded, in heartbroken tones.

"Because I do not love you," she answered.

"But you can learn to love me," he said, coaxingly.

"I think not," she persisted.

"Oh, yes, you can," he exclaimed, grabbing at her lily-white hand. "One is never too old to learn, you know."

How he ever escaped alive, it is no part of the chronicler's business to explain.

This is no detective tale.—Detroit Free Press.

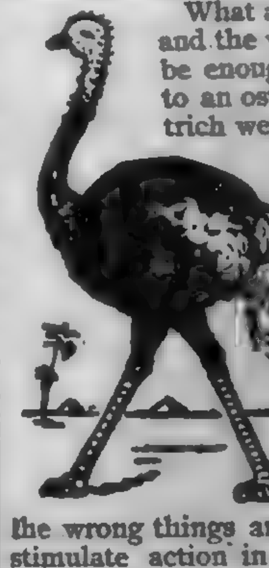
A Jolly Fellow.

Wife—Why do the friends of Sanchez say that he is such a jolly fellow?

Husband—Because he is always pleasant and good-tempered; he is very obliging, spends his money freely, and neglects his family to a shameful extent.



What an ordinary man eats and the way he eats it would be enough to give dyspepsia to an ostrich—unless the ostrich were wise enough to assist his digestion from time to time with an efficient combination of vegetable extracts. Such a preparation is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are the pills par excellence for those who sometimes eat the wrong things and too much. They stimulate action in all of the digestive organs. They stop sour stomach, windy belchings, heartburn, flatulence and cure constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, indigestion, sick headache and kindred derangements.

Once used they are always in favor.

Notice to Mill Men

And farmers owning small power: The finest and most complete Saw Mill in existence to-day, is manufactured by the DeLOACH MILL M'F'G. CO., 350 Highland Ave., Atlanta, Ga. STEEL TANKS

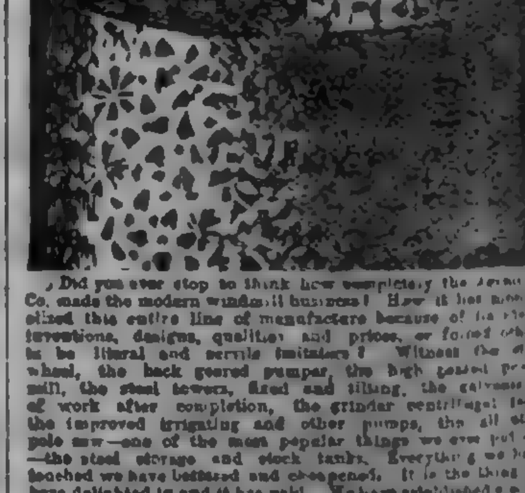
We furnish steel tanks with covers, all galvanized after completion, in nests of ten, 8 to 12 feet high and 30 to 36 inches in diameter, at 2½c. per gallon. They do not rust, shrink, leak, give taste to water, nor allow foreign substances to get in. They can be put in garret or barn and thus are protected from freezing. They take no setting up, are cheaper than wood. Tank substructures of all sizes made to order. Send for price list and designs for substructure and ornamental water supply.
AERMOTOR CO.
CHICAGO.

2½ CTS PER GAL.



Did you ever stop to think how completely the Aermotor Co. made the modern windmill business? How it has monopolized this entire line of manufacture because of its steady inventions, designs, qualities and prices, or forced others to be literal and servile imitators? Witness the steel wheel, the back geared pumper, the high geared power mill, the steel towers, fixed and tilting, the galvanizing of work after completion, the grinder centrifugal feed, the improved irrigating and other pumps, the all steel pole saw—one of the most popular things we ever put out—the steel storage and stock tanks. Everything we have touched we have bettered and cheapened. It is the thing we have delighted in and it has paid. We have established a number of branch houses, so as to have all these goods near those who want them. The Aermotor Co. has but one more ambition. It wants to build and fill one more new building. It has 2 acres of land at its present location unoccupied by buildings. It expects to commence in June to cover that 2 acres with a huge building, 7 stories high. This will give it 14 more acres of floor space. Then when the public demand requires more goods than can be produced with this added space, it will refuse to extend further, or make any effort. It will have done its share to supply that demand. It will then turn over all new work. UNTIL THAT TIME IT EXPECTS TO CONTINUE TO SUPPLY THE WORLD WITH THE GREATER PART OF ITS WIND WHEELS, TOWERS, GRINDERS, FEED CUTTERS, STEEL FRAME BUZZ SAWS, STEEL STORAGE AND STOCK TANKS, STEEL SUBSTRUCTURES, ETC., ETC., GALVANIZED AFTER COMPLETION. IT WILL CONTINUE TO DEAL MOST LIBERALLY WITH THE PUBLIC, FURNISH REPAIRS AT A LOW PRICE, AND BE THE GREAT DOUBLE SQUARE-DEALING WIND POWER AND WATER SUPPLY HOUSE OF THE WORLD. AERMOTOR CO., CHICAGO.

WASHINGTON NOTES

ITEMS OF NEWS PICKED UP AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Sayings and Doings of the Official Heads of the Government.

The treasury department sent two special agents to Lynchburg, Va., Tuesday to transfer the internal revenue office to Fitzhugh Lee, the new collector.

Secretary Herbert has decided not to attend the Kiel canal celebration on June 16th, notwithstanding the special invitation which, it is understood, was extended to him by the German government.

Secretary Lamont has made the following assignment of officers recently promoted: General Ruger, to special duty at Washington; General Merritt, from St. Paul to Chicago; General Brooke, from Omaha to St. Paul; General Wheaton, from San Antonio to Denver; General Bliss to San Antonio; General Coppinger to Omaha.

The treasury receipts for April were only $24,247,000, or about $8,704,000 less than the expenditures. The deficit for the fiscal year to date is officially stated at $45,247,000. During the month the gold reserve increased $650,000, standing at $94,289,000. The amount of the United States notes and treasury notes exchanged for gold during April amounted to $989,000.

The world of society in Washington was enlivened Tuesday by the marriage of Julia M. Murphy, the daughter of United States Senator Murphy, to Hugh J. Grant, ex-mayor of New York. The ceremony was performed at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, Seventeenth and K streets. The marriage ceremony was performed by Archbishop Corrigan, of New York.

The colored commissioners for the District of Columbia to the Cotton States and International exposition at Atlanta met Wednesday night. Ways and means for making the negro exhibit from the district were discussed. Sub-committees were appointed to assist in the exhibit and forwarding the exhibit to Atlanta. Special Agent Johnson reported that the auxiliary committee of women would hold a meeting at an early date. It was agreed that a general appeal should be made to the colored people of the district to contribute financially to the success of the exhibit, and a letter was prepared to be sent to all the colored pastors and others of prominence in the district asking their co-operation.

So far as can be learned neither Secretary Gresham nor Minister Guzman has yet received the formal reply to Nicaragua's report that the British fleet should be withdrawn from Corinto as a preliminary to the agreement to pay the indemnity demanded in London within fifteen days. The British foreign office usually acts with deliberation in matters of this kind. Nevertheless, the absence of any intimation that Great Britain has granted the request is regarded as ominous, and friends of Nicaragua are somewhat discouraged.

Those who have talked with President Cleveland represent him as being strongly opposed to any interference on the part of the United States, his contention being that Great Britain is merely seeking reparation for injuries to its subjects, and that when it had succeeded in doing this her forces would at once be withdrawn from the country.

The Treasury Statement.

The detailed monthly treasury statement of receipts and expenditures was issued at Washington Wednesday. The receipts for April were $24,247,836 against $22,692,364 in April, 1894. The expenditures for April were $32,-990,676 against $32,072,836 in April, 1894. The receipts for the ten months of the current year are $5,000,000 greater than for the corresponding ten months of last year, and the expenditures are $6,000,000 less for the same time. Customs receipts have increased $7,000,000 over last year. Pension payments have increased $1,000,000 over the ten months of 1894, and interest payments on the public debt have increased $2,000,000 over the same period. This is because of the new bond issue, aggregating $162,-400,000.

Changing Officers at the Mints.

The reported selection of Mr. Herman Kretz, the present appointment clerk of the treasury department, as superintendent of the United States mint at Philadelphia, vice Townsend, removed or resigned, and of Mr. W. E. Morgan, now examiner in the mint bureau at Washington, as coiner of the Philadelphia mint, vice Steel, transferred, are stated to be the entering wedges of an entirely new departure in the matter of the administration of United States mints and assay offices. Both gentlemen are democrats and citizens of Pennsylvania, Mr. Kretz being from Reading, Pa., and Mr. Morgan from Philadelphia, but neither was urged for appointment by either of the contending factions of local politicians.

The purpose is to take the mint service out of state politics, not only in Pennsylvania, but in other states where United States mints and assay offices are located.

Important Railroad Decision.

A case involving an important question of the application of railroad rates has been decided by the United States supreme court in an opinion rendered by Mr. Justice Brewer. It came direct to the supreme court on a writ of error from the court of Milam county, Texas, and in itself was not important, but settling the principle at stake made it notable. It was the case of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railroad company versus Hiffley & Lewis. Disposing of the case, Justice Brewer said that a statute of Texas requiring railroad companies to deliver freight at the price named in the bill of lading, under penalty of damages prescribed in the law, was inapplicable to interstate shipment, since the passage of the interstate commerce law, which forbid railroad companies to charge, collect or receive for freight on such shipments any other, either greater or less, sum than that named in the tariffs which they were required to publish. The state statute can apply only to shipments wholly within the state. The judgment of the county court was reversed and the case remanded for further proceedings in conformity to the application.

Public Debt Increasing.

The debt statement issued Wednesday afternoon shows a net increase in the public debt less cash in the treasury during April of $9,109,857. The interest-bearing debt increased $2,349,950; the non-interest-bearing debt decreased $339,437, and the cash in the treasury decreased $7,099,345. The balances of the several classes of debt at the close of business April 30th were:

Interest bearing debt, $716,202,910.

Debt on which interest has ceased since maturity, $1,754,660.

Debt bearing no interest, $380,701,-249.

Total, $1,098,657,819.

The certificates and treasury notes offset by an equal amount of cash in the treasury outstanding at the end of the month were $566,688,624, a decrease of $1,255,818.

The total cash in the treasury was $787,442,335.

The gold reserve was $91,247,645. Net cash balances, $89,570,772.

In the month there was an increase in gold coin and bars of $511,657, the total at the close being $139,998,153.

Of silver there was an increase of $553,695. Of the surplus there was in national bank depositories $16,797,-027, against $16,224,166 at the end of the preceding month.

WIND'S DEADLY WORK.

Ten People Killed by a Cyclone in Kansas.

Wreck and ruin and loss of life were crowded into a brief space of time by a cyclone in the farming district twenty miles east of Hutchinson, Kansas, Wednesday afternoon. Ten lives were crushed out. About 4:30 o'clock the cloud was seen to approach Patterson, a small station on the 'Frisco road, about six miles from Burton. Those who saw it say it resembled a great mass of flying smoke and dust from a prairie fire. The air was as hot as if it came from a furnace and filled with electricity. The storm struck about a mile south of Patterson and for sixteen miles in a northwesterly direction left death and ruin in a path 100 yards to a quarter of a mile in width. Ten persons were killed and many others injured.

Potteries Close Down.

The potteries of Knowles, Taylor & Knowles at East Liverpool, O., have shut down in several departments, throwing out of employment three hundred men. Overproduction is given as the cause.

FRAUD AND CORRUPTION

Charged in Regard to Tennessee's Penitentiary Contract.

A Nashville special says: The committee that has been investigating the penitentiary scandal reported Thursday sustaining most of the charges. The committee says it has found both fraud and corruption. In the Franklin county farm transaction, which was disapproved by Governor Turney, ex-Commissioner McDowell would have shared the profits.

The law required that in no event should the aggregate expenditures exceed $100,000.

The letting of the contract was as fraudulent and corrupt a transaction as ever took place in the state. The commissioners were wholly incompetent and unfaithful in the discharge of their duties. The contractors were aware that the selection of the state architect was the key to the situation. J. P. Fulcher & Co. succeeded in having Ed Lawrent appointed, W. C. Smith refused the position because it paid only $3,000, but Smith would have made $25,000 out of the carrying out of his plans. Lawrent has drawn $734 and Smith $4,000 and all the state has for it is a hole in the ground and a few hundred yards of sewer pipe. Lawrent owed Goldberg, a member of the firm of successful bidders, $3,000, which he has not paid. On Lawrent's recommendation, Smith's plans were accepted. Both the letter and spirit of the law were violated.

Architect Lawrent, although employed by the state, was paid by W. G. Bush & Co. $250 to make their estimates and was to have received $5,000 if they had secured the contract. The story of the alleged juggling with the bids is then told. A pencil memorandum in W. C. Smith's handwriting was found. It directs Lawrent how to report on J. P. Fulcher & Co.'s bid so as to mislead the commissioners. In the six groups of bids, Fulcher's was in every case a little below those of Bush, for whom Lawrent estimated, the total difference being only $2,000. By alterations and interlineations made in the specifications in Smith's handwriting, the contractors would have saved many thousand dollars. Lawrent did not object to these alterations.

Smith's plans were even changed after being accepted, and the contractors themselves swear that changes were made after the contract was let.

An immense opportunity for robbery through dishonesty and collusion was afforded. The committee thinks that the amounts paid to Smith and Lawrent should be covered back into the treasury. The letting of the contract is declared unjustifiable.

The committee then reports on the matter of Adjutant General Fite and the railroad tax assessor, Estill, receiving $500 each for assisting in the sale of the Cockerill farm. The facts are fully set forth. The new penitentiary matter is then taken up, and it is shown that Architect W. C. Smith testified two years ago that a 1,500-cell prison could be built for $420,000, while the estimates on his plans was $900,000, and the contract was let for $951,000, and Smith now states that $200,000 more will be necessary to complete it.

Both the commissioners and Attorney General Pickle should have known the contract was void and unjustifiable in the eyes of the law. The commissioners reported that that part of the prison contracted for was complete in itself, when the fact was that it was without heat, light or ventilation.

A minority report signed by two members concurs in all except reflections on General Pickle and Commissioner Morgan. Recommendations as to what should be done will be presented later.

DECREE OF FORECLOSURE

Signed by Judge Newman on Two Companies in Walker County, Ga.

Judge Newman, of the United States court at Atlanta, has signed a decree of foreclosure of mortgage and sale in the case of the Central Trust company of New York against the Chickamauga Coal and Iron company and the Chickamauga and Durham Railroad company, which corporations own property in Dade and Walker counties, Georgia. The Central Trust company holds six hundred bonds on the property of $1,000 each, making the total indebtedness $600,000.

Of all the nations of the earth the women of ancient Sparta proved themselves the most heroic.

NICARAGUA PAYS.

A COMPROMISE SETTLEMENT OF THE PENDING TROUBLE.

She Will Pay if the Troops are Withdrawn from Corinto.

The Nicaraguan government has formally decided to accede to the settlement of the pending trouble, and this decision has been communicated to the authorities at Washington and London.

According to this proposition, Nicaragua agrees to pay the 15,500 pounds in London fifteen days from the time the British ships leave the harbor of Corinto.

It now remains for Great Britain to agree to this condition. The government's course is regarded as shifting on Great Britain all further responsibility for the trouble. The most positive assurances of the prompt payment of the money have been given, so that there may be no question of uncertainty on this point.

CAMPOS' POLICY

Is Causing Many Conservative Cubans to Join the Insurgents.

A special from Santiago de Cuba says: Since it has become evident that General Martinez Campos came here for war and not for a settlement of the rebellion by the institution of reforms in the administration of Cuban affairs, there have been quiet disappearances from the city of some well known men who belonged to good Cuban families. They had hopes that Spain would grant home rule or at least take a step in that direction upon the landing of Campos, who had absolute powers. When they read his proclamation and saw that he promised no reforms until the island was quiet, and then only those that were passed by the cortes three months ago and are of little value, they took Winchesters which they had secreted and in little groups of a dozen or more went to the interior. Forty men left town on the day after Campos's arrival and others are said to be leaving daily. At the clubs, the cafes and other places where Cubans meet here, it is said the good men are leaving the cities and towns in the eastern district to join the insurgents, and that Martinez Campos has not enough soldiers here to put down the rebellion.

On the other hand, the Spanish officers from Campos down say the war will be short lived. They claim that they have only to push active measures which have been held back up to this time and the rebels will surrender or be killed like sheep in the mountains, as they have not sufficient arms to go around and many with rifles have no ammunition.

WANT HIGHER WAGES.

Amalgamated Steel Workers to Hold an Important Meeting.

The annual convention of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers will be held in Cleveland, Ohio, in two weeks, and it will be the most important session since 1892. The organization is stronger now than at that time and it covers a larger territory. This year the great question, as usual, will be a revision of the wage scale, so as to secure a restoration of the wages lost during the business depression.

Since the summer of 1893 the wages of the iron and steel workers have been going down. The puddling rate fell from $5.50 to $4 per ton, and even that rate has been cut in many places, notably in Pittsburg, Pa. The voluntary reduction of ten per cent in the tonnage rates for finishers was followed last year by a further reduction of 10 per cent and in the Youngstown district the finishers took another reduction of 10 per cent. The plate workers compromised with a reduction of 12½ and 15 per cent, one-half of what was demanded by the manufacturers. The demand for a wage restoration will likely cover all departments of mill work with the possible exception of the tinplate branch.

Contracting for Eastern Lines.

The German marine department has contracted with the Forth German Lloyds and Hamburg-American Steamship companies for the construction of ten ocean liners, which shall become armed cruisers in event of war.

THE DISPENSARY WAR.

A Charleston Citizen to Make a Test Case.

The dispensary law in South Carolina threatens very shortly to assume the proportions of a fight between the federal and state governments. In addition to the temporary injunction heretofore granted by Judge Goff, restraining the state authorities from seizing contraband liquors brought into the state, another injunction was issued last Friday by Judge Simonton, of the United States circuit court, which promises to hasten matters to an immediate issue. This last case is brought by James Donald, a citizen of Charleston, against James G. Scott, M. T. Holly and other members of the constabulary force in that city. The case was evidently prepared with great caution.

The plaintiff early in the year ordered from New York, via the Old Dominion Line, a barrel of beer, from Baltimore a case of Pickwick Club whisky, and from Savannah a case of California wines. He notified the dispensary constabulary of the fact that he had bought the goods and warned them through his counsel, Mr. New, not to seize the goods. The goods were seized, however, and confiscated. The petitioner has brought suit against the constables for $12,000, and asks the court for an injunction restraining all constables, police or other officers from interfering with and seizing his property.

He avers that the liquor was bought for his own consumption and private use and not for sale. The dispensary law is attacked on the ground that it attempts to abridge the right of a citizen to import into the state for his own use and consumption such liquors as he may desire. It is claimed that the law is a restriction of commerce between the states in favor of the products of the state of South Carolina against the products of other states and counties, and conflicts with article 1, sections 8 and 9 of the constitution of the United States. The injunction asked for is to restrain and enjoin the constabulary from entering, seizing or attempting to seize such liquors, or from entering the dwelling of the plaintiff to search for such goods, or in any manner from preventing the plaintiff from importing and holding said liquor. The injunction was made returnable on May 1st. Governor Evans has said that he will not obey the injunction and has instructed the constabulary to go ahead with their seizures.

A MAJORITY FOR TURNEY

Is the Report of the Tennessee Governors' Election Committee.

A Nashville special says: The majority report of the committee on governor's election, which is signed by the seven democratic members of the committee, was presented to Speaker Pillow, of the senate Saturday and he at once gave notice calling the house and senate to meet in joint convention in the hall of the house at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. The report is very lengthy, and shows that the committee decided that 22,389 ballots were illegal, and should be thrown out. Of these 9,733 were cast for Turney and 12,556 for Evans. Deducting these numbers from the total vote as officially returned to the secretary of state, Turney will have a plurality of 2,368, as against the 574 plurality shown for Evans by the correct official returns.

It is expected that the greater part of a week will be consumed in arguing the case by members. Evans's attorneys desire to make argument before the joint convention, and the question of allowing them to do so will be brought up. The five republican members of the committee are preparing a majority report attacking the constitutionality of the poll-tax law protesting against the committee rulings in regard to refusing to investigate certain counties because the charges were decided not specific, and attacking the investigation as unfair and incomplete. They also dissent from the committee's rulings as to the law and the facts.

Pottery Trust Breaks.

The combination of pottery manufacturers, known as the Akron-Canton stoneware agency, which has sold more than two-thirds of the stoneware of the United States for the last ten years, has been broken. The break came at the regular weekly meeting of the thirteen companies interested, held in the East Akron, Ohio, office Monday afternoon.

A SECOND ORDER

Restraining the Boycott Against the Seaboard Air-Line.

The Seaboard Air-Line railroad has secured another restraining order from Judge Lumpkin at Atlanta, Ga. The order contains all the conditions that the injunction prays for, and its granting was based upon the bill of exceptions filed with Judge Lumpkin for the purpose of taking the case to the supreme court of the United States. It was required in the restraining order that the Seaboard Air-Line give a bond of $20,000, which was approved and was filed with the clerk of the superior court. The principals named in the bond are the Seaboard Air-Line, the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad company, the Raleigh and Gaston and the Georgia, Carolina and Northern. Captain R. J. Lowry, of Atlanta, is the security.

The bond for $20,000 is made to guarantee indemnity against loss by the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis and the Western and Atlantic roads. With the bond approved and filed it now stands that the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis and the Western and Atlantic roads cannot discriminate against the Seaboard Air-Line in any fashion.

In the order of Judge Lumpkin both the defendant roads are restrained from refusing to interchange business, both through and local, with the Seaboard Air-Line Belt railroad and its connecting lines, as favorably and advantageously to the belt railroad and connecting lines as lawfully done by the Western and Atlantic railroad and the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, which, as lessee, is restrained from discriminating as to the same against the complainants with the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company, and from carrying into effect the circular exhibit "C." This circular exhibit is the order from the Southern Steamship and Railway Association for a boycott against the Seaboard Air-Line on account of certain alleged irregularities which the Seaboard has been guilty of.

The defendant roads are also restrained from refusing to receive and haul cars of freight on through bills of lading, which may be issued by other roads beyond the lines (from which it accepts through shipments for transportation) to points on or reached over the Seaboard Air-Line Belt railroad or its connecting lines when routed via the Seaboard Air-Line belt road and connecting line or lines; or cars or freight brought to defendants on through bills by the Seaboard Air-Line Belt line as favorably and advantageously as lawfully done to any other road entering the city of Atlanta and not at greater charges.

JAPANESE DEFY RUSSIA.

They Strenuously Object to the Czar's Dictation.

The London Times prints the following from Kobe under date of April 24th:

"There are unmistakable evidences of a serious crisis in the relations between Japan and Russia. The vernacular press is forbidden to refer thereto. Four Tokio newspapers have been suspended for reporting that a secret council of ministers had been held. Others have had references to the crisis defaced by the censor.

"According to information from a trustworthy source in Hiroshima the ministry have adopted a resolute attitude toward Russian dictation. The ministry deny Russia's right to introduce and even meditate open defiance, claiming that Russia's forces in the east are not powerful enough to enforce that country's demands."

THE CASH PUT UP

As a Forfeit in the Match Between Corbett and Fitz.

J. H. Vendig, the manager of the Florida Athletic Club, arrived in New York Monday and at once sent a check for $5,000 to P. H. Dwyer, to bind the match between Corbett and Fitzsimmons. The $5,000 in question will stand as a forfeit and will be divided between Corbett and Fitzsimmons if the Florida Athletic Club fails to bring off the fight at the time and place to be appointed on July 1st.

To Extend the Railway.

In consequence of the attitude of England in Asia, the Russian government has decided, by the czar's command, to extend the Trans-Caspian railway from Samarkand to Marghilan, in Asiatic Russia.

A SLICK FORGER.

The Novel Scheme of a Real Estate Dealer to Raise Cash.

Astounding developments have resulted at Greenville, S. C., by the arrest of S. C. Dickson on three warrants charging him with forgery. The warrants were sworn out by George A. Norwood, president of the Greenville Savings bank. Dickson is the leading real estate dealer of the city and has been doing a large business.

It is learned that for twenty years he has been carrying on an elaborate system of forgeries, his forgeries being confined to the character of papers used in the real estate business. He would make deeds to himself of imaginary lands as well as of real tracts, signing fictitious names to the same. He then used them as securities in borrowing money. He forged mortgages on real estate to secure forged notes payable to himself and deposited these with bankers and money lenders as security for loans.

The number of forged and false deeds will never be known, as he kited, taking up old forgeries with new ones, using new names and new lands for each transaction. When pressed by the holders of his paper he could always produce new deeds and new mortgages to renew the old. The losses of holders of his forged papers will amount to from $12,000 to $20,000.

TENNESSEE'S CONTEST.

Committee on Governor's Election Make Their Report.

A Nashville special says: In response to a call issued by Speaker Pillow, of the senate, the house and senate met in joint convention at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning to consider the report of the committee on the governor's election. The convention adopted a rule limiting debate by members to six hours on each side.

The majority report was read and a portion of the minority report. The latter reiterates the opinion that the retroactive contest law is unconstitutional; alleges that Turney made no charge of fraud, but bases his contest on the technicality that polltax receipts were not exhibited. The committee's rulings on the pleadings are denounced as unfair, and it is alleged that had all of Evans's charges been investigated he would have had 8,000 plurality. The poll tax is declared to be unconstitutional. Turney simply charged that poll tax receipts had not been exhibited. Evans offered to prove that they had in fact been paid. It is alleged that Turney's whole case stands on technical violations of law; that the only frauds shown were those perpetrated against Evans, by which Turney was benefited.

Large Fire in Charlotte.

One of the severest fires in the history of Charlotte, N. C., occurred Thursday afternoon. The immense brick warehouse of Sanders & Blackwood, and a number of stores were gutted by the flames. The losses will be between $75,000 and $50,000, perhaps three-quarters covered by insurance.

A National Bank Closed.

Comptroller Eckels has closed up the First National bank of Williamantic, Conn., and placed Bank Examiner Dooley in charge. The capital of the bank is $100,000 and it has become impaired, it is said, through the carelessness or otherwise of the cashier, who recently died.

Deb's Trial Postponed Indefinitely.

The Debs trial on the conspiracy charge has been continued indefinitely. This announcement is made by General Black, United States district attorney, after a conference with C. S. Darrow, one of the attorneys for the defendant.

For him who does everything in its proper time, one day is worth three.

Postage Stamps Sold for a High Sum.

Very high prices, in some cases the highest on record, were obtained for postage stamps at a recent London sale. A Ceylon 4 pence rose, unused, brought $650; a Mauritius post paid 2 pence blue, $160, a Cape of Good Hope 1 penny blue, error, [illegible]; 4 pence red, error, $260; a Reunion 15 centimes, first issue, $250. Two hundred dollars each was paid for a New Brunswick violet 1 shilling stamp and a British Guiana yellow 1 cent stamp; nineteen other stamps were sold for $100 or over and eleven for $50 or more.

CLANTON ALA. MAY. 9th 1895

The Legislature of Florida says that state wants no prize fighting.

To every person who is striving to rise to honor or who would heed the injunction, "know thy self" I find this sentence which every aspiring youth should commit to memory, "Do you unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Arguments have been begun before the United States Supreme Court on the rehearing of the Income Tax

The Supreme Court of La. has given the second blow to pugilism which virtually wipes out prize fighting in that state.

Our congratulations are extended to Mr. "Rip" Beasley in his promotion from Traveling Passenger Agent to the office of Passenger Traffic Manager of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad in Alabama. Mr. Beasley is the worthy grand son of the lamented and honored Judge Falkner,

A lady at Tooleys La, was very sick with billous colic when M. C. Tisler, a prominent merchant of the town gave her a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says she was well in forty minutes after taking the first dose. For sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and McNeill & Smith, Jemison, Ala.

Three of the white cappers of Elmore county were convicted and sentenced to 10 years imprisonment in the penitentiary. There was a mistrial as to the other three.

BUNCH YAM.

As is known the bunch yam is a sport of the oldtime, long vined yam. For a few years there is danger of a sport going back to its parent, and many have not planted this wonderful new potatoe believing that it, in time would have long running vines. But after ten years, it has not done so and we may claim that its short thick, bunchy vines are firmly fixed. As to quality, it stands eight and one-half out of a possible ten, and has but few equals and no superiors, It yields from two to four hundred bushels per acre, and is earlier than any other variety known to me, with the exception of the Spanish bunch sweet, which is three or four weeks earlier and yields more, but is not considered so good for the table but better for stock.

Agriculturist.

Our city and county officials throughout the country are not prompt enough as a rule in their efforts to check what usually leads to trouble if not prevented. Whenever a man who is visibly under the influence of liquor appears in public the officials should see to it that he either retires to his home and withdraws from contact with the public, or he should be locked up Nearly all the street fights and difficulties between citizens in which so many good men have lost their lives and brought untold anguish to the hearts of their loved ones, have happened because of the fact that through fear or favor some man was allowed too much liberty while drunk. The officers are the conservators of the peace and the law abiding, peaceably disposed citizens look to them to see that order is maintained and that those so dispose shall not be allowed to violate the order and peace of a community, From the daily press we see constantly publications of the repetition of lawlessness from the same individuals. Their faults were condoned and winked at because the "poor fellow was drunk," finally he either kills his man or is killed.

For whooping cough Chamberlains' Cough Remedy is excellent. By using it freely the disease is deprived of all dangerous consequences. There is no danger in giving the remedy to babies as it contains nothing injurious, 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and McNeill & Smith, Jemison, Ala.

FINANCIAL FACTS.

The currency question is perforce made the all-absorbing question of the day. The issue was forced upon the people by the panic that occurred early in the summer of 1893 and the two years of hard times which followed. During that period of depression thousands and tens of thousands of men were thrown out of work, reductions were made, and the tiller of the soil received but meagre returns for his labor. This presented a fine opportunity for the demagogue and the calamity howler, and each of these lifted their heads and began to tell the people about cause and effect. These were the self-constituted prophets who were to lead the people, and they first laid hold upon the siren cry of free, unlimited and unconditional coinage of silver. The people were discouraged; they felt that something was wrong and that the wrong should be righted. The unemployed, the idle, the depressed lent willing eyes and ears. Demagogues had the field themselves and converts were made to the belief that money volume was of more importance than money value.

Eight weeks ago Congress adjourned and adjourned, too, without adopting the policy proposed by the demagogues. Ever since that time steady progress has been made toward the restoration of prosperity in this country. Gradually has the upward tendency been moving until the week just closed marked one of the most wonderfully progessive business periods known in the history of this country. "London is buying" was the cheering cry in monetary centers. London which a while ago was absorbed in South African investments, ignoring American, has turned this way

Facts warrant a most hopeful temper and our values are growing firmer and more inviting every day.he. Tgreatest improvement in manufacturing is especially noticeable. The voluntary increase of the wages of 30 000 operatives in the textile mills in the last two weeks is not meaningless, but strongly indicates a rapid return to prosperous conditions, and without unlimited silver coinage, high protective tariff or any other paternal aid from Congress for the enrichment of the classes as against the naturally supported interests of the masses.

What is true of cotton is also true of woolen manufacturing; and trading in general staple products goes on with but little abatement.

Wheat is advancing rapidly.

Money can be had at easy rates on good collateral. The surplus reserve of the New York banks show a great increase. Speculation is excedly active, and foreigners are buying in American stocks. Observant financiers tell us that business faces the most encouraging outlook seen in four years. Bonds and other securities are in great demand and this demand is steadily broadening, thus showing that idle capital is seeking employment.

Now why continue the calamity howl? Why rush the people, who have been standing on the brink, into the quagmire? Why not shelve the financial cranks and let the people know that day light is breaking? The continuous agitation of this money question is dividing the Democratic household.

The American dollar of today is a dollar everywhere, Let not the agitators make it less. The people favor bimetalism as against silver monometalism. The true bimetalist opposes free coinage at a fixed ratio of 16 to 1, in disregard of bullion value, because they know that means the inauguration of silver monometalism.

The Age-Herald, ever anxious for the general prosperity of the people, favors the establishment of a ratio which would permit both gold and silver to be coined freely into legal tender dollars and to circulate freely side by side, neither driving the other out of circulation or out of the mints, and the Age-Herald believes this can be done by either decreasing the gold in the gold dollar or increasing the silver in the silver dollar. It does not believe a just, equitable or honest solution of the problem can be found in a fixed ratio of 16 to 1, therefore opposes that fallacy. Now the extreme disruptionist, populistic repudiation silver monometalist will please place the Age-Herald in that column of Democratic newspapers which thus believes and yet does not consider it practical to maintain parity between the two metals except by wise legislation, or better still, international agreement.

Age-Herald.

A FARMER INSULTS HIMSELF.

Gov. Seay Says the Past Year Has Been the Best in Ten.

Silver journals say it is insult to the intelligence of the farmers to inform them that they are now more prosperous than at any time since the war; what, we ask, if a farmer gives the information? Does he thereby insult himself? Ex-Governor Thomas Seay, of Greensboro, Ala., has been in the city for two days past. He is a farmer, and a successful one; he is also a man who is honored by all the people of this State, and possesses a high reputation for intelligence and truthfulness. Yesterday he "insulted" the farmers by saying that this year has been the best one in the past ten or more in his experience. "I have paid more debts with 5 cent cotton than I ever did with 10," he said. "I am in better condition than ever before, and this in the face of the fact that I was absolutely forced to stock two plantations this year. The mistake some people are making is that of worrying about the low price of cotton, they forget that the things they have to buy are low priced. I need cite only one fact that a mule that formerly cost $150 can now be bought for $60, or could have been bought at this price six weeks ago, and a mule equal to the best ever brought to this country can be brought for $100. The farmer of today can buy all he needs at less than one half of what he had formerly to pay and consequently his 5-cent cotton goes further in providing for his wants than his 10-cent cotton did; and, besides the cry of low prices has had the effect of making the farmers as a class produce at home more food for themselves and stock. I believe we have reached the era of low prices, and I am not only prepared for it, but think that its coming is the best possible thing for the South."

Having thus insulted himself to his own satisfation the govenor, resumed the reading of his paper. Mobile Register.

TIDE OF PROSPERITY

Just at present the story of our lives from day to day is the story of growth, progress and improvement. The working man is finding more abundant employment at better wages, the employer sees a lengthening prospect of continued success in his business ventures, the reorganization of prices is proceeding on a satisfactory basis, and all the indications of the future are full of hope. The new schedule of wages in the Fall River mills, to which we have already referred, is estimated as an addition of from fifteen to twenty thousand dollars to the weekly pay-roll of the operatives affected by it. It is all the more welcome as a proof that similar advances in other manufacturing districts are justified by the taste of trade. This is not a theoretical question. The advances in prices of products and the activity of the markets are facts. The woolen mills are doing as well as the cotton mills, and all New England is feeling the revival. The natural feeling of satisfaction over the condition of affairs is shared by all except the calamity howlers of the obsolete McKinley era and their congeners who are mourning over the disappearance of the silver dollar. It has taken less than six months to silence the false prophets who predicted ruin as the result of the repeal of the McKindley bill. Let us hope that in six months more returning prosperity will also mitigate the grief of those who mourn for silver and refuse to be comforted.—New York World.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Come in and pay your dues to the View.

Sheriff Moore has been ill for some days with cold.

A mad dog was killed in Clanton yesterday.

Mrs. Dr. Mathews was called to the country a few days since to a sick relative.

Miss Belle Lowery left last week to visit her sister at Blockton.

County Court was held Monday last. Sunday evening for fully 10 minutes large hail fell thick and fast.

Sheriff Moore is the happy recipient of a beautiful quilt, a birthday present from his daughter, Mrs. J. W. Letcher.

The doors of the View are always open. The editor wants to meet every citizen of Chilton county.

Regular services were held at the Verbena Baptist Church last Saturday and Sunday. The pastor reported good services.

Mr. S. I. Wagoner of Jumbo was waylaid last Saturday night and knocked in the head with a rock. As the rock struck him he hallowed and the assailants ran off.

We are requested on behalf of Rev J. G. Lowery to thank the ladies of Clanton, Verbena and Winterboro Baptist Churches and other friends who so kindly presented him with a purse sufficient to defray his expenses to the Southern Baptist Convention.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Rev. Mr. Smith has changed his day for preaching in Clanton to the 1st Sunday. He was with us last Sunday. The inclement weather prevented services at night.

Master Lee White, Messrs. J. F. White and W. D. Courtney were visitors from Energy this week.

Our school children are bending their energies to have all their studies well mastered before the close of school which is just four weeks off.

Mrs. Peyton Headley, daughter of Mr Joseph Culp, died at her home near Kincheon some weeks ago. Our sympathies go out the bereaved ones.

Prof. Gore and Mr. O. K. Mullins two nights on the river last week fishing. They succeeded in catching about 40 pounds.

Miss O'a McRae is on a visit to relatives at Ramer. It is the sincere desire of her large circle of friends that she may soon return to us fully restored in health.

Mr. Evans Pinckard visited Tuskegee last week. The attractions of the old home are great.

W. I. Mullins has brought to Clanton one of the best assortment of ready made clothing ever placed on this market.

Send to the View [illegible] Waive notes, Deeds and Mortgages.

Ready made clothes from the cheapest to the best on sale by W. I. Mullins.

If King Solomon was alive he would now say: "Go to the travelling man, learn his ways, and be wise." Mr. C. W. Battell, a Cincinnati traveling man representing the Queen City Printing Ink Co., after suffering intensely for two or three days with lameness of the shoulder, resulting from rheumatism, completely cured it with two applications of Camberlain's Pain Balm. This remedy is gaining a wide reputation for its prompt cures of rheumatism, lame back, sprains, swellings, and lameness. 50 cent bottles are for sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and McNeil & Smith, Jemison, Ala.

A. R. McCary, and what is believe to be his still were captured and carried to Montgomery last week. The last we heard he was still in jail in default of a $300 bond. He hails from beat 2.

Mrs. S. A. Blasingame visited her mother here last week.

Dr. Edgar Givhan paid Clanton a short visit last Friday. The doctor is one of the most promising young physician in Alabama, a perfect gentleman, well educated and in love with his profession.

Last Thursday Dr. Johnson was so unfortunate as to lose his barn and its contents by fire. Hard work kept the fire confined to that one building.

Rev. J. G. Lowery has gone to Washington to attend the Southern Baptist Convention.

All our readers will regret to know that on account of bad health Mr. Sam Catts has been compelled to forego business in Montgomery and is now at home at Verbena. We hope that his farming exercise contemplated for this year will fully restore him to robust health.

All ye who suffer with bad teeth and are afraid to have them pulled because of pain, remember that Dr. Massey will be in Clanton during Circuit Court ready to apply the painless remedy to you.

Persons who sympathize with the afflicted will rejoice with D. E. Carr of 1235 Harrison street, Kansas City. He is an old sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism, but had not heretofore been troubled in this climate. Last winter he went up into Wisconsin and in consequence has had another attack. "It came upon me again very acute and severe," he said. "My joints swelled and became inflamed; sore to touch or almost to look at. Upon the urgent request of my mother-in-law I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm to reduce the swelling and ease the pain, and to my agreeable surprise, it did both. I have used three fifty-cent bottles and believe it to be the finest thing for rheumatism, pains and swelling extant. For sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and McNeil & Smith, Jemison, Ala.

The summer is at hand and your wife and daughter need nice low cut shoes. W. I. Mullins is ready to supply the need.

We were visited last Tuesday by Mr. W. H. Barnes, of Northwood Iowa, and by Mr. E. T. Runion, of New Hampton, Iowa. The former is an attorney and real estate agent and the latter editor of the New Hampton Times and a real estate dealer. Those gentlemen were taken in charge by Messrs. Merritt and Mullins and shown the country surrounding Clanton. Their purpose is to form a colony of Scandinavians and others, and then settle on our lands.

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
Dr. G. C. Osgood,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
Dr. J. F. Kincheloe,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. Archer, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
United Hospital and Dispensary,
Boston, Mass.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION'S PRIZE ACRE.

$500,00 in Cash for Farmers—A Handsome Reward for the Plows of 1895.

We take pleasure in presenting The Constitution's $500 offer for the farmers of 1895. The prize consists of $100 in cash for the best acre of cotton, corn, tobacco, watermelons or sweet potatoes. The announcement is made before the planting of the crop so as to enable all who will to take part in the contest. Entries may be made up to June 1st, and by that time every contestant must enter his name with The Constitution and state which acre he will compete for.

In every circular The Constitution frankly states that the care taken in the preparation of the land, the selection of seeds, and the use of fertilizers, a record of costs and dates of plowing and other cultivation, and a careful record of the heavy rainfalls, the periods of drought and all the other data, giving the history of the crop from the breaking of the soil to the harvesting, will be an object lesson of vast importance to every contestant, whether he wins the prize or not. This is a practical demonstration that a farm run on the intensive plan by giving careful attention to the thorough cultivation of a few acres properly rather than the poor cultivation of a [illegible] area will be far better than a reduction of farm acreage by resolutions. [illegible] is made to encourage the raising of home supplies and illustrate the south's great possibilities in agriculture and to stimulate the proper cultivation of every possible acre to [illegible] the independence of the farmer.

The prizes will be awarded by three competent judges, recognized as high authority in agricultural matters.

The terms are breifly these: Every contestant must be a subscriber to The Weekly Constitution. He must keep a record of The Constitution's acre upon a blank, which will be furnished him free upon application. The contest is open to every southern farmer.

By special arrangement with The Constitution we offer the View with the Weekly Constitution for $1,50 or if you already have our paper, send us $1 and we will send you The Constitution one year. We are pleased to say that our neighbor in Georgia is perhaps the greatest of all American weekly newspapers. Its seventy two columns each week, which will be increased to eighty four shortly, come brim full of the latest news of the world, and many excellent features of special interest to the state, besides its well conducted departments for the farm and the household.

Every subscription recieved through us will entitle the subscriber to enter the prize acre contest as well as to guess in the $2,000 contest, closing May 1st.

This is an extraordinary opportunity to procure two good newspapers for a year, one to supply the county news in the quickest and best possible shape, and the other to bring weekly the news of the world, teeming with political current history, farm [illegible] notes and everything else that will interest every member of the family.

You will find no better season to subscribe nor any greater offer than the present.

Spring Medicine

The best Preparation for this Purpose is

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Spring is the season for cleansing and renewing the blood. During the winter it has crept sluggishly through the viens, gathering impurities from indoor air, from fatty substances in the food, and from many other sources.

The great blood purifying medicine especially prepared to do this work is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It will give to the blood purity, richness and vitality and these will bring health and vigor, strong nerves, a good appetite, refreshing sleep, and powers of endurance.

Cleanse your blood by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, a renovating preparation especially prepared to make pure blood, then you may enjoy the season of flowers and birds and out door pleasures, for you will be healthy, strong and well.

"I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as it has worked wonders in my case. I am 74 years of age and have been afflicted with salt rheum on my hands for a great many years. I tried many things to cure them but failed. My hands would crack open and bleed profusely, and the pain was terrible to bear. Since taking Hood's Sarsaparilla the flesh has healed and the skin is as smooth as any farmer's. I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as a reliable medicine and always speak in its favor." LLOYD B. CHASE, Swansea, Massachusetts.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Is the Only True Blood Purifier

Prominently in the public eye today. Be sure to get Hood's and only Hood's.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills, biliousness, headache. 25 cents.

Sahara is Hot.

The great Sahara desert of Africa is regarded as the hottest region in the world. The vast plain which extends 2,000 miles from east to west, and 1,000 north to south has a temperature of 150 degrees Fahrenheit in the hottest days of summer. This is about the temperature of the hot room in the Turkish bath.

Oatmeal Bread.

One half pint oatmeal, 1½ of flour, ½ teaspoonful salt, 3 of Royal Baking Powder, ½ pint milk. Boil oatmeal in 1½ pints salted water one hour; add milk; set aside until cold. Then place in bowl, sift together flour, salt and powder and add. Mix smoothly and deftly. Bake in greased tin fig. XII, 45 minutes, protected with paper 20 minutes.

CONFIDENCES.

Yes, Jennie, I have noticed it,
I would not speak of it at all
Were it not for the fact
That I know a remedy.

I had the same experience.
Every now and then,
And always at a time
Most inopportune,
One of those little pimple-like blotches
Would appear on my face
And annoy me
Beyond expression.

I haven't had one for six months now,
I have a talisman
That protects me.
I get it at the drug store.

You have seen the advertisement—
I am pretty sure.

Ripans Tabules

Is the name—three dozen in a box!
Swallow one after dinner,
Or just before bed time,
About once a week and
You will be annoyed no more.
But more beautiful! If you
Would believe that possible.

The Baker Got Mad.

Mother—Take this money to the baker's. It's to pay for last month's bread, and don't forget you are to ask him for a receipt.

Little Son—Yes; mum; I'll remember.

Mother (half an hour later)—Well?

Little Son—He got angry.

Mother—What?

Little Son—I gave him the money, and when I told him you wanted to know how he made his bread, he said that was his business.

The Dinner Bell

Sounds but a mockery to the dyspeptic. He hears it, of course, but his stomach does not respond to the call. He "goes through the motions" and suffers afterwards for the small amount of victuals he partakes of. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters alters his condition into one of ability to eat plentifully, digest heartily, and assimilate thoroughly. Malaria, rheumatism, constipation and billousness are conquered by this world-famed medicine.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

KENNEDY'S Medical Discovery.

DONALD KENNEDY, OF ROXBURY, MASS.,

Has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures every kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common pimple.

He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases (both thunder humor). He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston. Send postal card for book.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the right quantity is taken.

When the lungs are affected it causes shooting pains, like needles passing through them; the same with the Liver or Bowels. This is caused by the ducts being stopped, and always disappears in a week after taking it. Read the label.

If the stomach is foul or bilious it will cause squeamish feelings at first.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it. Dose, one tablespoonful in water at bedtime. Sold by all Druggists.

Scott's Emulsion

is not a secret remedy. It is simply the purest Norway Cod-liver Oil, the finest Hypophosphites, and chemically pure Glycerine, all combined into a perfect Emulsion so that it will never change or lose its integrity. This is the secret of Scott's Emulsion's great success. It is a most happy combination of flesh-giving, strengthening and healing agents, their perfect union giving them remarkable value in all

WASTING DISEASES.

Hence its great value in Consumption, wherein it arrests the wasting by supplying the most concentrated nourishment, and in Anæmia and Scrofula it enriches and vitalizes the blood. In fact, in every phase of wasting it is most effective. Your doctor will confirm all we say about it. Don't be persuaded to accept a substitute!

DURRANT TALKS.

HE PUTS IN THE USUAL PLEA OF INNOCENCE.

Says He Sleeps Well Because His Conscience is Clear.

A San Francisco special says: For the first time since the charge of murdering Miss Marian Williams in Emanuel Baptist church of this city, was formaly made against W. H. T. Durrant, the prisioner has consented to talk. He spoke first of the Lamont case, saying:

"Poor Blanche. I am accused of strangling her and then remaining unmoved at the details of the most horrible crime in history. No one will ever know the sorrow I feel, and no one can begin to comprehend my thoughts, even were I to tell all the anguish her terrible fate has caused me. I could not have murdered the girl. I liked her too well. Not better than any one else in the world, but I respected and admired her and we were good friends.

"Judging by newspaper communications, I am looked upon as a cold-blooded, diabolical monster. I am painted as a devil in human shape, and very little is said in favor of the possibility of any other person having killed those two girls, but when my trial is over, the world will know that I am innocent.

"My composure and self control since my arrest are held against me, but no person will ever know the terrible ordeal I am undergoing. It is said that I use opiates to induce sleep. That is a lie. I am able to sleep well because my conscience is clear of all crime. I am not of a nervous temperament, and have always been able to keep cool."

HE ACCUSES THE POLICE.

He accuses the police of working solely from the premise that he was guilty of the crime and ignoring all other clews.

Because of Durrant's placid demeanor under fearful accusations, his sound sleep and regular eating at a season so trying to nerves, Durrant makes a study of interest to the physiologist. At times his flippancy seems strangely out of harmony with his present position.

HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE.

Fearful Destruction Caused by the Breaking of a Dyke.

The great Bousey dyke of the Epinal district of the Vosges, France, burst at an early hour Saturday morning. The cubic area of the dyke is 8,000,000 metres. A great rush of water and great loss of life followed.

Enormous damage has been done in the surrounding country. The railways in all directions are interrupted and a large number of villages entirely flooded. In some places the force of the torrent let loose by the breaking of the dyke was so great that entire houses were swept away and large trees were torn up by the roots.

The reservoir was situated close to the village of Bousey, and was connected with the Canal L'Este. The breach caused by the rush of water is over 100 metres broad. The villages which have suffered the most are Bousey, Les Forges, Budegney and Domevres. Many houses have completely disappeared.

Additional reports of the devastation caused by the bursting of the reservoir show that the loss of life is far beyond the first estimates. About 130 deaths are now known to have been caused by the flood, and the loss may grow, as in the confusion and ruin it has been impossible to account for scores of persons who are missing. The search for dead bodies is still in progress.

ALLIANCA AFFAIR SETTLED.

Spanish Vessels Have Been Instructed to be More Careful.

The report that the Allianca affair has been settled by Spain's conceding the American claims is confirmed officially at Madrid. The Spanish government will give honorable satisfaction for the mistake and admits that the Allianca was outside her territorial waters when the Conde de Venadito fired upon her. Commanders of warships in Cuban waters have been instructed precisely not to fire on vessels outside the three-mile limit.

THE FIELD WELL COVERED.

The Governorship of Mississippi is a Prize Greatly Sought After.

Hon. E. O. Sykes, of Monroe county, is officially announced as a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor of Mississippi. This makes four candidates in the field, Messrs. Sykes, Vardaman, McCabe and McLaurin. Neither of the candidates is over forty-six years of age. There is strong likelihood that General W. T. Martin, of Adams, will also announce his purpose to contest for the nomination at an early day.

War Ships Ordered to Nicaragua.

A Washington special says: The United States steamship Raleigh has been ordered to leave Admiral Meade's squadron at Key West, and sail for Greytown, the eastern end of the Nicaraguan canal. The Montgomery also has been ordered from Mobile to Greytown and to take the Nicaraguan canal commission there. The Alert has been ordered from Panama to San Juan del Sur. This will make two United States vessels on the eastern coast and one on the western coast of Nicaragua.

Orange Growers Given Lower Rates.

California orange growers have been given a beneficial decision by the interstate commerce commission, in session at Denver, by the granting of a lower rate on California lines and their connections for oranges to Atlantic ports than to intermediate points. The new rate will probably be 60 cents, instead of 90 cents.

New York May Come.

The lower house of the New York general assembly has passed a bill providing for the representation of the state at the Cotton States and International exposition at Atlanta. The bill now goes to the senate.

TRADE NOTES.

Bradstreets' Report of Business for the Past Week.

Bradstreets' review of trade for the past week says: "The feature of the week is the continued strength of prices of staples after the striking advances of preceding weeks. There is a firmer undertone in nearly all lines of trade, but at a number of points gains in industrials are more marked than in commercial lines. The flurry in petroleum is succeeded by a very dull market. The woolen dress goods mills have secured a number of orders for fall delivery, which accounts for the moderate activity in the market for wool. Cotton goods are firm on the advance in cotton and higher wages paid eastern mill operatives. The number of strikes for higher wages increases. About 25,000 people have struck in April, most of them for an advance. The number of voluntary advances in wages reported is large. During the past two weeks the wages of 50,000 operatives, most of them in the textile lines, have been advanced without strikes. As most of those who struck for higher wages were successful, fully 75,000 industrial operatives appear to have had their wages advanced since the beginning of April.

"Among the leading southern cities Nashville, Savannah and New Orleans alone announce any improvement in feeling or demand, and in those instances it is pronounced."

THE INJUNCTION DISREGARDED.

Gov. Evans' Constables Pay No Attention to Goff's Orders.

A Columbia, S. C., special says: Following out his declaration of intention to disregard Judge Goff's temporary injunction restraining all state, county municipal officers from interfering with liquor shipped into the state while in transit and in the hands of consignees, until may 2d, Governor Evans's liquor constable has seized a barrel of bottled beer, shipped by express from Augusta, Ga., to D. J. Goble of Columbia. They broke it open and conveyed its confiscated contents to the state dispensary. State Liquor Commissioner Mixon has issued a circular to constables commanding them to be particularly vigilant in detecting and seizing liquors. The further action of United States judges is awaited with the keenest interest.

LABOR DAY IN CHICAGO.

Several of the Assemblies Refused to Participate.

The May Day parade, under the auspices of the socialistic federation of Chicago and the Central Labor Union, took place Wednesday afternoon. About 3,500 men were in line. After marching through the down-town streets they proceeded to Turner hall, where, speeches were delivered by T. J. Morgan and Richard Braunschweig, after which there was prize turning and singing and dancing contests. Both the trade and labor assembly and the building trades council declined to participate in the demonstration on the ground that they recognized September 1st as labor's legal holiday. The 1st of May celebration is in support of the international struggle for eight hours on the part of the working people, especially in England and Germany.

South Carolina and Georgia Road.

The South Carolina and Georgia Railroad Company reports for nine months, ended March 31, 1895, gross earnings of $882,863; expenses, $570,753, net $312,109; fixed charges and taxes, $232,875; surplus, $79,234; fixed charges and taxes for three months ending July 31, 1895, $77,625, and surplus after providing for fixed charges and taxes for the whole year, $1,609.

Colima Volcano in Eruption.

The Colima volcano, in Mexico, is again in a state of active eruption, and the inhabitants of the valley at the base of the mountain have been forced to abandon their homes and flee for their lives. The molten lava and ashes have destroyed the growing crops and much valuable property in that section.

Britain Wants Security.

The London Globe prints the statement that well-informed circles it is believed that Great Britain is willing to entertain the proposal of Nicaragua regarding the payment of indemnity upon receiving security that all of the demands of the ultimatum will be satisfied.

The Limit Was Too Small.

After a lengthy discussion, the Tennessee senate, by a vote of 14 ayes to 17 nays, rejected the Jeffries fee bill, limiting the fees of all state and county officials paid by fees to $3,000 per annum. A powerful lobby of county officials have been working against the bill.

Some Australian railways have lady station masters.

IN POSSESSION OF CORINTO.

British Troops Landed at Nicaragua Amidst Great Excitement.

Nicaragua has refused to accept the British ultimatum. This information was communicated to Rear Admiral Stephenson at Washington at a late hour Friday night. The three days given Nicaragua to make a reply having expired at midnight Friday, the British forces at once took possession of the town.

The garrison at Corinto, which consisted of a small force of about 150 or 200 men, was withdrawn to the interior, leaving the British in peaceable possession of the town.

No opposition was made to their landing, but it is stated by those familiar with the Nicaraguan people that any attempt on the part of the British to penetrate to the interior, or, in short, to leave the environs of Corinto, will be resisted by Nicaragua.

Great excitement is reported to exist, not only at Corinto and Managua, but throughout the entire republic.

It is now said positively that Nicaragua will not pay the $75,000 indemnity demanded by Great Britain. Should this determination be adhered to, the occupation of Corinto by the British government may be indefinite. The British ultimatum provided not only for the payment of $75,000 "smart money" to Pro-Consul Hatch, but it included also a payment of $2,500 to compensate a number of British subjects who were arrested and taken to Managua with Mr. Hatch, and provided further that a joint commission should be established to fix the damages which resulted to these and other British subjects as a result of their arrest and expulsion from the republic.

LOW RAILROAD RATES

To a Number of Important Conventions in the South.

The Southern States Passenger Association has issued a circular granting excursion rates on the certificate plan on account of a number of important meetings. The low rates are to cover the following events: Georgia Pharmaceutical convention, Savannah, May 20th to 23d, 1895; convention to discuss sound currency and better banking facilities, Memphis, Tenn., May 23d; commencement at Wesleyan Female College, May 24th to 30th; Southern Summer Bible and Training School for Women, Rogersville, Tenn., June 7th to 17th; Supreme Lodge Knights of Honor, New York, June 10th to 19th.

Will Advance Wages Five Per Cent.

General E. S. Boss, resident agent of the Williamantic (Conn.) Linen Company, has received instructions from General Barbour, treasurer of the company, that commencing Monday, April 15th, a general advance of 5 per cent in the wages of employes would take place.

Now Goes to Mayor Strong.

A special from Albany, N. Y., says: The assembly has concurred in the senate amendment to the New York city police magistrates bill by a vote of 86 to 17, and the bill now goes to Mayor Strong for his approval.

Curiosities About Bells.

The history of bells is one of the most curious and interesting chapters in the record of inventions. They were first heard about the year 400 A. D., before which time rattles were universally used. In the year 610 bells were first introduced into the western part of Europe, at the city of Sens, in Spain. In the last year their ringing is said to have so frightened the soldiers of King Clotaire, of France, that they were glad to be permitted to leave Spanish territory with their lives. In the year 960 the first bells in England were hung at the Coryland abbey. The oldest bell in America, that belonging to the African Methodists at Haleyville, N. J., was cast in Spain in the year 1492, and first did service on the historic old Alhambra. Queen Isabella presented it to Christopher Columbus, and he brought it to the western world upon the occasion of his first voyage. It was first placed in the chapel of the cathedral at Carthagena, New Granada, in the year 1502. In the year 1697, when that city was besieged and captured by the French, the old bell fell to the officers of the ship La Rochelle, who took it as a part of their portion of the plunder. La Rochelle was wrecked on one of the West Indies, and years afterward Captain Newell, of the bark Ezra H. Fisk, purchased the bell, which, with other articles, was saved from the wreck, and took it to Haleyville.

The system of washing linen with petroleum, said to be customary in parts of Russia, has been introduced into a German military hospital. Fifteen grams of petroleum are added to fifteen liters of water, containing soap and lye, and the linen is boiled in the mixture. The cleansing is much easier than by usual methods. The linen suffers less and assumes a whiter color.

A Puzzler.

In Maine a number of years ago lived a couple; the wife a good woman, but not very brilliant in intellect. The husband had been very intemperate, but had reformed, although at times his appearance suggested that the reformation was not a complete one.

One day the worthy woman called upon a neighbor, and during the conversation anxiously asked her "if she could tell her how long the odor of whiskey remained after a man left off drinking, for her husband signed the pledged two years before and his breath still smelled of liquor!"—Life.

THE SECOND LIFE.

PURGATORY AND PARADISE COMPARED BY A MAN WHO HAS SEEN BOTH.

A Miracle Worked in the Rural Recesses of Borodino Creates a Sensation.

(From the Evening News, Syracuse, N. Y.)

Albert Applebee was a very sick man. He had been ailing for months and had been compelled to remain home, unable to attend to his business. His friends stood or sat about the few small stores in the village of Borodino and discussed his sad condition. Applebee was a carpender, and a good one too, but since his strange malady overtook him he had not shown any dispotion to do any work. Life had lost its charms for him, he became a misanthrope and lost in everything. His friends advised him and the local doctors tried their skill on him but it was of no avail. Although they no doubt diagnosed his case correctly, he grew worse despite their efforts.

But he recovered and it has made such a stir in the small town that a News reporter was sent out to Borodino to investigate. He drove over and found Mr. Applebee hard at work on the roof of a house he was building.

"Well, it was just this way," began the carpenter, who is a good-looking man of about fifty summers. "In the fall of 1889 I had a siege of grip. It was a pretty rough time for me as I was very sick and I never expected to go out again except feet first in a coffin. But I recovered after a long sickness but was left with an ailment which was quite as dangerous and infinitely more painful. I had scrofula in my head for two years and a half or over and there was a sickening discharge from my right ear. I took about every medicine known to the medical fraternity but could get no benefit.

"I was also troubled with a severe pain in the stomach and indigestion, which made me feel that life was not worth living. Last fall I began taking a medicine known as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, which were recommended by a friend whose wife had read of them in some of the country papers. But I gave it a trial and was surprised to find that it benefited me. I tried more and persevered and at last, thank God, I was cured. My ear has discontinued discharging and for the past three months I have been perfectly well. I make these statements merely because I think the world should be acquainted with this remarkable remedy."

Several of Mr. Applebee's neighbors were seen by the reporter and they in turn expressed their confidence in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills after seeing the wonderful change they had wrought on him. One said the cure was simply wonderful as the man was a total wreck.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contains all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

Odd Words Are Wanted.

Wanted—"Words, words, words." Only they must be quaint, curious or unique. They are wanted by the American Dialect Society, whose New York branch held a meeting yesterday afternoon for the purpose of letting its wants be known. So, if you happen to know of any curious verbal specimens, send them to the society at once. The English Dialect Society is just about to publish a dictionary containg all the known dialects spoken on British soil. It is the ambition of the American to do the same for the dialects of this country. The value of such a complication is threefold. It will, firstly, preserve that which gives any language its variety and scope. Secondly, it will give one an opportunity to perceive for himself how language is made, how words conform themselves to the needs and habits of living and invironment—dialect being the direct result of life upon language, while its final test is but another proof that the fittest survives. Thirdly, dialect study binds together different and widely separated sections of country, giving them a clearer knowledge of each other. There is a possible fourth advantage. It is that all dialect stories of whatever locality be taken care of by the Dialect society, rather than inflicted upon a long-suffering public.—New York Evening Sun.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Chivalry in New Zealand.

A recent letter from New Zealand says: "I have traveled in many countries, but in no other land have I seen the courtesy and unobtrusive chivalry habitually shown women, whether young or old, by New Zealand young men of every condition and rank. The status of a New Zealand woman is considerably higher than that of her sister in Australia or England, and she is not likely to forget that she gained the political franchise not by inadvertence or by party scheming, but as a deliberate act of justice no less than chivalry on the part of her countrymen."—Womankind.

Consumption kills more people than rifle balls. It is more deadly than any of the much dreaded epidemics. It is a stealthy, gradual, slow disease. It penetrates the whole body. It is in every drop of blood. It seems to work only at the lungs, but the terrible drain and waste go on all over the body. To cure consumption, work on the blood, make it pure, rich and wholesome, build up the wasting tissues, put the body into condition for a fight with the dread disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery fights in the right way. It will cure 98 per cent. of all cases if taken during the early stages of the disease. Its first action is to put the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys into good working order. That makes digestion good and assimilation quick and thorough. It makes sound, healthy flesh. That is half the battle. That makes the "Discovery" good for those who have not consumption, but who are lighter and less robust than they ought to be.

A SILVER PLATFORM

ADOPTED BY A CONVENTION OF DEMOCRATS IN CHICAGO.

Delegates Selected to the Springfield Monetary Convention.

Delegates to the Cook county, Ill., democratic convention, called for the purpose of selecting 353 delegates to the Springfield monetary convention June 5th, assembled in Chicago Saturday morning.

After organization and speech-making, a platform declaring in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at 16 to 1 and against an international agreement was then adopted, with but few votes recorded against it.

A 16 to 1 Platform.

The platform adopted was as follows:

"The democratic party in its national convention and the democracy of Illinois have uniformly declared in favor of the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country. Silver and gold have constituted the money of the democratic party, the money of the American people and the money of the whole commercial world. It was by the use of both that the world progressed and that our people prospered. As long as the mints of the world, or even one great nation, were opened the free coinage of both metals silver and gold, in obedience to a natural law, maintained a substantial parity. That law is that the privilege of coining either metal into debt-paying money, makes a demand for whichever metal tends to be the cheaper. This natural demand decreases the value of the greater metal and thus an automatic and natural stability is obtained. It is the history of centuries, and this natural law maintained the parity of gold and silver at substantially their coinage ratio, even when the ratio of their production fluctuated violently. When the world's production of gold was three times that of silver and when against it was only one-third of silver, still the bullion value of the metals under free coinage was relatively the same.

"Not until silver was denied free coinage at the mints did its value and that of gold begin to diverge, and we maintain that the apparent depreciation of silver is really, to a great extent, the appreciation of gold. Gold has become dearer because the immense added demand for gold consequent upon the demonetization of silver has made it dearer. This is evidenced by the increased purchasing power of gold, and the general decline of the prices of commodities since 1873.

"There never has been and is not now enough gold in the world to do the business of the world. The total amount in existence is less than four billion dollars, and amounts to only about $2.50 per capita for the population of the world.

"To make any single metal the standard of value is to choose a standard which must fluctuate in obedience to the laws of supply and demand. Gold monometallism and silver monometallism are, therefore, both unsound systems; but gold monometallism is fraught with peculiar dangers because its burdens fall on those who are least able to endure them. Bimetallism furnishes a standard more stable than any other, because each of the two metals automatically prevents or counteracts the undue appreciation of the other. The gold standard is dishonest and oppressive because gold tends steadily upward and makes the debtor pay more than he owes. Upon the republican party rests the responsibility of the closing of our mints to silver and the practical supremacy of gold monometallism, and we adjure its members in the name of patriotism and humanity to forsake their false guides, and to join with us in prompt and thoroughgoing measures to correct the evil which they have brought into existence, and to return to the double standard approved by Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson.

"There are other abuses of the currency system which must also be removed until we stand upon the firm foundation of the precious metals as the basis of our money system—every dollar of equal intrinsic worth, and no money founded upon mere promises to pay, not backed by gold and silver.

"We deny the statement of our adversaries that we favor repudiation of 50 cent dollars and insist that the operation of the natural law of supply and demand the gold and silver dollars, when freely coined at the ratio of 16 to 1, will adjust themselves at a practical equality, just as they did before 1873. There is not and never has been in the United States a fifty-cent silver dollar, and the only reason that the bullion in a silver dollar can be said to be worth 50 cents is because that bullion has been excluded from the mints and is unfairly compared with appreciated gold.

"We are not opposed to an international agreement. We invite such action, but we are opposed to waiting one day or one hour for foreign aid. International conferences have, heretofore, been a failure, whether well intended or conceived in the interest of delay. We believe that this nation can and should legislate for its people.

"Therefore, be it resolved by the democracy of Cook county, That we demand the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the rate of 16 to 1, as it existed prior to 1873, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation, such gold and silver coin to be the legal tender for all debts, public and private."

Out of 729 delegates present, there were only twenty-three who voted against the resolution. Three hundred and fifty-three delegates to the Springfield convention were chosen.

CHARGED THE MOB.

Police and Rioters Clash in Chicago. Blood Flowed.

Four policemen were injured and one striker fatally shot in a riot of Illinois Steel Company strikers at South Chicago Wednesday.

The riot followed a big mass meeting of the strikers, at which about five hundred men were present. The speeches became so violent and the men so demonstrative that the leaders forced an adjournment. The crowd would not disperse, however, and a riot call brought a detail of fifteen police officers headed by Lieutenant Wagner to the scene.

The police ordered the crowd to disperse, but the order was met with hoots and threats, the women among the strikers daring the officers to shoot. The policemen finally charged with drawn revolvers and were met with a volley of stones.

Lieutenant Wagner and three of his men fell and the other officers opened fire, sending about twenty-five shots into the crowd. At the beginning of the firing the strikers fled, four of the leaders being arrested.

The wounded are John Wilkoski, striker, shot through the head, will die; Lieutenant Wagner, head cut by a stone; Officer Martin Proty, clubbed into insensibility; Officer John McFrey, badly bruised; Officer Wm. Walsh, head badly cut by a stone. None of the policemen were believed to be fatally injured. After the shooting the rioters gathered in groups about the steel works threatening vengeance, and more trouble was anticipated by the police.

The mills were kept under police protection and the company's store of dynamite was heavily guarded all day.

ADDRESS TO MINERS.

Regarding the Suspension of Work Until Demands Are Granted.

The executive committee of the Ohio Miners' Association has issued the following address to the miners of Ohio, which virtually continues the suspension of work inaugurated May 1st as a strike for the wage scale demanded by the miners convention last week:

"We, your executive board, desire to say a few words regarding the decision of the delegates who represented you. At the late special convention with four days' continual session and a meeting jointly with the operators of Ohio three times, it was impossible to make a scale for milling, even at last year's prices. The operators were determined for low wages, but the delegates could not get further and adopted the following resolution:

"'Resolved, That no work be done in or around the mines until a settlement is made, except pumping and bailing water.'

"This your executive board will endeavor to carry out in every particular, and in order to be successful in securing the rate of wages demanded—viz: 60 cents a ton for pick and 36 cents for machine mining and drilling—must have the entire support and co-operation of every member of our organization. We respectfully request that every man do his duty lawfully, and by so doing we will secure conditions which will gain for us an opportunity to make living wages."

The following resolution was adopted:

"But any and all matters relating to price be referred to locals before settlement. This will be done. No price will be agreed to without the consent of the locals. It may be that some operators will offer their men the price demanded. We hope and expect that no miners will go to work till all have secured prices and all go to work together. Let us keep our ranks solid."

RIOTOUS STRIKERS.

Poles and Bohemians Attack the Illinois Steel Company's Works.

Twelve hundred men employed in the blast furnace department of the Illinois Steel company mills, at South Chicago, quit work Tuesday morning. Two furnaces are shut down as a result, and the strikers expect that they have sympathizers enough to spread the disaffection to other departments. It is likely that the four other furnaces may be compelled to suspend. The strikers claim that not enough men are employed in the blast furnaces work to divide the labor fairly, and that they are not receiving wages that will enable them to live. Two years ago, the men claim, they were being paid $2.10 a day for work that they now do in twelve hours for $1.60.

Tuesday night 700 of the strikers attacked the gate to the company's enclosure at Eighty-sixth and Green Bay streets, and in a struggle with the police several were injured. The police, although greatly outnumbered, used their clubs to good purpose, and notwithstanding the onslaught of the infuriated men, they more than held their own. In a short time they had scattered the crowd. The police sent for reinforcements and in half an hour 100 officers were on the scene. Twenty-eight of the ring-leaders, mostly Bohemians and Poles, were placed under arrest. In both scrimmages eight policemen and a number of strikers were hurt, but none seriously. A heavy guard has been placed about the works of the steel company and detachments of police placed on duty in every portion of the town.

GARMENT WORKERS WINNING.

Success Seems Certain and Many are Returning to Work.

A Philadelphia special says: It is evident that the success of the garment workers in the present strike will be universal and that the abolition of "sweat shops" will be the outcome. Wednesday morning 400 more hands returned to work, ten contractors having conceded their demands, and the Knights of Labor leaders declare that in a short time six hundred additional workers will be employed. Thus far forty-eight contractors have given in to the strikers, but there are still 1,500 men and women on strike.

Working Double Time.

The Pennsylvania bolt and nut works at Lebanon, Pa., has commenced work on double turn, giving employment to several hundred additional hands.

IN TURNEY'S FAVOR.

DECLARED GOVERNOR OF TENNESSEE BY A SMALL MARGIN.

Eight Democrats Vote Against Him Both Sides Talked of Bribery.

A Nashville special says: At 12:25 o'clock Saturday morning, Speaker Pillow, of the senate, acting as president of the joint convention, declared that Peter Turney, having received a plurality of the votes cast, was duly and constitutionally elected governor of Tennessee for the ensuing term of two years.

For four long days and nights the report of the committee on governor's election had been discussed. The debate ended at 11:40 o'clock Friday night and a vote was taken on the motion to adopt the minority report. This motion was rejected by a vote of yeas 57, nays 71.

The roll call began on the motion to adopt the majority report. This motion prevailed by a vote of 70 yeas to 57 nays, eight democrats voting no. Thus the verdict of the people, giving Evans 544 plurality, was overturned and Turney declared to be elected. The committee's figures give—

Turney	94,794
Evans	92,440
Mims	23,088
Turney's plurality	2,356

A resolution by Mr. Johnson, declaring Peter Turney elected governor, was at once adopted, and the result was declared by Speaker Pillow. The republican members retired from the hall in a body shouting: "Steal! Steal! steal!"

The democrats showed great enthusiasm, and a salute of cannons was fired as soon as the result was declared.

In the joint convention Mr. Baker referred to the report that a democrat had been offered $1,000 to vote for Evans and demanded to know who had offered the bribe. He declared that any man who said Evans or Newell Sanders was responsible for any such action stated what he knew to be false.

Representative Deakéns, of Sequatchie county, then arose and stated that a man named Burrows, of Bedford county, had come to his room and offered him $1,000 to vote for Evans, which he had declined.

Bribery Charged.

Charges of attempted bribery in connection with the gubernatorial contest come from both democratic and republican sources. Senator J. W. Taylor, a republican from East Tennessee, publishes a card in which he charges that Peter Blow, of Knoxville, attempted to bribe him with $200 cash and a promise of a position at $100 per month if he would absent himself when the vote on the contest was taken. He says that by the advice of a friend he played Blow and demanded $2,000. Blow saw the parties he was representing and reported that they refused to pay it because they had five to fifteen majority for Turney without him.

At Saturday's session both houses of the general assembly adopted a resolution providing for the inauguration of Governor Turney, Tuesday, May 7th.

CLEVELAND COMPLIMENTED.

He Reciprocated With a Check for Five Hundred Dollars.

Three weeks ago there were born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zerkles, living near Decatur, Ind., three girl babies. The parents named the children, Ruth, Esther and Frances. A neighbor of the Zerkles wrote President Cleveland informing him of the facts and a day or two ago the father of the children received a draft from the president for $500, to be used for the education of the girls should they live.

POWDER MILLS EXPLODE.

Three Men Killed and the Buildings Blown Into Splinters.

The three powder mills owned by the American Powder Mills Company, situated near the boundary line of Concord, Acton and Maynard, Mass., were blown up early Friday morning and three of the employes, named Clemmens, Jones and Smith, were killed. The other employes are believed to have escaped.

It is one of the features of love to give some kind of warning to those that are exposed to temptation.

CALLS IT A STEAL.

Col. Evans Makes a Speech and Refers to the Recent Contest.

The members of the Tennessee legislature who voted against seating Governor Turney and who declined to be on the committees in charge of the inauguration at Nashville spent the day Wednesday at Chattanooga, the guests of Col. Evans. The party went to Lookout mountain, where they sat down to a sumptuous repast. After the feast Senator J. F. McCarron, toastmaster, addressed the meeting saying its object was to "renew allegiance to the gallant leader who fought the one-sided battle in November."

When Colonel Evans was called upon he was greeted with a storm of applause. "I took the race," said he, "against my judgment and to attempt a reform in the iniquitous ballot laws of this state. What I charged against the administration has been proven. It is rotten to the core. I have pointed out its frauds and they have been unearthed. I am not discouraged. I have been counted out. With the same opportunities Turney had for examining witnesses, I could have shown that he was beaten by 20,000 votes. The steal," said the speaker vehemently, "is as plain to the mind of a thinking man as is Lookout mountain to the sight of Chattanooga. I expect to help the republican party next year and with the experience I have gained I have an opportunity to make a hotter fight against the disgraceful democratic machine that controls this state."

WAS BROWN A VICTIM?

The Governor Believes that His Son Was Entrapped.

The sensation attending the double killing at Louisville, Ky., is not over yet by half. The prosecution will attempt to prove that Arch Brown's death was due to a deep-laid plot to assassinate him; a trap, as the prosecution believes, fostered and planned by one who, for reasons best known to himself, was afraid to do the work and used Gordon as the tool to carry out his designs. These statements came directly from the prosecution.

Governor Stone has reason to believe that his son's coming to Louisville on the day of the tragedy and the purpose of his visit was known to a man in Frankfort who telegraphed to a man in Louisville. This Louisville man, the prosecution claims, notified Gordon that his wife was to meet Brown, and "actively assisted in a foul assassination."

The prosecution further says that the name of the man who "acted the spy" is known to them and that he will have to be produced in court. In a private letter Governor Brown insisted that the man referred to be brought into court on an attachment. The man who, as the prosecution believes, piloted Gordon to the house of Lucy Smith, is a college chum of Gordon's and was married in Frankfort.

ONE OF THE FINEST.

Plant's New Vessel Will be the Largest Built in American Yards.

A New York special says: A contract has been signed between the Plant steamship line and the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, which will place in the service of the steamship line one of the finest vessels afloat, and next to the St. Louis and St. Paul of the American line, the largest steamer ever turned out of an American yard. The details of the new ship have not yet been given out, but it was learned that she will be over 400 feet long and that she will cost in the neighborhood of $600,000. She will be fitted up in the most modern style. The contract has been signed and work will be begun immediately.

The Order Granted.

Three applications were presented to Judge Goff at Columbia, S. C., for orders by Samuel Spencer, as sole continuing receiver of the Richmond and Danville Railway Company through his counsel. After carefully examining the papers Judge Goff granted an order in each application in accordance with the prayer of the petition.

Blaze at Buffalo.

Strauss & Sons' tannery, two private dwellings, P. S. Groleen's coal yard, with barns, horses and several freight cars, were destroyed by fire at East Buffalo, N. Y., early Monday morning. The loss may reach $250,000, with about $125,000 insurance.

TURNEY'S INAUGURATION.

He Declares That Law and Right Have Prevailed.

Peter Turney was inaugurated governor of Tennessee for the second time Wednesday. The proceedings were held in the hall of the house of representatives in the presence of the democratic members of the general assembly, the justices of the supreme court, the state officials and 2,000 visitors. All of the republican members of the general assembly deliberately absented themselves and went to Chattanooga to spend the day with H. Clay Evans, the republican candidate. President Pillow, of the senate, in introducing Governor Turney, said that right had prevailed and the law had been upheld.

Referring to the absence of the republican members he said this was the first time in America that a vanquished foe had sneaked away like skulking cowards and dared not face the result. He eulogized Governor Turney for upholding the law and supporting the constitution.

In his inaugural address Governor Turney said he had made the contest because he had sworn to support the constitution and the law. Right, truth and morality had prevailed. Had he abandoned the office to Evans when his claim was based on fraud he would have been a perjured man. He had felt no uneasiness. The wisdom of his course had been proven. He predicts that the election laws would be observed in 1896. He would support the constitution and enforce the law.

Japan Renounces Claims.

The St. James Gazette prints a dispatch from Paris saying that the Japanese minister to France has informed M. Hanotaux, minister of foreign affairs, that Japan, in deference to the friendly advice of the protesting powers, had renounced her claim to permanent possession of the Liao Tung peninsula, including Port Arthur.

Large Fire in Charlotte.

One of the severest fires in the history of Charlotte, N. C., occurred Thursday afternoon. The immense brick warehouse of Sanders & Blackwood, and a number of stores were gutted by the flames. The losses will be between $75,000 and $50,000, perhaps three-quarters covered by insurance.

Texas Democrats on Silver.

Chairman Dudley has called a meeting of the executive committee of the democratic party of Texas to be held at Dallas May 27th for the purpose of defining the position of the party on silver. He says the issue must be met and the party united for action next year.

OF all the nations of the earth the women of ancient Sparta proved themselves the most heroic.

A Novelty in Sleeping Cars.

A new style of sleeping car has recently been patented by a Western man. Each car is to contain rubber bags of various sizes and designs, some to be used as pillows, some as mattresses and others as cushions. At nightfall these bags are to be taken from the cupboard and carefully stretched over steel frames. When that is done hot air from the locomotive is to be turned on and the bags are to be dilated. In a very few minutes the cushions, mattresses and pillows will be inflated for use and then the porter will put wire screens in position to divide the sleeping sections. In perhaps fifteen minutes the whole sleeping car will be ready for use. The next morning all that it will be necessary to do is to turn off the hot air and so cause the collapse of mattresses, pillows and cushions.

The advantages claimed for the new patent are many and various. In the first place there will be a decided lessening of weight for the sleeping cars to carry. Again, the fixtures of sleeping berths take up a very large amount of room, which the new patent designs to save. Then the time taken up for preparing the berths and putting them up in the morning is considerable. It is claimed, too, that another effect of the invention will be to do away with much of the discomfort which now seems inseparable from travel on sleeping cars. A soft rubber cushion dilated with hot air ought certainly to be a pleasant substitute for a sleeping car mattress on a cold night.

KNOCKED OUT.

DECISION ON SOUTH CAROLINA'S REGISTRATION LAW.

The Dispensary Statute Also Declared Null and Void.

The decision in the registration case of Mills vs. Green was read by Judge Goff in the United States circuit court at Columbia, S. C. It was very lengthy. It holds that the court has jurisdiction; that no official, state or national, is above the law; that, as to the constitutionality of the registration, citizens of the state are citizens of the United States, residing in that state, and that Mills is such, and that the plaintiff's claims are sustained by the decisions of the court; that the registration law's requirement of certificates is not warranted by law; that the registration law is unconstitutional in such requirements; that the constitutional convention act does not cure defects; that the whole laws are unconstitutional; that the proceeding is not against the state; that this court is a court of the state of South Carolina as well as of the United States. Judge Goff, therefore, issues a permanent injunction.

DISPENSARY LAW ALSO DOWNED.

Judge Simonton, after the disturbance caused by Judge Goff's decision had been quelled, read the decision in the dispensary case of Donald vs. The State Constables, declaring that the court has jurisdiction, that the provisions of the dispensary law are in violation of the United States interstate commerce law and that the injunction issue as prayed for.

OTHER CASES THROWN OUT.

Judge Simonton then read a decision in the case of Dunbar vs. the constables in the dispensary matter, declaring that the prayer for the injunction is refused, not being properly in court.

He then read the decision in the contempt case vs. Mixson, state commissioner, saying that in view of the solemn denials of Mixson, he had purged himself, the same being true as to the constables.

Pope and Caldwell's case on the registration law was dismissed, not being properly in court.

EFFECT OF THE DECISION.

The dispensary system has gone glimmering, if the dicision rendered by Sudge Simonton, of the United States court runs the gauntlet of the United States supreme court, and is sustained. Again, United States Judge Goff has knocked the registration law of the state into a cocked hat and the effect of the decision is a free and open ballot in the coming election for delegates to the constitutional convention, something that works complete revolution in the state. The court room was jammed, packed to its utmost capacity, during the reading of the decision.

The cases brought by Messrs. Caldwell and Pope were dismissed and the decisions were rendered on Messrs. Bryan and Douglass' cases.

COMMISSIONER MIXSON RETRACTS.

State Liquor Commissioner Mixson and Constables Davis and Lafar were before Judge Goff on the charge of contempt Tuesday afternoon. The commissioner, in submitting his return, practically said that he did not mean anything he said in his circular to the constables, telling them to be more vigilant than ever in seizing liquor and disclaiming any intent in issuing the circular of disobeying the order of the court. The other returns were even more retractive, and in strange contrast with the talk of state's rights and the announcement that no heed would be given the order on the part of the dispensary officials last week.

THE FIELD WELL COVERED.

The Governorship of Mississippi is a Prize Greatly Sought After.

Hon. E. O. Sykes, of Monroe county, is officially announced as a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor of Mississippi. This makes four candidates in the field, Messrs. Sykes, Vardaman, McCabe and McLaurin. Neither of the candidates is over forty-six years of age. There is strong likelihood that General W. T. Martin, of Adams, will also announce his purpose to contest for the nomination at an early day.

Judge Denson in his charge to the Grand Jury left no room for blind tigers, and drunkards to feel comfortable. He assured the Jury that the presence of such tigers were demoralizing in the highest degree to the entire community, and that they were teaching our boys to perjure themselves.

The management of the Cotton States and International Exposition proposes to have a day for a reunion of the Grand Army and the Confederate Veterans, at a time most convenient for both, and the occasion will be made one of great interest. The opening of Chickamauga National Park on 19th of September, will bring thousands of veterans South, and it is hoped that at some date close to that time a Blue and Gray day may be fixed.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

The charge of Circuit Judge Denson to the Grand Jury was one of the ablest we ever heard from the Bench. As a Judge he cleared his skirts of any blame for the existance of lawlessness. Plainly the dignity and importance of a Grand and Petit Juror was laid upon them. Rarely have blind tigers and those guilty of public drunkenness been so terribly scored.

The charge will do much good towards strengthening the moral sentiment of our county. The great need our county has for a new court house and especially a vault for our records, was impressed. We look for good work from this Grand Jury.

Just as we have been trying to impress upon our people for months those outside of Chilton county are beginning to realize that our lands and climate are desirable. Last week just after our paper had gone to press Mr. W. H. Merritt completed a trade in which he sold half interest in 8,300 acres of land to Mr E. T. Runion of Iowa. It is the purpose of the purchaser to settle some 100 familes at once on this land.

The class of people we are told will be thrifty citizens who are tired of the cold north. Mr. Runion is an old man, but appears to have money enough to aid in developing his recent purchase. As these strangers begin to come into our county let us all do what we can to give them hearty welcome.

We have vast acres of land which need to be tilled and rendered productive, and if the proper encouragement is given this county will soon teem with a busy population to the mutual profit of those of us who are here and those who shall come.

BANISH THE PISTOL.

The habit of carrying deadly weapons so extensively indulged in is responsible for many tragedies that would never have been committed, were it not for the ready knife or pistol. It is safe to say that in many of the encounters where one or more of the participants are seriously or mortally wounded, had it not been for the presence of the weapon, when the mind was clouded with sudden passion and when the barbarous desire for a deadly revenge was uppermost the tragedy would have been averted.

The taking of the life of a fellow being, even under conditions that are considered justifiable, is a calamity the depth of which canonly be appreciated by those who have experienced it. To know that your hands are red with the blood of one of God's children; to know that, perhaps, a widowed wife and fatherless children, are struggling for existence because, in a momentary frenzy, you had gratified one of the most fiendish attributes of the human mind—the desire for revenge; to be forever haunted by that pale face, those staring, sightless eyes, to have constantly before you, waking or sleeping, the horrid scene where the terrible deed was committed, is so horrible that it is beyond comprehension.

The life of a man who has taken that of another is forever clouded; for him the sun has ceased to shine; the gentle winds that fan his cheek constantly whisper in his ear "murderer;" the very children whom he passes in the street seem to be afraid, and to edge away looking at him askance as he passes. The world to him is covered with a black pall, and all light has vanished. It is horrible, too horrible to dwell upon. Doubtless in many cases he who has in heat of passion taken away the divine gift from a fellow being would, were it possible willingly, yes, gladly give his own life, could that he had taken be restored. Were the deadly weapon not at hand, and violent passions given a short time in which to subside and reason allowed to regain its sway, many of the tragedies which have wrecked the life-happiness of families would have been averted. There is no reason, no excuse in this enlightened age, for men to have constantly at hand deadly weapons, and the pressure of public opinion should be brought to bear, to compel a discontinuance of the practice of carrying them.

The Alabama law on this subject is very sweeping, and if properly enforced would have a strong tendency to discourage the practice. Section 3775 of the Code reads as follow.:

Carrying concealed weapons—Any one who carries concealed about his person a bowie-knife, or knife, or instrument of like kind or description, or or a pistol or fire-arms of any other kind or description; or an air-gun, must, on conviction, be fined not less than $50 or more than $500, and may also be imprisoned, in the county jail, or sentenced to hard labor for the county, for not more than six months.

As can be seen by a perusal of the foregoing, in addition to the fine, the judge can punish the offender by a term in jail, or at hard labor. The records will show but a few cases where imprisonment has been inflicted, and in these the culprits were such notorious characters that the judge could hardly do otherwise. If in every case of carrying concealed weapons where there were no strong mitigating circumstances the trial judge would sentence the offender to a term of imprisonment—and the higher the station, the more influential the position of the culprit, the heavier the penalty—the practice would soon be broken up. If the citizens of Albama who carry deadly weapons knew that to have one found upon their person would invariably result in an imprisonment, as well as a fine, they would soon abstain from carrying them.

The laws constituting our criminal code are for the punishment and suppression of crime, and the judges of our courts are sworn to administer them without fear or favor. It is their plain duty so to do this, that each judgement will serve as sharp warning and convey to all offenders that obedience to the law is imperative. A few imprisonments of citizens who occupy positions of some prominence in the community would do much towards abolishing this pernicious practice and we call upon our judges to use their discretion, and imprison as well as fine in every case where the evidence shows a wilful violation of the law. —Advertiser.

INGERSOL ON ALCOHOL.

A Wonderful Piece of Word Painting by the Agnostic.

The following wonderful piece of word painting has been frequently published, says The Chicago Tribune but we reprint it at the request of several readers who desire a complete copy. Colonel Robert G. Ingersol, in addressing a jury in a case which involved the manufacture of alcohol, made the following terrible arraignment of the demon:

"I am aware that there is a prejudice against any man who manufactures alcohol. I believe that from the time it issues from the coiled and poisonous worm in the distillery until it empties into the jaws of death, dishonor and crime it demoralizes everybody that touches it, from its source to where it ends. I do not believe anybody can contemplate the object without being predjudiced against the liquor crime. All we have to do, gentleman, is to think of the wrecks on either bank of the streamof death of the suicides, of the insanity, of the ignorance, of the destitution, of the littlechildren tugging at the faded and withered breast of weeping and despairing mothers, of wives asking for bread, of the men of genius it has wrecked, the men struggling with imaginary serpents produced by this devilish thing; and when you think of the jails, of the almshouses, of the asylums, of the prisons, of the scaffolds upon either bank, I do not wonder that every thoughtful man is predjudiced against this damned stuff called alcohol. Intemperance cuts down youth in its vigor, manhood in its strength, old age in its weakness. It breaks the father's heart bereaves the doting mother, extinguishes natural affection, erases conjugal love, blots out filial attachment, blights parental hopes brings down mourning age in sorrow to the grave. It produces weakness, not strength; sickness, not health; death, not life. It makes wives widows; children orphans; fathers fiends; and all of them paupers and beggars. It feeds rheumatism, invites cholera, imports pestilence and embraces consumption. It covers the land with idleness, misery, crime. It fills your jails, supplies your almshouses, and demands your assylums. It engenders controversies, fosters quarrels and cherishes riots.

It crowds your penitentiaries and furnishes victims for your scaffolds

It is the life blood of the gambler, the element of the burglar, the prop of the highwayman and support of the midnight incendiary.

It countenances the liar, respects the thief, esteems the blasphemer.

It violtates obligation, reverances fraud and honors infamy. It defames benevolence, hates love, scorns virtue and slanders innocence. It incites the father to butcher his helpless offspring, helps the husband to massacre his wife and the child to grind the parricidal ax. It burns up men, consumes women, detests life, curses God, despises heaven. It subborns witnesses, nurses perjury, defiles the jury box and stains judicial ermine. It degrades the citizen, debases the legislature, dishonors the the statesman and disarms the patriot. It brings shame not honor; misery, not safety; despair, not hope misery, not happiness, and with the malevolence of a fiend it calmly surveys its frightful desolation and unsatiated havoc. It poisons felicity, kills peace, ruins morals, and wipes out national honor, then curses the world and laughs at its ruin. It does all that and more.

It murders the soul. It is the sum of all villianies, the father of all crimes, the mother of all abominations, the devil's best friend and God's worst enemy."

The Chilton Co. Musical Convention was called to order at Rocky Mount Church Saturday the 4th 10 A. M. The session was interesting and instructive. The special committees on Church music Sabbath school music and musical education made report. We wish all who are leading music at least could have heard these reports, that they may be encouraged to give more time and thought to these subjects The discussion on the subject of music established the fact that this important subject in future will be considered with more interest than ever before in this section. Committees are to report next session on Church music, Sabbath school music and musical education also there were several questions asked to be answered at next session, any who desire to study these address the

BEFORE, AND AFTER.

Bye and bye, if little grand children, I see,
For a new story, they may sweetly tease.
"Do Uncle and Auntie live alone?
Please, tell about their Florida home!"—
Their pretty cottage,—long time ago;
Stood in a live orange grove you know.
Oranges, rocked by the balmly breeze,
Bananas too; thought not of a biting freeze.

Bright, sweet flowers, bloomed nights, morns, and noons.
Gayly, birds of bright plumage sung their tunes.
Outside the yard, grew tall oleanders,
Where dwelt scores of busy salamanders.
Such a sweet home, should cause any man,
To thank God, and praise Him if he can
While fanned by the fragrant breeze,
Christmas times, before, the awful freeze.

Spring found the orange trees stripped and dead!
Fruits, and blossoms, to Nature's grave had fled!
The reason why, I need not explain—
Fearing the trouble might cause you pain—
Now, just imagine it, if you can—
On losses, all conversations ran;
Though, many merciess were left, to please
All God-trusting ones, After, the freeze

As the eagle, teaches her young to fly,
And seek homes, nearer the blue sky;
So, God sends blessings in disguise;
He means good! whatever may betide
His children, were too well satisfied,
With this pretty world, of sin and pride.
Now pet-let grandma rest, if you please;
Then tell of good, that came After the freeze.

What is
CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
Dr. G. C. Osgood,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
Dr. J. F. Kincheloe,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. Archer, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
United Hospital and Dispensary,

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION'S PRIZE ACRE.

$500,00 in Cash for Farmers—A Handsome Reward for the Plows of 1895.

We take pleasure in presenting The Constitution's $500 offer for the farmers of 1895. The prize consists of $100 in cash for the best acre of cotton, corn, tobacco, watermelons or sweet potatoes.

The announcement is made before the planting of the crop so as to enable all who will to take part in the contest.

Entries may be made up to June 1st, and by that time every contestant must enter his name with The Constitution and state which acre he will compete for.

In ever circular The Constitution frankly states that the care taken in the preparation of the land, the selection of seeds, and the use of fertilizers, a record of costs and dates of plowing and other cultivation, and a careful record of the heavy rainfalls, the periods of droughts and all the other data, giving the history of the crop from the breaking of the soil to the harvesting, will be an object lesson of vast importance to every contestant, whether he wins the prize or not. This is a practical demonstration that a farm run on the intensive plan by giving careful attention to the thorough cultivation of a few acres properly rather than the poor cultivation of a [illegible] area will be far better than a reduction of farm acreage by resolutions [illegible] offer is made to encourage the raising of home supplies and illustrate the south's great possibilities in agriculture and to stimulate the proper cultivation of every possible acre to add to the independence of the farmer.

The prizes will be awarded by three competent judges, recognized as high authority in agricultural matters.

The terms are breifly these: Every contestant must be a subscriber to The Weekly Constitution. He must keep a record of The Constitution's acre upon a blank, which will be furnished him free upon application. The contest is open to every southern farmer.

By special arrangement with The Constitution we offer the View with The Weekly Constitution for $1.50 or if you already have our paper, send us $1 and we will send you The Constitution one year. We are pleased to say that our neighbor in Georgia is perhaps the greatest of all American weekly newspapers. Its seventy two columns each week, which will be increased to eighty four shortly, come brim full of the latest news of the world, and many excellent features of special interest to the state, besides its well conducted departments for the farm and the household.

Every subscription recieved through us will entitle the subscriber to enter the prize acre contest as well as to guess in the $2,000 contest, closing May 1st.

This is an extraordinary opportunity to procure two good newspapers for a year, one to supply the county news in the quickest and best possible shape, and the other to bring weekly the news of the world, teeming with political current history, farmers' notes and everything else that will interest every member of the family.

You will find no better season to subscribe nor any greater offer than the present.

That Tired Feeling

It is remarkable how many people there are who have That Tired Feeling and seem to think it is of no importance or that nothing need be done for it. They would not be so careless if they realized how really serious the malady is. But they think or say "It will go off after a while."

We do not mean the legitimate weariness which all experience after a hard day's work, but that all-gone, worn-out feeling which is especially overpowering in the morning, when the body should be refreshed and ready for work. It is often only the forerunner of nervous prostration, with all the horrible suffering that term implies. That Tired Feeling and nervousness are sure indications of an impure and impoverished condition of the blood. The craving of the system for help can only be met by purifying the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the one great blood purifier. It expels all impurities, gives vitality and strength, regulates the digestion and makes the weak strong.

"In the spring I felt very much run down—no strength or appetite. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and my appetite improved and I did not have That Tired Feeling." H. B. SQUIRES, East Leverett, Massachusetts.

May Week Celebration, Savannah, Ga., May 12-16, 1895.

It has been decided to hold a May week celebration in Savannah during the third week in May, for which a very interesting programme has been arranged, including grand carnival, large military parade and display, Tybee day with sham and naval battle, etc. It is also expected that several large war vessels will be present.

The old reliable Central railroad of Georgia will sell round-trip tickets May 12th to 16th, limited returning May 18th, from all points in Georgia, and from Montgomery, Ala., and intermediate points, to Savannah, at the rate of one fare for the round trip.

For military companies in uniform, twenty or more traveling in a body on one ticket from stations within 300 miles of Savannah and from Montgomery, Ala., and intermediate points, rate of 1 cent per mile in each direction is authorized. At these very low rates every one will have an opportunity of making the trip to Savannah.

For further information, rates, schedules, etc., apply to any ticket agent of the Central railroad system or S. B. Webb, traveling passenger agent, 16 Wall street, Atlanta, Ga.

CONSUMPTION

The Human Family.

The human family living on earth today consists of about 1,450,000,000 souls—not fewer, and probably more. These are distributed liberally all over the earth's surface, there being no considerable spot on the globe where man has not made his home. In Asia, the so-called "cradle of the human race," there are now about 800,000,000 people densely crowded together, an average of about 120 to every square mile. In Europe there are 320,000,000, averaging 100 to the square mile, a population not so crowded as Asia, but everywhere dense. In Africa there are, approximately, 210,000,000, and in the Americas—North, South and Central—110,000,000, these latter, of course, thinly scattered over the broad areas. On the islands, large and small, there are probably 10,000,000 more. The proportion of the extreme blacks and the whites, is as five to three; the remaining 700,000,000 are intermediate, brown, yellow and tawny in color. Of the entire race, 500,000,000 are well clothed, that is, they wear garments of some kind; 250,000,000 habitually go naked, and 70,000,000 only cover the middle portions of the body; 500,000,000 live in houses, 700,000,000 in huts and caves, the remaining 250,000,000 virtually having no place to lay their heads.

How Many Toes Has a Cat?

This was one of the questions asked of a certain class during examination week; and simple as the question appears to be, none could answer it. In the emergency, the principal was applied to for a solution; and he also, with a good-natured smile, gave it up; when one of the teachers, determined not to be beaten by so simple a question, hit on the idea of sending out a delegation of boys to scour the neighborhood for a cat. A feline was soon secured and a returning board was at once appointed and the toes counted, when, to the relief of all, it was learned that a cat possesses eighteen toes, ten on the front feet and eight on the hind feet.

WASHINGTON NOTES

ITEMS OF NEWS PICKED UP AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Sayings and Doings of the Official Heads of the Government.

Comptroller Eckles has authorized the Central National bank, of Spartanburg, S. C., capital $100,000, and the First National bank, of Washington, N. C., capital $50,000, to begin business.

Pro Consul Hatch, for whose expulsion England demanded $75,000 indemnity from Nicaragua, was never recognized as a consul. He kept a saloon and was not damaged more than $500 by his expulsion. Nicaragua sent him away because he was stirring up strife.

Commissioner Miller has designated Samuel L. Miller, chief deputy to take charge of the office of the 5th North Carolina internal revenue district, at Ashville, N. C., and act as collector until a successor to Collector Melvin E. Carter, who died last Sunday, shall have been appointed by the president.

The supreme court of the United States Monday rendered a decision in the case of David B. Sayre, involving the constitutionality of martial law, appealed from the circuit court of Virginia, which had released Sayre on a writ of habeas corpus. It reversed the judgment of the court below.

The comptroller of the currency has decided to declare dividends in favor of the creditors of insolvent banks as follows: Twenty per cent City National Bank of Quenah, Texas; 15 per cent First National Bank of Johnson City, Tenn.; 10 per cent Alberquerque National Bank, Alberquerque, N. M.

The treasury gold reserve was increased to $91,664,193 Monday a gain of $425,000 for the day. The gain represents gold paid in by the Belmont-Morgan syndicate. The redemptions for the day were $95,000 and the gold paid out for them was about offset by the gold gains from the mints and gold received in exchange for small notes.

The president has appointed Herman Kretz, of Reading, Pa., to be superintendent of the Philadelphia mint, vice Townsend, resigned, and William E. Morgan, of Philadelphia, to be coiner in the same mint, vice Steel, resigned. Mr. Kretz is the present appointed clerk of the treasury department and Mr. Morgan is now an examiner in the mint bureau of the treasury department.

The president's letter to Governor Stone, of Mississippi, in which he warns democrats holding office that they cannot abuse the policies and acts of the administration and retain their places, and then proceeds to lay down the administration's policy against free silver, is regarded to some extent in Washington as practically a proscriptive edict. It has created a sensation. Advocacy of gold monometallism is to be made the test of loyalty to the president, and office holders who refuse to surrender their free silver convictions are warned that they do so at their peril.

The engineer commission to examine the Nicaragua canal route completed its inspection of the construction company's plans and contracts in New York and left at once for Mobile, Ala., where they will embark on the cruiser Montgomery and sail for Greytown. It is expected that the Montgomery will land the commission at its destination on May 12th, and that at least two months will be consumed in examining the 170-mile route of the projected waterway. The commission, however, goes prepared for a three months' stay, and is in little hope of returning to the United States before the middle of August.

Lyman Resigns.

The resignation of Civil Service Commissioner Lyman is undoubtedly in the hands of the president, but no official announcement of the fact can be obtained from either the white house or from Mr. Lyman himself. The latter refuses to talk upon the subject. The announcement of the resignation and the appointment of the new commissioner will probably become public at the same time with the announcement of the name of Commissioner Roosevelt's successor. Some years ago Mr. Lyman appeared before a congressional committee to answer a charge of favoritism toward a relative and other accusations connected with his position as commissioner. Two reports were made in which Mr. Lyman was severely censured, but the reports never came before the house for action. Since that time a rumor that Mr. Lyman would leave the commission has been prevalent for several months.

The second day of the rehearing of in the income tax cases in the supreme court of the United States began with Assistant Attorney General Whitney in the midst of his argument for a reversal of the former opinion of the court on the question of the validity of a federal tax on incomes derived from rents. Mr. Whitney was followed by Attorney General Olney. All the seats on the bench were again occupied as on the first day, and the visitors crowded the limited space of the court room as they have done every day that the income tax has been before the court.

Mr. Joseph H. Choate made the closing argument, and when he had finished, the chief justice directed the crier to adjourn court until Monday, May 20th.

TEXAS IS OUT OF CASH.

The Legislative Appropriation Bill Depletes Her Treasury.

The state treasury of Texas has been announced as insolvent by Treasurer Wortham. The passage of the general appropriation bill by the legislature just closed made the state liable at once for $614,000. To pay this amount there was only $100,000. The bill became effective last Monday, and warrants were drawn, and within six hours every cent of the $100,000 in the treasury was taken out, and there is now a shortage of $514,000. Treasurer Wortham says it will be next January before the state will be on a cash basis again.

MR. CLEVELAND TO GOV. STONE.

A Letter From the President Which Attracted Attention.

Governor Stone, of Mississippi, has made public a letter which he received from President Cleveland, in which he commends the governor's attitude on the currency question, and says:

"If we, who profess fealty to the democratic party, are sincere in our devotion to its principles, and if we are right in believing that the ascendency of those principles is a guarantee of personal liberty, universal care for the rights of all, non-sectional, American brotherhood and manly trust in American citizenship in any part of our land, we should study the effects upon our party and consequently upon our country of a committal of the national democracy to the debased silver standard.

"If there are democrats who suppose that our party cannot stand on a platform embodying such doctrine, either through its affirmative strength or through the perplexity of our opponents on the same proposition, or if there are democrats who are willing to turn their backs upon their party associations in the hope that free and unlimited and independent coinage of silver can win a victory without the aid of either party organization, they should deceive themselves no longer, nor longer refuse to face the results that will follow the defeat, if not the disintegration of the democratic party, upon the issue which tempts them from their allegiance.

"If we should be forced away from our traditional doctrine of sound and safe money, our old antagonist will take the field on the platform which we abandon; and neither the votes of reckless democrats nor reckless republicans will avail to stay their easy march to power. This is as plain as anything can possibly be.

"It therefore becomes the duty of every democrat, wherever he may be, to consider what such a victory would mean, and in the light of a proper conception of its results, he should deliberately shape his course."

BEFORE JUDGE GOFF

South Carolina Officials are Ordered to Appear for Contempt.

A bomb was exploded at the very outset of the hearing in the cases involving the constitutionality and validity of the dispensary law, at Columbia, S. C., Monday morning, Judges Goff and Simonton being on the bench. Recently, on the ground that the dispensary law was in violation of the United States inter-state commerce laws, Judge Goff issued an order restraining the state commissioner and all the employes and officers of the state from interferring in any way with liquor shipped into the state from a poins in another state while in transit or at destination and even while in the hands of the consignees.

The state authorities disagree on the order and Commissioner Mixson issued a circular of instructions to the constables, ordering them to proceed with the seizures with the greatest vigilance. When the court met Monday morning, Dr. Pope, attorney for complainants in the case pending, said:

"Your honor, I am sorry to interfere but your temporary injunction order has been disobeyed in all particulars."

He then read Commissioner Mixson's circular letter and handed it to the judge. He read also a proper affidavit. Judge Goff whispered a few moments to Judge Simonton and very quickly said:

"A rule may issue at once against Mixson, the party issuing this order, to appear before me, requiring him to show cause why he may not be attached and punished for contempt of court."

An affidavit was then presented from D. H. Gable, alleging that some liquor he had shipped to him from Augusta, Ga., had been seized by State Liquor Constable A. T. Davis. Judge Goff ordered that the same rule issue in this case. A similar affidavit was made in regard to State Constable S. G. Lafar, and the same order was issued in his case. Several affidavits against other constables, based on information and belief, were presented, but Judge Goff said these were not sufficient. These proceedings created no little sensation. The court then prepared to proceed with the hearing.

ENCOURAGING IMMIGRATION.

Western Railroad Men Looking After the Southward Movement.

At a well attended meeting in Chicago of the passenger officials of the south-bound lines it was determined to take active steps toward encouraging the immigration which is now setting in from the north to the south. The meeting was unanimous in favoring anything which would bring the north and south into closer relations, and a committee of which General Passenger Agent Stone, of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, is chairman, was appointed to outline a plan of action.

Speaking of the matter a railroad man said: "There is absolutely no way in which the immigration desired can be made productive to southern lines until they change the present freight rates to the south. There is and will be considerable immigration, but the money made on the transportation will be insignificant unless the roads afterward carry them supplies and bring back the products of their labor. As rates now are the immigrants are no sooner in the south than they are compelled by an inequitable system of freight rates to do all their trading with New York and the east."

A National Bank Closed.

Comptroller Eckels has closed up the First National bank of Williamantic, Conn., and placed Bank Examiner Dooley in charge. The capital of the bank is $100,000 and it has become impaired, it is said, through the carelessness or otherwise of the cashier, who recently died.

THE INCOME TAX.

REARGUMENT BEGUN BEFORE A FULL BENCH.

Justice Jackson Present—The Whole Question Thrown Open.

There was a full bench in the supreme court of the United States Monday for the first time since Justice Jackson left for the south last fall. Justice Jackson appeared with the other members of the court as the clock sounded the hour of noon, and took his seat at the extreme right of the chief justice. Beyond the fact that he looked somewhat pale and coughed occasionally, he did not show any signs of the long illness which has caused his enforced absence from the court for the past six months.

The occasion for the appearance of the full bench and of the large audience, was the order of the court for a rehearsing in the income tax cases. This hearing was, however, necessarily postponed while the court announced opinions in several other cases. These and other preliminaries having been disposed of, Mr. W. D. Guthrie, one of the attorneys for the appellants, Messrs. Hyde and Pollock in the income tax cases was recognized by the court to begin his argument for a reconsideration of these cases at 12:50.

The Entire Question Reopened.

Before Mr. Guthrie began, the chief justice, after calling the case, stated that in response to suggestions of the attorney general, which the court interpreted as virtually a motion for a rehearing, the court had decided to permit counsel to go into all the questions involved. He said the rehearing had been dependent upon the presence of Justice Jackson, which had now been happily realized. The court had found it necessary to limit the argument to two counsel on each side, but it was for counsel to say what time they would require. Thereupon Mr. Choate and Attorney General Olney, after consultation, announced that five hours on each side would be sufficient and this time was granted. Mr. Guthrie then began argument in the cases.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Bradstreet's Review of Trade for the Past Week.

Bradstreet's trade review for the past week says:

"The manifest improvement in many lines of general trade has resulted in an increase in the volume of business, notwithstanding the impending idleness of 9,000 Rhode Island worsted mill operatives and many in other industrial lines. Industrial unrest now takes the form of striking for higher wages. This week about 50,000 industrial employes have struck, and the tendency does not seem to be checked. About 3,000 pleople are reported to have obtained higher wages without striking.

"April bank clearings reflect improvement in demand for staples and enlarged speculation in stocks and bonds, wheat, petroleum and cotton in a monthly aggregate which is, with two exceptions, the largest reported since June, 1893. Total April clearings at sixty-one cities are $4,323,322,999, a gain over 1894 of 14 per cent. and over March this year of 5.5 per cent. The increase over February is 25 per cent. Three-fourths of all the cities reporting show increases over April, 1894, special improvement being noted in the eastern and middle states and in the south and southwest. The far western group alone shows a decrease.

"Nashville and Galveston report some little improvement in the volume of business, but they prove the exceptions among southern cities. Agricultural conditions in Tennessee are said to be favorable. In Texas the coast country still needs rain. At Chattanooga and Augusta the week's business has been of somewhat smaller volume, although at the former some of the manufacturing industries are better employed than one year ago. There is only a fair business in cotton goods, and prices remain firm. No gain is looked for until the demand for all supplies becomes general."

CORINTO EVACUATED.

Nicaragua Will Pay the Cash Indemnity Demanded.

According to advices received at Washington the evacuation of Corinto by the British fleet was quietly accomplished Sunday and the port was restored to the Nicaraguan authorities.

Shortly after midnight Saturday Minister Guzman received a cable message stating that all the preliminaries had been satisfactorily arranged with the British admiral, through the intermediation of Senor Fiallos, of Honduras. In this manner Nicaragua was spared any appearance of humiliation and friction was avoided on both sides. Nicaragua will pay the indemnity in London within the two weeks stipulated and the remaining terms of the ultimatum will be satisfactorily arranged.

A STATE INSURANCE BUREAU.

The Proposition Being Agitated Extensively at Tallahassee.

The proposition that the state of Florida shall establish a life insurance bureau and furnish life insurance to Floridians, is being agitated at Tallahassee by many. It is claimed that the state can thus keep several hundred thousand dollars in Florida, which annually goes to other states for life insurance; that by this means the state can pay all current expenses and have many thousand dollars surplus every year. This plan would abolish the state taxes and keep money in Florida for business purposes. It is now said that a constitutional amendment on this subject will be presented in the legislature.

Strike at Joliet, Illinois

Firemen, laborers and greasers to the number of 300 employed at the Illinois Steel Company's mills, at Joliet, Ill., have struck for an advance in their wages from 25 to 50 per cent. The strike of these men made it impossible to continue running the mills and they were closed down, throwing 1,500 men out of employment.

Paper Horseshoes.

A practical invention by a veterinary surgeon is now successfully applied at Berlin. He manufactures horseshoes of paper impregnated with oil or turpentine to make it waterproof. After being saturated it is glued together in thin layers with a cement which does not become brittle when drying, and contains a mixture of Venetian turpentine, powdered chalk, linseed oil and lacquer. These horseshoes are made in various thicknesses. The holes admitting the nails by which the shoe is fastened to the hoof are stamped through the paper when moist; it is then subjected to a very strong pressure, under a hydraulic press, and when dry can be filed and planed to fit the hoof snugly.

The inventor has also attempted to make these horseshoes of paper pulp, adding chalk, sand, turpentine and linseed oil in such quantities that the material is impermeable to moisture. This composition possesses the necessary elasticity and toughness for the purpose; it can be pressed into molds and dried afterward, or cut out of blocks of the mass and placed under strong pressure. The shoes made by pasting together paper sheets are preferable, as they are stronger than those made of the compressed material. These shoes can be fastened to the horse's hoof either by nails, as usual, or be cemented with glue consisting of gum of ammonia, one part, and gutta-percha, two parts. The great advantage claimed by the inventor for the new shoe is the impossibility of the horse slipping on slippery roads.

Furs of the Future.

What are women going to do a hundred years or so hence for their winter furs? Fur-bearing animals are rapidly being exterminated, and unless soon protected there is reason to believe future wearers of ermine, sable and marten must pay fabulous prices for the privilege of being kept elegantly comfortable, while humble ordinary mortals will have to resort to imitations or to the skins of perennial cats. The employment of so much fur as a personal adornment has led to a fearful slaughter of animals in British North America, which was supposed to teem with material for cold-defying garments sufficient for all time. But such is not the case; the north is not so productive as the tropics, and we had better hang on to our Russian sable overcoats and frilly ermine capes. There never may be any more.—New York Advertiser.

Flirting With a Wax Figure.

At one of the suburban stations along the line of the Reading railroad, an enterprising soap manufacturer has erected a factory and warehouse. Facing the railroad is the large bow window of the main salesroom. In this window one day a few weeks ago there appeared to the riders on the early morning trains a very pretty girl, who appeared to have paused in the midst of her labor of washing the window to flirt with the travelers. Nearly every male rider who saw her proceeded to flirt with her, and the male riders on all the trains that passed during the day did the same. In fact, she has been flirted with ever since, although most of the regular riders have long since learned that the beautiful young girl in the window is but a waxen figure.—Philadelphia Times.

BELATED BLIZZARD

SWOOPS DOWN UNEXPECTEDLY UPON THE NORTH AND WEST.

Snow and Ice with an Abundance of Frost Reported.

The following telegrams denote the extent and severity of a stray blizzard that swooped down upon the north and west:

A killing frost fell at Erie, Penn., Sunday, and did very extensive damage in the grape belt.

Northern New York points experienced a drop of 40 degree in the thermometer in fifteen hours, the change taking place from 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon to Sunday morning.

At Lockport, N. Y., the thermometer registered as low as 28. Fruit and vegetables suffered in Niagara county, and although the extent of the damage is not yet ascertained, it will reach thousands of dollars.

At Monticello, N. Y., the thermometer fell 45 degrees in almost as many minutes.

Ice formed during the night in some sections of Sullivan and Delaware counties, New York.

At Livingston, Manor and Liberty, N. Y., and also in most of the uptowns on the New Ontario, Ontario and Western railroad snow fell.

Frost ruined the entire grape crop of the Chautauqua grape belt. The loss is at least $1,500,000. That figures the value of last year's crop and by reason of new acreage coming into bearing the crop this year would have been much larger.

The Chautauqua grape belt extends from Erie county, New York, through, westward, to Erie, Penn. The vines were loaded down with blossom buds last evening. From one end of the belt to the other, the vineyards are now nothing but blackened ruins, and have the appearance of having been visited by fire. Three thousand, six hundred freight cars were shipped from the belt last season. The total number of baskets reached 18,000,000. To this number 3,000,000 might be safely added for increased acreage this year. Other fruit suffered nearly as much. There will be no cherries.

The thermometer at Elmira, N. Y., dropped to 36 degrees above zero Monday morning at 7 o'clock, but the cloudy sky and high winds prevented a frost, which would have been disastrous to vegetation in that vicinity.

In The West.

A special from Chicago says: Cheering news comes from fifteen states visited by frost Sunday morning. The crops are reported safe. Wheat and oats escaped uninjured, because neither had begun to joint, and where cut down by frosts or heavy rains will sprout again. Corn was slightly nipped by cold in a few states, but not enough to occasion the slightest alarm that the yield will be affected to any extent. There is no longer any ground for a scare in the face of these facts. On the contrary the outlook is said to be better than it was on May 1st, when it was unusually promising. Frederick, Mich., reports nine to ten inches of snow; Ossineke, three inches; Lewiston, eight inches; Menominee, four inches, with all garden and fruit trees ruined; Manistee, two inches.

The frost did no damage to fruit trees at Grand Haven, and it is believed that generally throughout the state the fruit has escaped serious injury.

A terrific snowstorm set in at Grayling, Mich., and the snow is twelve inches deep on a level, and at latest reports was still snowing and drifting badly.

Reports received from all sections of Wisconsin indicate a general frost, accompanied in many parts by high wind and snow, reaching in some cases the severity of a blizzard. Early fruit and vegetables not of the hardy kind and much grain have been destroyed by the sudden fall in temperature. All kinds of crops were damaged by the heavy frosts which settled over the Chippewa Falls section of the state. Water froze in many places. Fruit, vegetables and cranberries are ruined, while rye and corn will suffer much. A severe snow and wind storm prevailed at Manitowoc. It is thought much damage will result to crops.

At Wasau last Thursday the thermometer registered 95 degrees in the shade, Monday everything was frozen up and about one-half an inch of snow lay on the ground. An inch of snow fell at Oshkosh and the thermometer stood at freezing. Great damage was done to early fruit, berries and vegetables.

Telegraphic reports from thirty towns in Iowa show that the frost Sunday did inestimable damage to early vegetation and small fruit. In the northern and western part of the state the damage was not so severe because of higher temperature, but in many eastern places early vegetables were killed. Corn in the lowlands was cut down to the ground. Grapes which are in blossom were completely killed in many localities. Wheat was not materially injured, but oats were damaged to a very great extent.

Heavy frosts visited portions of Indiana. The most damage was done in the northwestern portion of the state. Garden vegetables were killed and fruit damaged. In southern Indiana but little injury was done.

A heavy and killing frost visited the northern and eastern portions of Ohio. In some places ice was frozen a quarter of an inch in thickness. Fruit of all kinds was destroyed. Along the lake shore, grape growers kept fires burning all night in their vineyards, but the damage done to the vines is very great, and the loss will amount to many thousands of dollars. Wheat, which had commenced heading, is badly injured. Garden truck is ruined and young corn frozen in the ground.

Northern Indiana was visited by a snow storm which raged for several hours. The cold weather increased rapidly, and it is feared small fruits and all growing vegetation have been seriously injured.

In the South.

There was a light frost throughout East Tennessee valley Monday morning. No material damage to fruits and crops.

A special from Montgomery, Ala., says: The cold wave has not injured crops in this section.

There was a heavy frost throughout West Virginia, but owing to the dry weather no damage of any importance was done.

From New Orleans: While the weather in this section has been extremely cool since Saturday, the temperature has not been low enough to cause damage to vegetation.

RAILWAY CONDUCTORS

Hold Their Twenty-Fifth Biennial Convention at Atlanta, Ga.

The twenty-fifth biennial convention of the Order of Railway Conductors met in Atlanta last Tuesday with nearly three hundred and fifty delegates in attendance.

In addition to the delegates there were over six hundred visiting conductors who were interested in the proceedings. The meeting was called to order by Mr. M. J. Land, chief conductor division 180, in a few appropriate words. Governor Atkinson welcomed the Order of Railway Conductors to Georgia in a neat and appropriate speech, after which organization was perfected and the business of the convention begun.

There were 2,000 delegates and visitors to the convention of the conductors and the ladies' auxiliary. They partially filled all the hotels and some of the boarding houses of the city.

Eight Years for Searcy.

Charles J. Searcy was arraigned at Stafford Courthouse, Va., Wednesday for his participation in the Aquia creek train robbery and plead guilty. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and fixed his term of confinement in the penitentiary at eight years. Searcy was at once sentenced and will be taken to the penitentiary without delay.

Will Return to Work.

One thousand employes of James Lees & Sons' woolen mills at Bridgeport, Pa., thrown out of work last week by 300 of the hands striking, will return to work. The strikers' demand for an increase was not conceded and they will return to work at the old prices.

Working Double Time.

The Pennsylvania bolt and nut works at Lebanon, Pa., has commenced work on double turn, giving employment to several hundred additional hands.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

At West Bingham, Potter county, Pennsylvania, five men were killed and three fatally injured by the blowing up of an eighty-horse power boiler.

ALL SHUT DOWN.

No Work Being Done by the Mills at Olneyville, R. I.

All of the mills at Olneyville, R. I., have shut down and no work is being done in any of them except the making of samples for the next light-weight season. Nine thousand operatives are idle, because of the strike and lockout. The strikers held a mass meeting on Merino flats at Olneyville Monday morning and twelve hundred were present. Addresses were made in which the speakers argued that the fight should be continued until the demand for the old price list is granted, claiming that ample support will be obtained from other mill centers to make the struggle a successful one.

Delaware's Daily Ballot.

The 132d ballot of the contest for the election of United States senator was taken in the Delaware legislature Monday at noon and resulted as follows: Higgins, republican, 6; Massey, republican, 6; Pennewill, republican, 1; Ridgely, democrat, 9; Tunnell, democrat, 1. Massey has written a letter to the men who have been voting for him, declining the further use of his name.

Turpentine Operators Organize.

The Turpentine Operators' Protective Association was organized at Savannah, Ga., Wednesday. The association is a stock company which proposes to carry on the factorage of its members. Dissatisfaction with the handling of the product is the ground for the organization. The association is composed of naval stores producers in Georgia and Florida.

New Railroad for Colorado.

A special dispatch from Boise, Idaho, says the much talked of railroad from Butte to Reno via Denver will soon be built beyond a doubt. A representative of Philadelphia and New York capitalists is making the final arrangements. Leading business men of Denver have decided to put up the $100,000 bonus asked.

Reducing the Capital Stock.

The plan for reducing the capital stock of the Southern Cotton Oil Company to $2,000,000 has been favorably received by the shareholders and between 80 and 90 per cent of the stock has already given consent. This will place the company in a strong financial position. A dividend is expected in June.

Goltz's Resignation Accepted.

The National Zeitung (Berlin) asserts that the emperor has accepted the resignation of Baron von Goltz, admiral and commander-in-chief of the German navy.

Cholera in the Pescadora Island.

Advices received at Yokohama, Japan, from the Pescadora islands show that 1,300 persons died there from cholera during one month. The epidemic is now subsiding.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Situation as Reported for the Past Week.

Reports received from all parts of the southern states of the condition of industrial and business affairs for the past week are to the effect that the recent advance in the price of southern iron has been followed by an advance in the quotation for several grades of pine lumber, and these changes have had a favorable and encouraging effect on all kinds of business There is much activity in the iron and coal districts of Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee. Outputs are very large, sales are readily made and no accumulation of stocks is reported. Dealers report many inquiries for desirable grades of lumber with sales at existing quotations, but producers decline to take orders for future delivery at present prices, believing that an advance all along the line will soon take place.

New cotton mills and enlargements of existing ones continue to be reported. The list for the week includes a cotton mill with $150,000 capital at Lancaster, S. C.; one with $125,000 capital at Griffin, Ga.; a $100,000 one at Spartanburg, S. C.; a $50,000 one at Prosperity, S. C., and enlargements of a cotton mill to cost $100,000 at Raleigh, N. C.

The Southern Standard Telephone company has been incorporated at Memphis, Tenn., with $4,000,000 capital, and the Rembert Lint Cotton Cleaner company has been chartered with $300,000 capital at Galveston, Texas. There is also reported new cotton seed oil mills at Girard, Ala.; Greenville, Miss., and Victoria, Tex., a tannery at [illegible], Ala.; tobacco works at El Paso, Tex.; Jacksonville and Tampa, Fla., and flouring mills at Americus, Ga., and Dublin, Tex. Ice factories are to be built at Avon Park, Fla., Brunswick, Ga., and Italy, Tex; coal mines are to be opened at Coal Valley, Ala., and gold mines near Concord, N. C. Woodworking plants for the week are reported at Guntersville, Ala., and Jasper, Ala.; Jasper and Marion, Fla.; Wilman, Ark.; Charlotte, N. C.; Lancaster, S. C., Johnson City, Tenn., and a chair factory with $300,000 capital at Parkersburg, W. Va.—Tradesman (Chattanooga, Tenn.)

Among the cities from which invitations have been received are Cincinnati, O.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Nashville, Tenn.; Russellville, Ky., and Lexington, Ky.

An organized movement has already begun for the repeal of the income tax law. Representative-elect Francis Wilson, of Brooklyn, has been selected to lead the fight for repeal in the house next December. A thoroughly conducted campaign will be made against the law in every city and hamlet in the United States, with a view to presenting to congress a monster petition urging the immediate repeal of the tax. The machinery necessary to accomplish this end was constructed prior to the order of the court for a reargument, but when the court agreed to reopen the case, proceedings were suspended pending action by the court.

Little doubt is felt at Washington that when the supreme court announces its decision on the income tax, it will sustain the constitutionality of the act, with the exception of the exceptions made in its former decision. There is excellent authority for the statement that at the consultation of the justices, Justice Jackson voted, with Justices Brown, White, Harlan and Shiras, to sustain the constitutionality of the income tax law, and that the vote when announced will stand five to four in favor of the law. It is learned that Justice Jackson's attitude was understood by his colleagues on the bench before he returned to Washington. He has at all times been fully advised as to the merits of the case and was furnished with the record and the lawyers' briefs, so that he was fully prepared to vote when the justices met in consultation.

The Cotton Acreage.

The cotton report, as consolidated by the statistician of the department of agriculture for the month of May, relates to the progress of cotton planting and contemplated acreages. The amount of the proposed breadth planted prior to the 1st of May was 78.5 per cent, against 81.6 last year and 85.3 the year before, which is 10 points lower than the acreage usually planted at that date. The returned estimates of area planted by the states are as follows: North Carolina, 55; South Carolina, 75; Georgia, 79; Florida, 95; Alabama, 87; Mississippi, 84; Louisiana, 86; Texas, 75; Arkansas, 79; Tennessee, 79. The delay was caused principally by a cold backward spring, while in some sections it was the result of dry weather. The indications at present point to about the usual acreages in the states of North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Arkansas, and a reduction in the states of Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas and Tennessee.

Railroad Commissioners Convene.

The seventh annual convention of railroad commissioners of the various states convened at Washington Tuesday morning with an attendance representing almost every state in the union that exercises authority over the movements of railroads and freight transportation. This meeting differed from those that have preceded it in that there were present a number of members of the association of American Railway Accounting Officers, who will join in the discussion of such topics as may come before the organization. The discussion will be devoted to general subjects of interest to delegates but will be turned especially in the direction of railway statistics, uniform classification of freights and legislation, the committee appointed at the last meeting having been directed to submit a report on these matters to this session. The convention was called to order by President Allen Fort, of Georgia, who made an address outlining the proposed work of the session.

Carlisle's Speeches.

A Washington special says: Secretary Carlisle has two distinct objects in view in the speaking tour he has just formally announced. He goes to Memphis to present the administration's side of the money question, and he goes to Kentucky to square himself with his old democratic constituents, who insist upon the charge that, since assuming his present office, he has reversed himself as to silver. The one speech—the Memphis speech—will be addressed to the country at large, while the speeches delivered in Kentucky will be in a certain sense local in their topic and treatment. The Kentucky speeches will exceed the Memphis speech in interest. The administration's attitude on finance is already understood. Mr. Carlisle, at best, and with all of his powers of clear statement, can only hope to emphasize it. But the secretary of the treasury mills are not located; also 19,001 bales bought by Virginia and 12,266 bales bought by Kentucky mills, all of which are included in railway movement, making a total of 646,128 bales reported by southern mills as bought from September 1, 1894, to April 1, 1895. No deduction has been made of cotton remaining on plantations and in interior towns on September 1, 1894.

They Must Go Back.

Following the precedent established in the case of Levi P. Morton's under coachman, Howard, in New York, the United States court at New Orleans has decided that the secretary of the treasury is the judge of the law and the facts as to whether immigrants are in this country in compliance with the law, and his decision in the matter is final. The case in which this principle was reasserted arose in Key West, Fla., in January, 1894, a Cuban cigar firm imported from Havana forty-six cigar makers. The immigrant bureau at Washington, after an exhaustive examination, extending over several months and several oral hearings before Secretary Carlisle and Superintendent Stump, decided that the cigar makers in question came into this country in violation of the alien contract labor law. The men were ordered deported. Writs of habeas corpus were sued out before Judge Bowman, who released all the men. An appeal from this action was taken by the treasury department and now Judge Bowman is overruled and the treasury officials sustained in their right. Commissioner General Stump Tuesday afternoon directed Immigrant Inspector Bethel, at Key West, Fla., by telegraph, to at once make preparations for the arrest and deportation of the cigar makers in question.

Our Domestic Cottons in China.

The department of state has received an interesting report from United States Consul General Thomas R. Jernigan, of North Carolina, stationed at Shanghai, China, on our trade relations with the empire.

Noting a falling off in the importation of domestic cottons from the United States, as well as Great Britain, Mr. Jernigan advances the opinion that the manufacture of cotton cloth by China and Japan is responsible for the decrease. In 1863 the first spinning mill was erected in Japan, with 5,456 spindles; in 1883 there were sixteen mills, with 43,700 sprindles, and in 1893 there were forty-six mills, with some 600,000 spindles. The statistics regarding the industry in China have not been published, but a conservative estimate is that the end of this year will witness 360,000 spindles and 8,000 looms, besides numerous cotton gins, ready to operate in fifteen cotton mills.

In Japan the mill owner pays from 8 to 20 cents per day in silver for mill hands, while in the United States labor, he says, gets pay in gold. Since 1894 one dollar in gold has been equal to two dollars of Japanese silver, which makes clear, according to his reasoning, that the mill owner in the United States is paying twice as much for labor as the Japanese.

Mr. Jernigan says that he does not wish to intimate that the price of labor in the United States should be regulated by the price of labor in the oriental countries, but unless some standard of international value for the payment of labor is agreed upon, the products of the oriental laborers will become a dangerous rival to those of the occidental laborers.

A BENEFIT TO AMERICA.

Will the Peace Agreement Between Japan and China Be.

Large opportunities for the introduction of American machinery and the investment of American capital are offered by the peace agreement Japan has just effected with China. A provision is made that China shall hereafter be open to the introduction of all forms of modern machinery and that such machinery shall be admitted free of duty.

American cotton machinery should benefit specially from the new opening presented, and also telephones, electric lights, printing presses and many other devices of civilization, which heretofore have been kept out of China. The emperor of China has heretofore prohibited the introduction of modern machinery. As a result the Chinese are using wooden plows similar to those used centuries ago. Modern tools are included under the head of a machinery and mechanical device, so that the American plows and all other implements and tools will enter China free of duty.

It is stated that cotton machinery will be brought at once into extensive use, thus enlarging the demand for the raw cotton of the southern states. The Chinese use so much cotton that the emperor granted a monopoly of using cotton machinery to the viceroy of the southern provinces of China. He has since produced large quantities and has prevented the British and Americans at Shanghai and elsewhere from using similar machinery. Now, however, the viceroy's monopoly is at an end, and American machinery is expected to be freely introduced throughout the empire.

WARM WEATHER

Experienced in Chicago and Other Western Cities.

Last Friday was the hottest day on record for Chicago for this time of the year, 90 degrees in the shade at the Auditorium tower station of the government bureau being marked on the thermometer at 5 o'clock p. m.

A special from Indianapolis says: Friday was the hottest May day in Indiana in twenty-four years. The thermometer reached 94.

At Des Moines, Ia., the heat was intense, the thermometer several hours standing at 94, and at Madison, Wis., Friday was the hottest day for that section of the state ever known this time of the year.

SPANIARDS ARE AFRAID.

Meagre Advices from the Seat of the Revolution.

It is almost impossible to get accurate news of the revolution in Cuba to the United States. Information sent out by mail and telegraph is suppressed by government censors, who are acting under instructions.

From news brought by men from the interior provinces, it appears that all the eastern end of the island, with the exception of garrisoned towns, is at the mercy of predatory bands of insurgents. They are prowling around within six miles of Santiago and the Spanish soldiers are afraid of them.

Pratt City's Losses.

The recent fire at Pratt City, Ala., did more damage than was at first thought. It rendered forty-four families homeless. The mayor of the city, recognizing the condition of the citizens who were victims of the fire, called a meeting for the purpose of rendering some aid, and the attendance was very large.

After the Northern Pacific.

News has been received at Tacoma, Washington, by letters from New York that Havemeyer and Searles, the sugar trust men, are working with Rockefeller to secure control of the Northern Pacific, soon to be reorganized by the second and third bondholders.

Will Stay Out Awhile Longer.

Delegates composing the Massillon, Ohio, district miners' convention decided to maintain the suspension until 60 cents granted throughout the state and not make a district settlement on that basis. A mass meeting will be held to ratify or reject this decision.

Altgeld's Vetoes.

Governor Altgeld, of Illinois, has sent a message to the house vetoing the Miller gas (frontage) bill and also one to the senate vetoing the Crawford and elevated street railway bills.

BAPTISTS CONVENE.

SEMI-CENTENNIAL SESSION HELD IN WASHINGTON.

Judge Haralson Re-Elected President. Dr. Burrows is Again Secretary.

The Southern Baptist convention assembled at Washington, D. C., Friday morning and was called to order by Judge Haralson, the presiding officer. Every seat on the floor was taken and the galleries were rapidly filled up and standing room was soon at a premium.

The religious exercises that preceded the regular order of the day were conducted by Rev. Dr. T. E. Skinner, of North Carolina.

Dr. Burrows, the chief secretary, read out the list of representatives, prefacing them with the statement that the maximum number entitled to seats on a financial basis was 813, the number of representatives of associations-elect, 401, making a total of all delegates of 1,214. He then gave the detailed list of each state, as they were brought to the front, footing up as follows:

Alabama, entitled to 51, of whom 45 were present; Arkansas, entitled to 13, present, 9; Western Arkansas and Indian Territory, entitled to 2, present, 2; District of Columbia, entitled to 5, present, 5; Florida, entitled to 11, present, 11; Georgia, entitled to 119, present, 104; Kentucky, entitled to 101, present, 101; Louisiana, entitled to 17, present, 10; Maryland, entitled to 73, present, 72; Mississippi, entitled to 30, present, 26; Missouri, entitled to 29, present, 29; North Carolina, entitled to 40, present, 40; Western Carolina, entitled to 3, present, 3; South Carolina, entitled to 53, present, 53; Tennessee, entitled to 39, present, 39; Texas, entitled to 21, present, 20; Virginia, entitled to 132, present, 132; Mexico, entitled to 1, present, 1; China, entitled to 1, present, 1. This made a total of 818 entitled to vote, with a total of 705 present.

President Haralson Re-Elected.

When the preliminaries had been completed President Haralson called for the election of officers and Dr. Ellis at once placed his name in nomination. The nominations were closed immediately and Judge Haralson was unanimously re-elected president of the convention, which office he has filled since 1889. He made a brief speech, thanking the conference for the honor and expressing his belief that the convention would be a great success if every delegate would lend his co-operation to the officers. He then announced the committee on order of business as follows: H. H. Harris, Virginia; I. T. Tichenor, Georgia; B. B. Willingham, Virginia; T. B. Bell, Tennessee, and W. H. Whitsitt, Kentucky, and the committee withdrew to consult.

Election of Vice-Presidents.

Nominations were then made for the vice-presidents—four in number—as follows: J. Taylor Ellison, of Virginia; W. J. Northen, Georgia; Rev. T. H. Kilpatrick, Georgia; L. B. Ely, Missouri; James P. Eagle, Arkansas; Joshua Levering, Maryland; B. H. Carroll, Texas; J. T. Parks, Texas. Ex-Governor Northen, of Georgia, insisted upon withdrawing his name.

During the progress of the nominations, Dr. Eaton, of Louisville, moved that the secretary be directed to cast the ballot of the convention for Dr. Parks, of Texas, for first vice-president. Dr. Parks is one of the five surviving members of the convention of 1845. The by-laws were quoted, however, and it appeared that the rules prohibited the effort. The chair ruled that the by-laws were strictly in contradiction of the motion, but suggested that a way might be found out of the difficulty. So Dr. Eaton made his motion in such form that the chair could wink at the law, which he did gracefully, and on a viva voce vote the Texas veteran was unanimously elected first vice president. Tellers were then appointed to take the vote on the other names and while they were counting the ballots the convention unanimously re-elected Drs. Lansing Burrows and O. F. Gregory as secretaries.

Address of Welcome.

President Haralson then introduced Commissioner Ross, who made a brief address of welcome.

Dr. C. C. Meadows, moderator of the district conference, spoke in welcome in behalf of the Washington churches. He was followed by Rev. Dr. J. B. Sampey, of Kentucky

Better Times Coming.

New York Herald.

After a prolonged spell of "hard times" there appears such a revival of activity and such broadening of transactions in staple, agricultural and manufactured products, as to warrant the belief that the trend of business is toward prosperity, and that our general markets are rising out of the depression where for so long they seemed stagnant.

In yesterday's Herald this tendency was clearly shown in an article pointing out the upward movement in wages during April last and even accelerated advances in the first three days of May, many changes having been evidently made concurrent with the beginning of the new South.

Manufacturing establishments from Maine to Minnesota, dealing with a great variety of industries, are shown to have either restored the wages that prevailed in 1892 or to have raised the rate from five to twenty-five per cent. While some of these increases have been made upon the request of the employes, most of them have been made voluntarily by the employers to stimulate their workmen to make a greater output at a less relative cost in order to be ready to supply the growing demand for goods.

The important feature of the situation thus revealed is the demand for consumption. A temporary quickening of productive capacity might result from the opening of an unexpected market or from a speculative manipulation.

But neither of these influences seems to be at work now. Apparently the consumer is doing the buying and retailer is stirring up the wholesaler, who in turn is calling upon the manufacturer and the importer for goods that he must get.

Such a state of affairs necessarily gives the movement a durable character. It stimulates every kind of business, because as soon as one class is favorably affected the people who see their circumstances improving begin to supply their needs more liberally and the wave circles of prosperity increase in size and strength.

How permanent the advance may be depends largely upon the origin of this demand. If it is due solely to the fact that during the "hard times" of the preceding two years people have economized in the use of necessaries until now they are obliged to replace worn out or consumed supplies, the activity of the present may be only temporary; but if, in addition to this there have been developed a general renewal of confidence and improved earning capacity and a changed condition of trade, such as makes it possible for the average man to look forward with certainty to earning more than he spends, the brighter business outlook may be regarded as likely to last.

For two or three years the tendency of prices has been downward until last winter the cost of nearly everything used in an average household was lower than at any time before in this century.

Of course, universal uncertainty and steadily falling prices unsettled demand, and people lived "from hand to mouth." Wages went down also until the lack of a market for goods was a reason for closing factories, and the consequent cutting off and cutting down of earnings further reduced the demand. One influence reacted to intensify the other. Never was living so cheap and yet never was it harder to earn living.

But, as all evil conditions must finally reach the curve, it appears probable that we have now passed the lowest point of our difficulties and must alone of necessity be on the up grade. It is not reasonable to expect a "boom," nor would such a violent reaction be desirable.

—The substitution of hope for lethargy; a strong manifestation of confidence and a healthy appetite for the necessaries and comforts of life, coupled with a determination to earn them bring about genuine and enduring prosperity.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

There is one thing that our people must learn before they achieve financial independence. They must patronize home industries. We have mills for the manufacture of cotton into fabric and many other similar industries owned and operated by our own citizens here in our midst, yet if we do not sustain home industries, but continue to go to the North and West for supplies instead of consuming what is manufactured here, we will always be poor. Our lands will produce as good corn and other food stuffs as any section, and our people know as well how to save meat and make it into bacon as do the great packers of the Northwest, yet what good will it do to produce these things if we cannot get a market for them. Patronize home industries, and in that way keep the money in our midst instead of sending it away to enrich men who have become millionaires by means of this God favored land. Some time since we quoted from Phillip D. Armour, "The South is worth two Europes to me." Raise what meat and corn you need for the farm on the farm as do the Europeans, and it will be only a few years until the South will be seeking investments for its capital instead of wanting capital invested as now.—Wilcox Progress.

MAKE IT GOOD EVERYWHERE.

The Philadelphia Times,
Philadelphia, Pa., April 3d 1895
Mr. N. F. Thompson, Secretary
Commercial Club, Birmingham, Ala:

Dear Sir:—In answer to your favor of the 25th ult., enclosing your communication to The News of your city, I would say that I am correctly quoted in your article.

I am in favor of the free coinage of silver and gold, and as gold is the standard of the civilized world, the silver coin must maintain its intrinsic value with that of gold. Silver is abundant, and under honest free silver coinage we would have hundreds of millions more silver dollars than could be circulated amongst the people, but a paper currency could be issued on such silver coin that would be accepted throughout the entire world as worth what was stamped on its face.

Coin is money, and not a promise to pay, and the integrity of any country must be questioned by the business world that stamps a coin making it represent more than its intrinsic value. The vital issue involved in this money controversy is that of commanding the confidence of our own people and of the civilized world. We are borrowers from other nation, and must be so for generations to come, unless we would halt all our great enterprise. Indeed of the sound morality of making an honest dollar the interests of our people in the issue are such that we cannot part from it without impairing credit and provoking the the distrust of of all the different nations with which we have commercial relations.

The friends of free silver and cheap money are struggling to bring this country down to the free silver standard that would rank us with Pagan nations of the earth such as China and India, and would simply change our monetary system from the single gold standard to the single silver standard. If the government could force the people of the country to accept a 50 cent silver dollar as a legal tender on the basis of the silver standard, the people who are now in debt would pay their obligations with half the money they plainly promised to pay when the loan was made, but every one who desired to borrow money would be compelled to borrow $2 then instead of one now, for $1 would buy just about one-half what a dollar commands at present.

Strange as it may seem many of the laboring people, North and South, who have to depend solely on their wages for the support of themselves and their families, have been misled into the support of cheap money, but do the advocates of free silver promise these working men that their wages would be doubled if we have free silver and free silver standard? Unless their wages should be at once doubled they would be systematically robbed by the new money standard and no person of average intelligence will assume that free silver and the silver standard would give our working people double wages, although it cannot be questioned that under such a policy they would be compelled to earn $2 to live as comfortably as now by earning $1.

This nation must maintain honest money or it must provoke the contempt of the civilized world and have its credit distrusted in every business center of the nations with whom we have commercial relations.

I shall always gratefully remember the generous welcome I received in your city through the action of your Commercial Club, and it will always be a pleasure to me to reciprocate in any way the kindness exhibited by your people,

Yours truly,
A. K. McClure

Advices received from Little Rock during the past week, are to effect that the legislature of Arkansas has appropriated $10,000 for an exhibit at the Cotton States and International Exposition. The exhibit is already prepared, and is a very handsome and complete display of the wealth and resources of Arkansas. This adds another to the list of States to be officially represented at this Exposition.

LOCAL BREVITIES

The closing exercises of the University school will take place next Tuesday.

Prof, Caldwell McMorties after some weeks spent in Montgomery county is again at home. His experience fishing and hunting have browned him up considerably.

Miss Callie Watts, after an absence of nearly four months, has returned to the delight of her many friends.

Mr. J. D. Mellies of Maplesville was a pleasant caller last week. He approves the tone and general course of the View.

Mr. Martin the efficient Notary Public Ex officio Justice of Peace for beat 7 was in attendance on court last week

Mrs. Rasberry and Misses Eulah and Minnie, visited friends here last Tuesday.

By his charge to the Grand Jury and by his positive dealings with those convicted of liquor selling Judge Denson shows that he is determined to do his part towards breaking up blind tigers in Chilton county. Let the good citizens line up for a new charge against lawlessness.

Mr James Gibbons was on Monday convicted of forgery, and before the Jury returned their verdict took leg bail.

We feel sorry that Mr Gibbons in his old age should come to so sad a state but punishment should be meted out evenly to both great and small.

The county commissioners appointed Dr. Wise, of Coopers, as a member of the Board of Assessment. Our acquaintance with the Doctor is limited but we learn that his appointment gives satisfaction.

The leaven is at work in Clanton. The determination to uphold law and order is growing. We heard two good men say only a few days since that public drunkenness in Clanton had to be suppressed. The way to do it is for those who seek to get sufficient testimony and then start the machinery of the law.

Mr. Ray Rushton of Montgomery is growing very popular with the citizens of Chilton county. He is a fine lawyer and a perfect gentleman and we are always delighted to have him visit our Courts.

The barter trade of Chilton county is growing, and there would be money in it if some merchant in Clanton would give special attention to that line of trade.

Among the members of the Grand Jury we were pleased to meet Mr. Barnes of Plantersville. He is as modest as a girl, but a young man of sterling worth, whose citizenship in any county is to be prized.

All ye who suffer with bad teeth and are afraid to have them pulled because of pain, remember that Dr. Massey will be in Clanton during Circuit Court ready to apply the painless remedy to you.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

W. I. Mullins has brought to Clanton one of the best assortment of ready made clothing ever placed on this market.

Ready made clothes from the cheapest to the best on sale by W. I. Mullins

If King Solomon was alive he would now say: "Go to the travelling man learn his ways, and be wise." Mr. C. W. Battell, a Cincinnati traveling man representing the Queen City Printing Ink Co., after suffering intensely for two or three days with lameness of the shoulder, resulting from rheumatism, completely cured it with two applications of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This remedy is gaining a wide reputation for its prompt cures of rheumatism, lame back, sprains, swellings, and lameness. 50 cent bottles are for sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and McNeill & Smith, Jemison, Ala.

REPORT of THE GRAND JURY.

To the Honorable N. D. Denson, Judge of the 5th Judicial Circuit:

We the Grand Jury empaneled by your honor this term of the Circuit Court of Chilton county, beg leave to make this as our final report—

We have investigated 67 cases and have returned into Court 40 indictments.

We have examined the county jail and find it secure and properly kept in every respect, and the prisoners properly cared for. We have examined the records and the offices of the various county officers and find them neatly and properly kept. In the hands of the County Treasurer we find in cash $1845, 12 to the credit of the General fund. And the sum of $126,95 to the credit of the Fine and forfeit fund. We also find that our county poor are properly cared for and contented, We recommend that a special Tax be levied for the purpose of building a good new brick Court House, suitable to the needs of our county. The assessments to raise the money to be determined upon by the County Commissioner, or proper authorities.

We find the bonds of County officers good and sufficient. In conclusion we desire to thank your Honor for the able manner in which we have been advised as to duties, also to thank our Solicitor for the very kind manner in which he has assisted us. Also to thank our Sheriff and and the Bailiff for the promptness with which they have responded to our wants.

Having now discharged our duties we beg to be discharged.

Lee Hayes, Foreman

Prof. Tipton Mullins who is pursuing his law studies in the office of Messrs. Houghton and Collier, spent several days in Clanton during Court.

Mr. Lee Hayes was foreman of the late Grand Jury. He and his associates with Solicitor Brewer did splendid work.

All day last Saturday and until eleven thirty at night the court was busy on the case of the State against Dr. A. E. Mathews. Solicitor Brewer for the state left no stone unturned in his efforts to faithfully represent the state, while Messrs. Houghton and Collier for the Defendant, contested every inch of ground. Able speeches were made by the attorneys, and the written charge of the Judge clearly put the law before the Jury. After being out some three hours the Jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. Dr. Mathews is congratulated on being cleared by a jury of his county men on so fearful a charge.

The summer is at hand and your wife and daughter need nice low cut shoes W. I. Mullins is ready to supply the need.

To encourage the farmers to raise more grasses and small grain W. I. Mullins has taken the agency for McCormick's Reaper and Mowers. These machines will more than pay for themselves in a season. A sample machine [illegible] in Clanton

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION'S PRIZE ACRE.

$500,00 in Cash for Farmers—A Handsome Reward for the Plows of 1895.

We take pleasure in presenting The Constitution's $500 offer for the farmers of 1895. The prize consists of $100 in cash for the best acre of cotton, corn, tobacco, watermelons or sweet potatoes.

The announcement is made before the planting of the crop so as to enable all who will to take part in the contest.

Entries may be made up to June 1st and by that time every contestant must enter his name with The Constitution and state which acre he will compete for.

In ever circular The Constitution frankly states that the care taken in the preparation of the land, the selection of seeds, and the use of fertilizers, a record of costs and dates of plowing and other cultivation, and a careful record of the heavy rainfalls, the periods of droughts and all the other data, giving the history of the crop from the breaking of the soil to the harvesting, will be an object lesson of vast importance to every contestant, whether he wins the prize or not. This is a practical demonstration that a farm run on the intensive plan by giving careful attention to the thorough cultivation of a few acres properly rather than the poor cultivation of a large area will be far batter than a reduction of farm acreage by resolutions.

The offer is made to encourage the raising of home supplies and illustrate the south's great possibilities in agriculture and to stimulate the proper cultivation of every possible acre to add to the independence of the farmer.

The prizes will be awarded by three competent judges, recognized as high authority in agricultural matters.

The terms are breifly these: Every contestant must be a subscriber to The Weekly Constitution. He must keep a record of The Constitution's acre upon a blank, which will be furnished him free upon application. The contest is open to every southern farmer.

By special arrangement with The Constitution we offer the View with The Weekly Constitution for $1.50 or if you already have our paper, send us $1 and we will send you The Constitution one year. We are pleased to say that our neighbor in Georgia is perhaps the greatest of all American weekly newspapers. Its seventy two columns each week, which will be increased to eighty four shortly, come brim full of the latest news of the world, and many excellent features of special interest to the state, besides its well conducted departments for the farm and the household.

Every subscription recieved through us will entitle the subscriber to enter the prize acre contest as well as to guess in the $2,000 contest, closing May 1st.

This is an extraordinary opportunity to procure two good newspapers for a year, one to supply the county news in the quickest and best possible shape, and the other to bring weekly the news of the world, teeming with political current history, farmers' notes and everything else that will interest every member of the family.

You will find no better season to subscribe nor any greater offer than the present.

Spring Makes Me Tired

To many people Spring and its duties mean an aching head, tired limbs and throbbing nerves. Just as the milder weather comes, the strength begins to wane and "That Tired Feeling" is the complaint of all.

The reason for this condition is found in the deficient quality of the blood. During the winter, owing to various causes, the blood becomes loaded with impurities and loses its richness and vitality. Consequently, as soon as the bracing effect of cold air is lost, these is languor and lack of energy. The cure will be found in purifying and enriching the blood.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the greatest and best spring medicine because it is the greatest and best blood purifier. It overcomes That Tired Feeling, because it makes pure, rich blood. It gives strength to nerves and muscles because it endows the blood with new powers of nourishment. It creates an appetite, tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, and thus builds up the whole system and prepares it to meet the change to warmer weather.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is a medicine upon which you may depend. It is the only true blood purifier prominently before the public eye today. It has a record of cures unequalled in the history of medicine. It is the medicine of which so many people write, "Hood's Sarsaparilla does all that it is claimed to do." You can take Hood's Sarsaparilla with the confident expectation that it will give you pure blood and renew health. Take it now.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Is the Only True Blood Purifier

Prominently in the Public Eye Today.

A Walking Fern.

There is a fern which, by its peculiar habit of growth, may almost justly lay claim to the popular name of the "Walking Fern."

The fronds arch over, and the fine, slender points coming in contact with the soil take root; new growth again proceeds from the latter, which in its turn roots also, so that the locale of the plant is continually moving forward and suggesting the idea of walking.

This peculiar fern is quite hardy and succeeds well in a soil of peat, leaf-mould and sand, in a shady position which is moist in summer and fairly dry in winter. The fronds are heart-shaped, bright green in color, six to twelve inches long.

Ancient Eggs Prized.

They do not think anything of an egg in China, it seems, until it is about 100 years of age, old eggs being worth as much in that country as old wine is elsewhere. They have a way of burying the eggs, and it takes about thirty days to render a pickled egg fit to eat. Some of the old eggs have become as black as ink, and one of the favorite Chinese dishes for invalids is made up of eggs, which are preserved in jars of red clay and salt water.

"Mrs. S., did you say in the hearing of my little girl that I was a great, rusty cat?"

"No, my dear Mrs. J., I only said that you were a great aristocrat."

THAT LUMP in a man's stomach which makes him irritable and miserable and unfit for business or pleasure is caused by indigestion. Indigestion, like charity, covers a multitude of sins. The trouble may be in stomach, liver, bowels. Wherever it is, it is caused by the presence of poisonous, refuse matter which Nature has been unable to rid herself of, unaided. In such cases, wise people send down a little health officer, personified by one of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, to search out the trouble and remove its cause.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

KENNEDY'S Medical Discovery.

DONALD KENNEDY, OF ROXBURY, MASS.,

Has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures every kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common pimple.

He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases (both thunder humor). He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston. Send postal card for book.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the right quantity is taken.

When the lungs are affected it causes shooting pains, like needles passing through them; the same with the Liver or Bowels. This is caused by the ducts being stopped, and always disappears in a week after taking it. Read the label.

If the stomach is foul or bilious it will cause squeamish feelings at first.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it. Dose, one tablespoonful in water at bedtime. Sold by all Druggists.

Please forward six boxes of Tetterine, C. O. D. I think it strange that it is not sold here in New England, as it is the best cure for Eczema, Ring Worm and all eruptions of the skin I ever saw. I got a box from a Cincinnati drummer, and gave part of it to a young lady who had tried almost everything to remove Pimples and an eruption from her face. Two applications of Tetterine completely cured her. I know also a gentleman whose body had been covered with Eczema—two boxes of Tetterine cured him completely, and now his skin is as smooth as a baby's. P. O. Hanlon, with Silver Springs Bleaching Co. A SILVER RALLY.

A NON-PARTISAN CONFERENCE HELD AT SALT LAKE CITY.

Western Governors, Ex-Governors and Congressmen Were on Hand.

The business streets of Salt Lake City, Utah, were a mass of bunting and national colors Wednesday. The streets were crowded with strangers from all parts of the west, who were in attendance on the silver convention called by Governor Rickards, of Montana, to discuss means to promote the interests of the silver cause.

Governor Rickards, of Montana, called the convention to order shortly after noon. Governor West, of Utah, and Mayor Baskin delivered addresses of welcome, after which a temporary organization was effected and a recess was taken until late in the afternoon.

Among the distinguished people present were: Governor Rickards, Governor McConnell of Idaho, ex-Governor Adams of Colorado, Congressman Shafroth of Idaho, ex-Governor Thompson of Orogon, Hon. Thomas G. Merrill, Patrick Henry Winston, Senator Carter of Montana, George Stephen DeWolf, Albert Kleinschmidt, Wharton Barker of Philadelphia, ex-Congressman Bartin and many mayors of western towns, with leading state officers and bankers from the main cities of the west. Letters of regret, in which the signers all take advanced ground in favor of the silver movement, have been received from W. H. Harvey, the editor of Coin; ex-Congressman Bryan, William P. St. John of New York, and Judge McConnell of Chicago.

Fully 2,000 people were present when Governor Rickards, of Montana, again called the convention to order. Governor Rickards made an impassioned address of half an hour's length, detailing the motive of the convention, which he said was without party prejudice and irresistable because it was not partisan.

"The common people of the whole country," he said, "are discontented with our financial condition, and are turning en masse to the free coinage of silver as the great remedy."

Permanent organization was effected with Ex-Governor Thompson, of Oregon, as president; Ex-Governor Adams, of Colorado, and General Cluney, of California, vice presidents; Henry W. Langenour, California, secretary.

It was finally decided to allow each state to cast three votes regardless of the number of its delegates. The main addresses of the day were the speech of Rickards in opening, and an exhaustive paper on the silver question and the evils of monometalism, read by Wharton Baker, the Philadelphia editor, at the evening session, before an audience of 7,000 people. Governor Rickards said in part:

"We do not meet as republicans, as democrats or as populists, but as American citizens zealous for the right as god gives us to see the right and earnest in the advocacy of sound financial principles. The masses of the people in the east as well as in the west have grown distrustful of the financial ability of a class of reasoners whose policy has invited the most far-reaching disasters that ever overtook the business interests of our country or paralyzed the energies of our people. Every prophecy made by the gold men has been discredited by the progress of events and the prediction made by the silver men has been verified in the colossal misfortunes that have visited our lands. The logic of the situation demands a reversal of the public judgment and it will come. The argument of the single gold standard advocates has matured from a gilded theory into a condition that ought to appeal with irresistible force to the candid observer of events. Existing conditions reflecting the misfortunes of the business world upon every phase of our industrial and social life have stimulated a demand on the part of the masses for a better knowledge of financial propositions that self-interests may be repeated at the polls. In no way can the interests of silver be better served, in the receptive condition of the public mind than through a systematic course of education that will reach the individual intelligence in the sacred circle of the home. The eminent gentlemen who represent the several states in this conference have been delegated with the responsibility of devising ways and means for the carrying out of this object, and that your labors will prove an aggressive step in a most successful campaign of the cause, I doubt not. Already the European wing of the American republic is beating the air in an effort to retain its lofty perch. The gold men of both continents read in the signs of the times the possibility of an early defeat and are bending their energies to the annihilation of the object of their fears."

A TWO MILLION PURCHASE.

The Pennsylvania Steel Company Sold at Auction.

In accordance with the plan of reorganization, the receivers of the Pennsylvania Steel Company, which concern holds all of the stock of the Maryland Steel Company, offered the entire property of the company at public auction at the Philadelphia exchange Wednesday afternoon. The property was bought by Effingham B. Morris, on behalf of the reorganization committee, of which he is chairman, for $2,000,000, the amount of the bonded indebtedness, Mr. Morris being the only bidder.

CONVENTION TALK.

Silverites of Missouri May Issue a Call for a Meeting.

It is likely that a call for a national silver league convention will be issued to meet in St. Louis in March, 1896. This meeting is being agitated by the local silver men and they claim they are backed up by the silver men of the west and particularly so by the white metal people of California, who claim to be disappointed at the methods adopted by General A. J. Warner, of Ohio, on his recent visit to California.

HORNPIPE WINS.

He Gives Them All a Surprise in the Brooklyn Handicap Race.

The ninth Brooklyn Jockey club handicap was run at Gravesend, N. Y., Wednesday, and was won by Hornpipe. The result was a complete surprise, only one of the horses that was well supported in the ring finishing among the leaders. Lazzarone got the place, and game little Sir Walter was third. The last named was in active demand on the future books and heavily backed on the track.

Hornpipe and Lazzarone opened at 20 to 1 obtainable each and closed at 15 to 1. Ramapo and Dr. Rice were dual first favorites during the early quotation, but Ramapo had a slight call over last years's winner of the prize at the close. Taral, who rode Dr. Rice, is the regular Keene jockey. He did not entertain the slightest fear of Hornpipe. He had a wholesome respect for Rey el Santa Anita and Ramapo.

There was the usual delay at the post. The twelve candidates got to the post on time. There were five false breaks before they got the signal to depart. Sir Walter showed slightly in front of the others for a few strides after the flagfall and then gave way to Assignee, who set a killing pace for the first six furlongs and then dropped out of the race. Sir Walter, who had been in a good position all the way, then resumed the command. Dr. Rice attempted to close up on him, but soon had enough.

A big change occurred when they were half-way around the upper turn. Lazzarone, who had been in the rear ranks, began to thread his way to the front. With a phenomenal burst of speed he collared Sir Walter as they swung into the home stretch. Doggett at once went to the whip. Sir Walter responded nobly, and again his name rang in the air. Lazzarone came again, but was promptly challenged by Hornpipe, who had crept up almost unobserved. A desperate struggle ensued. The task was too great for Lazzarone; he faltered under the fierce attack of the whip and spur. This cost him the race.

Hornpipe, running true to the last gasp, won by a good neck. Lazzarone beat Sir Walter a length and a half for the place. Counter Tenor, the three-year-old who went begging at 50 to 1, was ridden in, and around field as if he were a polo pony, and was fourth. In the hands of a capable jockey this colt would have given Hornpipe an argument. Rey el Santa Anita, who was kept out of the race in Bergen fashion until the stretch was reached, flattered his backers for a few strides only. Dr. Rice, Ramapo and Rubicon ran as if totally unfit. They were beaten before they had gone a mile. Sir Walter would have done better had Doggett not fallen into the trap set by Lakeland with Assignee and thus killed himself trying to keep up with the light-weighted pace-maker.

DISPENSARY CONSTABLE IN JAIL.

Judge Simonton Holds that He is in Contempt of Court.

The war between the South Carolina state and federal authorities on the subject of the dispensary began Saturday by the arrest of one of the dispensary constables. L. G. Byrd, of Charleston, through his attorney, Benjamin A Hagood, presented an affidavit to the court stating that while proceeding down Meeting street with a two-gallon demijohn of whisky, which he had just received from Savannah through the Southern Express company, he was stopped by a dispensary constable, E. C. Beach, and by him the liquor was seized in violation of the recent circuit court injunction, which permits the importation of liquor for personal consumption.

Upon this affidavit Judge Simonton issued a rule to compel the constable to show cause why he should not be attached for contempt. Shortly before 3 o'clock the hearing was had. On motion of Mr. B. A. Hagood a fine of $300 was imposed by Judge Simonton on Beach. Thereupon the latter refused to pay it and was committed to jail. It is understood that this will be made a test case and that the state authorities will institute habeas corpus proceedings before the United States supreme court at Washington, demanding Beach's release in the shape of a dissolution of the injunction.

WILL ADVANCE MONEY

For the Purchase of the S., A. & M. Railway by the Committee.

The Baltimore Trust and Guarantee Company will advance $600,000 to the reorganization committee for the purchase of the Savannah, Americus and Montgomery railroad, the sale of which is fixed for May 17th. A minimum price of $1,800,000 has been placed on the property by the courts.

The funds obtained by the loan will be applied to the retiring of preferred liens, including the bonds of the Americus, Preston and Lumpkin and the receiver's certificates.

The road extends from Lyons, Ga., to Montgomery, Ala., 265 miles, and operates under a lease the Albany, Florida and Northern railroad, making a total mileage of 300 miles. It is said that the building of an extension of the road from Lyons to Savannah may follow the reorganization of the company.

IOWA PROHIBITIONISTS

Issue a Call for a State Convention at Des Moines.

The Iowa prohibition state committee has issued a call for a state convention to be held in Des Moines June 19. There will be 400 delegates and men for governor, lieutenant-governor, supreme judge, superintendent of public instruction, and railroad commissioner will be nominated. The scheme to fuse with the populists has been condemned by the leaders and the republican party will be called upon to re-submit the liquor question to the people at once.

EVANS' ADDRESS,

IN WHICH HE BITTERLY DENOUNCES JUDGE GOFF.

He Says There are Two Flags, the White and the Black.

A special from Columbia, S. C., says: It looks now as though stormy times are ahead. On Tuesday governor Evans issued a proclamation bearing on state's rights and federal interference. In it he denounces Judge Goff in the most bitter and vindictive language. He says there are two flags, the white and black. The address closes as follows:

"A crisis confronts us—an issue has been thrust upon us without our will or consent, at a time when peace was hovering over the state. South Carolina is enjoying an era of industrial improvement; factories are being built in greater number than elsewhere in the south; the credit of the state ranks higher than ever in its history, our bonds not being purchasable at a premium of less than 10 per cent. The march of progress is about to be stopped; the black pall of negro domination hovers over us. We must meet the issue like South Carolinians. There are only two flags—the white and the black—under which will you enlist? The one, the white, peaceful flag of Anglo-Saxon civilization and progress; or the other, the black flag of the debased and ignorant African, with the white traitors, who are seeking to marshal the negroes in order to regain political power. It is fortunate that the issue comes at this time, when a constitution is to be made, guaranteeing white supremacy once and forever. The constitutional convention must be controlled by white men, not white men with black hearts nor negroes. The world must be shown that we are capable of governing ourselves and that, constitution or no constitution, law or no law, court or no court, the intelligent white men of South Carolina intend to govern her. Let the man who undertakes to lead the ignorant blacks against you suffer as he did in 1876, and remember that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.

"I will not call the legislature together. They could do nothing. An appeal will be taken to the supreme court of the United States, but under the red tape and technicalities surrounding it, a decision cannot be had in time to affect the election of delegates. It must be a free, open fight. I appeal to the sovereign people of South Carolina—the wisest and safest and purest tribunal—to protect their homes and liberties. They have never failed to respond to duty. The government of the people must and shall be perpetuated and we are ready to lead the fight under the white man's flag. Your obedient servant,

"JOHN GARY EVANS, Governor."

A Newspaper's Comment on the Pronunciamento.

The Columbia State, newspaper, democratic, discussing the manifesto of Governor Evans, says that it bears intrinsic evidence of the workmanship of Senator Tillman, his patron and prompter; and that, although intended to serve unworthy purposes, it will prove of value in revealing to the people of the country the true character of the men against whom the advocates of honest elections are contending. Judge Goff's decision, according to the information received by the State, has been thankfully received by the large and increasing number of South Carolinians, who have set their faces against fraud and propose to make an honest ballot the chief issue in the constitutional convention election.

O'SHEA WAS BLACKLISTED,

And Is Suing the Railroad Companies for Damages.

William J. O'Shea has commenced three suits for damages, at Toledo, Ohio, in the sum of $10,000 in each case, against the Lake Shore, Ohio Central and Wabash railroad companies. The suits are based on the allegation that as a result of his discharge and boycott during the American Railway Union strike and his subsequent blacklisting, he is unable to secure employment on any road. He was for a long time in the employ of the Lake Shore road. He avers that his name is on the blacklist books of the roads and that he has seen it there. The case will be watched with great interest in the railroad world, for should it be successful a hundred others would soon follow.

A Wonderful Sensitive Plant.

An incident related by the author of "The Pearl of India," in his description of the flora of Ceylon, is almost uncanny, although we are assured that it is true. It is about the mimosa, or sensitive plant, and makes one almost wonder whether the plant has intelligence.

The doctor, one of the characters of the book, while sitting with the family on the broad piazza, which formed the front of the bungalow of a coffee plantation, recognized a thrifty sensitive plant, and it was made the subject of remark. He called his young daughter of 11 years from the house.

"Lena," said he, "go and kiss the mimosa."

The child did so, laughing gleefully, and came away. The plant gave no token of shrinking from contact with the pretty child.

"Now," said the host, "will you touch the plant?"

Rising to do so, we approached it with one hand extended, and before it had come fairly in contact the nearest spray and leaves wilted visibly.

"The plant knows the child," said the doctor; "but you are a stranger."

An Electric Swindle.

A French fakir has lately been doing a "land office" business in selling rat powder that, while perfectly harmless, was sudden death to the rats. In order to convince the skeptical the man first of all powdered a slice of bread with the stuff and ate a part of it. Then he put the balance under a glass case, where a rat was in captivity. The rat went to eat the bread and instantly fell dead. At half a franc a box the powder went off like hot-cakes and the lucky proprietor was in a fair way to make his fortune. But the French police, very active in detecting and punishing fraud, "got onto the game" and found the rat powder was nothing but ordinary sugar. They also discovered that the glass sample case was connected with a powerful electric battery, and the moment the rat touched the bread the current was turned on and his death was instantaneous.

A Lease for 9999 Years.

A curious lease is on record in the county court at Hebron, Ct. It is one of the longest leases on record, and for one of the oddest considerations. According to the docket the "Society of the Propagation of the Gospel of Foreign Parts" (the great English Missionary Society) leases thirty acres of land to one S. W. Chase and his heirs for the term of 9999 years. The tenture is held on condition that the said "Chase, or his heirs, shall pay to John Sutton and J. T. Peters, church wardens of said society, or their successors in office, one grain of pure silver, or other silver, gold equivalent (if demanded), on St. John's day of each ensuing year." There are many curious and whimsical tenures held in Great Britain, France and Germany, but it is doubtful if the records of America can produce anything equal to this long-lived land lease, which will not terminate until after the lapse of 9899 years from the 25th of this month.

May Week Celebration; Savannah, Ga., May 12-16, 1895.

It has been decided to hold a May week celebration in Savannah during the third week in May, for which a very interesting programme has been arranged, including grand carnival, large military parades and display, Tybee day with sham, and naval battle, etc. It is also expected that several large war vessels will be present.

The old reliable Central railroad of Georgia will sell round-trip tickets May 11th to 16th, limited returning May 18th, from all points in Georgia, and from Montgomery, Ala., and intermediate points, to Savannah, at the rate of one fare for the round trip.

For military companies in uniform, twenty or more traveling in a body on one ticket from stations within 300 miles of Savannah and from Montgomery, Ala., and intermediate points, rate of 1 cent per mile in each direction is authorized. At these very low rates every one will have an opportunity of making the trip to Savannah.

For further information, rates, schedules, etc., apply to any ticket agent of the Central railroad system or S. B. Webb, traveling passenger agent, 16 Wall street, Atlanta, Ga.

AFTER THIRTY YEARS.

THE BUCKEYE STATE CONTRIBUTES THE STORY OF A VETERAN'S SEARCH.

How Fred Taylor, a Member of the Gallant 189th N. Y., V. I., Finally Found What He Has Sought Since the War Closed.

(From the Ashtabula, Ohio, Beacon.)

Mr. Fred Taylor was born and brought up near Elmira, N. Y., and from there enlisted in the 189th regiment, N. Y., V. I., with which he went through the war and saw much hard service. Owing to exposure and hardships during the service, Mr Taylor contracted chronic diarrhoea, from which he has suffered now over thirty years, with absolutely no help from physicians. By nature he was a wonderfully vigorous man. Had he not been, his disease and the experiments of the doctors had killed him long ago. Laudanum was the only thing which afforded him relief. He had terrible headaches, his nerves were shattered, he could not sleep an hour a day on an average, and he was reduced to a skeleton. A year ago he and his wife sought relief in a change of climate and removed to Geneva, Ohio; but the change in health came not. Finally, on the recommendation of F. J. Hoffner, the leading druggist of Geneva, who was cognizant of similar cases which Pink Pills had cured, Mr. Taylor was persuaded to try a box. "As a drowning man grasps a straw, so I took the pills," says Mr. Taylor, "but with no more hope of rescue. But after thirty years of suffering and fruitless search for relief I at last found it in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The day after I took the first pills I commenced to feel better, and when I had taken the first box I was in fact a new man." That was two months ago. Mr. Taylor has since taken more of the pills and his progress is steady, and he has the utmost confidence in them. He has regained full control of his nerves and sleeps as well as in his youth. Color is coming back to his parched veins and he is gaining flesh and strength rapidly. He is now able to do considerable outdoor work.

As he concluded narrating his sufferings, experience and cure to a Beacon reporter Mrs. Taylor, who has been his faithful helpmeet these many years, said she wished to add her testimony in favor of Pink Pills. "To the pills alone is due the credit of raising Mr. Taylor from a helpless invalid to the man he is to-day," said Mrs. Taylor. Both Mr. and Mrs. Taylor cannot find words to express the gratitude they feel or recommend too highly Pink Pills to suffering humanity. Any inquiries addressed to them at Geneva, O., regarding Mr. Taylor's case, they will cheerfully answer, as they are anxious that the whole world shall know what Pink Pills have done for them and that suffering humanity may be benefited thereby.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50.

Gem Bearing Plants.

The assistant director of Kew gardens, lecturing recently at the London institute on some curiosities of tropical plant life, said that among these were the pearls found occasionally in the cocoanut palm of the Philippine islands—pearls which, like those of the ocean, are composed of carbonate of lime. The bamboo, too, yields another precious product in the shape of true opals, which are found in its joints. In each case this mineral matter is, of course, obtained from the soil. The natives of the Celebes use these vegetable opals as amulets and charms against disease.

CARLISLE SPEAKS.

DECLARES AGAINST SILVER AS PRIMARY MONEY.

He is Given a Grand Ovation at Covington, Ky.

Secretary Carlisle received an ovation at Covington, Ky., Monday night unparalleled in the history of politics in that section of Kentucky. It was a magnificent tribute to the high esteem in which he is held by political friends and foes alike. Of the 3,000 who jammed themselves into a space hardly large enough for two-thirds that many, were men of all parties, classes and conditions. Women were there, too, notwithstanding the fact that it was urged that they stay away and let the voters hear the distinguished speaker. Packed in almost as tightly were many thousand more who could not get beyond the gates of Central Garden, all prepared to give the secretary the most enthusiastic reception he had ever received at the hands of those who have heard of him so often.

When he appeared at the garden there was wild cheering and a general din. It, however, was more enthusiastic than that given him at the home of his friend, Mr. Queen, a few months before.

The parade of thousands from Covington, Newport and the suburban villages stretching up the river, augmented by 800 from Cincinnati, with bands and horns, passing in review before him.

The secretary was vociferously cheered throughout his speech against the free coinage of silver. His elaborate and eloquent argument was listened to attentively, and at its conclusion the secretary was again cheered most heartily.

After a brief reference to his absence from the state, Mr. Carlisle began his address as follows:

"It may not add to the force of my arguments or the weight of advice to assure you that I am not, and do not expect to become, a candidate for any office in the gift of the people or their representatives, and that I do not appear in the state in the interest of any candidate. My interest in the solution of the questions now pending is precisely the same as that of any other American citizen who pesires to to see his country prosperous and happy, and while my views as to the policy which will most certainly produce these results may be entirely erroneous, they are honestly entertained and will be frankly stated. It can make no difference to me, personally or politically, whether they are popular or unpopular, here or elsewhere, although it is always more agreeable to be in accord with the prevailing public sentiment than to be in opposition to it. My respect, however, for the intelligence and patriotism of the American people constrains me to believe that no matter what their preconceived opinions may be upon any question, they will not refuse to give it a full and fair investigation or fail to reach a just conclusion when both sides have been heard. Therefore, I shall speak to you this evening with full confidence that whatever may be your present opinions on the subject to be discussed, you are willing to re-examine the grounds upon which they have been formed and change them if they are found to be erroneous.

The secretary's speech was a lengthly one. In it he declared against silver as primary money. He entered into a definition of Mr. Cleveland's policy; stated that free coinage expansion would cause contraction of the currency, but admitted that prices would increase. At some length the secretary explained his own record on the silver question.

The LaGascogne Arrives.

The overdue French steamer LaGascogne arrived at New York Wednesday, three and a half days overdue. She met with exactly the same accident that caused her a tenday detention in mid-ocean last February.

Hayward Hangs in June.

Governor Clough, of Minnesota, has signed the death warrant for Harry Hayward, convicted of inciting and planning the murder of Catherine Ging in Minneapolis. The governor sets the execution for June 21.

SOLID FOR SILVER

Is the Democratic Executive Committee of North Carolina.

The North Carolina state democratic executive committee met at Raleigh Monday night and its discussion was so spirited that its session did not end until 1:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. Resolutions were adopted by a vote of 29 to 1 emphasizing on behalf of the party its declaration in its state convention last year in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1; that the pressing events prove the wisdom of this declaration; that the great wrong done by demonetization must be undone; that immediate resumption of free coinage without awaiting one moment for the co-operation of any nation is the great duty now confronting the American people.

G. A. R. WILL NOT BE PRESENT

At the Dedication of the Confederate Monument at Chicago.

Commander-in-Chief Lawler, of the Grand Army of the Republic, states that there will be no Grand Army posts at the dedication of the confederate monument in Chicago memorial day. Said he: "I have not cared to rush into print on this matter, but I am on the side of the Grand Army on this question, and although there is no objection on my part to the confederate soldiers erecting such a monument, I can tell you now that no Grand Army of the Republic posts will participate in the dedication ceremonies."

Marble Company Fails.

The Piedmont Marble Company in Pickens county, Ga., the largest quarries of marbles in the south, has failed. A mortgage of $143,000 stands against it. The petition for a receiver has been filed in the office of the clerk of the United States circuit court at Atlanta, and James M. Malone was appointed in that capacity. The petition for foreclosure against the Piedmont Marble Company was brought in the name of A. J. Robinson, of New York city, and the amount of his claim is estimated at $143,907.32.

Whisky Trust to Sell Out.

Stockholders of the whisky trust at a meeting held at Chicago Tuesday adopted resolutions for a judicial sale of property and another for the sale outside of the courts. It is understood that the action is taken to forestall the possible upholding by the supreme court of the decision of the lower court, which declared the trust illegal under the laws of Illinois.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Situation as Reported for the Past Week.

Reports from all parts of the southern states of the condition of industrial and business affairs for the past week seemingly show that there is no decrease in the number of new textile mills organized and in process of construction. The list for the week includes a cotton mill with $200,000 capital at Shelby, N. C., one capitalized at $100,000 at Blacksburg, S. C.; an $80,000 mill at Washington, Ga.; mills each with $50,000 capital at Tuskaloosa, Ala., Franklin, N. C., and Clemson College, S. C.; a cotton rope manufactory at Salisbury, N. C., and cotton mills at Daleville, Ala., New Sterling, N. C., and Edgefield, S. C. The general interest excited among lumber manufacturers by the advance in price lists has increased production; sales also have been better during the week, and inquiries indicate a good lumber trade at better prices. The iron market continues active. Coal sales have increased owing to labor troubles in other sections which have not affected the southern field.

Among new industries established or organized are the Kentucky Beet Sugar Co. of Bowling Green, Ky., capital $100,000; the West Virginia Tanbark and Lumber Co. of Charleston, W. Va., capital $500,000; the Morrill Refrigerator Car Co. of Bardwell, Ky., with $100,000 capital, and the Whitaker Oil and Land Co. of Wheeling, W. Va., with $50,000 capital. The Empire Coal Mining Co. has been chartered at Birmingham, Ala., with $50,000 capital; the Torrans Lumber Co., capital $30,000, at Jefferson, Tex.; the Bermea Land and Lumber Co. with the same capital at La Nana, Tex., and the Panther City Real Estate Co., capital $300,000, at Fort Worth, Tex.

Canning factories are reported at McRae, and Warrenton, Ga.; electric lighting plants at Alexander City and Lafayette, Ala., Reynolds, Ga., and Madisonville, Ky.; flouring mills at Eagle, N. C., and Spartanburg, S. C., an ice factory at Trenton, Tenn., oil mills at Gonzales and Calvert, Texas, and a pottery at San Antonio, Texas. Woodworking plants are reported at Cox, Ga., and Milan, Tenn. Water works to cost $150,000 are to be built at St. Augustine, Fla. The enlargements for the week include an oil mill at Weatherford, Texas, a rice mill at Crowley, La., cotton mills at King's Mountain and Scotland Neck, N. C., Graniteville and Greenwood, S. C., and woodworking plants at Abbeville, Ga., and Black Rock, Ark.—Tradesman (Chattanooga, Tenn.)

CAPITAL GOSSIP.

ITEMS OF NEWS PICKED UP AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Sayings and Doings of the Official Heads of the Government.

The syndicate paid into the treasury Wednesday $900,000 in gold, swelling the total gold reserve to $98,127,000.

The president has signed an order directing that Admiral Meade be retired, accompanying it with a severe rebuke.

Senor V. Z. Dominigues has presented to the state department his credentials as charge d'affaires and minister ad interim for the Argentine republic.

The navy department has decided to courtmartial Lieutenant Edward L. Dorne, ordinance officer, and Lieutenant Wilson W. Buchanan, of the cruiser Olympia, for neglect of duty leading to the death of a gunner on board that vessel on the Pacific coast.

The retirement of Rear Admiral Meade promotes Commodore Lester A. Beardslee to be rear admiral, Captain John A. Howell to be commodore, Commander Nicoll Ludlow to be captain, Lieutenant Commander Chapman C. Todd to be commander, Lieutenant Gottfried Blockinger to be lieutenant commander, Lieutenant Junior Grade Leroy M. Garrett to be lieutenant, Ensign Wilfred B. Hoggatt to be lieutenant junior grade.

Senator Palmer, of Illinois, called on the president Wednesday and told him about the silver situation in that state. Senator Palmer jokingly responded to the question as to whether the silver movement in Illinois had been arrested, by saying that warrants were out for the movement but the officers having the warrants had been unable to come up with it yet. The senator says that, so far as the democratic convention called to meet in June is concerned, it is a foregone conclusion that a free silver plank will be adopted.

The official service of Lorin M. Thurston, as Hawaiian minister to the United States, closed Tuesday, when Mr. Frank P. Hastings presented to the state department his credentials, which had just been received as charge d'affaires. The official mail from Honolulu arrived during the morning, and soon afterwards Mr. Hastings went to the state department. It was the first mail from Hawaii since the recent press reports from San Francisco, giving an unofficial outline of the purport of the Hawaiian government in replacing Mr. Thurston with Mr. Hastings.

Steamship Mail Contracts.

A number of sensational reports have been circulated recently in regard to the subsidy to the American line steamships for carrying the mails between New York and Europe. It was asserted that the postmaster general had determined to break the contract made with the company by Postmaster General Wannamaker, on the ground that he had exceeded his powers in making the agreement read per statute mile instead of per marine mile. The contract goes into effect next October. It may be authoritatively stated that the rumors are incorrect, and that, whatever may be done in the future, the matter has not been even discussed.

The postmaster general has not been in office long enough to have caught up with current duties and has not anticipated his work as far as October next. He has not made or authorized any statement as to subsidy contracts for the best of reasons, that he has not yet taken up the matter. Speaking of the matter, Second Assistant Postmaster General Neilson said: "The matter has not yet been discussed at all. The rumors are utterly false and ridiculous."

The work in connection with the annual letting of contracts at the New York warehouse for furnishing supplies for the Indian service began Tuesday. The heaviest single contract will be for sugar and clothing, and notions generally will make up the remainder of the supplies. It will probably require three weeks to complete the work. Commissioner of Indian Affairs Browning will supervise the work and a force of clerks will be sent from the Indian department.

Was a Costly Experiment.

The experiment of reviving the income tax has been rather a costly one to the United States treasury. Up to date the cost of preparing for the enforcement of the law now declared unconstitutional by the supreme court aggregates $100,000. All the printing done in preparing blank forms of returns is, of course, a dead loss. There were appointed 240 deputy collectors of internal revenue for the especial purpose of handling this tax, all of whom will now be gradually dismissed. At some of the large offices a few special deputies may be kept for a short time to assist in closing up the work of refunding the money already paid in. Up to May 1, the amount paid in was:

By corporations, $16,642; by persons, $56,521. Since that date about $7,000 have been received, making the total in round figures $80,000. This money will be refunded under section 3220, Revised Statutes, upon application being made to the commissioner of internal revenue through the collector to whom the last returns was originally made. One application has already been filed for a return of the tax paid in. It was made by ex-Senator Camden, of West Virginia, who filed it five minutes after Chief Justice Fuller announced the decision of the court.

Commissioner Miller says that under the income tax law as it passed congress $40,000,000 would have been received and in the shape in which the first decision left it about $16,000,000 would have been realized. To have collected this would have cost about $130,000 or less than one per cent. of the amount collected. The records already filed by persons and corporations in the office of the commissioner of internal revenue, showing the items of income liable to taxation, will be retained inviolate in the office. They cannot be returned to the original persons making them, as they have now become official papers of the office and their destruction or return can only be authorized by act of congress.

Internal Revenue Commissioner Miller has sent the following telegram to all collectors of internal revenue: "Income tax law declared unconstitutional by supreme court. Stop all work in connection therewith, and send to this office at once under seal all books, assessment lists, returns and records in your office or hands of deputies relating to income tax."

OVATION TO MISS DAVIS.

Houston Overcrowded With Veterans. Accommodations Limited.

A special from Houston, Texas, says: The train bringing Miss Winnie Davis and the Richmond delegation arrived late Tuesday night. Miss Davis was tendered a glorious ovation at the train and several bands paraded the streets celebrating her arrival. There is a fearful lack of accommodations for the thousands who have crowded themselves into Houston. They are sleeping four deep in all the hotels.

DEBATING FINANCE.

The Author of "Coin" Pitted Against Professor Laughlin.

The much-talked-of discussion on the silver question between Professor J. L. Laughlin, of the University of Chicago, and W. H. Harvey, author of "Coin's Financial School," took place last Friday night at the Illinois club, in Chicago. The assembly room was crowded and many more were turned away. The audience was composed of merchants, bankers and professional men. The wording of the question debated was:

"Resolved, That the United States should at once enter upon the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 independently of the action of any other nation."

The speakers were limited to one hour for their main address. Mr. Harvey opened in the affirmative. He was allowed thirty minutes to close. Harvey's argument was substantially as follows:

"The first reason why I am in favor of independent action by this country is that we should not be subjected to the influences of the governments of Europe. 'We admit bimetallism would be good if we could get international bimetallism.' In other wodrs, they agree that there is something radically wrong, but claim that we are tied to the financil policy of Europe. They say, 'We must have the same money that they have in order to carry on business with them.' My reply is, the biggest business we ever did carry on with the rest of the world was when they had gold and silver as money and we had neither. We do not settle our balances with Europe in coin except on its commercial value and weight. There is no such thing as an international money. Silver is not a commodity to be measured in gold. It is an object to be gored and kicked by bulls and bears. It is shut out of the United States mints. It is token money. We would restore it to that unlimited demand it enjoyed prior to 1873. That would cause the value of silver to rise compared with gold. This is what we want.

"The bank of the Rothschilds in England is now behind the United States treasury. They are our financial agents and managers. We are paying them the princely salary of $8,000,000 for each six months of their valuable services. We are now in the hands of the pawnbrokers of Europe. There is only one way to replenish our reserve stock of gold. That is to borrow it from those who have it. That means England. That is what we are doing. This is what having a gold standard means. It is a money that is easily concerned. How are we to pay our debts to England? Restore silver, the price of all our products will advance and the balance of trade with England will double in our favor."

"We would again make the standard silver dollar the unit of value as it was before 1873. No man would take less for it when he could have it coined at pleasure into a dollar. Silver is the people's money. Gold was, and is the money of the rich.

"We would repeal the law of 1878 and the Sherman law of 1890 authorizing contracts to be taken payable in gold only. A true knowledge of bimetallism and the simplicity of that system decided our ancestors. The alternate use of silver with gold, which is true bimetallism, would give an elasticity to our primary money which is now absent. We would give the debtor the option of paying in either metal. Now the creditor demands the dearer metal. Let us have nothing more to do with Mr. Cleveland, Mr. Sherman and such men who have assisted to tie the hands of this great nation and deliver its financial policy to the gold gamblers of the world.

Professor Laughlin's Argument.

Professor Laughlin began his argument by declaring that Mr. Harvey had not touched on the question under discussion. He denied Mr. Harvey's statistics and his statements as to the parity of gold and silver in 1873. "The falling of prices since 1873," he said, "is not due to a lack of money. There is no reason why there should be more money. It is a fact that wages have risen in gold since 1873, and the purchasing power of the wage-earner has doubled. Pass a law for silver and gold would be hoarded quicker than a flash. Free coinage would be legalized fraud. It would give the sanction of the government to cheating and approve the plan of Mexicanizing our finances. Free coinage would cut off the workman's share by a rise of prices, until by strikes he had forced his wages up proportionately and would add to social unrest and disorder. We cannot believe that a special interest, led by millionaires, will go on unchecked in their plan of sacrificing the taxpayers in order to heap up purchasers of silver, especially when this is done on the most fallacious of economic grounds. The proposal for free coinage is greenbackism, galvanized into life. Under the cry for more money are the plans of syndicates and mine owners and speculators, who have hoodwinked the people in certain parts of the country."

AGAINST LOTTERIES.

Florida's New Law is Very Stringent in Its Provisions.

The Florida senate has passed a bill to prevent the operation of lottery companies in the state. The bill has already passed the house and now goes to Governor Mitchell for his signature. The measure is very stringent in its provisions, and it is said that, under it, even raffles at church fairs will be a crime. The law is intended to drive out the Honduras Lottery Company (successor to the old Louisiana lottery), which had established a sort of clearing house at Port Tampa. The lottery drawings, it is alleged, have been taking place in Honduras, but as a matter of fact nearly all the business has been conducted at Port Tampa.

EARTHQUAKES IN ITALY.

Houses Collapse and Many Persons Are Crushed to Death.

The population of Florence, Italy, was thrown into a state of panic Saturday night by a series of earthquakes that did much damage in the city and in other places. People who were in their houses when the first shock came ran terror-stricken into the streets. The shocks were so violent that houses swayed like ships in a sea and in a number of cases roofs fell in, killing a number of people and injuring many others who had not sought safety in flight.

Butchers as Boycotters.

The boycott on the Armour Packing Company, declared a month ago by the Retail Butchers' Association, of Kansas City, has been extended by the national association to include Chicago, St. Louis and Denver, with the intention of spreading it all over the United States unless the differences in Kansas City should be adjusted.

Formed a Secret Organization.

An organization embracing the skilled employes of five large steel plants in the Pittsburg district is said to have been secretly formed within the past few weeks to secure an advanced and uniform rate of wages and an improvement of the steel workers' condition generally.

Passed the Bimetallic Resolution.

The bimetallic resolution which recently passed the upper house of the Prussian diet was carried in the lower house Tuesday by a large majority. A centrist amendment proposing to omit the words "with the ultimate object of securing international bimetallism" was rejected by a vote of 187 to 82.

MURDERED BY MEXICANS.

Two Thousand Natives Attack a Company of American Soldiers.

Information has been received at El Paso, Tex., of a bloody local revolt out in a settlement between the towns Guadalupe Calvo and Varvagama, in the state of Chihua, Mexico, a few days ago. The trouble began when the natives living in the district attacked a surveying party under C. P. Morrison, an American, and killed twenty of the party. The affair was reported to the commander of American troops at parral, who immediately started a detachment of 100 men to the scene. Last Wednesday the troops were assaulted by the natives and retreated, leaving half of their number dead and wounded on the battle ground.

ARE MARTI AND GOMEZ DEAD?

The Cubans Believe the Report of Their Death a Fake.

A special to the Jacksonville Times-Union from Tampa, Fla., says: "An official telegram was received by the Spanish consul Wednesday afternoon saying: 'The news of Marti's death is confirmed.'

"The leaders of the Cuban revolutionary movement at Jacksonville state they do not believe the report that Marti has been killed. They say several times news has been sent out by Spanish authorities that Cuban leaders were killed and afterwards these same leaders would turn up all right.

Mr. Ransom in Poor Health.

A special from Monterey, Mexico, says that Hon. Matt W. Ransom, United States minister to Mexico, arrived there two weeks ago, in very poor health, and has been taking treatment at the hot springs. He has improved very much but is still weak and will not return to his post in the City of Mexico for several days. The high altitude of the City of Mexico did not agree with him.

THE BARKEEPER'S OPINION.

An Alabama saloon keeper was lamenting that he found it so difficult to secure honest clerks. They would embezzle his money. His hearer expressed surprise that he should set such store by honesty, and yet be doing what he could to debauch and destroy the moral sensibilities of the young men.

During the conversation the saloonist said: "Well, yes, the reason for this dishonesty is not hard to find, for I tell you when a man makes up his mind that he will sell liquor he puts conscience aside and when he puts conscience away he is prepared for any crime."

That is a fearful truth, as the experience of thousands of men prove. Oh! young men, you who are tempted to deal is that which fills the land with shame, misery and crime, hear the fearful indictment spoken by the man who, him self had trod the path with conscience crushed, and let those words ever warn you from the evil way lest a felons cell, and, worst of all, a sinner's hell be your portion.

Farmers Studying Finance.

Neighbors A and B owned farms adjoining. They were neighbors indeed, for they were always studying each others interests, and frequently met together and talked over matters. B had had pretty good opportunities in his early days and was a reading man. He was well posted on almost all topics which come before the average countryman. A was a man of good average sense, a fine farmer and a good neighbor, but he knew very little of books and papers.

Until he and his near neighbor differed in politics he used to say he depended on neighbor B for news and for the right views of things, for through all the the years he had found him to be a man of correct ideas and thoroughly honest in his convictions.

A had been swept away from his Democratic moorings in the exciting campaign of '92. In '94 he began to fear that he had made a mistake, but his people howled so much about frauds on the part of Democrats, he had voted the second time against his old party. Frequently he had talked with his old neighbor about politics and always left him with misgivings as to the correctness of his own course. He was a man of courage and of a strong will, and seldom undertook anything which he did not hold to the finish. In the early months of '95 the neighbors met on a rainy day at the comfortable home of A, where the following conversation occurr.

A—I am glad you came over this morning, neighbor. The weather is bad and probabilities are it will continue so all day. We can do nothing on our farms, and if you say so, we will talk over some matters which have been bothering me of late.

B—Well, I have no objection to remaining, though I expected when I came I'd return home in a few minutes. My mail had just come as I left home, and these are the days I love to devote to reading up, you know I always want to keep some where in sight of things.

A—Yes, and you are mighty nigh always on the right track too. I wouldn't have said that three years ago, or even last year, but I see now the mistake I have made, and I ain't the man to stick to a wrong thing after I have found it out. You know I was always a Democrat, never knowed anything else 'till '92. You know how I wa led off. I was in debt and couldn't get out, my cotton didn't bring nothing after I made it. I notice that most all the neighbors was in the same fix and I listened to the fellers that come round and said the farmers must git together and they could put cotton up and git money to circulating and have more of it and we'd all git out of debt. But come to think of it. How on earth did I let them fellers lead me off. There wan't a farmer among them.

I now think of six or eight of the biggest men in the movement, and not one of them knowed "gee" from "haw." They got me down on the merchants and everybody that stayed about towns, and everybody that had any use for town folks.

You know I have always bin neighbor to you, we never did have a cross word; but I tell you I come mighty nigh turning against you.

You and two or three more kept on readin' the Advertiser; voted with the Democrats and hollerin for Cleveland. But I am plum disgusted with myself. I see almost the whole crowd of fellers that started out Democrats, have gone to callin' themselves by other names and they are anything to beat the Democrats. They are courtin' the Republicans and niggers, and I don't know what they will do next. They turned the country against the town, neighbor against neighbor; they have divided churches and turned off preachers, the fact of this business is, if they carry the thing much further we will have no peace anywhere.

Why we can't git along without towns and merchants. What would farmers do if there was no towns and merchants? It is all foolishness. I ain't no fool, but I have been led to play the fool and I am going to change from this on and come home. I want to tell you all; while I am at it and then want to ask you some questions.

Some time my boy John brought a package from town and it was wrapped up in an old Advertiser.

I had seen the day when I'd a burnt the paper on sight; but was a little glad to see the old lady again.

John and Lucy are pretty good readers, so I told them I wanted them to read everything in the paper to me. Some folks makes fans of that old sheet and call it the old Grand Ma, but as sure as you are alive the old lady plums the track and tells the truth.

So I told John when he went to school to ask the postmaster to lend him his Advertiser and twice every week he has been readin' it to me.

Here is what I want some light on—the silver and gold question. I noticed where Mr. Cleveland a way back yonder first began to talk his tariff talk. I didn't know nothing about it and I don't think many folks did; but he just kept on and last winter some sort of a bill got through Congress. Well, I have been noticin' where I have been buying thing. Tinware of almost every kind has gone down almost half what it use to be, plows and hardware and gears and almost everything the farmers have to buy is cheaper, and woolen goods are away down yonder. Cotton is down too, but I can buy more with my cotton than I ever could. They may abuse Cleveland as much as they please, but he is my man. He just don't care what the politicians say, he is for the people and the country—well, know he was all right on the tariff and I believe he is coming out all right on this money question, but I don't know enough about it, I want to learn."

All this time B was seated in a big arm chair, his face beaming with satisfaction as his neighbor went on to tell him of his change of views and readiness to return to the old fold. When A paused he said:

B—Neighbor you have no idea how glad I am to hear you talk as you do. This is better to me than reading my mail. I will be delighted to help you to solve the money question, though you know it is the most difficult question in the world to understand. I have been amazed at the presumption of some men. I know persons and you know them too who have been utter failures at their own business

It is notorious that they never succeeded at anything in their lives.

Some of them couldn't borrow a quarter from his neighbor, yet they can have the face to stand on a stump in the presence of a great crowd of people and tell how the government finances ought to be managed. Or they can write for the papers over their own names column after column upon a subject they have never studied and have never had any chance to study, if they had had the brains to master it. They are like parrots; they know nothing, of themselves, but they repeat what others say.

Let me know what your trouble is and I will see what I can do for

A—I don't know whether I can get at the thing or not, but I am going to try. I got John last night to write down some questions,

If you have no objections I will ask you to please take them home with you and write out the answers and let me have them to study over

With this A reached up and pulled from behind the clock a paper which he handed to B.

After a little conversation the neighbors separated for a season to meet again in a few days to finish the talk.—Contributor in Marion Standard.

Singing at Canaan.

The 8th Annual session was held the 26th of May. Messrs. E. L. Manning was made chairman and W. A. B. Falkner secretary of the meeting. Prayer was offered by Mr. Manning. The following members conducted the singing, R. T. Grant, J. Gulledge, H. Thomas, T. Robinson, T. M. Pyron, Misses Vena and Martha Pyron, and Mrs. W. E Grant aided greatly by performing on the organ.

E. L. Manning, Chairman,
W. A. B. Falkner, Secretary.

A FREE TRIP TO ATLANTA.

The Cotton States Exposition should be visited by every resident of Alabama. Knowing, however, that there are many people, especially in the rural districts, who can ill afford the heavy outlay necessary in order to attend this exhibition. The Advertiser has devised a plan whereby all who are willing to devote a little spare time to calling their neighbor's attention to the excellence of The Semi-Weekly Advertiser as a newspaper, can visit this display of Southern industries and resources.

Every person in the State of Alabama who will send us 100 yearly subscribers to The Semi-Weekly Advertiser at $1 each, before October 1st, 1895 will be presented with a ticket from his or her railway station to Atlanta and return, and in addition will be given $25 in cash for the purpose of defraying his or her expenses while there.

It will not be necessary to the entire 100 subscribers at once, but names can be forwarded from time to time, as they are secured, the sender stating that they are for our Cotton States Excursion prize. An accurate account will be kept with each competitor, and the announcement of the successful ones will be made as soon after October 1st as is practicable.

There is no good reason why several hundred people should not thus be able to visit the Atlanta Exposition at our expense, as The Semi-Weekly Advertiser is unquestionably the best newspaper of its class in America and the low subscription price places it within the reach of people of very limited means. It is an Alabama paper for Alabama people and in that field defies competition.

A GREAT SUCCESS.

The recent change made by the New York Weekly World in issuing two papers a week in place of one is meeting with great favor. The people appreciate the change, and are taking advantage of it. Why pay a dollar a year for a Weekly paper when you can get the New York World TWICE a week for the same price? Keep informed of what is going on in the world and particularly in your own country. Congress is now in session. Every movement will be of the greatest interest.

Keep abreast of the times by readin the TWICE-A-WEEK WORLD—two papers a week—104 papers a year for only $1.00.

Arrangements have been made by which we can furnish this paper and the Twice-a-Week New York World both for $1.65 a year. Take advantage of this offer and get your own local paper and the Twice a Week World at this special rate.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

The following are the times and places where the Clanton people worship.

At the Baptist church every 3rd Sunday morning and night. Prayer meeting Tuesday nights At the Episcopal church every 5th S. and Tuesday nights after 3rd Sundays. At the Methodist church every 2nd and 4th Sundays, morning and night, Prayer meeting on Wednesday night.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Our townsman Mr. J. M. Stanfield has been quite sick from a billious attack for the past few days.

Miss Gussie Allen is visiting relatives in this city.

The protracted meeting to be held at the Methodist church, will begin next Wednesday night.

Miss S. L. Bell was baptized yesterday at five o'clock by Rev. J. G. Lowery.

Legal business called the editor this week to Verbena, Bozeman, Spiguers, Elmore, Wetumpka and Montgomery.

Our sympathies go out to Dr. Joe Johnson and family in their late bereavement, in the death of his sister. Mrs. Myra Brazier She had been for three months a suferer.

The closing exercises of the University school were highly compliment by all who attended. Calisthentic drills, songs, and recitations were the order of the morning, with a splendid closing address by Mr. T. A. Curry.

Mrs. Dunkin and children, of Louisville, Ky. are visiting her sister, Mrs. Dr. Stewart.

The many friends of Messrs. J. W Mahan and Fred Martin, regreted to see them leave yesterday for their homes.

Mrs, Bandy and son of Jemison, spent a few days in Clanton last week

The E. L. & M. Society of Clanton is doing much to stimulate the young people in the matter of reading and study.

Essay writing and debates occur every two weeks. At the last meeting the question as to whether or not flirting was a crime was debated. And the judges,—believing somewhat in that sittisement themselves?—decided that the negative was the question.

Does Clanton want Good citizens to come here to live? If so those of us who are here must do our part to wipe out the evil influences which are causing a stench in the community.

We never knew Grand and Petit Juror to do more faithful service than did those lately at work in Chilton county. Their prompt actions will do much towards warning evil doers to beware.

J. W. Collins of Strasburg, was convicted in two cases for selling liquor without a license. The fine in the first case was $50 and costs and the same in the second, but the Judge raised the fine to $100, and costs, and then consented that a third indictment for the same offence be nol prossed. We sympathize greatly with Mr. Collins, but believe that such punishment will tend to the good of Chilton county

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

Our congratulations to Mr. J. Asa Roundtree, of Hartselle, and Miss Jennie Maude McIver, of Opelik. They are on the 6th to be made man and wife. We welcome the to be bride into the fraternity and congratulate our friend and brother on his good fortune

Died last Friday, Mrs. Geo. N. Honeycutt. She was before her marriage Miss Alice Ward, Hardly two year of married life had been given to her and her husband before death claimed her. We deeply sympathize with the young husband in his affliction

Mr. Peyton Jones and wife have our deepest sympathies in the death of their little girl. The mother in throwing water out of the window scalded the dear little thing.

After great suffering Mr. Julius Ellison died at his home two weeks ago. We point the sorrowing ones to the Great Comforter.

Mr. Gundy Legan, one of our most industrious citizens passed away on Tuesday the 21st. He had been sick for 7 weeks. He leaves a wife and many relatives and friends to mourn his departure. We were only slightly acquainted with Mr. Legan, but his neighbors all say he was as honest a man as the sun ever shone on. We offer our sympathies to the sorrowing ones.

The editor was so busy with legal matters during the two weeks of Court as to overlook some correspondence to the View. Court is over, and the editor takes fresh grip with greater encouragement on all his work.

Wanted. About one dozen of our subscribers who are behind with their subscription to each bring the editor a cord of stove wood cut 14 inches ready for use. Don't wait until the weather gets good.

The friends of little Joe VanDerVeer will be glad to know that he is doing very nicely. It is the earnest desire of all who know him or his parents that he may be entirely restored to health.

Persons who sympathize with the afflicted will rejoice with D. E. Carr of 1235 Harrison street, Kansas City. He is an old sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism, but had not heretofore been troubled in this climate. Last winter he went up into Wisconsin and in consequence has had another attack. "It came upon me again very acute and severe," he said. "My joints swelled and became inflamed; sore to touch or almost to look at. Upon the urgent request of my mother in law I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm to reduce the swelling and ease the pain, and to my agreeable surprise, it did both. I have used three fifty-cent bottles and believe it to be the finest thing for rheumatism pains and swelling extant. For sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and McNill & Smith, Jemison, Ala.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

THE ATLATA CONSTITUTION'S PRIZE ACRE.

$500,00 in Cash for Farmers—A Handsome Reward for the Plows of 1895.

We take pleasure in presenting The Constitution's $500 offer for the farmers of 1895. The prize consists of $100 in cash for the best acre of cotton, corn, tobacco, watermelons or sweet potatoes

The announcement is made before the planting of the crop so as to enable all who will to take part in the contest.

Entries may be made up to June 1st, and by that time every contestant must enter his name with The Constitution and state which acre he will compete for.

In ever circular The Constitution frankly states that the care taken in the preparation of the land, the selection of seeds, and the use of fertilizers, a record of costs and dates of plowing and other cultivation, and a careful record of the heavy rainfalls, the periods of droughts and all the other data, giving the history of the crop from the breaking of the soil to the harvesting, will be an object lesson of vast importance to every contestant, whether he wins the prize or not. This is a practical demonstration that a farm run on the intensive plan by giving careful attention to the thorough cultivation of a few acres properly rather than the poor cultivation of a large area will be far better than a reduction of farm acreage by resolutions.

The offer is made to encourage the raising of home supplies and illustrate the south's great possibilities in agriculture and to stimulate the proper cultivation of every possible acre to aid the independence of the farmer.

The prizes will be awarded by three competent judges, recognized as high authority in agricultural matters.

The terms are breifly these: Every contestant must be a subscriber to The Weekly Constitution. He must keep a record of The Constitution's acre upon a blank, which will be furnished him free upon application. The contest is open to every southern farmer.

By special arrangement with The Constitution we offer the View with The Weekly Constitution for $1,50 or if you already have our paper, send us $1 and we will send you The Constitution one year. We are pleased to say that our neighbor in Georgia is perhaps the greatest of all American weekly newspapers. Its seventy two columns each week, which will be increased to eighty four shortly, come brim full of the latest news of the world, and many excellent features of special interest to the state, besides its well conducted departments for the farm and the household.

Every subscription recieved through us will entitle the subscriber to enter the prize acre contest as well as to guess in the $2,000 contest, closing May 1st.

This is an extraordinary opportunity to procure two good newspapers for a year, one to supply the county news in the quickest and best possible shape, and the other to bring weekly the news of the world, teeming with political current history, farmers' notes and everything else that will interest every member of the family.

You will find no better season to subscribe nor any greater offer than the present.

Nervous prostration is a lingering, racking, living death to those afflicted, though wholly incomprehensible to others. The cause of this condition is impure and insufficient Blood.

Make the blood pure, give it vitality and it will properly feed the nerves and make them strong. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures nervousness because it acts directly upon the blood, making it rich and pure and endowing it with vitality and strength-giving power. No other medicine has such a record of Thousands write that they suffered intensely with nervousness and were cured by this great medicine. The building-up powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla are wonderful. Even a few doses are sufficient to create an appetite, and from that time on its healing, purifying, strengthening effects are plainly felt. The nerves become stronger, the sleep becomes natural and refreshing, the hands and limbs become steady, and soon "life seem to go on without effort," and perfect health is restored. Such is the work which Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing for hundreds of women today.

Singing to Absent Audiences.

Away out in the extreme northwestern part of Chicago, Silas Leachman puts in four or five hours every day singing at the top of his lungs, though not a soul is in hearing, but his wife. When he gets tired of singing he varies the proceedings by preaching a negro sermon, or gives an imitation of an Irish wake, and altogether conducts himself in a way that would lead the neighbors to consider him a fit subject for a lunatic asylum—if there were any neighbors, but there are not. No one ever goes out there to hear him sing, and yet he is getting rich at it. He earns something over $50 every day, though he never sees one of his auditors.

Mr. Leachman sings for phonographs and, as he has a monopoly of the business in the west, he contrives to keep busy and has even been heard to express a wish that he were twins. He has better protection in his monopoly than a copyright or an injunction or unlimited legal talent could afford. Nature gave him the peculiar qualities that enable him to reproduce his voice perfectly on the wax cylinders.—Chicago Tribune.

Micro-Organisms in the Air.

To the unassisted eye the presence of even any solid particles in the air is, as a rule, entirely invisible. We say this is so as a rule, for there are circumstances when the solid particles in the air are rendered visible. Every one is aware of the appearance of a stream of sunlight, introduced through a slit or hole in the shutter of a darkened room. Under such circumstances the air through which the sunlight passes is seen to be full of minute dust particles, yet "gay motes" which are thus seen to "people the sunbeam" constitute, after all, only a very insignificant fraction of the total number the air contains, for thousands of them are far too minute to be visible to the naked eye. Among these latter are the germs.

It is only indeed with the aid of our most powerful microscopes that we are enabled to discern these latter and form any estimate of their size. Many of them are less than the one twenty-thousandth of an inch. In the words of Professor Percy F. Frankland, one of our first experts on this subject, "400,000,000 of these organisms could be spread over one square inch in a single layer. Thus we could have a population 100 times as great as that of London settled on an area of a single square inch without any complaint of overcrowding, and giving to each individual organism, not three acres, which certain politicians tell us are necessary for the individual man, but one four hundred-millionth of a square inch, which is quite adequate for a citizen in the commonwealth of micro-organisms."—Gentleman's Magazine.

Valuable Postage Stamps.

Persons who have kept any of the old letters they received in the South during the war, might do well to look them over. The Confederate government authorized the issue and use of local postage stamps, and nearly every city in the South, at one time, had its own stamp. Many thousands of these were used, but so rare are they now that they bring very high prices. There is among collectors a keen demand for them, and an idea of what they will bring may be gathered from the report of a sale which occurred recently at the rooms of the Philadelphia society, New York. Confederate stamps sold as follows: Athens, Ga., $40; four varieties of the Baton Rouge, La., 5-cent, $41, $77 and $30, respectively; Macon, Ga., two varieties, for $63.50 and $191; Lenoir, N. C., $2 and Mobile 2-cent, black, $41.50. As time goes on these curiosities will probably increase in value. They are already beyond the reach of everybody but wealthy collectors.—Exchange.

Light the Room Dimly.

A glare of gas jets and of glaring conspicuous lamps is in the worst possible taste and betrays a parvenu on the spot. A room should be lighted from the sides with softly shaded gas jets, one only in a moderate sized room, or by quiet, half hidden lamps. Candlelight is the prettiest of all and the most becoming. Wax candles are too expensive to be used largely to light the parlors, but for a dining room nothing is more conducive to a confidential, reminiscent hum of conversation. Don't light the gas at all and place the candles in clusters of four, daintily shaded, at each corner of the table. Do not overdo the dim lighting and have the halls too dark to admit of a stranger walking through them with safety.—New York News.

"How shall I prove my identity?" asked the captive.

"By singing, of course."

"What! Sing in this cave! No bouquets, no steam heat, and not a cent in the box-office? Never!"

"Gentlemen," said the bandit, "it is evident that the lady is what she claims to be. Escort her to the nearest village and set her free."

VETERANS GATHER

IN THEIR FIFTH GRAND REUNION AT HOUSTON, TEXAS.

Called to Order by General John B. Gordon, Commander-in-Chief.

The fifth annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans was formally inaugurated Wednesday morning at the Winnie Davis auditorium at Houston by General Gordon amidst scenes which will be remembered long after the last veteran of the cause commemorated has returned to dust and the last of the great leaders in that immortal conflict have passed away.

In an ever-increasing stream the crowds had been pouring into Houston from every quarter of the union, regular and special trains, bringing with them tattered battle flags and enthusiastic hearts; bringing with them the sacred memories and yet more sacred scars of hard-fought battlefields and the determination to meet and mingle once more with their comrades in arms before they bow to the final conquerer.

This climax in the matter of numbers was reached Wednesday morning, and by night there were not less than 30,000 visitors in Houston. They elbowed each other in the streets and the hotels in cosmopolitan conglomeration. Veterans, crippled and decrepid, mingled with daughters of the confederacy, wearing their jaunty costumes of confederate gray, while here and there a dark complexion and long black hair betokened the American Indian. At every possible opportunity the old veterans gathered around their respective leaders, shaking their hands with cordial warmth, not infrequently with tears in their eyes.

The morning began with a drizzling rain, which, with few intervals, prevailed all day, dampening the clothes but not the ardor of the thousands of veterans who never failed to respond to the stirring strains of the numerous bands which were playing war melodies all over the city.

Nine o'clock was the hour at which the convention was to have been opened, but so cordial were the veterans in their greetings to General Gordon and others that it was nearly 11 o'clock when the commander mounted the platform. The auditorium, which is a beautiful piece of architecture was decorated inside with hundreds of flags and yard after yard of bunting, while a row of palmetto leaves ornamented the edge of the huge platform.

There was a deafening roar of cheers when General Gordon mounted the platform. He bowed his acknowledgement, and as the band struck up "Dixie" the enthusiasm rose still higher. Seated on the platform were the members of General Gordon's staff and the major generals of the divisions, each with his respective staff. There were also a large number of ladies. Near General Gordon sat Governor Culberson, Mayor Brown, Chaplain General J. W. Jones, Professor W. B. Cleveland, General S. D. Lee and others.

The convention was opened with prayer by the chaplain general, in which he invoked the blessing of God on the deliberations of the assembly and asked that the God of Israel and of Jefferson Davis would raise up friends to care for the veterans in their declining years.

Professor Cleveland then introduced Governor Culberson, who welcomed the delegates and friends to Texas. He paid a high tribute to southern valor and the justice of the southern cause, saying that it was the proudest event of his official career to welcome the veterans to this reunion.

Mayor Browne followed in a brief address, bidding the visitors welcome to the city.

General Gordon then rose to respond to the addresses of welcome. It was the signal for another outburst of cheers from the throats of the 10,000 people who were assembled in the vast auditorium, each state under its banner. It was some time before the speaker could be heard.

GENERAL GORDON'S ADDRESS.

After paying an eloquent tribute to the people of Houston and the state of Texas, General Gordon said:

"The assembly of these war-scarred veterans in this war-scarred state, recalls a striking contrast in their war histories. Sixty years ago Texas won her fight for independence. Thirty years ago these ex-Confederates lost their fight for separate nationality; but Texas, victorious was not more glorious and grand than were these brave men around me in their overwhelming defeat. Texas, victorious, won her way to statehood and a place in the front rank of states. These Confederates, crushed and disbanded as soldiers, addressed themselves to the duties of citizens with a conservatism so conspicuous, a patriotism so true and broad, a fidelity to the decisions of battle so unquestioned and sincere as to challenge the confidence and esteem of patriots in every section of the union.

"This leads me to recall three remarkable achievements by these ex-confederates in peace, which impartial history will pronounce a fitting climax to their splendid record in war.

"The first is the reconstruction, mainly through your instrumentality, of the labor system of our entire section. You returned from a long, exhausting and unsuccessful struggle to find the agricultural labor of your state not only disorganized, but, as a system (to the management and control of which you were born and trained), it was utterly destroyed. Yet you heroically undertook the task of its reorganization under a new system, and of adapting yourself to that new order. The success of your efforts is the noblest commentary upon your wisdom and justice. With no power to control that hitherto servile labor, and no money to pay it, you successfully guided it to a plane of self-support and to vastly increased product of the south's great staple.

"The second in your astounding success in securing in spite of the radical revolution in the conditions around you, and in so short a period, financial independence for your families, and industrial prosperity for your section. You returned from the war poor—tens of thousands penniless—many shot and maimed; and yet bravely and uncomplainingly laboring with aid from God and your own self-reliant manhood, you have fought your way to competence, provided for your disabled comrades, until scarcely a Confederate soldier can be found deprived of the comforts of life. At the same time your combined efforts have carried these southern states to a height of material advancement from which you may now calmly look back over a land which but thirty years ago was a wide waste of desolation and ashes, and around you, over a country now happy in its rebuilt homes and redeemed farms radiant in the light of industrial resurrection; of assured prosperity and enduring material independence.

"The third achievement is the passionless, unostentatious and peaceful manner in which you laid aside the trappings and discipline of the camp for the modest garb of the citizen and silent restraints of civil government. For this marvelous exhibition of self-command under supremest trials; for this complete burial of all sectional bitterness; for the gradual but certain transmuting of your valor and devotion exhibited in defense of the flag that fell into unchallenged loyalty to the flag that triumphed; for all these evidences of the loftiest attributes of citizenship, you will yet find your reward in the universal plaudits of your countrymen as it is already secured in the power, progress and cherished freedom of our reunited republic.

"Go forward, my comrades, and by self-denial, by wise economy and well directed energy continue the material development of this heaven-blessed section until abundance shall be found in every home and the whole land shall rejoice in your industrial triumphs. Go forward in the cultivation of a national fraternity, giving no heed to imprudent or thoughtless efforts to stimulate section animosities in any quarter.

"I rejoice in the privilege of bearing to you fraternal greetings from the great body of brave men, who confronted you in battle. It has been my fortune recently to mingle with those men in every section. Be assured, my Confederate comrades, that the overwhelming majority of the Grand Army of the Republic, composed of soldiers who were brave in battle and generous in peace, courageous, knightly and true, bear toward you neither lingering bitterness nor sentiment of distrust. Whatever of untimely passion may here and there exist from any cause will be of short duration and comparatively harmless. In the presence of your continued conservatism and before the higher and nobler sentiment of the country it will vanish like vapors before the morning sun."

At the conclusion of Gen. Gordon's address the convention proceeded to business. A committee on credentials was appointed as follows: Arkansas, R. G. Showe; Georgia, R. M. Plowman; Kentucky, John Boyd; Louisiana, W. R. Lyman; Florida, Frank Phillips; South Carolina, B. H. Teague; North Carolina, Samuel Thomas; Tennessee, R. H. Dudley; Virginia, J. Taylor Ellison; Maryland, George H. Stewart; Mississippi, Colonel Goldsmith; Missouri, H. H. Newman; Texas, J. D. Shaw; Indian Territory, J. H. Galt.

A committee on resolutions was then appointed as follows: Alabama, H. L. Bridwell; Arkansas, D. H. Brawley; Georgia, N. S. Calhoun; Louisiana, John Glynn, Jr.; North Carolina, Samuel Thomas; South Carolina, J. G. Holmes; Virginia, J. Taylor Stratton; Kentucky, John Boyd; Florida, J. A. Enslow; Maryland, George H. SILVER'S OPPONENTS

Will Hold a Nonpartisan Meeting at Philadelphia.

The agitation for sound money in opposition to the demands of the silverites for free silver has met with a responsive echo in Philadelphia and on next Tuesday evening a non-partisan meeting of those arrayed against the free coinage of silver will be held in the Academy of Music. The meeting will be addressed by ex-United States Senator Edmunds, William N. Trenholm, comptroller of the currency under Cleveland's first administration, and a number of other prominent gentlemen. The letters inviting Mr. Edmunds and Mr. Trenholm to speak were signed by fifty of the leading business and professional men in Philadelphia. The names of democrats are as conspicuous among the signers of the letters as republicans, and among the democrats are William F. Harrity, chairman of the democratic national committee; William M. Singerly, proprietor of the Record, and Alexander K. McClure, editor of the Times.

"BIMETALLIC UNION."

Decided Upon by the Silver Convention at Salt Lake City.

In the silver conference at Salt Lake City, Utah, an animated debate over the name of the permanent organization was engaged in. Many delegates favored "Honest Money Union," still other "Silver Union," but Governor Prince objected to confining the movement to one of the metals, stating that the west was as favorable to gold as to silver and his motion to call the organization "The Bimetallic Union" was unanimously adopted. The following resolutions were adopted:

"Resolved 1, That an organization be created to be called the Bimetallic Union.

"2. Its object shall be to inculcate the principles of bimetallism and the restoration of the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 by the circulation of documents, the holding of meetings and other appropriate means.

"3. The union shall have an executive committee consisting of one member from each of the eleven states and territories invited to this conference, which shall have charge of its work. Three members shall constitute a quorum of this committee.

"4. Other states and territories can be connected with the union by a vote of the majority of all the members of the executive committee, and shall, therefore, be entitled to representation in the executive committee.

"5. In every state and territory connected with the union there shall be a state or territorial committee consisting of five or more members with power to fill vacancies and add to their members. These committees shall be appointed in the first place at this conference.

"6. It shall be the duty of the state or territorial committee to raise the necessary funds for carrying on the object of the union and in every proper way to aid in the furtherance of those objects.

"7. The members of the executive committee for each state or territory shall be elected annually by the state or territorial committee respectively."

The chairman appointed the following delegates to attend the Bimetallic League convention to be held at Memphis beginning June 11th next.

Ex-Governor Bradford Prince, of New Mexico; Hon. E. E. Sargeant, of Butte, Mont.; Governor Alva Williams, of Denver; Hon. C. M. Donaldson, of Oregon; Hon. Henry W. Laugenur, of Woodland, Cal.

THE BOYCOTT LIFTED.

Judge Speer Issues an Order Which Frees the Seaboard Air-Line.

The greatest sensation of the season in railroad circles was the precipitation of a stupendous lawsuit in the federal court at Macon, over which Judge Emory Speer presides, which came about Saturday morning.

Mr. Alex. King, of the law firm of King & Spalding, of Atlanta, appeared before Judge Speer and presented a bill in behalf of the Seaboard Air-Line, asking that the roads which are bound by the agreement of the Southern Railway and Steamship association be enjoined from boycotting the Seaboard Air-Line according to the order of Commissioner Stahlman.

It is a stab at the vitals of the railway organization which has placed the Seaboard under the sway of a boycotting order. It is entirely different from the suit that the Seaboard folks brought against the Western and Atlantic and the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis to enjoin these lines from the boycott. That was simply a suit for the alleged violation of the individual contract that was in force between the Seaboard Air-Line and these roads for traffic arrangements and the use of the Western and Atlantic terminals at Atlanta. That case was brought in the state courts and was heard by Judge Lumpkin, who ruled that the Western and Atlantic and the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis had a right to boycott on business created and originating beyond Chattanooga. The plaintiff filed a bill of exception to this ruling, which is now pending before the supreme court of Georgia, and it will be heard on the 28th instant. In the meantime Judge Lumpkin issued a supersedeas order binding the defendants from boycotting the Seaboard until the supreme court decided the case.

Now comes the suit against all the roads of the Southern Railway and Steamship Association, and Judge Speer has issued an order temporarily enjoining all of the lines from boycotting. This sets the Seaboard Air-Line free. Such, at least, is the temporary effect of Judge Speer's order, and the railroads of the south will have to lift their boycott until the 30th instant, the day set for the great trial to take place.

HARRISON ON THE DECISION.

His Opinion Regarding the Finding of the Court on the Income Tax.

Ex-President Harrison, in an interview upon the income tax, says: "I have not had time to regard the dispatches carefully, but I am convinced that the general effect of the decision will be good. I mean by that statement that it will be better for the country at large than the law as it stood after the last action of the supreme court—for it could not be worse under any finding.

"I am inclined to think that it will convince the people that they can expect some recognition in the administration of the affairs of the country. When the supreme court handed down an opinion some time ago, the law was in a badly mangled condition. No more unjust, pernicious, unequal and unfair measure could have been adduced by studied application than was the income tax law as it stood under the recent ruling of the supreme court. It lifted the burden from the shoulders of the bondholders and coupon clippers and placed it upon the toilers and the workers of the nation. It might have been just as fair for the government to have said to its revenue officers that they should go out and sandbag every third man they met and take his money from him. Even that would have been a more just and equitable measure than the law as it stood, for then each citizen would have a chance of escaping from the assault by not being the third man."

The Central Park Monkeys.

"There are twelve varieties of monkeys in Central park, New York city—thirty-two monkeys altogether," said Keeper Cook.

"My favorite is a Nubian baboon. He always tries to help me sweep his cage in the mornings, and fights to get the broom away from me. I give him a rap over the head and then he pretends that he's angry. But it's only a bluff. He wouldn't hurt anybody. He knows I keep apples in my pocket and he knows which pocket they are in, too, and gets them when he can. There is a Java monkey who used to ring doorbells and had to be sent here because his owner's neighbors complained of him so much. Nobody could stop him. He lived somewhere down town, and no matter how they tied him up he would break away and ring bells. He can't ring any bells now, but he is never quiet.

"Monkeys don't live long in captivity. They all die of lung trouble sooner or later. We have one that has been here years, but that is an extraordinarily long time. We have only had one monkey born here that lived. That was about four years ago, and he lived two years."

A Dog and Parrot Story.

William Winpenny, of Queen lane, was, until a few days ago, the owner of a pet parrot, which he had purchased in New Orleans several years ago. The bird was a veritable household pet, being allowed liberties that no other parrot ever enjoyed. Its constant chatter amused the members of the family, especially at meal time, when Polly was regularly placed at the table, receiving the choicest tidbits for her meals. A few days ago Polly died and was reverently buried in the yard with a little headstone to mark the grave. The next day's dinner was a mournful one for the family, Polly being sadly missed. The old house-dog, Pomp, looked on with a wistful eye, surmising that something was wrong. The instinct of the brute solved the problem, and, without more ado, he went into the garden, dug up the parrot and, carrying it into the dining-room, deposited it in its accustomed place.—Philadelphia Record.

An Apt Epitaph.

An incorrigible office-seeker died, a few years ago, and his friends asked a well-known journalist for an epitaph for his tombstone.

The journalist selected the following, which was not, however, adopted:

Passenger—Captain, can't you recommend any cure for seasickness?

Captain—Certainly, my good sir, and one that never fails. All you have to do is to lie down in the shade of a tree in full leaf, and away it goes.

After Dinner.

After the heartiest dinner a dose of TYNER'S DYSPEPSIA REMEDY will remove all unpleasant feelings, aid digestion, and build up your health. As an after dinner drink it is far superior to all other remedies, as it never disappoints, and leaves an appetite for the next meal. For sale by Druggists. Manufactured by CHAS. O. Need Clear Heads.

Working people need clear heads, sound sleep and good digestion; for if sickness comes, what then? It is cheaper to keep well. That "queer feeling" springs from indigestion. First you "pooh pooh!" Then you grow alarmed and send for the doctor. No need of that. A box of Ripans Tabules will set you right and keep you right; so you can eat, sleep and work. Ask the druggist for them.

Salvation Army to Invade China.

Another army is about to invade China, but the campaign will be conducted on different lines from that of the Japanese. The Salvation army is going to try to conquer the orient and bring the millions of Chinese into the fold of Christianity.

The leader of the movement is Fong Foo Sing, a young Chinaman, who is a member of the Salvation army in San Francisco, and who is employed as a typewriter in the office of the War Cry. He said to a reporter: "I expect that the army at the proper time will send me to China. To go to China was the object that really lead me to join the Salvation army. I wanted to do something for my country along army lines. The late war, I believe, has made China open her eyes. As a result the way will be opened for Christianity, civilization and other good things."

Captain Sing expresses himself fluently in English but uses some expressions that are peculiar.

Bicycle Riding Healthful.

Biffers—Do you think bicycle riding conducive to health?

Whiffers—Most assuredly. My health has improved wonderfully.

"But you don't ride a bicycle?"

"Who said I did?"

"But you said bicycle-riding improved your health."

"Yes, get so much exercise, you know."

"Exercise? How?"

"Dodging the bicycles."

GRESHAM IS DEAD.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE PASSES AWAY.

Hopes of His Recovery Entertained to the Last Moment.

Disease of the Lungs and Heart the Cause of Death.

Dissolution Was Painless---A Brief Sketch of His Life.

Hon. Walter Q. Gresham, secretary of state, died at his rooms in the Arlington hotel at Washington at 1.13 o'clock Tuesday morning.

During the day the secretary lay in a stupor, which was the foundation for the report which was given to the press that he was "resting easy." As soon as the physicians, however, realized that the end was approaching, the heroic measures usual in such cases were adopted. Notwithstanding their efforts, the patient sank rapidly.

At 10 o'clock Monday night the physicians acknowledged that they considered the case a hopeless one but they did not relax their efforts.

Secretary Gresham died at 1:15 o'clock. No death could be more quiet, more calm or more peaceful.

For two hours preceding dissolution there had been no indication of either a pulse or a heart beat. He lay during that time with his head resting on the arms of his daughter, Mrs. Andrews, while his devoted wife sat by his side, his hands crossing hers, his face so turned that his last conscious gaze should rest upon her. And so the minutes dragged slowly on till the end came. He was conscious to the last.

He suffered greatly during the preceding forty-eight hours, after the pneumonic symptoms were complicated with his other diseases, and was only temporarily relieved by frequent hypodermic injections. But as the end approached the suffering disappeared and he passed away as quietly as a tired child sinking to slumber.

ACUTE PLEURISY HIS DISEASE.

Dr. W. W. Johnson, who has been in daily attendance on Secretary Gresham, gave out the following statement of the case early Monday night:

"Mr. Gresham's illness has been an acute pleurisy with effusion, beginning on May 1st. From May 13th his condition was entirely favorable and his speedy recovery was confidently expected. On May 25th symptoms of relapse appeared, due to the development of acute pneumonia. His present alarming condition is due to weakness of the heart's action, and there seems to be little or no hope of his recovery."

A Sketch of His Life.

Walter Quinton Gresham was little more than sixty-five years old when his record as a soldier, jurist and statesman was closed by death. He was essentially an Indianian, though of late years claiming residence in Illinois. Born in Harrison county, Indiana, March 17, 1832, and receiving all his early education and legal training in that state, he abandoned a prosperous law practice and a membership in the state legislature in August, 1861, to throw his whole energies into the prosecution of the war for the defence of the union. His gallant and conspicuously able services in that capacity secured for him the strong friendship of General Grant and the respect of his confederate opponents, which was frequently manifested in after life.

He entered the service as lieutenant colonel of the Thirty-eighth Indiana volunteers, was brevetted brigadier general for gallantry in the siege of Vicksburg and retired as major general. In the operations before Atlanta, Ga., while commanding a division in General Frank Blair's corps, he received wounds while charging at the head of his brigade which put him in the hospital for nearly a year and to a considerable extent incapacitated him up to the end of his life. He was awarded a pension for this disability, but after he became secretary of state declined to receive it, although the constant and intense suffering resulting from those injuries undoubtedly augmented the physical ailments which contributed to his death.

He Enters Politics.

After the war closed he was brought forward prominently as a political candidate. He ran for congress in the New Albany, Ind., district in 1866 as a republican and was defeated. Then he was appointed financial agent of his state in New York city and while holding this position was selected by President Grant for appointment as United States district judge in his native state. In 1880, when one of the customary changes in the complexion of the Indiana legislature made it possible to elect a republican to succeed Mr. Jos. E. McDonald to the United States senate, Judge Gresham and Benjamin Harrison were the leading candidates for the position, and Mr. Harrison secured the election. After the death of President Garfield in 1882 Judge Gresham was tendered the position of postmaster general in President Arthur's reorganized cabinet and resigned his judgeship to accept it. When Secretary Folger died, in 1884, after his overwhelming defeat as candidate for governor of New York by Grover Cleveland, Mr. Gresham was transferred to the treasury portfolio thus vacated. The duties of a cabinet officer and the exacting requirements involved in the disposal of the patronage of one of the greatest executive departments of the government were not to his taste, and at his own request President Arthur nominated him, after barely three months' service as secretary of the treasury, to the position of circuit judge for the seventh judicial circuit, which embraces the states of Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin. He retained his position until at Mr. Cleveland's urgent personal request he joined Mr. Cleveland's second cabinet as secretary of state.

AT THE STATE DEPARTMENT.

The state department was technically closed Tuesday, admission being denied to all visitors, although the entire force of employes were kept in waiting to assist in the discharge of formalities attending upon notification to the foreign powers of the nation's loss. Acting Secretary Uhl, hollow-eyed and nervous as the result of his all-night vigil at the door of the death chamber, was early at his post engaged in the preparation of orders to be signed by the president and in frequent communication with the family of the dead secretary. Within three quarters of an hour after the end came he had dispatched brief cable messages to the four ambassadors who represent the United States abroad; to Bayard, Eustis, Runyon and McVeigh, stating that Secretary Gresham had expired at 1:15 o'clock. In addition, Mr. Eustis was directed to send a like formal announcement to all of the United States legations.

Subsequently, Mr. Uhl prepared a draft of a formal note intended to be issued to the representatives of the foreign nations accredited to Washington and also for transmission to the United States representatives abroad, conveying to them the news of Secretary Gresham's death in more formal style than could be attained in a brief cablegram.

EXECUTIVE ORDER ISSUED.

The following executive order was sent from the White House to all heads of departments:

EXECUTIVE MANSION, May 28, 1895.—To the heads of the executive departments and the government printing office: As a mark of respect to the memory of the Hon. Walter Q. Gresham, late secretary of state, the president directs that the several executive departments and the government printing office in the city of Washington be closed on Wednesday, the 29th day of May, 1895, the day of the funeral.

(Signed,) HENRY T. THURBER,
Private Secretary.

PROCLAMATION BY THE PRESIDENT.

The president issued the following:

Walter Q. Gresham, secretary of state of the United States, is dead. The president in making this distressing announcement to his fellow-countrymen speaks from the depths of a personal affliction to remind them that they too have lost a pure and able public servant, a wise and patriotic guardian of all their rights and interests, a manly and loyal American and a generous and lovable man.

As a suitable expression of natural bereavement, I direct that the diplomatic representatives of the United States in all foreign countries display the flags over their embassies and legations at half-mast for ten days; that for a like period the flag of the United States be displayed at half-mast at all forts and military posts and at all naval stations and on all vessels of the United States.

I further order that on the day of the funeral the executive departments in the city of Washington be closed, and that on all public buildings throughout the United States national flags be displayed at half-mast.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

TO RECEIVE A SOLDIER'S BURIAL.

Walter Q. Gresham will receive a soldier's burial. Except John A. Logan, of Illinois, no other man outside the regular army has ever been honored by the ordering out of United State troops to attend his funeral. The preliminary services will take place in the east room of the white house, which has witnessed some memorial obsequies, the last being the burial of President Harrison's wife, but has never before been the scene of funeral services over a cabinet officer.

There will further be this distinctive feature in the sad ceremonies—that the draperies and other accessories will be entirely military in character. The United States flag will be the chief emblem of mourning round his funeral casket. Bishop Hurst, of the Methodist Episcopal church, will conduct the services. He was a warm personal friend of the dead secretary, who himself was brought up in the Methodist faith, his father and mother belonging to that denomination. All the cabinet will be present except Secretary Carlisle, who will join the funeral cortege en route to Chicago, where it has been finally determined that the interment shall take place.

THE FUNERAL OBSEQUIES.

At 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning the remains of the late secretary of state were removed to the white house. The funeral procession, preceded by a squad of mounted police, moved slowly down Lafayette Place, flanked on either side by a line of policemen, behind whom were thousands of people, many of them with bowed and uncovered heads. Here and there a tear trickled down the cheek of one who had known and felt the kindness of him who was so soon to be laid to rest forever. The procession swept around the great bronze statue of Lafayette at the corner of the square and up the broad avenue, passed the drawn up artillery and cavalry, to the entrance of the white house grounds. Slowly it moved along the line of carriages of the diplomatic corps, members of the supreme court, officials, members of congress and other invited guests to the steps of the white house. The casket, preceded by the president and cabinet, was borne by the artillerymen to the east room, where the services took place.

The service was remarkably simple and free from ostentation. It was the full burial service of the Methodist Episcopal church, practically the same as that of the Church of England, though somewhat abbreviated. The bishop read selections from different parts of the Scripture, the thirty-ninth Psalm and the fifteenth chapter of the First Corinthians. Then a quartette stationed at one side sang sweetly Cardinal Newman's hymn, "Lead Kindly Light." Again the bishop read a few verses from the Scriptures and the funeral prayer, and then the service closed with the Lord's Prayer and a blessing.

The entire service lasted fifteen minutes. The bishop stepped to one side after inviting those who cared to do so to look upon the face of the eminent deceased.

At the conclusion of the services the funeral party with its military escort moved down Pennsylvania avenue to the Baltimore & Ohio station from which the sad journey to Chicago was to be made.

CHINA'S WAR LOAN

Will be Made by France, Germany and Russia.

The Frankfurter Zeitung (Berlin) says that France, Germany and Russia will jointly take up the Chinese war loan, and that the Rothschilds will be entrusted with the transaction. Another Berlin newspaper asserts that the German markets must remain closed unless the German financial syndicate is placed on the same footing as those of the other countries.

Sayings and Doings of the Official Heads of the Government.

The postoffice department has decided that the West India and Florida fast mail shall go by the Plant system, new west coast line, to Tampa, Key West, Havana and all intermediate points, instead of by Jacksonville. The present time from Savannah to Tampa, only twelve hours, will be reduced to ten by October 1st, although the present time is several hours quicker than heretofore.

The supreme court in a decision upholds the Pennsylvania state tax upon the gross receipts of railroads. The case came to the supreme court on a writ of error from the supreme court of Pennsylvania. The complainant was the New York, Lake Erie and Western Railroad company, which claimed that as all the business done over the road by lessee party, was interstate commerce, it was not competent for the state to tax the tolls received by the company which owned the road.

Director of the Mint Preston has made public his estimates of the production of gold and silver in the United States for 1894. They show a production slightly in excess of $40,000,000 of gold and about 48,000,000 ounces of silver. This is an increase of more than $4,000,000 in the value of the gold product and a decrease of about 12,000,000 ounces in the production of silver. The world's production of gold, it is estimated, will amount to $172,000,000, an increase of about $15,000,000 over the production of 1893.

The long discussed project of transferring the headquarters of the Knights of Labor to Washington is on the point of accomplishment. During the past week, the executive committee, consisting of Grand Master Workman J. R. Soverign, H. B. Martin, C. A. French, T. E. McGuire and J. M. Kenney, have been considering the subject of selecting a site. They finally decided upon a lot facing upon the north front of the capitol. A building permit has been secured and the contract for the erection of a handsome office building has been let.

The supreme court of the United States has decided the Geary Chinese exclusion act to be constitutional and incidentally affirmed the general right of the United States to exclude aliens of all kinds. The question came before the court in the case of Lem Moon Sing, appellant, vs. the United States. The appellant transacted business in San Francisco for a number of years, and in January, 1894, went on a temporary visit to China, with the intention of returning and continuing his residence in the United States. During his absence the Geary law of 1894 was passed.

The president has amended the civil service rules by taking all chiefs of division in the department of agriculture, of whom there are eighteen, out of the excepted class, vacancies to be filled hereafter by promotion from the corps of trained experts, or occasionally, if necessary, by the competitive examinations. Secretary Morton says the practical effect of this order will be that all places and positions in the department are brought into the classified civil service, except the secretary and assistant secretary of agriculture, and their private secretaries, the chief of the weather bureau, the chief clerk of the department and the laborers and charwomen.

The postoffice department has sent out circulars to postmasters throughout the country notifying them of the circulation of an issue of spurious two-cent postage stamps. The letter or circular is substantially as follows: "There are in circulation counterfeit two-cent ordinary postage stamps of the bureau of engraving and printing design, trigonal ornament in upper corners and of pale carmine tint. At the first look it has the appearance of more open engraving, but under a magnifying glass it will be found that this is attributable to the broken lines, instead of the continuous lines of genuine steel engraving, suggesting a recourse to the photo-lithographic process in securing the counterfeit resemblance and imprint. The counterfeits are, so far as discovered, well perforated and printed in sheets of only five wide." The postal authorities are on the watch for the counterfeiters.

FORMOSA FOR INDEPENDENCE.

The Island Establishes a Government of Her Own.

The state department at Washington has received a cablegram from Mr. Denby, U. S. minister to China, stating that the island of Formosa has declared her independence, that the powers have been so notified, and that a government, republican in form, has been established in Formosa.

This adds a new complication to the situation in the East. Before this government can recognize the Formosan independence, it must be shown that a provisional government which can stand has been organized.

There are great numbers of Japanese in Formosa, and it remains to be seen what course they will adopt.

IN EXTRA SESSION.

The Tennessee Legislature Meets at Nashville.

The Tennessee general assembly met in extra session at Nashville Monday noon. The session, which is limited to 20 days, will be occupied in the consideration of the revenue bill, the appropriation bill, the bill to erect a new penitentiary, the regulation of state banks, the establishment of a levee district in Dyer, Lake and O'Brien counties, and the question of making illegal registration of voters less frequent.

Many Dollars are Missing.

Accountants who found a shortage in J. Hull Davidson's accounts during his term as city collector of Lexington, Ky., will soon report on the office while it was under the charge of ex-State Treasurer S. G. Sharp. It is learned that the report will show about $19,000 missing. Mr. Sharp says he is ready to settle the shortage fund in his books when required to do so. This added to the $15,000 makes about $34,000 taken from the city during the terms of office of these two collectors, and the books of their predecessors have yet to be examined.

Mr. Ransom in Poor Health.

A special from Monterey, Mexico, says that Hon. Matt W. Ransom, United States minister to Mexico, arrived there two weeks ago, in very poor health, and has been taking treatment at the hot springs. He has improved very much but is still weak and will not return to his post in the City of Mexico for several days. The high altitude of the City of Mexico did not agree with him.

Confederate Monument at Louisville.

A large crowd, including many southern veterans, assembled at Louisville, Ky., Saturday to witness the ceremony of laying the corner stone of the monument to the memory of the confederate dead. The total cost of the monument will be $12,000. All the money was raised by the Kentucky Woman's Confederate Monument Association.

No Railroad Commission for Florida.

There will be no railroad commission law enacted by the present Florida legislature. Some time ago the house passed such a measure and it went to the senate, where it was indefinitely postponed. A motion to take up the measure was defeated 15 to 8, consequently there will be no commission law for the next two years anyway.

Resuming Mining Operations.

Reports received in Huntington, W. Va., from points on the Norfolk and Western road state that several of the mines have resumed operations and that more will do so in the next few days. In some instances the men seemed anxious to return to work, but in others the strikers' places were filled.

The LaGascogne Arrives.

The overdue French steamer La Gascogne arrived at New York Wednesday, three and a half days overdue. She met with exactly the same accident that caused her a ten-day detention in mid-ocean last February.

Adjutant General Appointed.

Governor Turney, of Tennessee, has appointed Charles Sykes, of Nashville, to be adjutant general. The position has been vacant since General Fite's resignation two months ago.

NEGROES KILLED BY MEXICANS.

Thirty-Two of a Colony Shot While Attempting Escape.

A party of five negroes arrived at San Antonio, Texas, Tuesday from Tiahualido, a negro colony in the state of Durango, Mexico. They confirm the report contained in recent dispatches from El Paso, Texas, of the killing of a party of the negroes who were attempting to make their escape from the colony.

Jim Crawley, formerly of Griffin, Ga., is the leader of the party of footsore pilgrims who arrived. He stated that he and the other four men with him were members of the band who, about ten days ago, attempted to escape from the colony. In relating his experiences, he said:

"All of the colonists are kept constantly under guard by Mexicans armed with guns. We were so badly treated that a band of forty of us resolved to make a break for the United States. We deserted the colony in a body and were pursued by a party of armed Mexicans, who soon overtook us and fired on us. Thirty-two of the negroes were killed and only eight escaped. None of the promises which were made us have been fulfilled and the remaining colonists will escape as soon as they can find an opportunity for doing so. The negroes there are made to work very hard and they have a big crop of cotton and corn under cultivation.

SUNDAY SCHOOL OFFICERS

Chosen By the State Convention Held in Savannah.

The following officers were elected by the Georgia State Sunday School Association in session at Savannah:

A. G. Candler, Atlanta, president; vice president, J. T. Wells, of Savannah; secretary, Fred T. Lockhardt, of Augusta; corresponding secretary, Miss Lulie B. Pitts, of Calhoun; treasurer, F. S. Etheridge, of Jackson; executive committee: W. J. Northen, of Atlanta; V. L. Stanton, of Waycross; W. S. Witham, of Atlanta; R. B. Reppard, of Savannah; J. T. Duncan, of Douglasville; William Shaw, of Atlanta; D. B. Sweat, of Waycross; T. W. Dimmock, of Carrollton; J. W. Wheatley, of Americus; P. Pelham, of Ty Ty; Thomas Moore, of Bolton; Aaron Roff, of Calhoun, J. M. Green, of Atlanta; John W. Wallace, of Augusta; M. A. Matthews, of Dalton; Alex W. Bealer, of Atlanta.

R. B. Reppard and D. B. Sweat were appointed to redistrict the state. The matter of a place for the next meeting and the time was left with the executive committee.

AT DES MOINES

Preparations Are Being Made for a Silver Convention.

Arrangements for the big silver meeting of June 5th in Des Moines, Ia., are about completed. There will be delegations from silver clubs at Sioux City, Stuart, Charlton, Dubuque, Council Bluffs, Marshalltown and other places. The afternoon meeting will be in the Young Men's Christian Association auditorium and in the evening Senator Teller, of Colorado, will deliver an address at the opera house. General Warner, of Ohio, Joseph C. Sibley, of Pennsylvania, and other leaders will attend.

INJUNCTION AGAINST STRIKES.

Troubles in Pennsylvania in the Hands of the Courts.

A temporary injunction has been granted in court at Pittsburg, Pa., restraining the miners' officials from interfering with the miners employed by the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Co., and inducing them to leave their work and strike for the district price. Among the officials named in the injunction are National President Cameron Miller, of the United Mine Workers; District President John Cairns, and District Secretary William H. Werner, and Patrick Doolan, of the district executive board.

A NEWSPAPER SOLD.

Nashville American Changes Hands and Its Policy.

Messrs. John C. Burch and James E. Allison have purchased from James M. Head the controlling interest in the Nashville American and assumed control. The paper will remain democratic, the only important change to be made in its policy being on the financial question. For some time the paper has advocated the free coinage of silver. It will, however, hereafter advocate the single gold standard.

TO THE TOMB.

THE REMAINS OF SECRETARY GRESHAM LAID TO REST,

While Federals and Confederates Join in Unveiling a Monument.

Without ostentation, as befitted his life among his people, the remains of Walter Quinton Gresham, general in the Union army, judge of the federal courts, and secretary of state of the United States, were temporarily laid to rest in Oakland cemetery at Chicago, Thursday afternoon, amid the flower-strewn graves of his comrades in arms—graves decorated by the hands of men who had fought them on the bloody battlefield—and in the shadow of the monument just dedicated in memory of the valor of those who had given their lives for the confederate [illegible]

It was a most remarkable juxtaposition. In the earlier hours of the day, federals and confederates had joined in the unveiling of a monument to the 6,000 confederates who had died in the military prison at Camp Douglas; the ex-confederate association had strewn upon the graves of the Union soldiers buried there, a mass of flowers brought from the ground over which the two had fought less than a generation ago, and the union veterans had placed upon the graves of their fallen comrades in the other cemeteries about the city the flowers which grew in their own latitude. Almost while the echoes of the volley fired over the confederate burying ground by the first regiment of the state and of the bugle blare, and "taps" were still sounding and the smoke from their rifles was still floating over the field of peace, the cortege of the dead secretary of state filed in through the gates into the cemetery.

It was remarkably fitting as a climax to the remarkable ceremonies which had just closed that the remains of the man who claimed the allegiance of both the north and the south should be laid there—the keystone to the arch of recemented friendship of which a visible sign had just been unveiled there. As a soldier he had won the respect of those who fought against him; as a jurist he had gained the love of the common people, and as secretary of state in a democratic administration, he had commanded the support of the people of the south as well as the north.

The burial services, conducted by the Rev. S. J. McPherson, of the Second Presbyterian church, were impressive but simple, consisting merely of scriptural readings, a hymn by the choir and prayer. At their conclusion, the remains were temporarily deposited in the receiving vault of the cemetery. No salute was fired, the ceremonies concluding with "taps."

The train had been held at 63rd street, and the presidential party returned to it and at once started the return trip to Washington.

Centers of Association.

Prof. Flechsig, the great Leipsic specialist for diseases of the mind, has made an important discovery about the anatomy of the brain. He finds that within the brain there are four "intellectual centers," as he calls them. These centers are all connected with one another by numerous systems of fibers. They are entirely undeveloped in the lower animals and do not begin to appear in children until they are some months old—that is to say, until the child begins to reason and to assimilate what his senses perceive.

The centers of sense—of sight, of smell, taste, hearing and touch—are fully developed in the lower animals, often more highly developed than in man. But it is the possession of these "centers of association" that places man above the other animals and gives him the power to think. Mental diseases, according to Dr Flechsig, are caused by the derangement of these centers of association. The senses remain intact; even the power of thought is preserved, but the conceptions are mixed and tangled. What is called "softening of the brain" is simply the atrophy or shriveling of the nerve fibers connecting the four centers of association.

Evening silks in the style of thirty years ago are in the height of modern fashion.

I have two little grand children who are teething this hot summer weather and are troubled with bowel complaint. I give them Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and it acts like a charm. I earnestly recommend it for children with bowel troubles. I was myself taken with a severe attack of bloody flux, with cramps and pains in my stomach, one-third of a bottle of this remedy cured me. Within twenty-four hours I was out of bed and doing my house work. Mrs. W. B. Funagan, Bon-aqua, Hickman Co. Tenn. For sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and Smith & McNeill, Jemison, Ala.

A REMEDY AGAINST FLIES

My remedy is a very simple one, said the good housekeeper, and I learned it years ago from my grandmother when I used to sit and watch her putting bunches of lavender flowers around to keep flies away My mother is simpler. I buy five cents worth of oil of lavendar at the drug store and mix it with the same quantity of water then I put it in a common glass atomizer and spray it around the room, where I sprinkle it over the table linen. the odor is especially disagreeable to flies and they will never venture in its neighborhood though to most people it has a peculiary [illegible] h and greatful smell —Detroit FreePress.

While at Peekskill, N. Y., Mr. J. A. Ferivan, a prominent manufacturer of New York City, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Such good results were obtained from its use that he sent back to the druggist from whom he had obtained it for two bottles of the same remedy. When you have a cough or cold give this preparation a trial and like Mr. Ferivan you will want it when again in need of such a medicine. It is a remedy of great worth and merit. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and McNeill & Smith, Jemison, Ala.

The question is often asked, 'why is it that so many young men will perjure themselves when called before the Grand Juries to testify about the sale of liquor? It is a sad fact that such things are done.

Surely those who do so cannot fully comprehend the meaning of their actions. They are sworn to "speak the truth, and nothing but the truth, so help me God." And yet ere their tracks are faded from the lair of the tiger or their breath cleared of the fumes of the liquor bought from the den, they swear they never bought any liquor, nor ever saw anybody else buy any from the place or of the person.

This kind of business is hardening our youth, blunting their sense of truth and honor, and, unless checked soon it will be a common thing to see in our courts the testimony of men impeached. If a man will deliberately and knowingly swear to that which is false in one thing in order to save his friends' interest, in one instance, what reason have we for thinking that he would not do so in all other instances. As we value a truthful and honorable citizenship let us all who have voice or pen denounce the crime of perjury and urge our youth to tread the paths of truth though the whole world turn against them.

Some time ago I was troubled with an attack of rheumatism. I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and was completely cured. I have since advised many of my friends and customers to try the remedy and all speak highly of it. Simon Goldbaum, San Luis Rey, Cal. Farmers Studying Finance.

When neighbor B reached his house he forgot his mail and began poring over neighbor A's questions. Sitting down at once to his task he wrote in large letter:

"CATECHISM ON FINANCE FOR PLAIN PEOPLE"

1. What is a monometalist and a bimetalist? A monometalist is one who favors a single standard, or one metal as gold or silver as the basis of currency. A bimemetalist is one who favors a double standard or two metals, as gold and silver as the basis of currency.

2. What position did the Democratic platform of 1892, on which Mr. Cleveland was elected, take on the question? It declared for bimetalism. The platform declared "we hold to the use of both silver and gold as the standard money of the country."

3. What is meant by "free coinage?" When a person owns bullion, gold or silver, and goes to the United States mint and has it coined into money free of charge, that is "free coinage."

4. Do we have "free coinage" in the United States? We have "free coinage for gold but not for silver.

5. Does the Democratic platform of 1892 declare for "free coinage" of gold and silver? Yes, on conditions. Let me quote the whole plank on currency: "We hold to the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country and to the coinage of both gold and silver without discrimination against either metal, or charge for mintage, but the dollar unit of coinage of metals must be of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value or be adjusted through international agreement, or by such safeguards of legislation as shall insure the maintenance of the parity of the two metals and the equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in payment of debts; and we demand that all paper currency shall be kept at par and redeemable in such coin. We insist upon this policy as especially necessary for the protection of the farmers and laboring classes, the first and most defenseless victims of unstable money and a fluctuating currency."

6 What is the present value of the silver dollar? About fifty-three cents.

7. What is meant by a ratio of 16 to 1? Sixteen times more silver in weight, in a silver dollar than gold in a gold dollar.

8. What is meant by international bimetalism? A double standard, gold and silver, at such ratio as the other nations will recognize. The advantage of this would be, the ratio between the two metals then be fixed and not be continually changing as the value of one metal or the other fluctuated.

9. How did the Democratic platform of 1892 stand on this question?

It favored international bimetalism as you will see by reading again the currency plank as given above. Mr. Cleveland and all true Democrats favor this.—

10. Do the free silver people favor international bimetalism? No, not unless the ratio be fixed 16 to 1. They wish to dictate what the ratio shall be.

11. What is meant by the unlimited free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and what is the objection to it? By "unlimited free coinage" is meant—the quanity of silver money to be coined shall not be limited, and I suppose it might mean also the countries from which it comes shall not be restricted.

The objection is this: Of course the mine owners of the world would rush in their silver bullion to have it coined at our mints, where a dollar's worth of bullion would put two dollars in the owner's pocket.

The country would soon be flooded with silver dollars intrinsically worth a little more than fifty cents.

The owners of gold would of course withdraw it from circulation and we would have silver monometalism. Now we can exchange a silver dollar for a gold dollar, so the silver dollar, intrinsically worth only fifty cents, passes among us for one dollar, but when it should become impossible to get the gold in exchange, the value of silver would at once be determined only by its bullion value. Money to circulate freely among the people must be intrinsically worth what its face calls for or be easily exchangeable for money which has this value

12 They speak of silver being demonetized in 1873, what do they mean by it? "Demonetize" means: "To deprive of value or withdraw from use, as currency." We all know that silver coin is money, that it has not been withdrawn from use as currency. So it has never been demonetized. In 1873 its free coinage at the mints was denied, and this is what they call its demonetization. The claim that by the denial of its free coinage it became a commodity, but it is no more a commodity now than it was before—no more than gold is now.

Silver has its bullion value and so it is gold; hence both are commodities. Does the stamp of the government determine the value of money? No. When the government buys gold coin, or takes gold for bonds even its own coin, it weighs the money and all the light weight coins are taken at their bullion value. Gold is soft and liable to wear and waste by handling. The stamp of the government can't make the wasted coin pass for its face value, if the party to whom it is offered refuses to receive it. It is good only for its bullion value if it be underweight.

14. They say that silver is the money of the poor and gold is the money of the rich, Is there any ground for such a statement?

None whatever. The poor man can get gold for his silver if he needs it, but he don't need it.

What would he do with it if he had it. He would immediately exchange it for silver or paper so that he might buy his necessities. The rich man deposits paper money, silver and gold in the bank as so much money. He seldom handles any of it. His business is transacted by the use of checks almost entirely He has far more use for silver in his small transactions than the poor man, for he buys more, hence he handles more.

When men talk about silver being the money of the poor, they are talking nonsense, and the reflecting poor man knows it.

15. Tell me about the issue of bonds by the government. Where is the necessity for it? During the war paper money (greenbacks) was issued. These notes were a promise to pay by the government to the bearer on demand. Some were made payable in gold "others in dollars" without specifying the metal, others still "in coin" and later still the "silver certificate" promised "silver dollars" in redemption. To secure the prompt payment of these notes if presented to meet the interest on the bonded indebtedness Congress requires the President and Secretary of the Treasury to keep on hand $100,000,000 in gold. It is optional with the bearer what he will take for his notes when he presents them.

Of course if it says "gold" or "silver dollars" the payment is made accordingly, but otherwise he can have what he wants. Of course he takes gold. These redeemed notes are not then destroyed, but are paid out to meet the expenses of the government. In a few days the same notes may be presented for redemption again. Of course the gold reserve in this way is constantly being lessened unless the receipts on imports are sufficient to keep it replenished. The interest on our bonds amounts to a great sum, and this must be paid in gold—for most of the bonds are held by foreigners, who want nothing but gold as interest—this is another drain on the gold reserve. When the gold reserve begins to disappear the President and the Secretary of the Treasury are compelled under the laws to get more gold.

There is no way to get it except by issuing new bonds. If Congress would change the laws, it might not be so often necessary, but as it now is the President has no discretion. Every honest man wants to keep up his credit. He can do this only by meeting his obligations promptly when due. When he does that his creditors have faith in his willingness and his ability and are ready to help him again. Every man of us is a part of the government. We ought to be enthusiastic in the support of a President who, in the face of all opposition stands out for honest money and maintains the government's credit.

16. They say the President is a friend of Wall street and speculators generally. What do you think of the charge? There is not a word of truth in it. The speculators of Wall street are terribly down on him because he opposes their robbing the treasury of its gold reserve and has taken steps to prevent it.

There never was a worse enemy to monopolies and trusts and speculators than Grover Cleveland.

That is the reason the silver mine owners, the sugar trust and most of the politians hate him.

They can't control him. He has a head of his own and does what he believes to be right. It is true that thousands of bankers and the best business men of the country regardless of party are his friends but this is because they have faith in his honesty and ability to save the country from the wreck which the politicians would bring on if they had their way.

Farmer B then folded the catechism and sent it to his neighbor, having taken all day in its preparation.—Correspondence in Marion Standard.

A FREE TRIP TO ATLANTA.

The Cotton States Exposition should be visited by every resident of Alabama. Knowing, however, that there are many people, especially in the rural districts, who can ill afford the heavy outlay necessary in order to attend this exhibition. The Advertiser has devised a plan whereby all who are willing to devote a little spare time to calling their neighbor's attention to the excellence of The Semi-Weekly Advertiser as a newspaper, can visit this display of Southern industries and resources.

Every person in the State of Alabama who will send us 100 yearly subscribers to The Semi-Weekly Advertiser at $1 each, before October 1st, 1895 will be presented with a ticket from his or her or railway station to Atlanta and return, and in addition will be given $25 in cash for the purpose of defraying his or her expenses while there

It will not be necessary to the entire 100 subscribers at once, but names can be forwarded from time to time, as they are secured, the sender stating that they are for our Cotton States Excursion prize. An accurate account will be kept with each competitor, and the announcement of the successful ones will be made as soon after October 1st as is practicable.

There is no good reason why several hundred people should not thus be able to visit the Atlanta Exposition at our expense, as The Semi-Weekly Advertiser is unquestionably the best newspaper of its class in America and the low subscription price places it within the reach of people of very limited means. It is an Alabama paper for Alabama people and in that field defies competition.

Before going to press we learn Mr. J. D. Stanfield is somewhat improved. He has been very sick for the past week. The View hopes for him a speedy recovery.

Mr. O. R. Bell has been quite ill for a week but we are glad to know that he is better and trust that he may soon be himself again.

W. I. Mullins has brought to Clanton one of the best assortment of ready made clothing ever placed on the market.

While in Topeka last March, E. T. Archer, a prominent newspaper man of La Cygne, Kan., was taken with cholera morbus very severely. The night clerk at the hotel where he was stopping happened to have a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and gave him three doses which relieved him and he thinks saved his life. Every family should keep this remedy in their home at all times. No one can tell how soon it may be needed. It cost but a trifle and may be the means of saving much suffering and perhaps the life of some member of the family. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and McNeill. The View would be pleased to see our town full of boarding pupils for next session. The young men here the past session won the esteem of our citizens by their manly bearing.

That man who doubts that last Friday and Saturday were hot days should have made the trip to Stanton with us

But it is worth a sacrifice to meet the clever citizens of Dixie and Stanton.

The crops along the way are beginning to look better. Every farmer has planted largely of corn, so that next Fall will find our county well supplied with bread. Gregory & Coe, Lumber Company is cutting more lumber than at any time of their history. Everybody was busy and happy. The furniture factory and planing mill of W. C. The Church and friends in the town of Jemison have kindly opened their hearts and homes, and propose to entertain free of charge all the Ministers who attend the Institute. The tuition will be $2.00 each for full term of two weeks. But let no one fail to attend on account of tuion; if you can't pay it come any way.

Programme.

Sunday 23rd 11 A. M. Opening sermon, J. G. Lowery.

8 P. M. Sermon, G. S. Anderson.

Monday, 10 A. M. Devotional Exercises one hour.

Rev. G. S. Anderson will deliver two lectures each day, on Sermon building or homiletics; one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

Each day's exercis will begin with a prayer and praise service. Other brethren will be expected to deliver lectures during the institutes.

It is earnestly desired that all our brethren in the ministery, who can possibly do so, will attend; and especially those whose opportunity for preparation to preach the gospel has been limited. Brethren don't miss this opportunity.

What is
CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osgood,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Kincheloe,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. Archer, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION'S PRIZE ACRE.
$500,00 in Cash for Farmers—A Handsome Reward for the Plows of 1895.

We take pleasure in presenting The Constitution's $500 offer for the farmers of 1895. The prize consists of $100 in cash for the best acre of cotton, corn, tobacco, watermelons or sweet potatoes

The announcement is made before the planting of the crop so as to enable all who will to take part in the contest.

Entries may be made up to June 1st, and by that time every contestant must enter his name with The Constitution and state which acre he will compete for.

In every circular The Constitution frankly states that the care taken in the preparation of the land, the selection of [illegible] fertilizers, a record of costs and dates of plowing and other cultivation, and a careful record of the heavy rainfalls, the periods of droughts and all the other data, giving the history of the crop from the breaking of the soil to the harvesting, will be an object lesson of vast importance to every contestant, whether he wins the prize or not. This is a practical demonstration that a farm run on the intensive plan by giving careful attention to the thorough cultivation of a few acres properly rather than the poor cultivation of a large area will be far better than a reduction of farm acreage by resolutions.

The offer is made to encourage the raising of home supplies and illustrate the south's great possibilities in agriculture and to stimulate the proper cultivation of every possible acre to a to the independence of the farmer.

The prizes will be awarded by three competent judges, recognized as high authority in agricultural matters.

The terms are breifly these: Every contestant must be a subscriber to The Weekly Constitution. He must keep a record of The Constitution's acre upon a blank, which will be furnished him free upon application. The contest is open to every southern farmer.

By special arrangement with The Constitution we offer the View with The Weekly Constitution for $1,50 or if you already have our paper, send us $1 and we will send you The Constitution one year. We are pleased to say that our neighbor in Georgia is perhaps the greatest of all American weekly newspapers. Its seventy two columns each week, which will be increased to eighty four shortly, come brim full of the latest news of the world, and many excellent features of special interest to the state, besides its well conducted departments for the farm and the household.

Every subscription recieved through us will entitle the subscriber to enter the prize acre contest as well as to guess in the $2,000 contest, closing May 1st.

This is an extraordinary opportunity to procure two good newspapers for a year, one to supply the county news in the quickest and best possible shape, and the other to bring weekly the news of the world, teeming with political current history, farmers' notes and everything else that will interest every member of the family.

You will find no better season to subscribe nor any greater offer than the present.

POCKET ELECTROPOISE.
Rev. Robert B. Morrow, of Oxford, Ala. Declares That it Has Never Failed, When Used as Directed.

I have had one of your Pocket Electropoises in my family for more than two years. I have used it for a great many different ills, and carefully noted the results. I have never seen it used as directed without great benefit. I purchased the Poise at first for my wife, who has suffered with dyspepsia all her life sometimes spitting up every meal for months. She is now entirely free from this evil, has not spit up her food from dyspepsia for two years.

There may be those who have faithfully used the Poise and received no benefit, but in my family for two years it has done all you promised for it. Yours sincerely,

Rev Robert B. Morrow,
Oxford, Ala., Dec. 25, 1894.

Chinese Boat Dwellers.

The swarming inhabitants of these floating tenements have their only homes upon the waters of the noble Peking river. The miles of closely crowded boats moving restlessly up and down stream between the green fields, resemble a huge metropolis of vast squares and avenues, river rocked cradles, where the drama of life is enacted by the thousands who glean but a scanty livelihood.

As soon as a boy born to one of these river denizens can stand upon his little feet, he is strapped to a skull or oar, and begins to go through the motions of propelling the boat, earning his living at least in theory, from the earliest age.

Whenever his hair is sufficiently long to plait into a respectable tail, he begins to manipulate chop-sticks, to hate foreigners, to understand the ring of money and in time to paddle his own small wherry and carry a foreign devil up and down the river. If he wishes to see a little of the world he may ship upon a traveling junk, not to venture, however, outside of Chinese waters, and after accumulating a few dollars he takes to himself a wife and establishes his home among the river population.—Outing.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success.

The successes achieved by men and things are not always based upon merit. But a success well merited and unprecedented in the annals of proprietary medicine, should these ever come to be written, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a botanic medicine, discovered nearly half a century ago, and the leading remedy for and preventive of malarial, rheumatic and kidney complaints, dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness.

Several knives for table use have been found in the catacombs near Athens.

To Cleanse the System

Effectually yet gently, when costive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds or fevers, use Syrup of Figs.

MONUMENT TO CONFEDERATE DEAD IS UNVEILED.

Federal and Confederate Veterans Join in the Services.

The confederate monument in Oakland cemetery, Chicago, was dedicated Thursday with probably the most impressive, elaborate and imposing ceremonies among the exercises set down for decoration day in any part of the Union.

ON THE SITE OF CAMP DOUGLAS.

At Cottage Grove avenue and Thirty-fifth street, then in the outskirts, but now in the heart of the city of Chicago, a stockade was built during the civil war and named Camp Douglas, and there many thousands of confederate prisoners were confined between the years 1862 and 1865. The men held there under the restraints which befell captives of war had spent their lives in the balmy climate of the sunny south, and the rigors of a northern winter told upon them severely.

As a consequence 6,000 of them were liberated by death and were buried in Oakwood cemetery at Cottage Grove avenue and Sixty-seventh street. It was to the memory of these 6,000 who died in a military prison in the enemy's country that the monument was dedicated by their comrades and opponents in arms, on the spot where they were buried.

WITHOUT A PARALLEL.

It is the first monument to confederate dead erected in the north and the event was perhaps without a parallel in history. It does not appear that anywhere else on the face of the globe, within a period of thirty years after the close of a bitterly fought war, the vanquished have ever before erected a monument to the memory of their comrades in arms, in the heart of the victor's territory. Especially has the sight never been witnessed of the victors heartily joining the vanquished in doing honor to the valor of the vanquished dead.

This dedication is the culmination of a movement inaugurated by the Confederate Association of Chicago. It undertook to raise the necessary funds for the erection of the monument and General John C. Underwood, a southern officer in command of the northern divisions of the United Confederate Veterans, was chosen to carry the work forward. The fund started with $1,500 from a lecture given in Chicago by General Gordon of Georgia. Citizens of Georgia also contributed $10,000 and subscriptions by Confederate veterans and others in the south brought the fund up to the necessary amount. The monument was three years under construction.

MANY DISTINGUISHED CONFEDERATES.

The largest assemblage of distinguished Confederate veterans ever seen in the north was one of the notable features of the occasion. They included Generals Gordon, Hampton, Longstreet, Lee, Fitzhugh Lee, Harry Heth, S. G. French, E. C. Walthall, M. C. Butler, L. L. Lomax, M. J. Wright, F. C. Armstrong, Eppa Hunton, Joseph O. Shelby, William H. Payne, Fayette Hewitt, C. A. Evans and Joseph H. Lewis.

Nearly all these distinguished visitors, accompanied by their wives and companions together with representatives of the Confederate Association of Washington, D. C., Camp Moultrie Sons of Veterans, of Charleston, S.C., and representative delegations from Atlanta and other points south reached the city Wednesday. They were met at the depots by comrades in arms who, preceded by them and by the local reception committee, composed of Federal and Confederate veterans and the leading professional and business men of the city with a suitable escort were driven to their hotels.

Later they attended a matinee performance at a theatre. In the evening they were welcomed to the city by Mayor Swift, General Gordon responding. This was followed by a most brilliant banquet at Kingsley's during which toasts were proposed and responded to in honor of the visiting Confederate veterans.

LIBERTY BELL RANG IN THE DAY.

The ceremonies Thursday morning began with the ringing of the Columbian liberty bell, the firing of a national salute, then a carriage parade of renowned northern and southern generals which moved under military escort to the 12th street depot, and there took trains in waiting for Oakwood cemetery, where the dedicatory ceremonies occurred.

The dedicatory ceremonies were opened with prayer by Colonel Joseph Desha Pickett, chaplain of the "Kentucky Orphan" brigade, Confederate States of America.

The dedicatory address was delivered by General Wade Hampton.

A memorial poem by Major Henry Stanton, of Kentucky, was next, and the literary portion of the day was closed with an address by Right Rev. Sam Fallows, bishop of the Reformed Episcopal church, Chicago, late general of United States volunteers.

The ceremonies of consecrating the guns and placing the floral decorations followed and the exercises closed with the firing of the three volleys over the graves of the dead by the first regiment Illinois National Guard, ending with bugle blast and "taps."

The display of flowers on the graves of the confederate and federal dead was impressive and will long be remembered.

A STEAMER WRECKED

And About Eighty of the Crew and Passengers Drowned.

A dispatch from Carril, Spain, says the Dom Pedro, bound from Pasages for Carril, struck Bajes Corrobedo last evening, and her boilers exploded, sinking her in a few minutes. A part of her passengers and crew were saved, but about eighty persons were drowned.

Wages Increased.

The Bethlehem (Pa.) Iron Company has announced an increase in the wages of furnace men from $1.26 to $1.40 per day. The reduction was made a year ago, when several furnaces went out of blast.

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE

International Conference at Chattanooga, Tenn., Beginning June 27.

The second international conference of the Epworth League is to be held in Chattanooga June 27-30th.

The function of the Epworth League in Methodist churches is similar to that of the Christian Endeavor in the Congregational and Presbyterian churches. It is the Young People's society of Methodism.

Its object is to promote and cultivate the intelligence and piety of its members, organize and employ them in works of mercy and charity, and in every possible service of usefulness in the church and society.

The League was organized in Cleveland, Ohio, May 12th, 1890.

The local organizations in the individual churches are called chapters. Of these already organized and enrolled, the number is nearly 15,000, and the aggregate membership in this one denomination is about 1,000,000 members. It has organizations in Mexico, South America, England, Ireland, Germany, Sweden, Norway and Italy; also in Japan, China and India.

The session which will be held in Chattanooga, will begin June 27, 1895, and continue four days, will embrace the Leagues of all the Methodisms of the world.

The program is in the hands of the general secretaries of the M. E. church, the M. E. church, south, and the Canadian Methodist church.

The general topic is "The Methodism of the Future." Under this general head will be discussed many interesting and important topics.

There will also be department conferences daily for the discussion of the practical work of the League in its several departments.

Great leaders, with many men of eminence, as well as a large number of the talented and promising young workers of the various Methodisms, will take part, and will make the topics of the highest interest.

The music will be a special feature of the conference. It will be under the direction of Prof. Rowland D. Williams, assisted by the Park sisters of Boston, and a chorus of 500 voices. An immense chorus of children from the public schools of Chattanooga will also participate.

The regular conference meetings will be held in the great tent capable of seating 10,000 people.

The best and most extensive arrangements with the railroads have been made, securing half rates from almost every portion of the country. Excursions to the battlefields and points of interest have been provided for, as well as side trips to Mammoth Cave and other points en route.

Chattanooga is expecting an attendance of at least 15,000 delegates, and altogether the Second International Conference at Chattanooga promises to be a most interesting occasion and a very great success.

THE SOUTH NOT IN IT.

Gov. Atkinson Says Our Section Will Not Supply a Candidate.

A New York special says: Governor William Y. Atkinson, of Georgia, who is one of the young and progressive democrats of the south, was at the Fifth Avenue hotel today, where he received a number of visitors. He came here to deliver nearly $300,000 of Georgia bonds, which draw interest at 3½ per cent per annum.

In regard to selecting a presidential candidate from the south, he declared it was not practicable and would not be for some years to come.

"Although we are a united people and loyal to the flag," he added, "I think there is a latent feeling in the north among a few that would be inimical to a candidate from the south. No man identified with the old regime in the south would be eligible. The vice presidency? Well, a vice president might be more practicable, but if he should be selected from the south the presidential candidate would have to be a strong and healthy one."

The governor said the people in his state are conservative and would not vote for any man for a third term.

"Business is fast improving," he continued, "and we are making great headway with the preparations for the Cotton States and International exposition in Atlanta. It will be larger and grander than anything we have had yet."

DEBS GOES TO JAIL.

Supreme Court Denies Writ of Habeas Corpus.

On Monday the United States supreme court denied the application of Eugene V. Debs, the strike leader, for a writ of habeas corpus. This is a victory for the government.

No more important question, with the single exception of the income tax, has come before the supreme court during the past year than the attempt of Eugene V. Debs and the other officers of the American Railway Union to secure a reversal of their sentences to jail by Judge Woods for interfering with interstate commerce and the running of the mails in the great railway strike of last summer.

The history of the case is still fresh in the public memory, but it has importance beyond the mere question of the imprisonment of the American Railway union officers, because there is largely involved the principles of the right of judges having jurisdiction of large interests by virtue of receivership created by them to prevent labor troubles through the instrumentality of injunctions. Nearly one-third of the railroad property of the United States being in the hands of receivers appointed by the federal courts, the precedent to be established has wide application.

Georgia Central's Earnings.

The Georgia Central road reports for March: Gross earnings, $399,394, a decrease of $27,473; and net, $8,837, decrease, $122,992; for the nine months to March 31st, gross $4,075,991, decrease, $289,770; and net $1,414,934, decrease $61,974.

THE PRESIDENT WRITES.

He Addresses a Letter to New York Editors.

Two hundred and twenty-seven editors and their friends were present at the banquet of the Democratic Editorial Association of the state of New York, held at Delmonico's. Senator David B. Hill occupied the seat of honor on the right of the president. The dinner began at 6:30 p. m., and it was 10 o'clock before the speaking commenced. Previous to the speaking letters expressing regret at inability to be present from President Cleveland, Postmaster General Wilson, Secretary of War Lamont and many others were read.

President Cleveland's letter was as follows:

"EXECUTIVE MANSION, Washington, D. C., May 20.—To John A. Mason, Esq., Chairman, Etc.—My Dear Sir: I regret that my official duties oblige me to decline the courteous invitation I have received to attend the annual banquet of the Democratic Editorial Association on the 24th instant.

"This reunion of democratic editors will, I am sure, be an enjoyable occasion to all who participate, but I shall be much disappointed if the fellowship and interchange of sentiment it affords do not stimulate the zeal and effort of the fraternity there assembled in behalf of the democratic cause and democratic principles.

"Our party is so much a party of power, and its proper action and usefulness are so dependent upon a constant adherence to its doctrines and traditions, that no tendency in our ranks to follow the misleading light of a temporary popular misapprehension should go unchallenged. Our victories have all been won when we have closely followed the banner of democratic principle. We have always been punished by defeat when, losing sight of our banner, we have yielded to the blandishments of undemocratic expediency.

"There is a temptation now vexing the people in different sections of the country which assumes the disguise of democratic party principles, inasmuch as it presents a scheme which is claimed to be a remedy for agricultural depression and such other hardships as afflict our fellow citizens. Thus, because we are the friends of the people, and profess devotion to their interests, the help of the members of our party is invoked in support of a plan to revolutionize the monetary condition of the country and embark upon an experiment which is discredited by all reason and experience, which invites trouble and disaster in every avenue of labor and enterprise and which must prove destructive to our national prestige and character. When a campaign is actively on foot to force the free, unlimited and independent coinage of silver by the government at a ratio which will add to our circulation unrestrained millions of so-called dollars, intrinsically worth but half the amount they purport to represent, with no provision or resource to make good this deficiency in value, and when it is claimed that such a proposition has any relation to the principles of democracy, it is time for all who may, in the least degree influence democratic thought to realize their responsibility. Our party is the party of the people, not because it is wafted hither and thither by every sudden wave of popular excitement and misconception, but because, while it tests every proposition by the doctrines which underlie its organization, it insists that all interests should be defended in the administration.

"Our party is the party of the people because, in its care for the welfare of all our countrymen, it resists dangerous schemes born of discontent, advocated by appeals to sensational or class prejudices and reinforced by the insiduous aid of private selfishness and cupidity.

"Above all, our party is the party of the people when it recognizes the fact that sound and absolutely safe money is the life blood of our country's strength and prosperity, and when it teaches that none of our fellow citizens, rich or poor, great or humble, can escape the consequences of a degeneration of our currency.

"Democratic care and conservatism dictate that if there exists inconvenience and hardships, resulting from the congestion or imperfect distribution of our circulating medium, a remedy should be applied which will avoid the disaster that must follow in the train of silver monometallism.

"What I have written has not been prompted by any fear that the democracy of the state of New York will ever be an accomplice in such an injury to their country as would be entailed by the free, unlimited and independent coinage of silver; nor do I believe they will be so heedless of party interests as to support such a movement. I have referred to this subject in the belief that nothing more important can engage the attention of the American people or the national democracy, and in the conviction that the voice of the democrats of New York, through their press, should constantly be heard in every state. Yours very truly,

GROVER CLEVELAND.

Wind-Up of the Reichstag.

More Twin and Triplet Letters.

The mail continues to bring to the white house many "twin and triplet" letters, as Private Secretary Thurber denominates them. There is little variation in the style of the epistles, and few of them close without a request for assistance. Here are extracts from three of a dozen or more which found their way into the white house waste basket recently:

"We have two children and expect another very soon. If it is a boy it will be named Grover if you will lend me $500."

"My wife noticed in the papers an account of the triplets which were christened after your family, and the outcome of the matter. She says now, how will it be with a fourth-class postmaster's children? We have two girls, which we have christened, one Ruth and the other Esther. Unfortunately we have no photographs as yet, not being able to have them taken. Any little memento will satisfy her and will be thankfully received by all the family."

"Sir: On the 12th of June, 1893, there was a boy baby born to me at my house, weighing ten pounds at birth. I was so enthused over your election and inauguration that I named my baby Grover in honor of Grover Cleveland, president of the United States. My boy will be two years old June 12, 1895, and would appreciate a present from the chief magistrate of our nation."

These begging letters, which were quite interesting at first, are getting to be tiresome as they multiply.—New York Times.

All the Women Counted.

According to the most reliable estimates, the world today contains 280,000,000 grown women. Among civilized nations the United States has actually the largest share, its feminine population being 30,554,370. Russia comes next, with an adult feminine population of 23,200,000. Then a long way after comes the German empire, with 10,930,000; Austria with 9,680,000; Great Britain, with 8,796,000; France, with 8,586,000 and Italy, with 6,850,000. Spain comes next on the list, 4,130,000 of the fair sex, and she is followed by Belgium, with 1,340,000; Roumania, with 1,260,000; Portugal, with 1,080,000, and Holland, with 1,070,000.

The countries whose adult feminine population does not reach 1,000,000 are Switzerland, which has only 690,000; Norway, which has 465,000, and Greece and Denmark, which are tied at 490,000. In this estimate it will be noted that the entire female population of the United States is given and only the number of grown women in the different countries of Europe. As a matter of fact, in proportion to its population, this country has fewer women than most of the others mentioned.

The proportion of women to men in the United States is greater in New England, where the women are in excess. It is least in the far west, where the number of men exceeds that of women. Wyoming has the smallest female population, 21,362; New York the largest, 3,020,960, while it is said that one factory in New England employs 12,000 women.—Brooklyn Citizen.

"Carrying Coals to Newcastle."

An English lady set out for Germany on a visit to some of her relatives. She took with her a handsome present, consisting of a silver urn, by way of showing her dear continental friends a specimen of British artistic skill. When the present was unpacked and carefully examined, there was found stamped in a corner the following legend: "Made in Germany."

A LIVING SHADOW.

REMARKABLE TRANSFORMATION OF A NORTH CAROLINA MAN.

Strange, but True, Story From the Lumber Regions of a Southern State—Verified by Personal Investigation.

(From the Greenville, N. C., Reflector.)

The following interview has just been given our reporter by Mr. G. A. Baker, the overseer at the farm of Col. Isaac A. Sugg, of Greenville, N. C. It will interest anyone who has ever had typhoid fever. Mr. Baker said in part:

"I was living in Beaufort County, and on the 2d day of October, 1893, I was stricken down with typhoid fever. I had the best physicians to attend me and on the 15th day of January, 1894, I was allowed to get up. I was emaciated, weak and had no appetite. I could only drag along for a short distance and would be compelled to sit down and rest. This continued for some time and I began to give up hope of ever getting well. I lost my position in Beaufort County and having secured one in Pitt County, clerking in a store, I undertook it, but was so weak I could not do the work and had to give it up. The disease settled in my knees, legs and feet. I was taking first one kind of medicine and then another, but nothing did me any good. I was mighty low-spirited. I moved out to Col. Sugg's about four or five months ago and commenced taking Dr. Williams' Pills. I took three a day for about three months. I began to regain my appetite in a week's time, and then my weakness began to disappear, and hope sprung up with a blessedness that is beyond all telling. At the expiration of the three months I was entirely cured and could take my axe and go in the woods and do as good a day's work as any man. I was troubled with dyspepsia and that has disappeared. It is also a splendid tonic for weak people. I say, Mr. Editor, God bless Dr. Williams; may he live for a long time; I know he will go up yonder to reap his reward for he has done a wonderful lot of good. Tell everybody that asks you about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People that if they will come to me I can certainly satisfy them as to their merits. I always carry a box of pills with me and when ever I feel bad I take one."

We were forcibly struck with the earnestness of Mr. Baker and his statements may be relied on.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female, and all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, (50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Extortion Eliminated by Electricity.

Every one who has ever visited Niagara Falls, remembers the exorbitant charges of hacks, elevators, tolls, admissions, etc., and congratulates himself that he escaped with his morals, even if his pockets were empty. All that extortion is soon to be done away with by the Niagara gorge electric railway, from Niagara Falls to Lewiston. The plan of the route includes all the principal points of interest on the American side—in fact, a continuous trip along the water's edge at the base of the deep river gorge, past the islands, whirlpool rapids, Devil's hole and every notable natural feature. It is proposed by this railway to charge but one fare and that not extravagant, for the round trip, to include the finest views to be had from the American side. It is expected that this electric railway will be running by the time the tourist season is at its height, and that it will attract many more visitors to this greatest of nature's wonders, especially as it will be possible to offer better rates to excursion parties from all points.

Agreed With His Cross-Examiner.

Mr. James Hyde, once a lawyer in a small town on Long Island, tells a good story about himself. He says:

"It was when I used to practice law in a little town near the center of the state. A farmer had one of his neighbors arrested for stealing ducks, and I was employed by the accused to endeavor to convince the court that such was not the case. The plaintiff was positive that his neighbor was guilty, because he had seen the ducks in the defendant's yard.

"'How do you know they are your ducks?' I asked.

"'Oh, I should know my own ducks anywhere!' replied the farmer, and he gave me a description of their various peculiarities, whereby he could readily distinguish them from others.

"'Why,' said I, 'those ducks can't be of such rare breed! I have seen some just like them in my own yard.'

"'That's not at all unlikely,' replied the farmer, 'for they are not the only ducks I have had stolen lately.'"—Indianapolis Sentinel.

The Gospel Rest.

We are at the dawn of summer; the trees have budded and leaved; the birds have builded, the violets have bloomed, and while the sun shines and the grass grows we know that we ought to be happy and as blithe as the lark.

But we are not.

The world looks blue; our feet are heavy, and the work that meant so much to us a few months ago, has become a hopeless bore.

Somebody suggests "spring fever," and some other body whispers "sarsaparilla."

Now don't.

It isn't dosing that you need, but dozing. You need rest. Nothing else. You want to let go your hold upon your little world for a while; forget your husband and the children and drift away to a land of dreams.

Never mind the housekeeping; let the boys attend to that; if they're their mother's own sons, they'll be glad to "bach it" for a while, and if the mountains or the sea shore is out of the question for mother, they'll bundle her up, and send her out into the country, if it's only a half dozen miles away, where, free from harassing cares, she will eat and sleep as she has not since girlhood.—Womankind.

All was quiet and still. The only sound was that of the ticking of the clock on the mantel.

Sh!

He heard footsteps. Some one was coming. Should he shoot? No, it was only a woman.

"Woman," he said, "if you make no sound I will not harm a hair of your head."

She looked at him fearlessly.

"You couldn't harm a hair of my head if you tried," she said.

At thirteen months old he weighed exactly what he did at birth—seven pounds. I began using "SCOTT'S EMULSION," sometimes putting a few drops in his bottle, then again feeding it with a spoon; then again by the absorption method of rubbing it into his body. Minister Ransom on Sick Leave.

Much concern is expressed by the friends of Minister Ransom, who is on his way home from Mexico on sick leave. The minister was taken ill while en route to his new post of duty, and has not been able at any time since reaching there to transact the business of the legation. He went, under advice of the officials of the department at Washington, to the hot springs at Monterey, but has evidently received no substantial benefit from the treatment of the waters there. Upon the statement of his physician that five or six weeks' stay in his native country would probably result in his complete restoration to health, the department of state has granted him sixty days' leave of absence. Minister Ransom will go direct to Asheville, in the western part of North Carolina, where it is hoped the bracing mountain air and generally salubrious climate will unite in the realization of the physician's expectation. Mr. Ransom was ill and quite feeble last winter, and it was hoped that his trip to Mexico would result in a speedy improvement of his condition.

As to Gresham's Successor.

It has been discovered that the president is not under the necessity of making an appointment to fill the vacancy caused in the office of secretary of state by the death of Secretary Gresham within thirty days, as was at first supposed.

While the statute does provide that no such vacancy can be filled by temporary appointment for a period longer than thirty days, a preceding statute, section 177, provides that, in the case of the death, resignation, absence or sickness of the head of any department, the first or sole assistant thereof shall, unless otherwise directed by the president, as provided by section 179, perform the duties of such head until a successor is appointed or such sickness or absence shall cease.

Now, in this case, it is held that Mr. Uhl, the first assistant secretary, became acting secretary without any act of the president's, and so the latter makes no temporary appointment and is not obliged to fill the vacancy in thirty days, as he would be if he did make such an appointment.

Total..........	$1,097,773,692.18

The certificates and treasury notes offset by an equal amount of cash in the treasury outstanding at the end of the month were: $573,366,743.00, an increase of $6,878,119. The total cash in the treasury was $797,473,755.45; the gold reserve was $99,151,408; net cash balances, $86,218,692.47.

In the month there was an increase in gold coin and bars of $7,692,824.18, the total at the close being $147,690,977.53. Of silver there was an increase of $769,075.57. Of the surplus there was in national bank depositories $16,483,720.80, against $16,797,027.77 at the end of the preceding month.

The comparative statement of the receipts and expenditures for the month of May shows a gradual diminution of the deficiency during the past ten days, but it is not expected that under the most favorable conditions the deficit at the end of the fiscal year can be brought much, if any, below $45,000,000. The last month of the fiscal year opens with expenditures $200,000 in excess of receipts, while the total deficit stands at $46,157,202. The May statement shows the receipts for the month to be $25,172,078, and the expenditures $28,558,113, a deficit during the whole month of $3,286,135.

TRADE REVIEW.

Bradstreet's Report of Business for the Past Week.

Bradstreet's review of business for the past week says:

"The observance of Memorial Day services served to check the volume of general trade for the past week, but there has been a further shrinkage in the amount of business transacted, due to not altogether well founded fears of serious damage to the grain crops. The bank clearings total for the week is only $833,000,000, but this is 17 per cent heavier than in the corresponding week, also one day short, in 1894. As contrasted with last week the shrinkage is 25 per cent and with the week two years ago, during the panic, 7 per cent. Compared with the last week in May, 1892, the falling off for the past week, is 18 per cent.

"The tendency of prices this week is again upward, notably so for steel and iron, which are in better demand, despite higher prices, as are cereals and cotton and leather and shoes, which, with some other staples, in all sixteen, close higher on the week. Wool continues in slow sale, interior prices being above what eastern manufacturers are willing to pay. Cotton goods remain firm on the strength of cotton, but staple cottons move slowly, as operators are still well supplied. Woolen dress goods are quiet, but the mills are said to have a good number of orders for fall delivery.

"There are some gains at the south, with improved agricultural prospects in Tennessee affecting business at Nashville, Memphis and Chattanooga. Only a moderately active demand in a few lines is reported from Atlanta, Savannah and at Jacksonville, where the vegetable crop is the largest for years. There is an improved demand at New Orleans and buyers are showing more of a tendency to anticipate wants."

FAVORS THE RECEIVER.

Injunction of the Whisky Trust Committee Refused.

Judge Showalter, in the United States court at Chicago Monday, rendered a decision in the demurrer of the reorganization committee of the whisky trust to the bill of injunction of the Central Loan and Trust company for an injunction under the bond mortgage. The court held that property in the hands of the receiver was being conserved and that it was subject to the mortgage lien, and that there was no allegation that the receiver would not conserve the property. The court, therefore, refused the injunction prayed for. The court also refused to appoint a separate receiver for the bondholders as requested, his ground for refusal being that the present receiver is taking good care of the property and should not be interfered with.

If all men were to act in accordance with their professions, what a truly good world of people we would have around us.

DEBS AGAIN.

He Issues a Circular In Regard to Judge Wood's Decision.

Eugene V. Debs, president of the American Railway Union, has addressed a circular letter to members of that organization in relation to the recent decision of the United States supreme court. The circular says:

'A cruel wrong against our great and beloved order, perpetrated by William A. Woods, United States circuit judge, has been approved by the United States supreme court; but though prison walls frown upon myself and others whom you chose as officials of your order, I assure you that neither despondency nor despair has taken the place of the course which has characterized us and our order since the storms of persecution began to beat upon us. We have not lost faith in the ultimate triumph of truth over perjury, of justice over wrong, however exalted may be the stations of those who perpetrated the outrages."

President Debs then reviews incidents leading up to and the results of the great railway strike and says:

"In Russia the victim of autocratic displeasure is denied a trial by a jury of his people. William A. Wood carried out the Russian practice. In Russia the doomed man or woman is arraigned before the supreme despot or one of his numerous satraps. Truth, justice, mercy are forever exiled. Age, sex, character, innocence, name and condition count for nothing. It is enough to know that the brave soul yearned for freedom and the penalty of exile, imprisonment, torture or death is inflicted, and it has come to this at last in the United States of America, that the law of injunction is the will of a despot, and by the exercise of this Russian power American Railway union officials go to prison, and the hope is that by the exercising of this power the American Railway union will be crushed. In this supreme juncture I call upon the members of the American Railway union to stand by their order. In God's own good time we will make the despots' prisons, where innocent men suffer, monumental."

Warning to Tourists.

A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company (London) says the sultan of Morocco has officially informed foreign representatives that the government is powerless to guarantee safety of travelers, and that foreigners going into the interior should be warned of this state of affairs.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Situation as Reported for the Past Week.

Reports from all over the south for the past week show a continuation of favorable industrial conditions. An advance of 25 cents per ton was made in the price of southern pig iron, and had a good effect on business, as was shown in an increase in buying orders. Lumber is now quite active. The falling off in the export demand has been met by large orders from the eastern and central markets, which are now keeping the mills busy. The coal miners have had an active week, and prices are well sustained. With no labor troubles to contend with in the southern field, a large demand for outputs, the future of the coal industry is encouraging. The list of new textile mills in process of organization continues to be a lengthy one. For the past week it reports a $500,000 cotton mill at Prattville, Ala., a $300,000 mill at Americus, Ga., one with $200,000 capital at Montgomery, Ala., one with $150,000 capital at Columbia, S. C., a $100,000 cotton mill at Walhalla, S. C., and a $100,000 knitting mill at Norfolk, Va., and cotton mills at High Shoals, Ala., and Athens, Ga.

There is also reported the organization at Fort Smith, Ark., of the Fort Smith Development Company to aid in industrial development, with $50,000 capital, an electric light and power company with $150,000 capital at Meridian, Miss., and wood alcohol works with $100,000 capital at Round Mountain, Ala. A gold mining company with $100,000 capital has been chartered at Scottsboro, Ala., fertilizer works with the same capital are to be built at Blacksburg, S. C., and a $70,000 ice factory is to be established at San Antonio, Tex. A coal mining company with $30,000 capital has been chartered at Birmingham, Ala., one with $20,000 capital at Dalton, Tex., and a $15,000 lumber company at Mobile, Ala.

A bone mill is reported at Dry Bridge, Va., a canning factory at Rome, Ga., a cotton compress at Birmingham, Ala., and oil mills at Crawford, Ga., and Natchez, Miss. An electric power company is to be organized at Greensboro, Ala., flouring mills are to be built at Huntsville, Ala., and Shelbyville, Tenn., a foundry at Arkadelphia, Ark., and an oil refinery at Macon, Ga. The woodworking plants for the week as reported are at Huntsville and New Hope, Ala., Athens and Savannah, Ga., Vidalia, La., Crab Orchard, Tenn., Chase City, Va., and Elkins, W. Va.

Waterworks are to be built at Buena Vista, Ga. The enlargements of the week include cotton mills at Augusta, Ga., and Piedmont, S. C., a cotton compress at Tupelo, Miss., and a foundry at Ocala, Fla. Among new buildings is a $25,000 hall at Owensburg, Ky., club house costing $75,000 and $50,000 at New Orleans, La., a $75,000 office building at New Orleans, and a $12,000 business house at Charlottesville, Va.—Tradesman (Chattanooga, Tenn.)

A TORRID WAVE

GETS IN ITS WORK AS A RECORD ANNIHILATOR.

Many Prostrations and Fatalities From the Fearful Heat.

A Washington special says: The hot wave which has hovered over the eastern and middle sections of the United States during the past few days has been a record-breaker, and the officials of the weather bureau are unable at the present time to predict any relief. There is an area of high pressure that is central over Tennessee, which has caused the present excessive heat to be so intensely felt. This high pressure, which has persistently hovered over Tennessee, is known as the "permanent high," and has been contributed to very largely by southerly winds. During the past twenty-four hours in western Pennsylvania and Maryland the temperature has not been quite so high, a falling off of from 2 to 6 degrees in the different sections of those states having been noted.

The following are some of the maximum temperatures reached: 94 at New York; 96 at Harrisburg; 96 at Philadelphia; 94 at Pittsburg; 94 at Baltimore, and 96 at Washington. At Philadelphia the record has been broken by 2 degrees. At Washington the thermometer has been even higher than 96 at this time of the year, as in June, 1874, when the temperature rose to 102—6 degrees warmer than it was Sunday. In New York city it was 3 degrees hotter during the day than on any 2nd of June in the past decade.

The southern cities east of the Mississippi river have been feeling the effects of the hot wave to a great degree. The following are the cities in which records of high temperature were made:

Vicksburg, 98—2 above.
Memphis, 98—1 above.
Chattanooga, 98—4 above.
New Orleans, 94—2 above.
Mobile, 96—1 above.
Atlanta, 98—7 above.
Augusta, 100—1 above.
Savannah, 98—1 above.
Charleston, 98—1 above.
Charlotte, 98—5 above.
Raleigh, 98—6 above.
Louisville, 98—2 above.
Indianapolis, 98—4 above.

Seventeen Deaths in Philadelphia.

The tropical heat that has prevailed since Thursday has reaped a terrible harvest of death in Philadelphia. The prostrations from the heat number several scores and on Friday there were two deaths, three Saturday and the climax was reached Sunday when seventeen persons died from heat prostration. The thermometer in the weather bureau office at its maximum at 2 o'clock Sunday registered 95 degrees, two lower than Saturday's maximum.

Fortunately the day was Sunday and the workers in the mills and factories were able to rest and seek what coolness they could. But for this the mortality would undoubtedly have been much higher than it was. Besides the seventeen there were a score of prostrations reported by the police and how many more there were in the households of many families they alone know.

Monday's Record.

From 80 to 95 degrees in the shade was the range of the temperature in Chicago Monday. From 7 o'clock a. m., the mercury began to rise steadily until the maximum was reached at 3 p. m. This was the hottest day of the year and fatalities were the most numerous. Four deaths and several serious prostrations were recorded by the police before night came to cool the atmosphere a little.

At Baltimore the terrible heat continued to hold the city in its embrace, causing deaths and prostrations in considerable numbers. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the official thermometer registered 97 degrees, the highest point reached during the day.

At Philadelphia the thermometer started out at 5 o'clock Monday morning at 75 degrees and mounted upward until at 3 p. m. it reached its maximum of 96 degrees—1 degree higher than Sunday. From that time on the mercury went slowly downward until between 7 and 8 o'clock this evening a thunder storm passed over the city and the thermometer fell 12 degrees in an hour. There were forty-five cases of heat prostration and four deaths during the day.

The weather was intensely hot at Louisville, Ky., the thermometer at the weather bureau at 2 o'clock registering 100 in the shade. Several persons were overcome by heat, but no deaths are reported.

SWIFT JUSTICE IN SPAIN.

The Captain General of Madrid Shot by an Infantry Officer.

Monday morning, at Madrid, Major Clavijo, infantry officer, walked into the office of General Primo Rivera, captain general of Madrid, whom he saluted. As he dropped his hand, after touching his cap, Major Clavijo drew a revolver and without a moment's warning fired two shots at the general, both of which took effect in the chest. General Primo Rivera fell to the floor mortally wounded and his assailant attempted to fire again, but General Aymerich, who was present, struck the assassin down with his saber. Summoning guards, he had him taken to prison.

A courtmartial was immediately summoned to consider the case of Major Clavijo found that he had a deliberate intention to kill General Primo Rivera, against whom he had a grudge. Sentence of death was passed on the major and his execution ordered to take place within twenty-four hours.

THE SEAS WERE HEAVY,

And the Colima Goes Down, Carrying Many with Her.

The San Francisco Examiner publishes the following from its correspondent at Mazatlan, Mexico:

"Mazatlan, May 31, via Galveston, May 31.—The steamer San Juan has arrived here with the twenty-one passengers picked up on Tuesday from the wreck of the steamer Colima. From the passengers your correspondent has learned some of the particulars of the dreadful disaster which they say happened on Monday noon when the Colima was about forty-eight miles out of Manzanillo and ten miles off shore. All the rescued are badly bruised. They were all picked up from pieces of wreckage and rafts, with the exception of A. J. Sutherland, who had clung to a boat after it had capsized five times and drowned all the others who attempted to escape from the wreck in it. All were afloat lashed by the fiercest gale of years and buffeted by angry seas for about twenty-four hours. The steamer was heavily laden and had a large deck load of timber."

Gunpowder.

No one knows how long gunpowder has been known to the human race. The Chinese, according to tradition, learned the secret in India as early as eighty years before Christ. The Arabs are said to have used firearms against Mecca, but for any practical purpose it was not known to civilized peoples until the year 1320, when a monk named Berthold Schwarz (Black Berthold) invented an explosive mixture which was subsequently improved until it could be used for artillery firing. During the next hundred years its use spread with great rapidity, the literature of that time being full of descriptions of the terrible effects of its explosions. Conde, an early historian, in writing of the siege of Baza in 1325, says that the attacking party had among its machines "some that cast globes of fire with resounding thunders and lightnings resembling those of a resistless tempest; all these missiles caused fearful injuries to the walls and towers of the city." England imported powder from Sweden and elsewhere until 1560, when its domestic manufacture began. At first the nitre, charcoal and sulphur were combined in equal proportions and it was not for several hundred years that chemists learned what quantities of each would give the best results.

Probably the invention of gunpowder as a factor in the growth of civilization may be classed as of equal importance with that of steam and the printing press. By its very destructiveness it has made war almost impossible.

Wilde Reported Crazy.

It is reported at London that Oscar Wilde, who was recently sentenced to two years imprisonment in Pentonville prison at hard labor, after having been convicted of gross indecency, has become insane and is confined in a padded room of the prison.

TO SELL AGAIN.

A New Order to Place the M. & N. G. Road on the Block.

A new order for the sale of the Marietta and North Georgia railroad has been signed by Judge Newman at Atlanta, and the road will have to be sold within the next sixty days. This is the second order of sale that has been signed by Judge Newman touching this road. It will probably be the final one, as the upset price will hardly be more than half the cost of constructing such a road.

The upset price will not be more than the outstanding indebtedness exclusive of the bonds. Of this indebtedness there is $167,000 due the contractor for the construction of the road, and about $500,000 receivers' certificates. The balance is due for the construction of terminals at Knoxville and for rolling stock.

LAWLER GIVES WARNING

Against the Possibility of Fraudulent Land Titles.

Thomas G. Lawler, of Illinois, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., has issued general order No. 11, to G. A. R. posts, a copy of which was received by the Indiana department at Indianapolis.

The order concerns the scheme to colonize old soldiers in Georgia, where land inducements are offered by the parties at the head of the movement.

The uncertain title of much of the land in Georgia has moved the commander-in-chief, without comment as to the merits or demerits of the proposed colonization, to urge upon the old soldiers the necessity of a clear title before investing their money. The Indiana department is spreading the order without comment.

A BREWERY BURNED.

Quarter of a Million Dollar Loss in Newark, N. J.

P. Ballantine & Sons' malthouse, grain elevator and ale and porter brewery, at Newark, N. J., were destroyed by fire Tuesday. Half an hour from the time the fire was discovered the roof of the elevator toppled out over into Fulton street, crushing trolley wires and blocking car service in that section. Shortly afterwards the wall of the malthouse fell into Passaic river along with hundreds of tons of grain. No one was injured. The estimates place the loss at $225,000.

AGREED TO DISAGREE.

Ohio Miners and Operators Settle Their Differences.

The strike of the Ohio miners is at an end. The joint conference of miners and operators held at Columbus adopted an agreement on the basis of 51 cents for pick mining in the Hocking Valley and 60 cents for thin vein mining in the Pittsburg district. The miners will all be at work within a few days.

Voluntarily Increased Their Wages.

The Carnegie Steel Company has voluntarily increased the wages of all tonnage, day and turn men in its various mills 10 per cent. About 20,000 men participate in the increase. Secretary Lovejoy, of the Carnegie company, terms the advance "a horizontal raise, which means that all included in the advance will receive an increase of 10 per cent, irrespective of his position or wages."

Denial of Marti's Death.

A letter has been received by a prominent Cuban of Jacksonville, Fla., from Havana stating positively that General Jose Marti, president of the new Cuban republic, was not dead, as reported by the Spanish government officials. The letter also stated that the report that General Maximo Gomez had been wounded was false.

Knoxville Tribune Changes Hands.

There was a sensation at Knoxville, Tenn., Monday afternoon when it became known that the Daily Tribune, one of the oldest democratic papers in the state, had been bought out by J. J. Pound, owner of The Evening Sentinel and Chattanooga News. The Tribune will be hereafter issued from the Sentinel office.

In the Hands of a Receiver.

The United States Cordage Company at Trenton, N. J., has gone into the hands of a receiver. Chancellor McGill has appointed as receiver John I. Waterbury who has qualified and given bonds in the sum of $10,000.

FOR FREE COINAGE.

SILVER CONVENTION HELD AT SPRINGFIELD, ILLINOIS.

The Platform Says Coin Both Metals at the Ratio of 16 to 1.

With every train that came into Springfield, Ill., Wednesday came large delegations of delegates to the democratic state convention. The fear of the leaders that the attendance would be small were allayed. More people came than anyone had expected and the streets were thronged with silverites from all parts of the state. Blue badges bearing the inscription "Free silver; sixteen to one," fluttered from the lapels of coats of incomers and many delegations carried banners proclaiming their belief in free coinage of silver on a basis of 16 to 1 of gold.

There was a full representation and abundant enthusiasm. Judge McConnel, of Chicago, was elected permanent chairman. Ex-Congressman Bryan's speech was the feature of the day, and he with difficulty continued on account of the applause. The platform adopted was as follows:

"Whereas, Silver and gold have been the principal money metals of the world for thousands of years and silver money recognized and used as honest money between nations, notwithstanding the varying ratios between silver and gold, and,

"Whereas, The demonetization of silver has deprived the people of the free use and benefits of an invaluable and original money metal, and has increased debts and added to the burdens of the people by lowering the value of labor products; and

Whereas, The constitution of the United States prohibits the use of anything but gold and silver coin as legal tender for the payment of debts, thereby recognizing that coin composed of silver and gold is honest money and fit to be used as a legal tender; therefore, by the democracy of Illinois, in convention assembled, be it

"Resolved, That we are in favor of the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the United States, and demand the free and unlimited coinage of both metals at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the action of any other nation, and that such coins shall be a legal tender for all debts, both public and private, and that all contracts hereafter executed for the payment of money, whether in gold, silver or coin, may be discharged by any money which is by law a legal tender.

"We hereby indorse the action of the democratic state central committee in calling this convention, and we instruct the committee to carry out the will of this convention as expressed in its platform by inaugurating and carrying on a campaign of education in this state, and to thoroughly organize the democracy of the state on the lines laid down in the platform of this convention.

"Resolved, That we request the democratic national committee to call a democratic national convention to consider the money question not later than August, 1895. If the said national committee refuses to call such a convention, then we invite the democratic state committees of the other states to take concurrent action with the democratic state convention of this state in calling such a convention.

"Resolved, That the democratic members of congress and members of the senate from this state be and are hereby instructed to use every honorable means to carry out the principles above enunciated."

Southern Railway Earnings.

For April the Southern railway earned $1,398,410, an increase of $32,098; expenses and taxes, $1,111,492, decrease $38,179, and net, $286,917, increased $70,269, and for ten months to April 30th, gross $14,400,421, increase $295,969; expenses and taxes, $9,718,389, decrease $804,300, and net $4,682,032, increase $600,269.

Coal Company Assigns.

The Jellico-Birdeye Coal Company, of Knoxville, Tenn., organized two years ago on the co-operative plan with stockholders in all parts of the south, is reported to have made an assignment. The company owes $120,000 to a bank in Louisville, Ky., and small debts aggregating $10,000 or $15,000.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY

CLANTON ALA, JUNE, 13 h 1895

At the last meeting of the Clanton Masonic Lodge the following officers were elected B. H. Cnesnut W. M., W. H. Wright, J. W., W. H. Sartor, S. W., Jno. W. Stanfield, J. D., C. J. Stewart, S. D., Capt. Middleton, Treasurer., W. I. Mullins, Secretary, Solomon Parker, Tyler. Those officers will be installed at the Baptist church on the night of June 24th. Col. H. C. Thompkins is expected to give an address on that occassion.

All good cit'zens who are fighting for law and order should take courage. The Courts of the country are speaking forth in possative tones and by the the charges of the judges and the verdicts of the juries are saying that everything possible shall be done to advance peace and good order and to suppress the violation of law. Gamblers and whiskey sellers are going to be put to hard labor in most of the counties.

While at Peekskill, N. Y., Mr. J. A Ferlven, a prominent manufacturer o New York City, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Such good results were obtained from its us, that he sent back to the druggist from whom he had obtained it for two bottles of the same remedy. When you have a cough or cold give this preparation a trial and like Mr. Ferlven you will want it when again in need of such a medicine. It is a remedy of great worth and merit. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and McNeill & Smith, Jemison, Ala.

A NATION'S CREDIT.

Mobile Registed.

A nation's credit should he as dear to the people as common mercantile credit is to the merchant who possesses it. All business is based upon credit, and even governments are upon the same basis.

No country has at command all the capital it needs in time of emergency. When war, pestilence or famine occurs, and cash on the nail is demanded, the government must borrow until it can realize upon its resources; and to be able to borrow, the country must have a reputation of being willing as well as able to pay back. The United States, for example, got into a very costly war and soon ran out of current funds. The borrowing at once began. First we borrowed from our own citizens; then of foreign peoples, and all the money we borrowed was gold or gold priced silver and we borrowed readily because despite the severe straits we were in, there was confidence in our intention to repay it in full, at its value. We do not believe the people intend to prove that confidence is misplaced.

Sometime ago I was troubled with an attack of rheumatism. I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and was completely cured. I have since advised many of my friends and customers to try the remedy and all speak highly of it. Simon Goldbaum, San Luis Rey, Cal. For sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and McNeill & Smith, Jemison, Ala.

JUMBO JOTTINGS.

Rev. W. S. Cox filled his regular appointment at Mt, Zion last Sunday.

Mr, and Mrs. J. H. Vines of Clanton visited friends and relatives here Sunday.

Prof. W. S. Garner of Montevallo spent some days here last week in the interest of a school at this place.

C, F. Williams is on a visit in Talladega.

Miss Sophie Mullins has returned from Clanton, where has been studying music.

"The good are better made by ill,
As odors crushed are sweeter still."—Samuel Rogers:

COIN'S FIRST LECTURE.

The following very able paper taken from the Chicago Times-Herald is commended to the careful perusal of all who are studying the financial question with a desire for the facts. For the sake of the general welfare, this question should be settled as soon as possible, and it must be settled right, or it never will be settled for good and all.

The correct solution of the problem is every patriot's desire The Times-Herald says:

Misstatements in Mr. Harvey's book, "Coin," stand forth prominently in the very first lecture.

Evidently the author has thought that his assertion would never be verified. Referring to the establishment of a monetary unit by this country in 1792, the following statement occurs: "Congress adopted silver and gold as money.

It then proceeded to fix the unit. * * * Among the first things they did was to make 371¼ grains of silver the unit of values. * * * Gold

Our forefathers showed much wisdom in selecting silver of the the two metals, out of which to make the unit," Mr. Harvey had evidently never seen the following quotation from Hamilton's "Report on the Establishment of a Mint" (dated May 5, 1791), whose recommendations as the first secretary of the treasury were made law April 2, 1792: "As long as gold, either from its intrinsic superiority as a metal, from its rarity, or from the prejudices of mandind, retains so considerable a pre-eminence in value over silver as it hitherto had a natural consequence of this seems to be that its conditions will be more stationary. The revolutions therefore, which may take place in the comparative value of gold and silver will be changed in the state of the latter rather than in that of the former."

Then Hamilton went on to show that to adopt a single silver standard would act "to abride the quantity of the circulating medium."

Then, when he proceeded to ascertain what should be the weight of the coins, after he had chosen the ratio of 15 to 1, he made the following very accurate statement: "That species of coin (i. e, Spanish silver dollars) has never had any settled or standard value, according to weight or fineness, but has been permitted to circulate by tale, without regard to either, very much as a mere money of convenience, whole gold has had a fixed price by weight, and with an eye to its fineness. This greater stability of value of gold coin's is an argument of force, for regarding the money unit as having been hitherto virtually attached to gold rather than to silver. Twenty four grains and six eights of a grain of fine gold have corresponded with the nominal value of the (silver) dollar in the several States, without regard to the successive diminutions of its intrinsic worth."

The writer of "Coin" evidently did not know that the only money in use before 1792 was Spanish coin

The Spanish dollars varied in weight, some of those in circulation contained 374 grains of pure silver and the latest issues only 368 grains

Consequently, the ratio of 15 to 1 having been chosen, since 24¾ grains of gold was the equivalent of a dollar, 15 times 24¾ would fix the number of grains in the silver dollar or 371¼. That is, no silver dollar existed at that time containing 371¼ grains which could be adopted as a unit, but it was created by starting from the recognized unit of 24¾ grains of gold.

It can thus be seen how absolutely ignorant "Coin" was of historical facts attending on the selection of a unit. Why did be not quote the conclusion of Hamilton's report, on which the law was founded: "That the unit in the coins of the United States ought to correspond with 24 grains and ¾ of a grain of pure gold, and with 371 grains and ¼ of a grain of pure silver, each answering to a dollar in the money of account." Therefore what does "Coin" mean by saying (p. 8) "In considering which of these two metals they would thus favor by making it the, unit they were led to adopt silver because it was the most reliable." Now the simple truth is they did not "adopt silver," and when the author of "Coin" says so he assumes that his hearers are men who know nothing. When the false assertions of this book have been thoroughly exposed it will be found that much more harm than good has been done the silver cause by its publication.

The Cotton States Exposition should be visited by every resident of Alabama. Knowing, however, that there are many people, especially in the rural districts, who can ill afford the heavy outlay necessary in order to attend this exhibition, The Advertiser has deviced a plan whereby all who are willing to devote a little spare time to calling their neighbor's attention to the excellence of The Semi-Weekly Advertiser as a newspaper, can visit this display of Southern industries and resources.

Every person in the State of Alabama who will send us 100 yearly subscribers to The Semi-Weekly Advertiser at $1 each, before October 1st, 1895 will be presented with a ticket from his or her railway station to Atlanta and return, and in addition will be given $25 in cash for the purpose of defraying his or her expenses while there

It will not be necessary to the entire 100 subscribers at once, but names can be forwarded from time to time, as they are secured, the sender stating that they are for our Cotton States Excursion prize. An accurate account will be kept with each competitor, and the announcement of the successful ones will be made as soon after October 1st as is practicable.

There is no good reason why several hundred people should not thus be able to visit the Atlanta Exposition at our expense, as The Semi-Weekly Advertiser is unquestionably the best newpaper of it's class in America and the low subscription price places it within the reach of people of very limited means. It is an Alabama paper for Alabama people and in that field defies competition.

CLANTON ALA JUNE 13 h 1895

At the last meeting of the Clanton Masonic Lodge the following officers were elected B. H. Chesnut, W. M., W. H. Wright, J. W., W. H. Sartor, S. W., Jno. W. Stanfield, J. D., C. J. Stewart, S. D., Capt. Middleton, Treasurer., W. I. Mullins, Secretary, Solomon Parker, Tyler. Those officers will be installed at the Baptist church on the night of June 24th. Col. H. C. Thompkins is expected to give an address on that occasion.

All good citizens who are fighting for law and order should take courage. The Courts of the country are speaking forth in possitive tones and by the the charges of the judges and the verdicts of the juries are saying that everything possible shall be done to advance peace and good order and to suppress the violation of law. Gamblers and whiskey sellers are going to be put to hard labor in most of the counties.

While at Peekskill, N. Y., Mr. J. A Ferlven, a prominent manufacturer o New York City, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Such good results were obtained from its use, that he sent back to the druggist from whom he had obtained it for two bottles of the same remedy. When you have a cough or cold give this preparation a trial and like Mr. Ferlven you will want it when again in need of such a medicine. It is a remedy of great worth and merit. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and McNeill & Smith, Jemison, Ala.

A NATION'S CREDIT.

Mobile Registed.

A nation's credit should be as clear to the people as common mercantile credit is to the merchant who possesses it. All business is based upon credit, and even governments are upon the same basis.

No country has at command all the capital it needs in time of emergency. When war, pestilence or famine occurs, and cash on the nail is demanded, the government must borrow until it can realize upon its resources; and to be able to borrow, the country must have a reputation of being willing as well as able to pay back. The United States, for example, got into a very costly war and soon ran out of current funds. The borrowing at once began. First we borrowed from our own citizens; then of foreign peoples, and all the money we borrowed was gold or gold priced silver and we borrowed readily because despite the severe straits we were in, there was confidence in our intention to repay it in full, at its value. We do not believe the people intend to prove that confidence is misplaced.

Sometime ago I was troubled with an attack of rheumatism. I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and was completely cured. I have since advised many of my friends and customers to try the remedy and all speak highly of it. Simon Goldbaum, San Luis Rey, Cal. COIN'S FIRST LECTURE.

The following very able paper taken from the Chicago Times-Herald is commended to the careful perusal of all who are studying the financial question with a desire for the facts. For the sake of the general welfare this question should be settled as soon as possible, and it must be settled right, or it never will be settled for good and all.

The correct solution of the problem is every patriot's desire. The Times-Herald says:

Misstatements in Mr. Harvey's book, "Coin," stand forth prominently in the very first lecture.

Evidently the author has thought that his assertion would never be verified. Referring to the establishment of a monetary unit by this country in 1792, the following statement occurs: "Congress adopted silver and gold as money.

It then proceeded to fix the unit. * * * Among the first things they did was to make 371¼ grains of silver the unit of values. * * * Gold

Our forefathers showed much wisdom in selecting silver of the the two metals, out of which to make the unit." Mr. Harvey had evidently never seen the following quotation from Hamilton's "Report on the Establishment of a Mint" (dated May 5, 1791), whose recommendations as the first secretary of the treasury were made law April 2, 1792: "As long as gold, either from its intrinsic superiority as a metal, from its rarity, or from the prejudices of mankind, retains so considerable a pre-eminence in value over silver as it hitherto had a natural consequence of this seems to be that its conditions will be more stationary. The revolutions therefore, which may take place in the comparative value of gold and silver will be changed in the state of the latter rather than in that of the former."

Then Hamilton went on to show that to adopt a single silver standard would act "to abridge the quantity of the circulating medium."

Then, when he proceeded to ascertain what should be the weights of the coins, after he had chosen the ratio of 15 to 1, he made the following very accurate statement: "That species of coin (i. e. Spanish silver dollars) has never had any settled or standard value, according to weight or fineness, but has been permitted to circulate by tale, without regard to either, very much as a mere money of convenience, while gold has had a fixed price by weight, and with an eye to its fineness. This greater stability of value of gold coin's is an argument of force, for regarding the money unit as having been hitherto virtually attached to gold rather than to silver. Twenty four grains and six eights of a grain of fine gold have corresponded with the nominal value of the (silver) dollar in the several States, without regard to the successive diminutions of its intrinsic worth."

The writer of "Coin" evidently did not know that the only money in use before 1792 was Spanish coin

The Spanish dollars varied in weight, some of those in circulation contained 374 grains of pure silver and the latest issues only 368 grains

Consequently, the ratio of 15 to 1 having been chosen, since 24¾ grains of gold was the equivalent of a dollar, 15 times 24¾ would fix the number of grains in the silver dollar or 371¼. That is, no silver dollar existed at that time containing 371¼ grains which could be adopted as a unit, but it was created by starting from the recognized unit of 24¾ grains of gold.

It can thus be seen how absolutely ignorant "Coin" was of historical facts attending on the selection of a unit. Why did he not quote the conclusion of Hamilton's report, on which the law was founded: "That the unit in the coins of the United States ought to correspond with 24 grains and ¾ of a grain of pure gold, and with 371 grains and ¼ of a grain of pure silver, each answering to a dollar in the money of account." Therefore what does "Coin" mean by saying (p. 3) "In considering which of these two metals they would thus favor by making it the unit they were led to adopt silver because it was the most reliable." Now the simple truth is they did not "adopt silver," and when the author of "Coin" says so he assumes that his hearers are men who know nothing. When the false assertions of this book have been thoroughly exposed it will be found that much more harm than good has been done the silver cause by its publication.

A FREE TRIP TO ATLANTA.

The Cotton States Exposition should be visited by every resident of Alabama. Knowing, however, that there are many people, especially in the rural districts, who can ill afford the heavy outlay necessary in order to attend this exhibition. The Advertiser has devised a plan whereby all who are willing to devote a little spare time to calling their neighbor's attention to the excellence of The Semi-Weekly Advertiser as a newspaper, can visit this display of Southern industries and resources.

Every person in the State of Alabama who will send his 100 yearly subscribers to The Semi-Weekly Advertiser at $1 each, before October 1st, 1895 will be presented with a ticket from his or her railway station to Atlanta and return, and in addition will be given $25 in cash for the purpose of defraying his or her expenses while there

It will not be necessary to the entire 100 subscribers at once, but names can be forwarded from time to time, as they are secured, the sender stating that they are for our Cotton States Excursion prize. An accurate account will be kept with each competitor, and the announcement of the successful ones will be made as soon after October 1st as is practicable.

There is no good reason why several hundred people should not thus be able to visit the Atlanta Exposition at our expense, as The Semi-Weekly Advertiser is unquestionably the best news paper of its class in America and the low subscription price places it within the reach of people of very limited means. It is an Alabama paper for Alabama people and in that field defies competition.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Our sick are all improving.

Ready made clothes from the cheapest to the best on sale by W. I. Mullins

Mr. Barnes a large Mill man of Miss was in Clanton yesterday.

Several of our young men have gone down on the river for a few days rest.

Prof Anderson called to see us last week. He has begun his 5th session with the school at Jones Switch.

An interesting meeting is in progress at the Methodist church. Dr. Claud Chilton preached two stirring sermons last Sunday, and since Monday night Rev. J. E. McCann of Verbena has been ably aiding the pastor.

Mr John Duke spent Tuesday with relatives in our city.

Mrs. Anna-Byrne Adams of Tuskaloosa is visiting her sister, Mrs. Dr. Howard.

Messrs. Jnd. Massie and Baskom McMorries spent a few days on the river more lucky than some other fishermen they caught as many as they could eat.

Mr. Wm. Adams spent Saturday and Sunday with his relatives in Clanton.

Misses Helena and Toll Erhman, and Daisy Tichnor are at home from school.

Mrs Lewis has been among her Clanton friends lately. We are pleased to see that she is enjoying good health.

Mr Sam Cates visited friends here last Sunday. We were all glad to see that farming agrees with him.

Mrs. Wm. Copeland, Mrs. Anderson, and Mrs. Croswel, of Montgomery are resting in the shades and drinking the health giving waters of Clanton.

The editor spent Monday and Tuesday in attendance on the Montgomery Circuit Court.

Wiley Rice was convicted in U. S. Courts of distilling and sent to Pentientiary in New York for one year and fined $[illegible].

Miss Anita Shackelford after some months spent in our town, has returned to her home at Dahville. She made many friends during her stay in Clanton and the desire of her patrons and pupils is, that she return and take up her music class again.

The summer is at hand and your wife and daughter need nice low cut shoes W. I. Mullins is ready to supply them.

To encourage the farmers to raise more grasses and small grain W. I. Mullins has taken the agency for McCormick's Reaper and Mowers. These machines will more than pay for themselves in a season. A sample machine [illegible].

I have two little grand children who are teething this hot summer weather and are troubled with bowel complaint I give them Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and it acts like a charm. I earnestly recommend it for children with bowel troubles. I was myself taken with a severe attack of bloody flux, with cramps and pains in my stomach, one-third of a bottle of this remedy cured me. Within twenty-four hours I was out of bed and doing my house work. Mrs. W. L. Duncan, Bon-aqua, Hickman Co. Tenn. For sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton and Smith & McNeill, Jemison, Ala.

WHISPERINGS.

"All this I tell you in whispers."
"I have sometimes felt that the burden
Of life was too heavy to bear;
And have longed to lie down at the noontide
And rest and forget all my care;
But over my heart comes the message,
Repeated again and again—
'It is better to live and to suffer,
Than to die to be rid of the pain,'

"There is rest in the darkness of dying
And end to the weary despair;
The grave holds sure peace and such silence;
No sorrow no pain can be there;
But perhaps in the struggle of living,
Is a soul that has need of my care—
Some heart may be bearing a burden
That my hand may lighten or share.

"Twould be easy to say 'I am weary'
And lie down and give up the strife,
To suffer no more with the heartache
And sorrow I meet in this life;
But perhaps from my sorrow-swept heart-strings
A melody sweet may be wrung,
And my lips when they drank deep of suffering,
The tenderest songs may have sung

"Tis so hard to be patient with living
When all the world is away;
So wearisome waiting for pleasures
That will only come after we die;
But even through all my complaining
I can hear that undying refrain—
'It is better to live and to suffer,
Than to die to be rid of the pain.'

"I will live and be strong and will suffer
If need be, till I find rest,
When life and its trials are over;
Though never my life should be blest
Though always the sun should be darkened
By the clouds that hang over my way
I trust that the light will be clear
When at last I awake 'in the day.'"

THEOLOGICAL INSTITUTE

A Theological Institute will be held with the Baptist church at Jemison Ala; on the L & N R. R. 52 miles North of Montgomery, beginning on Monday the 24th day of June next, and will continue two weeks. The Church and friends in the town of Jemison have kindly opened their hearts and homes, and propose to entertain free of charge all the Ministers who attend the Institute. The tuition will be $2.00 each for full term of two weeks. But let no one fail to attend on account of tuition; if you can't pay it come any way.

Programme:

Sunday 23rd 11 A. M. Opening sermon; J. G. Lowery.

8 P. M. Sermon, G. S. Anderson.

Monday, 10 A. M. Devotional Exercises one hour.

Rev. G. S. Anderson will deliver two lectures each day, on Sermon building or homiletics; one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

Each day's exercises will begin with a prayer and praise service. Other brethren will be expected to deliver lectures during the institutes.

It is earnestly desired that all our brethren in the ministery, who can possibly do so, will attend; and especially those whose opportunity for preparation to preach the gospel has been limited. Brethren don't miss this opportunity.

Everything needed in the line of undertakers goods for sale by W. I. Mullins

W. I. Mullins has brought to Clanton one of the best assortment of ready made clothing ever placed on this market.

While in Topeka last March, E. T Barber, a prominent newspaper man of La Cygne, Kan., was taken with cholera morbus very severely. The night clerk at the hotel where he was stopping happened to have a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and gave him three doses, which relieved him and he thinks saved his life. Every family should keep this remedy in their home at all times No one can tell how soon it may be needed. It cost but a trifle and may be the means of saving much suffering and perhaps the life of some member of the family. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and McNeill. CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. is on every wrapper.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION'S PRIZE ACRE.

$500,00 in Cash for Farmers—A Handsome Reward for the Plows of 1895.

We take pleasure in presenting The Constitution's $500 offer for the farmers of 1895. The prize consists of $100 in cash for the best acre of cotton, corn, tobacco, watermelons or sweet potatoes.

The announcement is made before the planting of the crop so as to enable all who will to take part in the contest.

Entries may be made up to June 1st, and by that time every contestant must enter his name with The Constitution and state which acre he will compete for.

In ever circular The Constitution frankly states that the care taken in the preparation of the land, the selection of [illegible] fertilizers, a record of cost and dates of plowing and other cultivation, and a careful record of the heavy rainfalls, the periods of droughts and all the other data, giving the history of the crop from the breaking of the soil to the harvesting; will be an object lesson of vast importance to every contestant, whether he wins the prize or not. This is a practical demonstration that a farm run on the intensive plan by giving careful attention to the thorough cultivation of a few acres properly rather than the poor cultivation of a large area will be far better than a reduction of farm acreage by resolutions.

The offer is made to encourage the raising of home supplies and illustrate the south's great possibilities in agriculture and to stimulate the proper cultivation of every possible acre to a to the independence of the farmer.

The prizes will be awarded by three competent judges, recognized as high authority in agricultural matters.

The terms are breifly these: Every contestant must be a subscriber to The Weekly Constitution. He must keep a record of The Constitution's acre up on a blank, which will be furnished him free upon application. The contest is open to every southern farmer.

By special arrangement with The Constitution we offer the View with The Weekly Constitution for $1,50 or if you already have our paper, send us $1 and we will send you The Constitution one year. We are pleased to say that our neighbor in Georgia is perhaps the greatest of all American weekly newspapers. Its seventy two columns each week, which will be increased to eighty four shortly, come brim full of the latest news of the world; and many excellent features of special interest to the state, besides its well conducted departments for the farm and the household.

Every subscription recieved through us will entitle the subscriber to enter the prize acre contest as well as to guess in the $2,000 contest, closing May 1st.

This is an extraordinary opportunity to procure two good newspapers for a cent, one to supply the county news in the quickest and best possible shape, and the other to bring weekly the news of the world; teeming with political current history, farmers' notes and everything else that will interest every member of the family.

You will find no better season to subscribe nor any greater offer than the present.

POCKET ELECTROPOISE.

Rev. Robert B. Morrow, of Oxford, Ala. Declares That It Has Never Failed When Used as Directed.

I have had one of your Pocket Electropoises in my family for more than two years. I have used it for a great many different ills, and carefully noted the results. I have never seen it used as directed without great benefit. I purchased the Poise at first for my wife, who has suffered with dyspepsia all her life sometimes spiting up every meal for months. She is now entirely free from this evil, has not spit up her food from dyspepsia for two years.

There may be those who have faithfully tried the Poise and received no benefit, but in my family for two years it has done all you promised for it. Yours sincerely,

The manufacture of razors by machinery has now become a fixed fact in Germany, and the quality of the article is said to compare favorably with the best Sheffield product, the process being also applicable to scissors making.

On the Belgian state railways fares are lower than anywhere else in Europe. Recently the Belgian government has made a fresh concession. For one pound sterling the traveler can obtain a ticket available for one person to travel over the entire system for a fortnight. For second-class the charge is about half as much again, and for the first-class about double.

That nursery tale which has charmed generations of children and their elders, known as "Blue Beard," was written by a French author. The original of the character of Blue Beard was a marshal of France, who lived in Brittany and who was charged with murdering several wives and over one hundred children. Being convicted of sorcery he was burned.

One of the latest theories—which is said to be receiving general acceptance—concerning the moon's face assumes that the material constituting that luminary once surrounded the earth in the form of Saturnian rings, and that the small bodies of this ring coalesced, first gathering around a large number of nuclein and finally all united in a single sphere, the moon, the lunar craters being the scars resulting from the collision of the "moonlets."

HISSED BY GIRLS.

A SENSATION AT THE GEORGIA STATE NORMAL COLLEGE.

Governor Atkinson Criticises the College Faculty.

A scene of indescribable confusion took place at the commencement exercises of the Georgia Normal and Industrial college at Milledgeville Tuesday, being the culmination of what the people of that city regard as one of the grossest outrages ever perpetrated in the history of Georgia.

The sensational spectacle was presented to an audience of nearly a thousand people of Georgia's chief executive roundly abusing the faculty of the institution.

THE GOVERNOR HISSED.

Scarcely were the words of villification out of Governor Atkinson's mouth when the audience room resounded with hisses, the audience rising from their seats and proceeding from the building, leaving the governor standing alone on the rostrum.

The story back of this scene is most interesting. It seems that Miss Emmie Spence, of Camilla, has been a member of the senior class the past year. She is a very attractive young lady, being a special favorite with the wife of President Chappell. Her scholarship was not very remarkable, however, and she experienced some difficulty in keeping up with her classes. In the final examination in Latin, she was detected by one of the teachers in cheating. The rules of the college are very strict concerning this offense, the penalty being expulsion.

The faculty took the matter under the most careful advisement. A half dozen meetings were held and what they regarded as the most indisputable evidence was produced of Miss Spence's guilt. She herself confessed her offense and was expelled and quietly sent home last week. On Sunday however, she returned with her brother. This gentleman visited the faculty and earnestly begged them to give his sister her diploma privately for the sake of mercy. The faculty regretfully refused. Then the trustees were visited, Governor Atkinson among the number.

THE GOVERNOR INTERFERES.

The same afternoon the governor left, intending to go to Savannah. At Macon he telegraphed the faculty to restore Miss Spence for his sake. Again the faculty refused. Tuesday morning the governor arrived and held a conference with Professor Chappell. He immediately called a meeting of the board of trustees, Patrick Walsh, Fleming duBignon, Dupree, Lamar and Newell being present. The proceedings of the meeting were not made known until the commencement exercises, which began at 10 o'clock, were well under way. Everything proceeded smoothly enough until the time came for Mr. Nat Harris, of Macon, to deliver the diplomas; Governor Atkinson arose to introduce him.

His first words created a startling sensation: "Young ladies," he said, "the board of trustees, and not the faculty, confer these diplomas. That is their right under the law."

The governor said only a few words, but he said enough to cause President Chappell, who was sitting just by, to look up sharply with a strange expression of surprise.

During the few moments that intervened between the introduction by the governor and the speech of Colonel Harris, the silence about the big hall was awful for those who were familiar with the preceding circumstances were aware just what the prelude of the governor meant.

One by one, after an enjoyable speech, the diplomas were handed out by Colonel Harris. As he gave each into the hands of the blushing young ladies there was a happy remark for each one. He stated that each of the diplomas was to be revised in accordance with the action of the board of trustees.

DECLARED HER A GRADUATE.

Then in a calm voice Colonel Harris read the name of Miss Emmie Spence as one of the legal graduates. The name was not off his lips, when President Chappell, who by nature is a man of great conservatism and modesty, jumped to his feet and towering with emotion, walked to the front. His face was livid.

"I wish," he announced, "in the name of the faculty of this institution, to earnestly enter a protest against the action of the board of trustees in giving Miss Emmie Spence her diploma."

Tumultuous applause greeted this announcement. In the excitement many of the people were already on their feet.

CLAIMED IT PERSECUTION.

There was nothing said in the remarks of President Chappell to show that he thought the action of the trustees was due to political influence. The applause was long.

Before it subsided Governor Atkinson, boiling with indignation, his face whiter than the wall against which his trembling figure was silhouetted, walked out. There was the silence of death about the hall as he faced President Chappell, and, in a voice of choking ire, said:

"I have known Professor Chappell long, but I never thought that he could be guilty of an act so unbecoming a gentleman and so unchivalrous as persecuting a defenseless girl."

He stopped for a second. There was no applause.

"The board of trustees were guided solely by the justice in this affair and they have stood between a gross wrong and the most absolute justice." Again the governor paused and looked about. He saw a thousand faces red with rage. There was no applause.

Again he spoke:

"The teachers of this institution cannot confer diplomas. Their terms end with this commencement, and they cannot do so under law."

Here the governor paused again. His next sentence was never finished. First the teachers, who knew that by all law it was their prerogative to issue diplomas, rose from the seats on the stage and started hastily toward the door. Then the students in a body of three hundred began to push their way through the audience to follow the teachers. Many of them gave vent to their expression of disgust in the most emphatic language.

The governor stood in amazement at such a spectacle, a blush mantled his cheeks. Gray headed men present never remembered such a spectacle of silent indignation hurled at the chief executive.

Professor Chappell stepped quietly forward and, in a few words, called back the audience, the governor meanwhile uttering some remarks the purport of which was not clearly understood.

Then Fleming duBignon asked the privilege of a word and stated that the trustees merely meant to do justice to the young lady.

THE GIRLS HISS HIM.

The benediction was pronounced and the exercises were over. But the most humiliating experience yet remained for Georgia's chief executive. Governor Atkinson has been the idol of the college at Milledgeville. The students enthusiastically supported him in their own way in his race for governor, and when he was inaugurated they moved heaven and earth to get permission to attend the exercises in a body. But on Tuesday morning, as the governor stepped from the stage, he was met by two hundred angry, tearful faces, and, ignoring all rules of courtesy, the young maids hissed him to the echo.

The senior class immediately held a session and unanimously refused to receive their diplomas from the board of trustees.

ANOTHER ROAD SCOOPED.

The Southern Gets Possession of the G. S. & F.

One of the greatest railroad scoops that has occurred for sometime is the acquisition of the Georgia Southern and Florida by the Southern railroad, announced Wednesday. This latest acquisition is one of the most important of the lines to Florida. It runs from Macon to Sanford, and its local traffic is very heavy. In addition to this, it has been an important connection at Macon of the Central railroad and the Seaboard Air-Line.

These two latter lines have been great feeders of the Georgia Southern and furnished it most of its southbound business. In return they received a great deal of northbound business, and the fact that the Southern railway has acquired the control of the road will no doubt seriously cripple the interchange of traffic at Macon with these lines.

In addition to this, the line is an important feeder of the Plant system at its various Florida points, but there will probably be no changes in its relations with this line. It is understood that the Georgia Southern will hereafter be used as a feeder for the western system of the Southern. On the line a very heavy business in fruit and lumber originates, and it is from this business that it derives its principal revenue.

The line is one of the most important competitors of the great Florida connection of the Southern, the Florida, Central and Peninsular. This latter line handles all the Florida business of the Southern from the east and its business has been interfered with by the Georgia Southern and Florida.

The line with all its branches has 390 miles of track and its purchase by the Southern practically leaves the Seaboard bottled up so far as Florida business is concerned except through Atlanta.

DISPENSER MIXSON ARRESTED.

Charged With Conspiring to Interfere With Interstate Commerce.

A big sensation was created at Columbia, S. C., Wednesday, by the arrest of Liquor Commissioner Mixson and Constable Beach at the instance of Dr. Sampson Pope, who charges them with conspiracy to interfere with interstate commerce. The case was brought by reason of the seizures of two barrels of beer shipped from Augusta, Ga., to C. J. Brick and W. F. Fuller, of Columbia.

The prisoners were taken up for a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Reid, of Newberry. Dr. Pope appeared before the complainants and asked that they be bound over for conspiracy. The assistant attorney general told the deputy marshal to consider the seized property in his possession for the purposes of this case. The state maintained that the defendants could not be held criminally liable under this act of congress.

The commissioner decided that the defendants were in contempt of Judge Simonton's order of injunction, which, he said, was now the law, and bound Mixson over to appear for trial at the November term of the United States district court in the sum of $1,000, making the constable's bond only half that amount.

A Remarkable Pulpit.

The Mechlin Cathedral pulpit is regarded as the second finest in the world, the finest having been done by the same artist for the cathedral in Brussels. The writer, who has seen both, while admitting points of superiority in that of Brussels, prefers this, which is in the cathedral at Mechlin. It is made of oak and the figures of Christ and the women are life size. The sounding board is formed by oak leaves twined with those of a grapevine. The stem of the latter rises naturally from the ground at the entrance to the pulpit, which is apparently hewn out of a rock. The preacher stands under the shadow of the leaves, the cross at his right hand. Below him and in front of the pulpit, forming a part of the base, is a horse which has thrown its rider. It looks as though some impious horseman had approached Calvary heedlessly and had been hurled to destruction over a precipice. The explanation of the design is not given by the guide at the cathedral nor in any book, so visitors and regular worshipers are at liberty to interpret it to please themselves.

The devil never worries himself much about an indifferent church member.

A TRUCE DECLARED

BOYCOTT LIFTED FROM THE SEABOARD AIR-LINE

And the Road Will Abide the Association's Rules.

There will be no more war between the Seaboard Air-Line and the associated roads of the south. An agreement was signed at Macon to that effect.

The great pow-wow over which Judge Emory Speer was called to preside turned out to be a love feast of the most pronounced type, and Vice President St. John, of the Seaboard, now beams radiant smiles upon Major Stablman, of the Southern Railway and Steamship association, and all the railroad men are happy in their exchange of the compliments of the day.

The terms of the truce are as follows:

1. The Seaboard Air-Line agrees to withdraw its litigation against the other roads on the condition that the associated roads shall withdraw the boycott against the Seaboard.

2. The association agrees to withdraw the boycott on condition the Seaboard shall restore passenger rates between Atlanta and eastern points.

3. The Seaboard agrees to restore the rates and to preserve the association's rates in the future, abiding the rules and orders of the organization.

4. There shall be a full examination of the accounts involved in the past litigation and a settlement shall be made in equity for the wrongs that have been committed on one side or the other, the Seaboard settling for the injuries it has inflicted by its irregular practices and the association coming to taw wherever it is shown that injury has been done the Seaboard.

5. The Seaboard is not held under obligation to join the association by the terms of the contract, but is bound to respect its rules and obey its obligations.

6. The passenger rates which were cut just half between Atlanta and the east by the Seaboard must be restored at once and kept at the old standard rates fixed by the legitimate adjustment of the association for years past.

7. The boycott must be lifted from the Seaboard by the associated roads at the time fixed for the contract to take effect, and the roads that form the association are held under agreement to grant to the Seaboard all the advantages of prorating in the manipulation of through business as is allowed all other lines with which these roads connect.

NEW LABOR ORGANIZATION

To be Known as the United Labor League of Western Pennsylvania.

A new labor party that will hereafter be known as the United Labor League of Western Pennsylvania was organiz[illegible]n Pittsburg, Pa., Sunday. Over 10[illegible]elegates, representing every labor organization in western Pennsylvania, met in convention and decided to amalgamate into one organization. The combined membership will be over 25,000. W. J. Smith, of the American Flint Glass Workers' Union, was elected president. The new organization will seek legislation favorable to labor and use its combined strength for the common interest of all its members. It is the ultimate intention of the new league to endeavor to have all labor organizations of this country to join the new order. If this is successful a large building will be erected in Pittsburg, where headquarters will be established. A large amount of money would thus be saved yearly.

Large Manufactory Destroyed by Fire.

The factory of the Vulcanite Manufacturing company, at Lindenhurst, L. I., has been burned to the ground. One hundred and seventy-five hands are thrown out of work. The loss is estimated at $80,000, with $40,000 insurance.

SPAIN'S APOLOGY.

She Makes Complete Disavowal in the Alliance Affair.

The state department at Washington has received from Madrid the complete and final answer of Spain to the demand of Secretary Gresham for a disavowal of the firing on the United States merchant ship Alliance. The document has been awaited for some time with interest and it was undoubtedly one of the main subjects which acting Secretary of State Uhl brought to the attention of the cabinet at the meeting held Tuesday.

The answer is most conciliatory in tone and is expressive of the fullest disavowal of the course of the commander of the Spanish gunboat which fired on the Alliance. It is said to be entirely satisfactory to this government as it fully meets in letter and spirit the demands made.

Easter Island.

Far away in the Pacific Ocean lies a lonely volcanic island, which is called Easter Island, from the fact that it was discovered on Easter day, 1722, by a navigator named Roggeveen, a Dutch Admiral. Its real name is Rapa-Nui, and its Polynesian inhabitants are fast dying out. Comparatively few explorers have visited it, and, contrary to the joyous spring name it has, is a deserted place.

What makes Easter Island of interest are the numbers of curious colossal stone heads and busts, called Moai, which abound there, evidently the work of the natives hundreds of years ago. A few of these are erect, but many have fallen.

The legend says that King Tukuihu settled in Rapa-Nui and retired into a cave where he carved and cut all the gigantic heads, which removed themselves to their present position on the island.

When he became old, he did not die, but was turned into a butterfly, which is called in that country by his name.

Tukuihu used to search for eggs in the nests of the sea birds, and when he lost his human form the chief, who wished to succeed him, agreed to search for a certain number of eggs, and the first to collect them was appointed King. It seems singular that eggs without any especial significance should have been so important on Easter Island.

Hot Water.

A prominent physician has declared that hot water is a woman's best friend. It will cure dyspepsia if taken before breakfast, and will ward off chills when she comes in from the cold. It will stop a cold if taken early in the stage. It will relieve nervous headache and give instant relief to tired and inflamed eyes. It is most efficacious for sprains and bruises and will frequently stop the flow of blood from a wound. It is a sovereign remedy for sleeplessness and in conclusion, the doctor asserts, "wrinkles flee from it and black heads vanish before its constant use."

Fate of Men Elocutionists.

The college men who are paying so much attention to oratorical associations are making a mistake. Oratory is simply elocution, and elocution has ruined many a man who might have made an honest living. As soon as a man learns to recite pieces at amateur entertainments it it about as good as settled that he will become a reform or walking delegate or something else worthless. Elocution leads to public speaking, and, as a rule, public speaking leads to anarchy, loafing and ruin. —Atchison Globe.

A Happy Woman.

At last I am a well and happy woman again; thanks to McElree's Wine of Cardui. I have suffered for four years from womb trouble of the most horrible kind. Twelve years ago I went to the San Antonio Hospital, where they performed an operation, but it left me in a worse state than ever. I went to Dr. Kingsley and Dr. D. Y. Young, but they gave me little relief. After spending $125.00 I was not able to leave my bed, and most of the time suffered pains to equal a thousand deaths. On the tenth of last October my friend Mrs. Stevens, advised me to try McElree's Wine of Cardui. The first bottle did me good, and I got more, and to-day I am a new woman; am able to do all my cooking and house-work. I am running a boarding-house and doing all the work myself. I still use the Wine, and always keep it in the house—it saved my life.

THE AMERICAN INDIAN.

There are 5,304 Indians in New York state.

The Cherokees of North Carolina number 2,885.

The word Esquimaux means "Raw Fish Eaters."

The Indian reservations amount to 212,000 square miles.

There were 249,273 Indians in this country at the last census.

All the American languages are singularly lacking in abstract terms.

Only in Mexico, Central America and Peru were there laws or courts.

In all Spanish America the Indians form the great mass of the population.

The great temple of the sun at Cuzco, in Peru, was attended by four thousand priests.

No Indian tribe north of Mexico had domesticated any animal but the dog.

The only trading Indians, at the time of the discovery, were the Huron Iroquois.

The average height and weight of Indians are no greater than of other people.

At the coming of the whites, tattooing was almost universal among the Indians.

There are few instances of full-blooded Indians entering the learned professions.

Imported diseases, such as smallpox, have been singularly fatal among the Indians.

The pictures writing of the Mexicans was a very complete system of recording events.

As a general thing, the hands and feet of Indian men are small and well-proportioned.

Many dictionaries of the Indian tongue were made by the early French and Spanish monks.

The skin of the Indian is thinner than that of either the white or the negro, and more easily torn.

The most ancient Mexican monuments display elegant taste in art and remarkable skill and execution.

The first attempt in this country to reduce the Indian languages to a system was by Smith Barton.

Most of the ancient mounds are erected on the upper river terraces, and may be 2,000 or 3,000 years old.

Like all people with whom the beard is scanty, the Indians regard it as a blemish and pluck it out.

There are said to be forty-two grammars of the ancient Mexican languages, and twenty-three dictionaries.

When the Indian earthworks do not comprise a spring within their limits there is generally an artificial reservoir.

Every Indian tribe had a collective name, generally that of the animal or object which served as the token or idol.

Mounds in the shape of men, of bears, alligators, and serpents have been found in various parts of the United States.

Facts in Few Words.

Eighty-one thousand passengers cross the English channel every month on an average.

It is now proposed in England to drive tram cars by power derived from the huge springs, which can be wound while the whole is in motion or otherwise.

A lens sixty inches in diameter has just been cast at the Standard plate glass works, in Butler, Pa. It is for the telescope of the American university at Washington.

Maxim's cavalry gun, which fires 700 shots a minute, weighs but thirty pounds, and can be strapped to a soldier's back. The gun he made for the sultan of Turkey fires 770 shots a minute, but it is a field piece on wheels.

London has maintained for many years pre-eminence in the fur trade. American and Russian buyers both visit that city to buy furs originally taken in their own respective countries. The sales amount to $20,000,000 a year.

From the top of the cathedral spire in Mexico you can see the entire city, and the most striking feature of the view is the absence of chimneys. There is not a chimney in all Mexico; not a grate, nor a stove nor a furnace. All the cooking is done with charcoal in Dutch ovens.

Mrs. Dora A. Guthrie, of Oakley, Overton Co., Tenn., writes: "When I began taking Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, I was not able to stand on my feet without suffering almost death. Now I do all my housework, washing, cooking, sewing and everything for my family of eight. I am stouter now than I have been in six years. HAMMAR PAINTS

Two gallon cans of Ready Mixed Paint contain ONE gallon of ACTUAL PAINT and one gallon of OIL (?), etc. Therefore, you pay for TWO cans, TWO freights, TWO profits for ONE gallon of real Paint; also you pay for the OIL making the other gallon, at Ready Mixed PAINT PRICES. A gallon of Hammar Paint equals TWO gallons of Ready Mixed Paint and you buy your OIL at BARREL prices. That's why it is cheapest, besides you know then what KIND of Oil your Paint is made of.

Sayings and Doings of the Official Heads of the Government.

Arrangements have about been perfected to place the employes of the government printing office under the classified service. Rules will have to be formulated in regard to the force to be employed with every session of congress upon the Congressional Record. Upon the adjournment of congress the compositors of the Record will be dropped. They will continue on the eligible list for one year, and upon the reassembling of congress can apply for reinstatement within that time.

President Cleveland and all the members of the cabinet in the city, Secretary of State Olney, Secretary Carlisle, Secretary Lamont, Attorney General Harmon and Secretary Morton, have formally accepted the invitation extended to them by the Atlanta committee to visit the Cotton States and International exposition. President Cleveland, however, will not be in Atlanta to open the exposition, as was at first planned, but he, with the members of the cabinet will be there on President's Day—October 23d.

The president has appointed Allen Thomas, who, since January, 1894, has been consul at LaGuayra, to be United States minister at Venezuela. Mr. Thomas was appointed consul almost without political support or recommendation, and his selection as minister from a number of applicants is solely due to the president's confidence in his fitness, largely based upon the acceptable manner in which he has performed his consular service, not only by a careful selection of those entering the service, but by the promotion of those who have demonstrated fitness and disposition to be useful at less important posts.

The formal announcement that General Gordon, of Georgia, would retire from public life at the end of his present term in the senate created much interest among his friends in Washington, although it was hardly received with surprise, as he has thrown out intimations to this effect for some time. They hear of the prospective closing of his memorable career, however, with genuine regret, as he is both admired and loved by those who know him. The announcement of his retirement creates considerable speculation as to his successor.

Sending Warships to Florida's Coast.

Officials of the state and navy departments have, for several days, been considering the advisability of sending a warship to guard the Florida coast to prevent the fillibustering expeditions from leaving the United States for Cuba, but an embarrassing question arose to prevent immediate action. By ordering a vessel to guard that point of the coast line it was feared that this government might place itself in the position of being held responsible by Spain for neglecting not having done so before. Such action, it was contended, would be a virtual acknowledgement that the United States have failed to do their duty toward the Spanish government, with which they are in friendly relations. It was also feared that even if Spain did waive the right to claim damages for previous neglect by this country, embarrassment would likely arise if any fillibustering expeditions succeeding in evading the patrol. Late Monday evening Secretary Herbert settled all doubt as to the course to be taken by this government by issuing orders to the Raleigh to proceed at once to Key West, Fla. She will be retained there to watch for fillibusters and see that no more expeditions leave this country for Cuba with contraband or men for the insurgents.

Charged With Importing Clerks.

The United States bureau of immigration served summons on George A. SILVER MASS MEETING Held in New Orleans Starts the Ball in Louisiana.

The silver mass convention held in New Orleans Monday evening started the silver movement in Louisiana with a big boom. It was far more successful than anticipated, and its members organized a bimetallic league on an efficient basis and will go to work at once to organize the silver forces of the state for work.

The call for the convention was published only five days before, and there was just time to get it in circulation in the country parishes, and everything had to be done hurriedly. There was no silver or bimetallic league in the state, and the convention was decidedly a popular one.

The resolutions which were offered were far more comprehensive and full than those adopted in most bimetallic conventions that have been held. They called for individual action on the part of the United States in favor of the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. They demanded that all contracts made hereafter should be payable in lawful money of the United States. They pointed out how the present policy of the government had resulted in the increase of the public debt in a time of peace, and had forced the issuance of bonds; and they pointed out how bimetallism would not only benefit the south and the country, but restore and develop trade. Two hundred delegates were chosen to represent Louisiana in the bimetallic convention held in Memphis. Many of the parishes, however, in electing delegates to the New Orleans convention also chose them to the Memphis convention.

The success of the convention is recognized on all sides, and it is generally believed that it will force the democracy of the state to adopt the free silver plank. It was distinctly a nonpolitical convention, that is, the politicians had little part in calling it. There were a great many prominent leaders present, but this was due to the fact that they saw the strength of the silver movement in Louisiana and hastened to get in line with it. This is especially the case in regard to the political leaders in New Orleans, who remained silent on the silver question to the last moment.

OHIO MINERS

Ratify the Agreement and Vote to Return to Work.

The vote of the Ohio mine owners as to whether they would accept or reject the proposition of the operators to pay 51 cents for screened coal per ton for mining resulted: For acceptance, 5,091; against, 4,351. Majority, 740.

The State Minners' officials say in their circular to the miners of Ohio:

"You will thus see that the provisional agreement made between the operators and delegates on June 1, 1895, has been ratified and accepted by the popular vote of the district. This makes the agreement valid. Locals will govern themselves accordingly, and will resume work under the provisions of said agreement.

"It must be borne in mind that, distasteful as the terms of this agreement are, we have hopes of its being only binding in so far as the circumstances continue which forced its acceptance. If those circumstances change, which we are in hope of, we expect that better terms will be within our probabilities ere long."

Secretary McBride, of the National Association, says the Ohio Miners acted wisely in accepting the offer of the operatives, and that if the Pittsburg miners will do as well they will be in position to take an advanced step by the time the fall trade opens.

FIGHT IN OKLAHOMA.

Two Men Killed and One Man Severely Wounded.

News has reached Guthrie, Okla., of a desperate battle between the Miller and McElroy factions in the Creek reservation. Dr. Bland and George McElroy, leader of the McElroy side, were killed and Jim Miller wounded. There has been trouble between these factions for half a dozen years and eight or ten men have been killed during that time. Bruce Miller was assassinated in an Ingalls saloon two weeks ago.

GOFF IS OVERRULED

INJUNCTION AGAINST SOUTH CAROLINA IS DISSOLVED.

The Registration Law of the State is Constitutional.

The celebrated South Carolina registration case was decided in the United States court of appeals at Richmond, Va., Tuesday. The state was a winner. Judge Goff's famous injunction is dissolved and the original bill will be dismissed. The decision of the court was announced by Judge Hughes. An outline of the court's position was given. Judge Hughes submitted a strong individual opinion and the order reversing Judge Goff was entered at once. None of the counsel who took part in the argument were present. Judge Hughes, in a decision, said:

"This case was heard by the chief justice, Judge Seymour and myself, on Friday last. We thought it was of a character to call for an early decision and it was decided, after adjournment on Friday, that the decision should be announced today and a decree entered. The case was exhaustively argued at the bar, and nothing can be gained by waiting a further time for the examination of the briefs. We are of the opinion that the injunction which was granted in the case ought to be dissolved and the bill dismissed. A decree to that effect will be entered at once. The opinion of the court on the important questions presented by record will be prepared by the chief justice and filed and reported as soon as practicable. Meantime a brief statement of the grounds of the decision, prepared by the chief justice, is now filed."

ACREAGE GREATLY REDUCED

According to Reports From All Over the Cotton Belt.

The result of the special investigation made by the department of agriculture at Washington in 720 cotton growing counties shows that in 88 there will be little or no change in acreage as compared with last year; five report increase of 10 per cent and less; two an increase of from 11 to 20 per cent; four an increase of from 21 to 30 per cent and less; 250 a decrease of from 11 to 20 per cent; 158 a decrease of from 21 to 30 per cent; 44 a decrease of from 31 to 40 per cent; 7 a decrease of from 41 to 50 per cent, and 5 a decrease of over 50 per cent.

The consolidated returns of reports to the statistical division for the month of June show the state percentages of acreage as compared with last year's as follows: North Carolina, 81; South Carolina 84; Georgia, 85; Florida, 95; Alabama, 89; Mississippi, 88; Louisiana, 87; Texas, 85; Arkansas, 89; Tennessee, 81; Missouri, 75; Indian Territory, 91; Oklahoma, 90; Virginia, 73.

The acreage for the United States is 85.2, a reduction of 24.8 per cent upon the revised acreage given out in May for 1894.

The average condition of the crop for June 1st is as follows: North Carolina, 61; South Carolina, 72; Georgia, 82; Florida, 92; Alabama, 85; Mississippi, 88; Louisiana, 85; Texas, 79; Arkansas, 89; Tennessee, 87; Missouri, 89; Indian Territory and Oklahoma, 70; Virginia, 67.

The general average for the country is 81 against 88.3 last year and 85.6 in 1893.

FAILED TO IMPEACH.

Mayor of New Orleans Wins a Decided Victory.

At New Orleans Monday morning the court of appeals read its decision in the case of the state against Mayor John Fitzpatrick, of New Orleans. It will be remembered that Mayor Fitzpatrick was tried on charges prefered by the citizens' committee and that he was acquitted by Judge King. The citizens' committee appealed the case to the court of appeals. That court sustains Judge King's decision in every point.

DISAGREEABLY SURPRISED

Was the German Government Over Russia's Coup.

A dispatch from Berlin, Germany, says: The news of the Franco-Russian loan of $80,000,000 to China has proved to be a disagreeable surprise both to the government and to the leaders of the financial circles, who had been relying upon official action to secure a large share of the Chinese loan for Germany. Immediately upon receiving news of the Russian coup, the members of a German syndicate, of which the Royal Schandlund is head, communicated with the financial department of the government upon the prospects of Germany's securing the main indenity loan, which will amount to $150,000,000 or $200,000,000, and negotiations were also resumed by the syndicate with the London Rothschilds on the question of the co-operation of English bankers in the scheme. The syndicate has received prompt assurance that the government will intervene to obtain for Germany a share in such further financial arrangements as China may require, as the $80,000,000 now guaranteed by Russia covers only the indemnity to Japan for the surrender of the Liao Tung peninsular.

LEAGUE OF PRESS CLUBS

Meet in Historic Independence Hall at Philadelphia.

For the first time since its abandonment by the Philadelphia city council, the doors of the historic room in Independence hall, which for years was used as the chamber of commerce, were thrown wide open Tuesday morning to the delegates to the fifth annual convention of the International League of Press Clubs. Over one hundred delegates and alternates assembled there at 10 o'clock, and were met by Mayor Warwick, who welcomed the visiting journalists to the "City of Brotherly Love."

Mr. Clark Howell, of Atlanta, Ga., president of the league, eloquently responded. Among the delegates were many representatives from the women's press clubs of the country, among whom was Mrs. Loulie M. Gordon, of Atlanta, Ga., one of the vice presidents of the international league, and who is a zealous worker in the march of progress which has characterized the great metropolitan city of the south.

THE PRESIDENT ACCEPTS

An Invitation to Visit the Cotton States Exposition.

A delegation from Atlanta waited upon President Cleveland Tuesday for the purpose of inviting him to be present at the opening of the Cotton States and International exposition next fall. Mr. Cleveland responded by saying that it would give him great pleasure to visit Atlanta and the exposition, and that he would visit the exposition the latter part of October, unless something unforeseen intervened to make it impossible. Arrangements were made between the president and the exposition delegation under which the president will leave Washington the evening of October 21, arriving in Atlanta the following day. October 23rd will be designated as president's day at the exposition, and Mr. Cleveland will visit on that day.

AGNEW TO BE ARRESTED.

Charged With Using Funds Belonging to Depositors.

United States Deputy Marshal Smith left Sanford, Fla., Monday night for Ocala with a warrant for the arrest of E. W. Agnew, president of the First National Bank of Ocala, which failed three weeks ago, charging him with converting to his own use certain funds belonging to depositors of the bank. Agnew is one of the richest men in Ocala and was pictured as one of the principal characters of the novel, "The Tragedies of Oakhurst." He will be tried in the United States court in Jacksonville on July 1st. The liabilities of Agnew's bank are nearly $300,000. The nominal assets are about $200,000, but the actual assets are far less.

Spain Means Business.

Special dispatches from Madrid state that preparations are under way to have 40,000 troops ready to sail for Cuba in August, besides 10,000 men who will start for the island next month. The senate has passed a bill authorising the government to raise 600,000,000 pesetas should that amount be necessary to put down the insurrection.

PACKWOOD MURDER CASE

Will Be Again Brought Before the Florida Courts.

The celebrated Packwood murder case, in which Irving Jenkins, Marian Clinton and W. A. McRae were convicted, was reversed in the Florida supreme court at Tallahassee Monday, Chief Justice Mabry delivering the opinion. The Packwoods were murdered in Volusia county in December, 1891. The case was brought up on writ of error from Lake county circuit court.

On December 12, 1891, in a lonely spot seven miles below New Smyrna, on the Hillsboro river, Adelaide Bruce, her little nephew, Frankie Packwood, son of F. J. Packwood, of New York, and Mrs. J. Hatch and little son, neighbors who were spending the night, were murdered. Miss Bruce was shot, her throat cut and face crushed in. The throats of the two children were cut. Mrs. Hatch was simply shot. F. J. Packwood, who owned the place, was in DeLand, forty miles away, at the time. His little son was left in charge of his sister-in-law, Miss Bruce. Packwood was a New Yorker, but had lived in Florida some years.

IOWA POPULISTS MEET.

A Straight Populist Ticket Will Be Nominated.

The delegates to the populist state convention were slow in assembling at Des Moines, Ia., Tuesday, and it was after 11 o'clock when Chairman R. G. Scott, of the state central committee, called the assemblage to order. There was an attendance of over 400. The temporary chairman spoke for forty minutes, roundly denouncing the two old parties for their duplicity on the money question and their subserviency to trusts, corporations and the money power. At the close of the address the regular committees were appointed and a recess was taken.

The committees on resolutions and on permanent organization are in the hands of the anti-Weaver wing and it is positively certain that the convention will nominate a straight populist ticket on the Omaha platform, with free silver as a minor issue. There are no candidates for the nominations. When the convention assembled at 1:45 o'clock E. H. Gillette was made permanent chairman.

A BREWERY BURNED.

Quarter of a Million Dollar Loss in Newark, N. J.

P. Ballantine & Sons' malthouse, grain elevator and ale and porter brewery, at Newark, N. J., were destroyed by fire Tuesday. Half an hour from the time the fire was discovered the roof of the elevator toppled out over into Fulton street, crushing trolley wires and blocking car service in that section. Shortly afterwards the wall of the malthouse fell into Passaic river along with hundreds of tons of grain. No one was injured. The estimates place the loss at $225,000.

LEWIS REDWINE DISCHARGED.

He Goes from the Hospital Back to the Office.

Lewis Redwine, the bank wrecker of Atlanta, Ga., who has been in the hospital at Columbus, O., since May 5th, has been discharged and returned to his position in the secretary's office in the Ohio penitentiary. When Redwine was admitted to the hospital it was thought he would never leave it alive, as he gave every evidence of being in the last stages of consumption. His case has attracted a great deal of attention and a strong effort is being made to secure his release.

CAMPOS ISSUES STRICT ORDERS.

People of Santiago de Cuba Must Keep Close at Night.

The military governor of Santiago de Cuba has issued an order prohibiting the people of that city or the inhabitants of towns and villages in the province from leaving for the open country between sunset and sunrise. Any person disregarding this order will be shot by the troops.

The Mortgage Signed.

At a meeting of the reorganization committee of the Georgia Southern and Florida Railroad Company at Baltimore Tuesday, the mortgage to secure $1,000,000 5 per cent gold bonds upon the line was executed and signed. It will be recorded in the states of Georgia and Florida, through which the roads run.

MINERS ENTOMBED.

Nearly Five Hundred of Them Shut Up in a Mine.

A cable dispatch from Berlin says: An explosion of fire damp occurred in a mining pit near Antonienhutte, Prussia, Sunday, in which 500 men were at work. Only forty have been rescued, leaving 460 entombed.

Tennessee's Senate Passes a Bill Drawn for That Purpose.

The Tennessee senate has passed the house levee bill, which creates a levee district out of parts of Lauderdale, Lake and other counties.

Increase of 10 Per Cent.

The Knoxville, Tenn., Iron Company has posted notices of an increase of 10 per cent of wages of all employes.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Situation as Reported for the Past Week.

Reports of industrial conditions in all part of the south received for the past week show that the recent advance in the price of iron is well sustained and has led to a 10 per cent. increase in wages on the part of the Pioneer Mining and Manufacturing Company, one of the largest mine and furnace operators in the Birmingham district. It is expected that other mine operators will follow this example. In addition to the two steel working establishments, one at Bessemer and the other at Birmingham, now under way, there is announced the organization at Sheffield, Ala., of the Sheffield Coal, Iron and Steel Company, with $1,500,000 capital, controlled by Pennsylvania iron and steel workers, who intend to thoroughly develop the resources of the southern coal and iron fields, and also to establish steel works. Coal mining is now very active, and no labor troubles are experienced. The Flemington Coal and Coke Company has been chartered at Flemington, W. Va., with $1,000,000 capital, and a coal mining company with $200,000 capital has been organized at Thacker, W. Va.

The interest in textile mills built by southern capital continues to be very active. For the past week there is reported the incorporation of a cotton mill with $200,000 capital at Charleston, S. C.; of one with $150 000 capital at Athens, Ga.; one with $50,000 capital at Prosperity, S. C.; and others at Graham, Goldsboro and Mt. Holly, N. C., and Bolton, Texas, and a cotton and woolen mill at Cartersville, Ga. A large bleachery and dye works is in process of organization at Augusta, Ga.

As the cotton season approaches renewed interest is shown in the establishment of new cotton and oil mills. Oil mills each with $50,000 capital are to be built at Atlanta and Ft. Gaines, Ga., and one to cost $30,000 at Rome, Ga., and one costing $12 000 at Spartanburg, S. C. Other oil mills are to be built at Columbus, Ga., Natchez, Miss., and Brandon, Texas, and a cotton oil refinery at Meridian, Miss. Among other important new industries organized or incorporated during the week are fertilizer works at Charleston, S. C., with $250,000 capital; development companies, each capitalized at $200,000, at Bay St. Louis and Brookhaven, Miss.; a tobacco factory, with $100,000 capital, at Richmond, Va., and horse shoe works with $24,000 capital at Orlando, Fla.

Recent advances in prices in lumber are well sustained and have caused an increase in the number of new mills. During the past week there was reported the organization at Meridian, Miss., of the Mutual Lumber company, $1,000,000 capital, of cooperage works to cost $100,000 at Greenville, Miss., and others at Darlington, S. C., and of lumber companies, each with $50,000 capital, at Grafton and Parsons, W. Va.—Tradesman (Chattanooga, Tenn.)

A NOTABLE DINNER.

It was Cheap, and Prepared by a Social Economist.

There was a notable dinner party given at the Washington residence of Charles Sumner Hamlin, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, a few nights ago, at which there were fourteen guests. The host was Mr. Edward Atkinson, of Boston, the famous social economist, who did all the cooking in the dining room in the presence of his guests, upon a stove of his own invention, and the entire cost of the banquet was $2.80, or 20 cents per plate—without wines, of course.

Mr. Atkinson is at work these days trying to solve the problem of cheap living so that the expenses of the working classes may conform, without the sacrifice of health or comfort, to the low wages that he expects to be the rule in this country when Congress adopts his theories of free trade. He believes that almost every family wastes half the money spent for food, and that double the amount of nourishment can be got in a much more wholesome form by a proper selection of their viands and their preparation for the table. To educate the public in this particular he is publishing bulletins of information through the Agricultural Department, and has invented a stove which consumes oil for fuel and will furnish heat enough to cook an ordinary dinner for a cent or two. This stove and its apparatus have been patented, but the patents have been conveyed or assigned to the Secretary of Agriculture, who is authorized to permit its manufacture and sale by such persons as will not attempt to make too much profit therefrom.

Those who sat down to dinner were Mr. Hamlin and his two sisters, Secretary and Mrs. Carlisle, Secretary Morton, Secretary and Mrs. Gresham, Mrs. Bissell, Mr. Kurino, the Japanese Minister; Mr. Atkinson and his daughter and Miss Lee, of Boston. The bill of fare was follows:

Fish chowder.
Roast leg of lamb and green peas.
Baked beans and Boston brown bread.
Fricassee of chicken and asparagus.
Cold baked ham and salad.
Indian pudding.

The asparagus was not included in the $2.80. It probably cost more than that sum by itself, as it was very fine and of hothouse growth and a contribution to the dinner by a friend. The beans, ham and Boston brown bread were cold, having been cooked by Mr. Atkinson in his room at the hotel on Saturday, but all the rest was prepared upon one of the stoves by himself, and he explained his methods of cooking to his guests as he went along. While they were eating one course Mr. Atkinson would be cooking another over in the corner of the room. There was not the slightest odor or smoke from the stove—no more than from a pot of water at a 5 o'clock tea—and everything was wholesome and greatly enjoyed.

Chinese Boat Dwellers.

The swarming inhabitants of these floating tenements have their only homes upon the waters of the noble Peking river. The miles of closely crowded boats moving restlessly up and down stream between the green fields resemble a huge metropolis of vast squares and avenues, river-rocked cradles where the drama of life is enacted by the thousands who glean but a scanty livelihood.

As soon as a boy born to one of these river denizens can stand upon his little feet he is strapped to a scull or oar, and begins to go through the motions of propelling the boat, earning his living at least in theory from the earliest age.

Whenever his hair is sufficiently long to plait into a respectable tail he begins to manipulate chopsticks, to hate foreigners, to understand the ring of money, and in time to paddle his own small wherry and carry a foreign devil up and down the river. If he wishes to see a little of the world he may ship upon a traveling junk, not to venture, however, outside of Chinese waters, and after accumulating a few dollars he takes unto himself a wife and establishes his home among the river population—the Paris of China.

IT is indeed a bad flock that has not one good sheep in it.

Mr. Felix Wooyard is harvesting his oat crop. Off of one and a half acres of ordinary land he gathered about 2 tons which at the present market price would be about $34.

One day and a half of time was consumed in planting, and about the same time in cutting and harvesting, which together with the cost of the seed and the use of the land would be about $6,50, the entire cost, which shows a net profit of $27.50. On the same land he proposes to plant peas which will run his profits up to near $50.

Close calculation as to a cotton crop on the same land would only give him about $12,50. Oats and peas are fighting for the king hip and Old Cotton is trembling.

While at Peekskill, N. Y., Mr. J. A Scriven, a prominent manufacturer of New York City, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Such good results were obtained from its use that he sent back to the druggist from whom he had obtained it for two bottles of the same remedy. When you have a cough or cold give this preparation a trial and like Mr. Scriven you will want it when again in need of such a medicine. It is a remedy of great worth and merit. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and McNeill & Smith, Jemison, Ala.

The ministers of Birmingham preached last Sunday upon the sin of gambling. Social card playing was heavily scored. Judge Garrett, one of the ablest members of the Birmingham bar, in an address at the Methodist church cited Supreme Court decisions to show what a public place was. "Any place where people congregate for the purpose of engaging in playing cards" A private parlor, or a bed room comes under that head if people congregate there for the purpose of engaging in card playing. Dr. Hale quoted Judge Catron as saying that "Gambling is a general evil that leads to vicious inclinations, destruction of morals, abandonment of industry and honest employment self respect, and frauds, perjury and thefts, all of which make up the black catalogue of its crime." Dr. Barbour said: "The gambler is an insult and offense to every honest honest man. So far from being a producer, he is a weight and a stigma on his fellows, subtracting from the substance of the world and giving no return. He is a traitor to the fundamental principles of our republican society by which every freeman claims his neighbor's respect, because he is a contributor to the commonwealth.

2. Worse than this, gambling is an assault upon the property of another. Gambling is robbery.

Gambling is not a gentleman's game. That can never be distinctively a gentleman's game, which is distinctively the badge and tool of a gambler." Dr. Hale opposed the police raiding negro rooms and catching them in their 5 cent games, while the whites in the parlors, bed rooms etc., were allowed to play on unmolested. He voiced a growing sentiment in that position. If it is wrong in principle or practice for negroes to gamble in their bed rooms it is equally wrong for the whites to engage in similar games.

Sometime ago I was troubled with an attack of rheumatism. I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and was completely cured. I have since advised many of my friends and customers to try the remedy and all speak highly of it. Simon Goldbaum, San Luis Rey, Cal. "The Somethingest Something in Man."

Evangelist John Bass Shelton selected for the text of his leading sermon while in Prattville the 14th chapter, 12th verse of Paul's Epistle to the Romans. "So every one of us shall give account of himself to God." It is customary for every professional expounder of the Gospel to select a verse from the Holy Scripture and for this reason was selected the text as the most applicable one to the sermon which followed. But the real theme chosen and announced by Evangelist Shelton on last Sunday morning was an unique and ungrammatical one, "The Somethingest Something in Man," or that will power which lifts mankind above and distinguishes him from the brute.

From the eloquent and practical sermon of the Evangelist may be called some good advice which, if applied to this secular life, will aid in reaching that goal toward which it is presumed that every human is striving, the goal of success. Industry, perseverance and determination are essential to success, and these elements make many of the so called geniuses of this world.

If we will apply the powers within us, the possibilities of accomplishments are unlimited. We are more the master of circumstances than circumstances are the master of us. We should get rid of the ancient superstition of fatalism and feel that within ourselves are the causes of success and failure. Let us in all our undertaking know no such word as failure and let us exercise that indomitable force the will power, or the "somethingest something in man."

The Evangelist gave many brilliant illustrations where by heroic determination, by the exercise of the will power, individuals had ascended slowly through the dark clouds of obscurity and adversity to the sunshine of success and renown. He referred to that American slave abolitionist who, not with standing the jeers and denunciations of the American people announced in 1831 through his journal, the Liberator of Boston "I am in earnest, I will not equivocate. I will not excuse, I will not retreat a single inch, I will be heard."

After thirty years of agitation the thunder of the cannon and the cries of the widow and orphan told in no unmistakable words that slavery was doomed, and William Lloyd Garrison knew that he was heard as he witnessed in April 1865 the raising of the first flag of emancipation over the battlements of Fort Sumpter. The courage and determination to do the right have brought the world to this high plane of civilization and made man master of the situation. But enough of the words of the Evangelist.

That is not the first eloquent sermon or discourse we have heard on this subject, but while it is fresh in our memory we wish to borrow the idea and impress upon the young and old that it has been the determination to dare and to do that has removed the wilderness and sown the seed of civilization in this country, that has built the factories and set in motion the machinery that has made fertile the desert places, that has dotted the surface of this continent with the most wealthy and populous cities of the world, that has hewn down the mountain, that has filled the valley spanned the river, and by means of the railroad brought in closer connection every section of this country. Let every one remember and heed that old Roman maxim, "Labor improbus omnia vincint."

A bright future is in store for Autauga county. The possibilities of civilization and industrial development are unlimited. As we stand at the dawn of a new era for this county, watching the first roseate streaks of the approaching day, let us determine to dare and to do, act well our part in every progressive movement in making the best section of the grandest State of the greatest government on earth: —Progress.

The Alabama Educational Association.

From the Florence Herald.

The A. E. A. will meet in Talladega, July 2-4. It is earnestly hoped that every progressive white teacher in Alabama will attend.

An interesting program has been arranged. The railroads will sell round trip tickets at one fare. Board can be had at $1 to $1,50 a day. Wednesday, July 3rd, has been designated as "Superintendents' Day." Every City and every County Superintendent in Alabama is urged to be present as matters of great importance and far reaching influence will be discussed.

The Alabama Chautauqua will be in session in Talladega during the month of July, and members of the A. E. A. will have the benefit of their lectures at reduced rates.

Those desiring to arrange board in advance may write to Hon. J. B. Graham at Talladega. For program drop a card to the undersigned.

The preparations are complete for the great Epworth League International Conference to meet in Chattanooga June 27th to 30th. The city has been canvassed for homes for the delegates and accommodations for over 15,000 secured in hotels, boarding houses and private residences. The best citizens of Chattanooga are glad to open their homes to these visitors. The rates are $1 00 to $1,50 per day in homes and $1,50 to $3 00 in hotels.

The assembly tent in which the Conference sessions are to be held is erected and the seats and speakers and choir platform in place.

The tent seats 10,000 people. The choir platform accommodates 1,000 and the Conference choir numbers that many. 2,000 public school children lead the music at one session of the Conference. Saturday afternoon a children's meeting is to be held, at which Miss Olds of Denver will give an illustrated lesson on "Christains and Scissors." Mayor Ochs and Rev. J. P. McFerrin, D. D. deliver the addresses of welcome on Thursday afternoon. Bishop Galloway preaches the conference sermon that night, Friday, Saturday and Sunday are wholly given to the conference work. The leading Methodists of America are to be present and speak. The railroads give one hall fare for the meeting with fifteen days limit on the tickets. Low rates also apply on local transportation lines to Lookout Mountain, Missionary Ridge, Chickamauga etc. This Conference is not a delegated conference and all people interested in the work are invited. Reception Committees will meet the visitors at the trains

This meeting is the largest convention ever held in the South and it is hoped is the fore-runner of other similar meetings to come to this section.

A FREE TRIP TO ATLANTA.

The Cotton States Exposition should be visited by every resident of Alabama. Knowing, however, that there are many people, especially in the rural districts, who can ill afford the heavy outlay necessary in order to attend this exhibition. The Advertiser has devised a plan whereby all who are willing to devote a little spare time to calling their neighbor's attention to the excellence of The Semi-Weekly Advertiser as a newspaper, can visit this display of Southern industries and resources.

Every person in the State of Alabama who will send us 100 yearly subscribers to The Semi-Weekly Advertiser at $1 each, before October 1st, 1895 will be presented with a ticket from his or her or railway station to Atlanta and return, and in addition will be given $25 in cash for the purpose of defraying his or her expenses while there

It will not be necessary to the entire 100 subscribers at once, but names can be forwarded from time to time, as they are secured, the sender stating that they are for our Cotton States Excursion prize. An accurate account will be kept with each competitor, and the announcement of the successful ones will be made as soon after October 1st as is practicable.

There is no good reason why several hundred people should not thus be able to visit the Atlanta Exposition at our expense, as The Semi-Weekly Advertiser is unquestionably the best newpaper of its class in America and the low subscription price places it within the reach of people of very limited means. It is an Alabama paper for Alabama people and in that field defies competition.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

The following are the times and places where the Clanton people worship. At the Baptist church every 3rd Sunday morning and night. Prayer meeting Tuesday nights. At the Episcopal church every 5th S. and Tuesday nights after 3rd Sundays. At the Methodist church every 2nd and 4th Sundays, morning and night, Prayer meeting on Wednesday night.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Messrs. Weatherly and Adams of Montgomery spent the Sabbath in Clanton.

Miss Minnie Pinckard is at home from a lengthy stay in Memphis.

Rev. Mr. Smith will preach at the Clanton Episcopal church on the 5th Sunday in this month.

There were no services held at the Baptis church last Sunday, the pastor being engaged in meeting at Birmingham.

Married early Tuesday morning Mr. Jack Gulraher and Miss Ella Gartman This has been a case of long standing and their friends congratulate them on their happy marriage and send best wishes to them in their Western home. Brownwood Texas is where they have located.

We are sorry to learn that Miss Maggie Moore is again on the sick list.

Miss Mattie Palmer is at home for the vacation, from Tuskaloosa.

Miss Blanche Foshee is on a week's visit to relatives in Birmingham,

Mrs. R. A. Porter, and family, of Le Grande, are visiting her father Mr. O R. Bell.

The View extends thanks to Aunt Mary Smith for a nice mess of Irish potatoes and for a pig.

Every body is to see Mr. Butler 'glad' Lowe able to throw his cruthes aside

We are glad to know that Mrs. Gartman, who has been quite ill, is better.

The meeting at the Methodist church is still in progress. The morning service was suspended for a few days.

Major J. G. Harris will deliver the Masonic address at the Baptist church next Monday night. We bespeak a large audience for him. The ladies should all turn out.

Mr. J. P. Massie is at home from his trip to Texas. The hot winds of that country browned him up considerably Since getting rested from his long journey he is feeling better. We trust our superb air and water will fully restore him to health. He appreciates the many kindnesses shown him by the people of Texas, but is glad to be once more at home.

The visitor to the jail is touched with pity at sight of a seven months old babe in those grim walls. The mother may be ever so guilty, but that baby should be taken by her relatives if they can't make bond for the mother.

A CARD.

The members of the Baptist Young People's Union appreciating the hearty cooperation and able assistance rendered them by Miss Anna Shackelford during her stay in Clanton desire to express their regrets at her departure, and their best wishes for her future happiness and usefulness.

The Masonic installation will take place next Monday night at the Clanton Baptist Church.

It would be difficult to find a town with a prettier set of girls than Clanton possesses. From the little tots to the grown young ladies they are all pretty.

Many of our readers knew Hon. Henry Wilson of Montevallo and Columbiana and will regret to learn of his death. He was away for his health and died before reaching home.

It is agreed by the citizens of Evergreen that they will celebrate the 17th of each May as "Evergreen Day." It would be well for every town to hold an annual day for the purpose of furthering the interests of such town.

The familiar faces of Conductors Pikkalt Coleman and C. H. Norton will be missed from the Mobile and Montgomery Division of the L. & N. R. R. They both died last week. They were faithful officials and very popular with the traveling public.

THE ATLATA CONSTITUTION'S PRIZE ACRE.

$500,00 in Cash for Farmers—A Handsome Reward for the Plows of 1895.

We take pleasure in presenting The Constitution's $500 offer for the farmers of 1895. The prize consists of $100 in cash for the best acre of cotton, corn, tobacco, watermelons or sweet potatoes The announcement is made before the planting of the crop so as to enable all who will to take part in the contest.

Entries may be made up to June 1st, and by that time every contestant must enter his name with The Constitution and state which acre he will compete for.

In ever circular The Constitution frankly states that the care taken in the preparation of the land, the selection of [illegible] fertilizers, a record of costs and dates of plowing and other cultivation, and a careful record of the heavy rainfalls, the periods of droughts and all the other data, giving the history of the crop from the breaking of the soil to the harvesting, will be an object lesson of vast importance to every contestant, whether he wins the prize or not. This is a practical demonstration that a farm run on the intensive plan by giving careful attention to the thorough cultivation of a few acres properly rather than the poor cultivation of a large area will be far better than a reduction of farm acreage by resolutions The offer is made to encourage the raising of home supplies and illustrate the south's great possibilities in agriculture and to stimulate the proper cultivation of every possible acre to a to the independence of the farmer.

The prizes will be awarded by three competent judges, recognized as high authority in agricultural matters.

The terms are breifly these: Every contestant must be a subscriber to The Weekly Constitution. He must keep a record of The Constitution's acre upon a blank, which will be furnished him free upon application. The contest is open to every southern farmer.

By special arrangement with The Constitution we offer the View with The Weekly Constitution for $1,50 or if you already have our paper, send us $1 and we will send you The Constitution one year. We are pleased to say that our neighbor in Georgia is perhaps the greatest of all American weekly newspapers. Its seventy two columns each week, which will be increased to eighty four shortly, come brim full of the latest news of the world, and many excellent features of special interest to the state, besides its well conducted departments for the farm and the household.

Every subscription recieved through us will entitle the subscriber to enter the prize acre contest as well as to guess on the $2,000 contest, closing May 1st.

This is an extraordinary opportunity to procure two good newspapers for a year, one to supply the county news in the quickest and best possible shape and the other to bring weekly the news of the world, teeming with political current history, farmers' notes and everything else that will interest every member of the family.

You will find no better season to subscribe nor any greater offer than the present.

POCKET ELECTROPOISE.

Rev. Robert B. Morrow, of Oxford, Ala. Declares That it Has Never Failed When Used as Directed.

I have had one of your Pocket Electropoises in my family for more than two years. I have used it for a great many different ills, and carefully noted the results. I have never seen it used as directed without great benefit. I purchased the Poise at first for my wife, who has suffered with dyspepsia all her life sometimes spitting up every meal for months. She is now entirely free from this evil, has not spit up her food from dyspepsia for two years.

There may be those who have faithfully used the Poise and received no benefit, but in my family for two years it has done all you promised for it. Yours sincerely,

Rev Robert B. Morrow,
Oxford, Ala., Dec. 25, 1894.

Coin Both Metals at the Ratio of 16 to 1.—Summary of Proceedings.

The largest meeting ever held in this country for the discussion of a single economic question convened at the Auditorium in Memphis, Tenn., Wednesday. Certainly no such outpouring of men of all classes from the tiller of the soil to the representatives of the bench and bar, the artisan and the merchant, representing all political parties, but unanimous upon at least one principle of governmental policy, has ever been seen in the south. While an overwhelming majority of the delegates to the convention, called in the interest of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, came from the south, the representation included almost every state south of the Ohio river and west of the Mississippi, from Puget Sound to the keys of Florida, from the Mexican boundary to the Potomac.

It might more properly be called a monster mass meeting than a convention, for there was no fixed basis of representation and it was not held under the authority of any political organization.

While the gathering comprised democrats, republicans and populists and was supposedly non-partisan, there was much in it of interest to the political observer.

The convention was called to order promptly at 2 p. m. by W. N. Brown, president of the bi-metallic league of Memphis, and Colonel Casey Young, of Memphis, delivered an address of welcome. Colonel Young extended the usual greetings to the convention, and saluted the delegates as the advance guard of a mighty army to overthrow a power more ruthless and rapacious and more hurtful to human happiness and prosperity than any despot that ever shackled liberty and oppressed mankind. Concluding he said:

"The forces of the grandest revolution that ever hurled a despot from power are gathering for an onset that will sweep every enemy into the dark sea of defeat.

"The invincible legion which lead it will never halt or waver until their standards are planted upon the shores of every sea and their banners float in triumph over the people of England. They will never lower their flags nor sheathe their swords until the mighty conflict is ended and a glorious victory won. Not until all the temples of mammon are turned into sepulchres for the burial of greed and avarice; and let us hope for the sake of suffering humanity, that no angel of resurrection will ever unseal these tombs.

"Again, champions of a worthy cause, leaders of a righteous revolution, I welcome you to the queen city of our inland sea, and in the name of your countrymen and countless brethren, bid you Godspeed in your work."

Senator Turpie, of Indiana, was made permanent chairman, there being no temporary organization, and addressed the convention as follows:

Senator Turpie's Speech.

"Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Convention: "The coined money of the government in full meaning stands four square to all commercial transactions of the people. It has four functions or uses. It is a medium of exchange; it is a measure of values; it is a means for reduction of its paper proxies, and it is a legal tender for the payment of all debts. There are many things besides coined money which have some of those powers and uses—it has all. Of these functions two are created by law—those of legal tender and redemption; these are artificial. The other two—of exchange and value measurement—are natural. There is no doubt that coined money existed and was used to effect exchange of commodities and to denote the values long before legislation concerning debt or redemption.

"But, although the natural functions of coined money are older—much older than its artificial functions—yet both these classes of functions are very ancient—almost coeval with the commerce of civilization. The natural functions of such money used in designating the prices and effecting the transfer of commodities do not depend wholly upon law, have never so depended, but depend also upon usage and agreement, they have no natural or necessary existence. The artificial functions depend wholly upon law. When an article is sold and delivered and the price paid and received, this is a finality. It is what we call a cash deal. But when only a note is given, whether it be a public or a private note, this is not finality, but creates the need that some measure shall be enacted by public law providing for the payment of the private notes for the redemption of the public note in coined money of the country.

"This need is not a natural one. It is altogether artificial, and it is caused by that thing which is called credit. Credit—that creature of legislation—that product of the statutes. Credit, the promise of today, the cash of tomorrow, looking to the power of the government for the collection and enforcement of its obligations, cannot gainsay the right of the same power to enact what sort and what quantity of coined money shall be paid and shall be received in discharge and liquidation of the same. Such is the legal tender quality, and though it is highly artificial, yet it is doubtless one of the most valuable functions of coined money.

"He who would deprive one sort of coin of this quality and leave it only with the other, where two kinds had been used before from time immemorial—from the very origin of the credit system, is guilty of gross injustice. And that equivalent policy—another way of doing the same thing, which would permit only the making and use of one sort of coined money, and which would prevent the free and further making and use of the other, where both had formerly been coined and used as money of final liquidation, perpetuates and maintains a system of bondage.

"The bullion value of silver and gold, here and elsewhere, has always rested, and rests today, upon the conception, upon one opinion, upon one single and simple item of belief; it is an old belief universally credited, based upon the actual experience of 100 generations of the human race. It is this—that, as there has been in the ages past, so there will be in the years to come, no discovery of either of such metals which, as to quantity or as to the expense of production, shall make them comparable in value with any other materials suitable for the use of mankind as money. It is not impossible, it is not inconceivable, that away down in some deeply subterranean strata of our planet hitherto unexplored, there may be found extensive deposits of silver and gold, miles in area, whole belts, zones in circumference of the metals heretofore known as precious—but this is a mere dream; no one believes it. The faith and credit of mankind in the natural and unconquerable limitation of supply as to those minerals rests unshaken and undisturbed, as it did at the first dawn of commerce; as it did in the days of the old patriarch whose silver was "current money with the merchant."

"There has always been a difference between the commercial or bullion value of the two metals and the legal or coinage value. This characteristic or difference attaches to both. No denomination of the gold coinage of the United States has a bullion value equal to the legal value thereof. The gold dollar is not what it purports to be. The whole series of these gold coins is made from bullion only nine-tenths fine. I do not go into the reasons for this—I state the fact. The whole of the gold coinage is tithed—it is placed under par bullion value by the subtraction of one-tenth; this is why those coins outside of our own country pass only by weight, not by count. The missing tenth is what is called alloy. This alloy is not gold at all; it is a mixture of copper and silver—only one-tenth of silver, nine of copper. Of course, this alloy reduces the commercial value as metal of the whole series of gold coin. This is now here spoken of because of a very curious claim made by the advocates of gold monometallism, that a piece of money whose bullion value may be less than its legal value is unsound and is dishonest.

"It is the same with the silver coinage, the dollar and the part called subsidiary money. This is coined under par commercially. Like the gold coins the alloy is one tenth, wholly of copper, and besides this the proportion of grains of metal used diminishes with denomination of the coins. The half dollar has but 192 grains, a good deal less than half the number of the whole dollar; the quarter dollar has only ninety-six grains; the dime has only thirty-eight grains—the holder of ten dimes has only 380 grains, yet he can get halves, quarters or the whole for those dimes, notwithstanding the commercial price of the metal in them is very far below its lawful value. The nickel passes for five cents—the bullion value of the metal which composes it is not half the legal. The cent coined by the United States, made of 95 parts of copper and 5 parts tin and zinc is worth as metal commercially not more than one-third of its lawful or legal value, which is the one hundredth part of a dollar.

"Still we have no other coin than this. All other balances, when settled on coin, are paid in it. The largest payments are made in the alloyed gold, and the silver dollar with its group of fractional parts and subsidiary coinage performs the functions of money—is passed, paid and received as coin of ultimate liquidation. Is this an honest condition of business and finance?

"According to the text of the enemies of bimetallism that the legal value of coined money must be the same as the commercial or bullion value of the metal in it nothing could be more dishonest. According to that test there is not, and cannot be, an honest dollar of silver or gold, nor an honest part or fraction of the same—as for the nickel it is viler than the dime, and the honest penny is banished forever.

"According to this same test and rule of coinage there is not an honest coin in the treasury, there is not a piece of sound, safe money in the country. I have read the story of a good woman, a poor widow, who long ago cast her mite into the treasury, and it was said of her that she had given more than them all. The mite was the smallest of Jewish coin. It was worth in legal value about two mills of our money. What was the bullion value of the morsel of copper out of which it was made? Not one mill; not half a mill—less than this. The coinage reformer of our day would say this was dishonest money—unsound. Why, then, did the celestial benediction rest upon a fraud so palpable? Nay, but this was lawful coin, having a legal value. It was, indeed, honest money. The law made it, she gave it, and the blessing and the glory of the mite yet remain."

The nomination of E. B. Wade, of Tennessee, for secretary, followed, and at the suggestion of Senator Harris all the newspaper men present were made assistant secretaries. Resolutions were passed that each state should name a vice president and a member of the committee on resolutions. After this was done, Alexander Delmar, of California, addressed the convention. At the conclusion of Mr. Delmar's speech the convention took a recess until 8 o'clock p. m.

Senator Stewart, of Nevada, presided at the night session. Congressman Joe C. Sibley, of Pennsylvania, addressed the convention.

Among other things he said: "I believe that there are going to be two parties at the coming election. One of them will be the monometallists and the other the American people in their majesty. The gold standard has been erected many times before. Once Aaron erected a golden image, but it was not a success, and once Nebuchadnezzar set him up one and said whosoever refused to bow down and worship it should straightway be cast into a fiery furnace and burned up. Without meaning to make any invidious comparisons I respectfully refer you to Grover Cleveland's letter to Governor Stone, of Mississippi. There were three men who refused to worship this image and Nebuchadnezzar ordered the furnace to be made straightway seven times hotter and had these men cast in, but they walked upright amid the flames and came out brighter and happier than ever. There are a good many Nebuchadnezzars in this world yet, but they do not cut much of a figure. If you will just read along a little further you will find that Nebuchadnezzar found his level all right. For seven years he had to eat grass. We silver people have all the logic and all the law on our side.

"The secretary of the treasury spoke to you in this hall the other day. I do not want to quote Mr. Carlisle when he said that the demonetization of half the money in the world meant misery and unhappiness for half the people of the world. Then John G. Carlisle was the tribune of the people; now he is the high priest of the temple of Mammon. Mr. Carlisle, the plebeian, and Mr. Carlisle, the aristocrat, are two very different kinds of people. But I do not want to complain of Mr. Carlisle. Every word he said about the demonetization of silver has come true."

C. S. Thomas, of Colorado, then addressed the convention and adjournment was taken till 10 o'clock Thursday.

Thursday's Session.

The fight over the principles laid down by Sibley in his speech Wednesday night began early in the day Thursday with no less a man than senator Isham G. Harris, at the head of the faction, advocating simon-pure democracy. With him were M. C. Galloway, of Memphis, and Governor Clarke, of Arkansas, besides many others of political prominence in their own parts of the country. These men said that they would secede from the convention if it indorsed Sibley's radical sentiments.

Notwithstanding this cloud that for a moment threatened to darken the horizon of the convention, the end was harmony and there was no fight over the resolutions after they were read to the convention, for the reason that they carefully avoided any reference calculated to produce discord. The resolutions advocate the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, declare that international co-operation is not necessary and attribute the recent hard times entirely to the demonetization of silver.

Following are the resolutions which were unanimously adopted:

"Silver and gold coin have in all ages constituted the money of the world, were the money of the fathers of the republic, the money of history and of the constitution.

"The universal experience of mankind has demonstrated that the joint use of both silver and gold coin as money constitute the most stable standard of value, and that the full amount of both metals is necessary as a medium of exchange.

"The demonetization of either of these historic metals means an appreciation in the value of money, a fall in the prices of commodities, a diminution of profits of legitimate business, a continued increase in the burden of debts, a withdrawal of money from the channels of trade and industry, where it no longer yields a safe and sure return, and its idle accumulation in the banks and the great money centers of the country.

"There is no health or soundness in a financial system under which a hoarded dollar is productive of increase to its possessor, while an invested dollar yields a constantly diminishing return, and under which fortunes are made by the actions of idle capital or by a persistent fall in the prices of commodities and a persistent dwindle in the margin of profits in almost every branch of useful industry. Such a system is a premium on sloth and a penalty upon industry, and such a system is that which the criminal legislation of 1873 has imposed upon this country.

"The bimetallic standard of silver and gold has behind it the experience of ages and has been tested and approved by the enlightened and deliberate judgment of mankind. The gold standard is a departure from the established policy of the civilized world with nothing to commend it but twenty-two years of depression and disaster to the people and extraordinary accumulation of wealth in the hands of a few.

"There are some facts bearing upon this question recognized and admitted by all candid men, whether advocates of bimetallism or of the single gold standard. Among these is the fact that the very year that marked the change from the bimetallic to the single gold standard is the very year that marked the change from a condition of rising prices, large profits, general contentment and great prosperity to a condition of falling prices, diminishing profits, insecurity of investment, unemployed labor and a heavy depression in all branches of trade and industry. It is not a matter of dispute among the honest advocates of the gold standard, that general prosperity came to an end with the destruction of the bimetallic system, and that hard times, falling prices, idle workingmen and widespread depression came in with the gold standard and prevails today wherever the gold standard has been adopted.

"Every international monetary conference that has been called, every demand in this country and in Europe for an international agreement to reestablish the bimetallic standard, is a confession that the demonetization of the system was a blunder, if not a crime, that its consequences have been disastrous and that the conditions that it has wrought are full of menace and of peril.

"The logic of facts establishes beyond intelligent question that the destruction of silver as primary money by a conspiracy of selfish interests is the cause of the widespread depression and suffering that began with the gold standard. There can be no restoration of prosperity, no permanent relief from prevailing conditions until the great cause has been removed by a complete restoration of silver to its proper place as a money metal, equal with gold.

"We believe in a money of stable value; we believe, least of all, in an appreciating standard; it is only through the practical operation of bimetalism that a stable standard of value can be secured. A standard constituted of money constantly increasing in value is not a sound, a single, nor a stable standard, but a constantly changing standard.

"The effect of gold monometallism is to establish one standard for the creditor and another for the debtor; and there can be no more dishonest monetary system than that which gives short measure to the borrower and long measure to the lender.

"Under the policy prevailing prior to 1873 there can be no violent change in the relative value of the two metals, for a rise in value of one metal is counteracted by a decreased demand and a fall in value by an increased demand. Under the operation of this beneficent law a stable relation was maintained between them in spite of the most extreme changes in relative productions. From the first period of our history up to 1873, the right of the debtor to choose whether he should pay his debts in silver or gold coin was always recognized. The subsequent policy has been to transfer this right to the creditor, thus tending to constantly increase the value of the dearer metal and destroy the parity between them.

"Believing that it is absolutely necessary to reverse this iniquitous and ruinous policy, we, therefore, resolve:

"That we favor the immediate restoration of silver to its former place as a full legal tender standard money equal with gold, and the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1 and upon terms of exact equality.

"That while we should welcome the co-operation of other nations we believe that the United States should not wait upon the pleasure of foreign governments or the consent of foreign creditors, but should themselves proceed to reverse the 'grinding process' that is destroying the prosperity of the people and should lead by their example the nations of the earth.

"That the rights of the American people, the interests of American labor and the prosperity of American industry have a higher claim to the consideration of the people's lawmakers than the greed of foreign creditors, or the avaricious demands made by idle holders of idle capital. The right to regulate its own monetary system in the interests of its own people is a right which no free government can barter, sell or surrender. This reserved right is a part of every bond, of every contract and of every obligation. No creditor or claimant can set up a right that can take precedence over a nation's obligations to promote the welfare of the masses of its own people. This is a debt higher and more binding than all other debts, and one which is not only dishonest, but treasonable to ignore.

"Under the financial policy that now prevails we see the land filled with idle and discontented workingmen and an ever-growing army of tramps, men whom lack of work and opportunity have made outcasts and beggars. At the other end we find that a few thousand families own one-half the wealth of the country.

"The centralization of wealth has gone hand in hand with the spread of poverty. The pauper and the plutocrat are twin children of the same vicious and unholy system. The situation is full of menace to the liberties of the people and the life of the republic. The issue is enfranchisement of hopeless servitude. Whatever the power of money can do by debauchery and corruption to maintain its grasp on the lawmaking power will be done. We, therefore, appeal to the plain people of the land with perfect confidence in their patriotism and intelligence to arouse themselves to a full sense of the peril that confronts them and defend the citadel of their liberties with a vigilance that shall neither slumber nor sleep."

For a Bimetallic Convention.

The committee on resolutions also introduced the following resolutions, which, like the platform, were unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That a committee composed of one member from each state be appointed by the delegates thereof in this convention, whose duty it shall be to correspond with the representative advocates of bimetallism and bimetallic societies in the different sections of the union and devise measures to advance the cause of bimetallism throughout the United States. That this committee shall have power to cause a national conference of bimetallists whenever, in the opinion of the committee, the cause of bimetallism can be advanced thereby. Said committee shall have power to fill all vacancies."

The following national committeemen were chosen by the state delegations in accordance with the resolution passed at the afternoon session of the convention:

Alabama, John W. Tomlinson; Arkansas, Charles Coffin; California, Alex Delmar; Colorado, A. W. Rucker; Georgia, Judge N. W. Longley; Kentucky, J. A. Parker; Louisiana, Senator Blanchard; Missouri, J. C. Gage; Nevada, C. S. Nixon; Nebraska, C. J. Smythe; North Carolina, M. B. Elliott; Ohio, F. J. Scott; Pennsylvania, A. C. Hopkins; South Carolina, J. A. Stokes; Tennessee, John R. Godwin, of Memphis, temporary chairman, and J. H. Aclen, of Nashville, temporary secretary. The committee will meet in Chicago in July, the exact time not being fixed, and there choose permanent officers and delegates at large.

The convention then adjourned.

PROFITABLE TRAFFIC.

South Carolina Makes Money in the Whisky Business.

A Columbia special says: The legislative committee appointed to examine the books of the dispensary has made its report. It is the first report made as to the workings of the dispensary that a layman could understand, and while it does not show any half-million-dollar profit a year, as was promised when the dispensary was first established, it does show the business to be in a healthy condition, and a far larger profit to have been made than many persons ever expected from the dispensary. The report shows the total profits made since the establishment of the dispensary, on July 1, 1893, to have been $160,287.48. Of this $146,607.69 was made during Commissioner Traxler's term, from July 1, 1893, to February 1, 1895, and $13,679.79 during Commissioner Mixson's first quarter, ending April 30th. The receipts for the quarter ending April 30th, were: February, $68,285.16, March, $64,464.99; April, $71,016.08.

Women as Printers.

Some interesting details regarding the first appearance of women in the printer's art are given in the official organ of the Parisian printers. The general belief that women were for the first time employed in typographical work in 1681 by Rignoux, a printer in Montbard, is declared to be erroneous, a printing press worked exclusively by women having been in regular use in Italy a century and a half before that date. The printing office was the convent of St. James at Mount Ripoli, and the women printers were sisters of the Dominican Order.

The sisters of this convent had practiced the art of copying and illuminating manuscript since the thirteenth century. When Gutenburg's invention made its appearance the press spread rapidly in Italy, and every town soon possessed its printing office. Florence had one as early as 1472. It would have gone hard with the Dominican sisters if their confessor, Dominico de Pistoia and their procurator, Pietro di Pisa, had not come to their aid by imparting to them a knowledge of the new art. The sisters appear to have devoted themselves to their typographical labors with ardor and success, for between 1476 and 1484 more than a hundred works—a large number for that period—issued from the conventual press. It is somewhat curious to note that among these works there is an edition of the Decameron, dated 1478.—London Daily News.

The Glass Snake.

The so-called glass or jointed snake does not break to pieces at the sight of an enemy, as is commonly supposed, but like some lizards, throws off its tail in an effort to escape.

There are several lizards which, when attacked for instance by a bird, or animal, will throw off their tails, and the tail flopping up and down on the ground diverts the enemy and thus gives the lizard time to get away.

The glass snake adopts the same trick, and thus frequently saves itself. It is true, however, that the joints of the singular creature are so loosely connected that the snake will be broken to pieces by a blow of a stick, though the idea of a reunion of the broken parts is a superstitious absurdity.

The broken joints do not reunite, though a new tail will grow in a few months if the reptile has received no other injury.

THE GUNMAKER OF ILION.

JEFFERSON M. CLOUGH REFUSED A TEMPTING OFFER FROM THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT.

His Health was too Poor to Permit Attention to Business. A Great Sufferer for Many Years But Has Now Recovered.

(From the Springfield, Mass., Union.)

There isn't a gun manufacturer in the United States who does not know Jefferson M. Clough, and why? Because he has been intimately associated all his life with the development of the two best American rifles, the Remington and Winchester. For years he was Superintendent of the E. Remington & Sons' great factory at Ilion, N. Y. After leaving there he refused a tempting offer of the Chinese Government to go to China to superintend their government factories,—and accepted instead the superintendency of the Winchester-Arms Co., at New Haven, at a salary of $7,000 a year.

It was after this long term of active labor as a business man that he found himself incapacitated for further service by the embargo which rheumatism had laid upon him and resigned his position more than two years ago, and returned to Belchertown, Mass., where he now lives and owns the Phelps farm, a retired spot where he has five hundred acres of land.

Being a man of means he did not spare the cost and was treated by leading physicians and by baths at celebrated springs without receiving any benefit worth notice. During the summer of 1893 and the winter of 1894 Mr. Clough was confined to his house in Belchertown, being unable to rise from his bed without assistance, and suffering continually with acute pains and with no taste or desire for food, nor was he able to obtain sufficient sleep.

Early in the year 1894 Mr. Clough heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. He began taking these pills about the first of March, 1894, and continued to do so until the first part of September following. The first effect noticed was a better appetite and he began to note more ability to help himself off the bed and to be better generally. Last August (1894) he was able to go alone to his summer residence and farm of 163 acres on Grenadier Island, among the Thousand Islands, in the river St. Lawrence, where from the highest land of his farm he commands a view for 18 miles down the river, and 60 of the Thousand Islands can be seen.

Instead of being confined to his bed Mr. Clough is now and has been for some time able to be about the farm to direct the men employed there and he is thankful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for him.

These pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark and wrapper, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and are never sold in bulk. They may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company.

A Palace Plated With Gold.

The czar has a palace just outside of St. Petersburg, known as Tsarskoe-Selo, which was built by Catherine the Great. It is of vast extent, and plated over with gold. It took nearly $1,000,000 worth of bullion to do the work, and when, owing to the dampness of the climate it began to peel off, Catherine ordered it to be painted instead.

Some Russian speculators wanted to scrape off the old gold and melt it over again, and they offered Catherine $500,000 for the job. She sent them to prison for insulting her with the proposition, and covered the palace with yellow paint.

This palace has rooms walled with amber. It has a parlor covered with lapis lazuli, and the walls and ceiling of one drawing room are of the finest tortoise shell. There are 500 apartments in the palace, and the ballroom covers nearly half an acre.

Its floor is of wooden mosaic, and there are other rooms in which the finish is in ivory, bamboo and in bronze. The palace must have cost millions, and is only one of a dozen which belongs to the czar.

A Boy's Definition of Peace.

School children are proverbially original in many of their utterances. In the grammar department of the West Middle school the teacher was examining her young charges in history. Pennsylvania and its founder, William Penn, were under discussion. She told the little ones that Penn was a disciple of peace, and finally asked:

"Can any of you tell me what 'peace' means?

"I can, teacher," breathlessly exclaimed a little fellow.

"Well, and what does 'peace' mean?"

"It means 'no scrappin','" responded the boy.—Hartford Post.

Wanted to Close the Account.

An office boy attended at the collector's office on the last day for paying the income tax.

"I've come to pay Mr. R——'s tax," said the youth, putting both arms on the counter. "I suppose you allow the usual two and a half?"

"No, my boy," said the inspector, gazing benignantly through his spectacles at the small specimen of humanity, "there is no discount here."

"Very well," replied the small boy; "then I'll pay it this time; but my instructions are to close the account."

Teddy—Yes, 'cause I didn't know till afterwards that his mother was going to give a children's party.

CAPITAL GOSSIP.

ITEMS OF NEWS PICKED UP AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Sayings and Doings of the Official Heads of the Government.

Word reaches Washington that Mexico and Guatemala have extended until May 1, 1896, the time within which the boundary lines agreed on by recent treaty, shall be put into effect.

Julius Muth, United States consul at Madgeburg, Germany, reports to the department of state that the German beet sugar industry is now in a deplorable condition and nothing—even an increased bounty—will save it from serious loss, unless its unnatural extension be checked. Germany, Mr. Muth says, will probably make another attempt to abolish or regulate the bounty system in Germany, but he doubts whether a satisfactory understanding in this way can be reached.

Sergeant-at-Arms Bright, of the senate, has taken steps to secure the enforcement of the law prohibiting business vehicles from entering the grounds of the capitol building. There has long been a statute forbidding the passage through the grounds of any loaded wagon or any vehicle displaying a business sign, but it has been ignored for so many years that it has virtually become a dead letter. During the Coxey excitement the grounds were invaded by probably a thousand vehicles of all descriptions.

President Cleveland, accompanied by Private Secretary Henry G. Thurber, left Washington Monday morning for Gray Gables, on Buzzard's Bay. Mrs. Cleveland preceded the president about a week, and they are not expected to return to Washington before next fall. While executive business will be transacted by the president at this summer home, it has been arranged that the announcement of all action shall be made at the white house, where Assistant Private Secretary Pruden will remain in charge. Mr. Thurber will reside with his family at Marion, across the bay from Gray Gables.

Deep Water in Harbors.

General Craighill, chief of the engineer corps of the army, has received some very encouraging reports on the improvement of southern harbors. At the offices at Galveston reports come that they have now between eighteen and nineteen feet of water where there were originally but twelve feet. At Savannah the depth has been increased from fourteen and a half feet to twenty-four feet, and it is expected that twenty-six feet will be obtained before long. When work was begun at Charleston harbor there was but twelve feet at low tide. The officer there now reports fifteen feet, and expects more when the jetties, which are now nearly completed, are finished. In the St. Johns an increase from twelve and a half feet to eighteen feet is reported, except over the bar, and this depth is expected there before long.

Civil Service Statistics.

The forthcoming annual report of the United States civil service commission will show that the whole number of persons regularly employed in the civil service of this country is about 200,000. Of these, approximately, one-fourth are in the classified service subject to to competitive examinations under the civil service rules. Of those in the unclassified service 22,000 are laborers, 5,000 are appointed by the president subject to confirmation by the senate, 1,500 are in the legislative branch of the government and 2,700 are in the judicial branch. The civil service act excludes these classes from classification.

The total number of positions affected by the extension of civil service rules from March 14, 1894, to January 1, 1895, was 8,184. Of these 5,537 were added to the classified service by original classification and 2,647 by transfer to places classified but excepted from examination to list of places subject to competitive examination.

Vessels for Patrol Duty.

The treasury department has decided to strengthen the revenue cutter patrol along the Atlantic coast from Charleston to Mobile by ordering the cutters Morrill, McLane and Forward to patrol those waters. The reason assigned for this movement is that it is necessary to keep a closer lookout for vessels coming from Cuba which might bring yellow fever. At the same time the revenue cutters will cooperate with the United States steamship Raleigh in preventing filibustering expeditions from leaving the United States for Cuba. In connection with the assignment of these revenue cutters to patrol duty, Surgeon General Wyman addressed a letter to Secretary Carlisle, calling attention to the danger of the introduction of yellow fever into Florida by means of smuggling fishing smacks arriving from Cuba. He urged that three revenue cutters be detailed to inspect all such vessels, and also asked for four additional sanitary inspectors, to be stationed at the points most frequented by these smugglers, the vessels not attempting to make port in compliance with the shipping laws.

KENTUCKY PRIMARIES

Indicate That Hardin Will be Nominated for Governor.

Returns from Kentucky's primaries are still far from complete, but results thus far indicate that General Hardin will receive the nomination from the democrats for governor at the coming convention. The votes in the convention number 879 and of these about 700 have been heard from. Hardin leads Cassius M. Clay, Jr., by nearly fifty votes. One hundred counties will send uninstructed delegates. The currency question will figure prominently, the gold standard men at present holding the whip hand.

GROWERS WILL ORGANIZE.

They Propose to Get Together to Help Themselves.

Quite a stir has been created among the fruit growers of the state by the increased minimum of amount of fruit to be shipped in a car. In fact, the growers are incensed at the way the railroads are treating the industry in the state when they claim to be encouraging immigration. The growers will organize and in some way work to their best advantage. It looks to the growers that the railroads are after "gobbling" up the entire fruit crop.

TWO ROADS AT AUCTION,

And It is Thought the Southern Bought Them.

The Union Railway and the Chattanooga Union Railway, were sold at auction Monday. The first brought $100,000, the second $10,000. So the two roads were knocked down at $110,000 to C. H. Tyler, of Boston, representing the bondholders.

While the roads have apparently not changed ownership, the purchasing is virtually in the name of the Southern Railway and seems to foreshadow important things in that vicinity.

FINAL ADJOURNMENT.

The Tennessee Extra Legislative Session Comes to an End.

The extraordinary session of the forty-ninth general assembly of Tennessee came to an end at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon without unusual incident. The revenue, penitentiary and registration bills were all signed by Governor Turney, and as soon as the formalities had been completed the assembly adjourned. Governor Turney at once went to his home at Winchester to recuperate.

Suit For Back Taxes.

The Mississippi railroad commission has, at the instance of State Revenue Agent Adams, decided to bring suit against the Mississippi Valley Railroad company, now the Illinois Central, for back taxes amounting to about $250,000. The officers of the road are cited to appear in Jackson on the first Monday in August to show cause, if any, why their road should not be assessed for taxes since 1886. When the assessment shall have been made the case will have a run through the courts.

A Railroad Station Burned.

The Norfolk and Western railway station at Cooper, W. Va., was destroyed by fire Wednesday, together with Clark's hotel, Green and Sons' store and a half dozen dwellings. John Cooper's store of merchandise was damaged to the extent of $3,500. The loss was $12,000.

FAILED TO GET TRUE BILLS.

South Carolina Unsuccessful in an Effort to Prosecute.

The dispensary law bobbed up in the court of sessions at Charleston Tuesday. During the morning the grand jury were given a batch of bills by the solicitor. Among these were six against parties for the violation of the dispensary law. On these Judge Buchanan said that the jurors should carefully consider the evidence against the accused and render presentment according to the evidence. They should not permit their prejudice, if they held any against the law, to influence their verdict. If the law was an obnoxious one the strict enforcement of it would be the surest means of enlisting public sentiment and thereby causing its repeal. On the contrary, if they permitted their prejudices to influence their presentment, it would redound in favor of the law.

In a short while the jurors returned and reported that they had been unable to find indictments against the following parties, against whom bills had been given them: Fritz Mollenhauer, Henry Hemme, George F. Stenicken, M. L. Clark, W. J. Bowen and Barney Lovett. Assistant Attorney General Townsend said that he was totally surprised at the action of the grand jury, as the evidence in the cases above mentioned preponderated against the accused.

LAIDLAW WINS HIS SUIT.

It Cost Russell Sage $40,000 to Use Him as a Bomb-Proof.

The Laidlaw-Sage jury, at New York, returned to court Tuesday afternoon, having found a verdict of $40,000 for the plaintiff. The verdict was received with applause.

William R. Laidlaw brought suit against Russell Sage for $50,000 damages for the injuries received by the explosion of a bomb in Mr. Sage's office in 1891. Mr. Laidlaw claimed that Mr. Sage caught hold of him and held him (Laidlaw) between Norcross, the bomb-thrower, and himself. Laidlaw has been permanently injured, while Mr. Sage escaped comparatively unhurt.

Charged With Embezzlement.

C. M. Mills, formerly of Tryon, N. C., was arrested at Asheville Tuesday on charge of embezzling money order funds of the government to the amount of $500, and was held to federal court in bond of $1,000.

HITTING THE FRUIT MEN.

Southern Railway and Steamship Association Virtually Raise Rates.

Another phase of the relations between the railroads and the fruit growers of Georgia has developed and has created a decided stir in business circles. It came in the shape of a circular of the Southern Railway and Steamship Association, which declared that hereafter the minimum amount to be shipped in any car will be 24,000 pounds.

This means an increase of about 20 per cent in the rates upon peaches. Heretofore the minimum has been 20,000 pounds, and the growers claim that they have not been able to get even that amount in a car. The average, so experts declare, is but little over 18,000 pounds. A number of these fruit growers express their views very forcibly upon the subject.

"This simply means," said one of them, "an advance in the already exorbitant fruit rate of 20 per cent. net to all points, both east and west."

The fruit growers are busy arranging to move their crops, and when their attention was called to this circular they expressed great surprise, and did not mince words in giving their opinions of this unforeseen action.

The circular referred to is as follows:

"Advance Notice 1,231.—The Southern Railway and Steamship Association, Office of Commissioner, Atlanta, Ga., June 8, 1895.—Taking effect June 22, 1895. Please refer to R. C. circular No. 65, series 1892-'93, naming rates on peaches, pears, grapes, etc., to eastern and western cities, and note that the minimum carload weight is changed to 24,000 pounds.

"In accordance with resolutions adopted at the 122d session of the rate committee, subject No. 12.

"Supersedes, in conflict, R. C. circular No. 65, series 1892-93, and A-77.

"E. B. STAHLMAN,
"Commissioner."

TRADE TOPICS.

Bradstreets Review of Business for the Past Week.

Bradstreet's review of business for the past week says:

"The recent check to the activity in general trade, taking the country as a whole, which followed the severe and unusual frosts of the close of May, has begun to register itself in relatively fewer upward spurts of prices for staples and moderately smaller totals of bank clearings. The cereal crop scares which followed the frost frightened foreigners out of Wall street for the moment, and since then the speculative exchanges and leading commercial houses have been busy trying to determine future values on the basis of present conditions. The exception to the halt is found in the remarkable exhibition of strength by iron and steel. Cotton, leather, wheat, railway and other securities have each presented a season of active demand and advancing prices, but none of them has outdone iron and steel, which, without special orders from railroad and other large consumers, have again advanced all along the line. The industry is undoubtedly in a better position today than for years.

"There have been few changes in the trade situation at the south, but these are interested in the direction of improved demand, principally in dry goods, shoes, hats and other seasonable goods, with the prospect for a good fall trade should the crop prospects remain as at present. Gains in the volume of business are reported from Charleston, Nashville, Jacksonville and Galveston."

LOWERY AND PATTERSON

Indulge in a Joint Debate On the Financial Question.

An immense audience assembled at the representatives hall at Jackson, Miss., Friday night to hear a joint discussion of the financial question between Hon. Josiah Patterson, of Tennessee, and ex-Governor Lowery, of Mississippi, the former an advocate of the single gold standard, the latter of free silver at 16 to 1.

Mr. Patterson eulogized Grover Cleveland and his administration to the skies and gave his belief that 16 to 1 means silver monometallism and the worst panic this country ever saw. Governor Lowery raked the administration fore and aft, and asserted that prosperous times would never come till silver was restored to the place it occupied prior to 1873.

EXPLODING BOILER

Wreaks Death and Distruction in a Factory Building.

A catastrophe which created the greatest excitement in Fall River, Mass., since the granite mill fire, occurred Friday morning at the Langley loom harness shop, a three-story wooden building. A fifty-horse power boiler exploded in the rear part of the basement, blowing out the sides of the building, knocking away the supports and allowing the upper floor to settle into a mass of ruins.

Fire started in the ruins and began to burn briskly. The firemen made heroic efforts to rescue the imprisoned working people, of whom there were seventeen. The shrieks from the girls in the ruins were mingled with the agonized cries of their friends, who had hurried to the scene when the first news of the catastrophe spread. Ambulance calls were sent out hurriedly and every physician who could be reached was called at once to the scene. The offices and the houses in the vicinity were turned into temporary hospitals. At 9 o'clock the badly charred and scarcely recognizable body of a woman was hauled from the ruins. The fire had then been quenched, but it was still smouldering and the work of rescue could go on only with difficulty. Up to noon the work of search and rescue was carried on amid great excitement and at that hour it was found that four persons had been killed, three more were missing and four had been seriously injured.

A TRIBUTE TO SULLIVAN.

The Old Champion and the New Champion Are to Meet Once More.

On Thursday, June 27, at Madison Square Garden, New York city, the once mighty and invincible "champion of champions," John L. Sullivan, will be tendered what will probably be the greatest tribute ever paid to a pugilist, in the shape of a monster testimonial. An elaborate program has been arranged, which will surpass anything ever presented to the sporting public. Johnny Dunn will be master of ceremonies. The following pugilistic stars have promised to spar at the benefit:

James J. Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons, Tommy Ryan, "My Mysterious" Billy Smith, Jack McAuliffe, George Dixon, Jimmy Barry, Peter Maher, Steve O'Donnell, Jim Hall, Joe Choynski, Dan Creedon, Dick O'Brien, Jim McVey, "Shadow" Maber, Bob Armstrong, "Brooklyn Jimmy" Carroll, Frank Rosworth, Paddy Smith of Denver, "Young Corbett," Patsey Kerrigan, Jimmy Handler, Stanton Abbott, "Kid" Lavigne, Ike Weir, Jack Skelly, Jimmy Gorman and Jack Levy.

THE FAIR WILL CONTEST.

Suit Brought Against the Executors of the Estate.

An important piece of litigation in the Fair will contest was begun at San Francisco, when Charles L. Fair filed his threatened suit against the executors and trustees. Action is brought under the law enacted by the last legislature and supposed to have been passed solely in the interest of the Fair children. By its provisons it is possible to attack any provision of the will before as well as after probate. Charles L. Fair is the sole plaintiff and his sisters are named as defendants, because they are absent from the state and it was impossible to secure consent to be joined as plaintiffs. The real defendants are Angus, Bresse, Goodfellow and Crothers, trustees under the stolen will.

GOVERNOR EVANS DISGUSTED.

And Says the State Will Move for a Change of Venue.

A Columbia, S. C., special says: The administration is disgusted with the action of the grand jury of Charleston in refusing to find true bills against any of the persons charged with violating the dispensary law. The governor announces that the state will move for a change of venue from Charleston to Orangeburg in all other such cases. This will be the first time the state has availed itself of this right.

Meeting of Ohio Coal Dealers.

Over one hundred members of the Ohio Retail Coal Dealers' Association met at Dayton Wednesday in first annual convention with President S. J. Patterson in the chair. J. H. Crane, prominent manufacturer, made an address of welcome, answered by S. S. Bloom, of Shelby, the secretary.

BISHOP TURNER RETURNS

From Afric's Shores—Liberia the Negro's Paradise.

Bishop H. M. Turner arrived at New York Saturday from Africa, via England, on the Cunard steamer Etruria. The bishop has been in Africa in the interest of the African Methodist Episcopal church, of which he is a bishop. He has visited Bathurst, Sierra Leone, Liberia and otheir points in Africa.

He says the Horsa, the steamer which carried over 200 colored emigrants to Liberia from Savannah, Ga., in March last, arrived there safely and landed the colonists at Monrovia, the capital of the republic. Each head of a family was donated twenty-five acres of good farming land.

The bishop says that up to the time he left—about the middle of May—two very old members of the colony had died, each of whom was sick before leaving the United States, and three infants had died, but that the other emigrants were apparently doing well and were very hopeful. The bishop highly indorses the emigration movement. He says Liberia is a rich country, and the black man can there rise to any distinction without being hampered by reason of his color.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Situation as Reported for the Past Week.

The reports of industrial conditions in all parts of the south for the past week are to the effect that the favorable conditions of manufacturing and mercantile business have been increased by the advance in the price of iron and the firmness in quotations for all staple products. The large manufacturing concerns throughout the south will advance wages shortly, and some of them have already done so. Iron products of all kinds are advancing in sympathy with pig iron, the bar iron quotation having been advanced $1.00 during the week. Textile mills continue to be reported in large numbers, representing investments of local capital. The Tradesman's list of new cotton mills for the week includes a mill at Rock Hill, S. C., to cost $200,000, one at Goldsboro, N. C., capitalized at $100,000, one costing $75,000 at Wagener, S. C., and others at New Decatur, Ala., and Pulaski, Tenn. A $10,000 knitting mill is reported at Athens, Ga., and one at Durham, N. C. A large cotton mill is to be established at Birmingham, Ala., by removal from a northern point.

Among the important new industries established or incorporated in the southern states during the week are the Kanawaha Valley Coal Co., of Charleston, W. Va., capital $1,000,000; the Empire Coal Mining Co., of Ashboro, N.C., with $600,000 capital, and the Cotton Seed Delinting and Oil Co., of New Orleans, La., with $400,000 capital. A sugar mill to cost $250,000 is to be established at Henrietta, Texas, and a manufacturing company with the same capital at Savannah, Ga. The American Dolinter Co., capital $200,000, has been chartered at Little Rock, Ark.; the Linton Coated Paper Co., with the same capital, at Richmond, Va.; the Machine and Ship Building Co., capital $150,000, at New Orleans, La., and the R. M. McCoy Lumber Co., capital $125,000, at Helena, Ark. The Crown Hill Colliery Co. has been chartered at Crown Hill, W. Va., with $100,000 capital; the Economy Electric Co., capital $50,000, at Parkersburg, W. Va.; the Kenton Paper Co., with the same capital, at Louisville, Ky., and the McGregor Cotton Oil Co., capital $10,000, at McGregor, Texas.

There is also reported the organization at Big Sandy, Texas, of the Big Sandy Lumber Co., with $5,000 capital, of the Arcadia Lumber Co., capital $250,000, at Monroe, La., and of planing mills with $10,000 capital at Galveston, Texas. A $10,000 oil mill is to be built at Cullman, Ala., and implement works with the same capital have been organized at Chattanooga, Tenn. Cotton compresses are to be built at Arcadia, and Baton Rouge, La., and Chattanooga, Tenn.; electric lighting plants at Madisonville, Ky., and Bristol, Tenn.; flouring mills at Fort Smith, Ark., Charlotte, N. C., Deep Valley and Marion, Va., and Franklin, W. Va., and foundries and machine shops at Crowley, La., and Athens, Tenn. An oil mill is to be built at Ladonia, Texas, a tannery at Galveston, Texas, and woodworking plants at Riverside, Ala., Fannin and Jacksonville, Fla., Little Rock, Fort Smith and Helena, Ark., Athens, Ga., Dunn, Goldsboro and Thomasville, N. C., Monroe, La., Erwin, Tenn., and North River, Va.—Tradesman, (Chattanooga, Tenn.)

TO ENLARGE THE PARK.

More Land to be Added to Chickamauga Military Park.

Immediate steps will be taken by the United States government to acquire about one thousand acres of land adjoining the Chickamauga-Chattanooga National military park, and incorporate it with the park proper. Embraced in the coveted ground are the Cloud springs property, where the old federal hospital stood, and the Dixon and Hardaway farms. Much of the ground saw hard fighting, and was not far removed from the main struggle for the right of way to Chattanooga. Condemnation proceedings will be at once begun, perhaps in the United States court at Atlanta, inasmuch as the property is in Georgia.

The Jungfrau Road Assured.

The financing of the scheme for the construction of a railway up the Jungfrau mountain near Berne, Switzerland, is assured, and the work will be begun in the latter part of the present year.

A PAPER COMBINE.

Manufacturers of Newspaper Forming a Trust With Big Capital.

It has become known in Wall street, New York, that some of the manufacturers of paper for newspaper use have been planning to form a combination with a big capital. Their representatives have been talking with Wall street men with reference to financial plans. Some of those in the movement are reported to be the Manufacturers' Paper Company, represented by K. B. Fullerton; the Fall Mountain Paper Company, represented by a Mr. Russell; the Niagara Falls Paper Company and the Glen Manufacturing Company. There are also understood to be other companies, fifteen or twenty in all, mostly situated in New England and New York, which would go in should the project come to a head. So far nothing definite has been settled. There has been talk of a capitalization of $20,000,000 with $10,000,000 in bonds. The combination, if formed, would probably be a big newspaper trust, and possibly, if its shares were listed on the stock exchange, might rival other big industrials as a subject for active speculation.

M'LAUGHLIN SENTENCED.

New York's Ex-Police Inspector Given a Term in Prison.

At New York, Wednesday, Judge Barrett sentenced Police Inspector McLaughlin to two years and six months in the state prison upon his conviction of the charge of extortion. Judge Barrett, in passing sentence, said:

"I shall not at this time add to the weight of your humiliation by a single harsh expression. In truth I have nothing in my heart but regret for a wrecked life. In considering what punishment will be adequate, I have sought all reasonable grounds for the exercise of clemency. I realize that your conviction carried with it to an unusual degree, its own punishment. I recognize also the fact that in your case a just verdict was perhaps of greater consequence than any individual penalty, for such a verdict tends to fortify and uphold public faith in the efficacy of the law, even when dealing with great and all-pervading influences.

Iowa Prohibitionists Meet.

The Iowa state prohibition convention met at Des Moines Wednesday morning with about 300 delegates present. The men mentioned for governor are W. K. Brown, of Ames; Frank Evans, of Des Moines, and B. F. Wright, of Charles City.

Chilton county still helps to run the U. S. Courts, Robt. Marlar is under bond to await the action of the next Grand Jury on a charge of illicit distilling.

The Gov. has appointed Hon. N. B. Feagin to be Judge of the Birmingham Inferior court; vice Judge Montgomery who was declared ineligible. Judge Feagin is one of the best and most able citizens of our commonwealth.

The Hartselle Enquirer has entered upon its ninth Volume, A little more than eight years ago we knew Asa Rountree as a bright and ambitious boy. He had the courage to launch a newspaper at Hartselle which to many seemed a hopeless undertaking. But with a bright word always for the people, he has constantly pulled ahead for the Enquirer; Hartselle. Morgan county and Alabama until he has gotten thoroughly established, and publishes one of the best papers in the state. He is one of our most useful young men and his recent happy marriage will but add to his usefulness.

While at Peekskill, N. Y., Mr. J. A Ferlven, a prominent manufacturer of New York City, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Such good results were obtained from its use that he sent back to the druggist from whom he had obtained it for two bottles of the same remedy. When you have a cough or cold give this preparation a trial and like Mr. Scriven you will want it when again in need of such a medicine. It is a remedy of great worth and merit. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Clanton Drug Store Clanton; and McNeill & Smith; Jemison, Ala.

Rev. S. M. Adams, who is perhaps one of the strongest men among the Populists is emphatically against his party fusing with either the Republican or Democratic party. He believes in calling to their aid every patriotic citizen who favors a pure ballot etc. In other words he is not in favor of office seekers making his people cats paws. While we fail to see eye to eye in all matters with Mr. Adams, yet we respect his convictions which we are sure he honestly entertains.

LILY LOQUACITY.

A picnic at Mr. Walker's last Saturday.

PARENTS, TRAIN YOUR BOYS.

It would seem that we are now living in a very fast age, as though old Father Time had quickened his gait and increased the facilities for of landing people at the various stations of advanced age, before they reach the proper maturity of manhood, both mental and physical, to act for themselves in a manner which would be most beneficial to them now and hereafter.

It is quite certain that the laws of nature have not changed, but the trouble lies in the parents of our country, who fail to take the proper interest in the mental, moral and physical development of their children.

As to the girls of our country we are making no criticisms, as they probably possess that degree of perfection that they could not be improved upon, at least to morality, and in this they would be a splendid standard to which the minds of the boys should be trained.

They get their moral training from their mothers, and it is instinctive of them to appreciate and practice that training; but where do the boys get their moral training?

The parents of our country may, and doubtless do, think, each to himself, that his boys are not deficient along this line, and that it is always somebody's else child that is responsible when an immoral demonstration comes to light.

The fact is, the boys of this day and time are allowed to pass through the stage when they receive the most lasting impressions associating with those whose company they find most congenial to their boyish dispositions, absorbing as it were, the moral atmosphere in which they live, without having instilled into them the finer qualities and sensibilities which go to make up great and good men.

In order for a man to naturally do good he must have an appreciation for that which is good, and a of all noble traits which parents would be delighted to have characterize their sons when they become men.

No good man ever did right because he feared the law, but because it was his pleasure to do right.

Many young men never appreciate good morals, only because they have never been blessed with a father to instill into the correct idea of good morals.

The parents who have boys coming on up toward manhood—who will soon be on the threshold of life, should awake to the situation and do their duty to their children and to their country as well as to obey the mandates of holy writ as to moral training.

Timber Trespassers in Jail.

Among the indictments found by the recent Calhoun county circuit court grand jury at Jacksonville, were three against persons charged with stealing timber, who had been cutting trees for tan bark and for other purposes from the lands of the Alabama Mineral Land company. Two of the parties have been arrested and are now in the Jacksonville jail, while one other is reported still at large. A few months ago The Hot Blast published an account of the trial and conviction of twelve timber thieves in Talladega county for stealing ties from the lands of the same company, and notice was then given that the company intended "to let no guilty man escape," and they are evidently following out that policy.

It may be that these three men were not readers of this paper, and did not read that very interesting item which might have saved them several months confinement in jail, and perhaps a few years in the penitentiary. Moral: Read your county paper and do not steal timber from the lands of the Alabama Mineral land company unless you want to serve a term in jail and the penitentiary.

Hot Blast.

ADVERTISING YOUR PARENTS.

The editor was in a company of strangers in an adjoining county one day, and heard parties discuss the recent attendants at a Teacher's Meeting. They referred to one young man whose host was outraged because of the low, mean and indecent jokes perpetrated by him and were surprised that any community would put over their children a man so badly reared, and with so little appreciation of the responsibilities of a teacher. We were greatly pained because that young man's parents were known to us as among the most painstaking, cultivated and upright parents in the land. The young man by associating with the low and vile had become like them and was thus misrepresenting his devoted and good parents.

This but adds new emphasis to the oft repeated, but none the less true, statement "Evil communications corrupt good manners."

There are boys and young men in Clanton of good parentage and home training who are thoughtlessly forming associations which will ruin them. You need not think that you can associate with the low and escape the observation of the public, or come off unscathed.

The darkness of night cannot hide you. Public sentiment may be slow in crystalizing, but after a while it will place you where your own conduct has suggested. For the sake of your mother's heed the warning we give you.

MAPLESVILLE MUSIC.

DO YOU WANT TO STOP TOBACCO?

You can be Cured While Using It.

The habit of using tobacco grows on a man until grave diseased conditions are produced. Tobacco causes cancer of the mouth and stomach; dyspepsia; loss of memory; nervous affections; congestion of the retina, and wasting of the optic nerve, resulting in impairment of vision, even to the extent of blindness; dizziness, or vertigo; tobacco asthma; nightly suffocation; dull pain in the region of the heart, followed later by sharp pains, palpitation and weakened pulse, resulting in fatal heart disease.

It causes loss of vitality.

QUIT BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE.

To quit suddenly is too severe a shock to the system, as tobacco—to an inveterate user, becomes a stimulant that his continually craves. "BACCO-CURO" is a scientific and reliable vegetable remedy which has been use for the last 23 years having cured thousands of habitual tobacco users—smokers, chewers and snuff dipppers.

YOU CAN USE ALL THE TOBACCO YOU WANT, WHILE TAKING "BACO-CURO," IT WILL NOTIFY YOU WHEN TO STOP WE GIVE A WRITEN GUARANTEE to permanently cure any case with three boxes, refund the money with 10 per cent interest.

"BACO-CURO" is not a substitute, but a reliable and scientific cure—which absolutely destroys the craving for tobacco without the aid of will power, and with no inconvenience. It leaves the system as pure and free from nicotine as the day of your first chew or smoke.

Sold by all druggist at $1 00 per box three boxes (thirty days treatment and GAURATEED CURE,) $2.50, or sent direct upon receipt of price. SEND SIX TWO CENT STAMPS FOR SAMPLE BOX BOOKLET AND PROOFS FREE. Eureka Chemical & Manufacturing Company, Manufacturing Chemists, La Crosse Wisconsin.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

The following are the times and places where the Clanton people worship. At the Baptist church every 3rd Sunday morning and night, Prayer meeting Tuesday nights. At the Episcopal church every 5th S. and Tuesday nights after 3rd Sundays. At the Methodist church every 2nd and 4th Sundays, morning and night, Prayer meeting on Wednesday night.

LOCAL BREVITIES

We regret to know that Mrs. Ben Lindsey continues very ill.

Mr. W. D. Sartor has returned from a visit to his son, Eugene at Donaldson, Ga.

Uncle Tommie Weldon, of Kincheon was in Clanton Saturday.

Miss Minnie Phillips is visiting relatives at Wadsworth.

Several of our young men spent a couple of days at Walker's Mill pond last and this week.

Prof. Glass has who been in our town for nearly a year left Tuesday for his home in Virginia.

Mr. Duncan from Louisville Ky., is visiting Dr. Stewart and family.

Mrs. Logan of Verbena visited her sisters here last Monday.

Every body is invited to carry a basket to the picnic today (Thursday) at Duke's Mill Pond.

Hon. J. G. Harris delivered a well timed address to a large audience in the Baptist church last Monday night. The tenets of Masonry were well expounded and emphasized. The installation exercises were enjoyed. The choir had some choice selections for the occasion.

Prof. J. P. Gore is selling a book which the View would be pleased to see in every home in this county. It is the "Peerless Reciter or Popular Programe." The book is filled with beautiful selections and illustrations.

We regret to learn that little Miss Engsley Gilchrist is very low.

Mr. J. M. Stanfield is steadily improving.

Mr. Durward Foshee is at home from the State University. He is a universal favorite with the people of Clanton and we are all, glad to know of the good stand he maintained in College.

Rev Mr. Scott from Elmore preached in the Methodist church last Sunday.

The View is requested to announce that there will be preaching at the Baptist church at 11 O'clock Sunday next by the pastor and at 8 P. M. by Rev. G. S. Anderson of Auburn. Baptism at night if candidates are ready.

The Theological Institute is being entertained by the citizens of Jemison.

The friends of Mr. L. C. Day, of Jemison, will be glad to know that as bookkeeper he is highly esteemed by his employers. Recently the Hand Bros. as a mark of their appreciation, presented him with a handsome gold watch. Mr Day is also Justice of the Peace for Jemison Beat and is giving splendid satisfaction in that position.

Grading has begun on the new road for the saw mill at Lomax and Mr. C. J. Stewart informs that he can work several more men than he now has.

Misses Ella Strahan and Jennei Coburn of Ware, have been visiting Mr and Mrs. Hinkle.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

I have two little grand children who are teething this hot summer weather and are troubled with bowel complaint. I give them Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and it acts like a charm. I earnestly recommend it for children with bowel troubles. I was myself taken with a severe attack of bloody flux, with cramps and pains in my stomach, one-third of a bottle of this remedy cured me. Within twenty-four hours I was out of bed and doing my house work. Mrs. W. L. Dunagan, Bonaqua, Hickman Co. Tenn. For sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and Smith & McNeill, Jemison, Ala.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

On the 7th of June Mr. J. R. Hill lost, by death, his mother, Mrs. Parker of Columbiana. She was a splendid woman whose Godly influence is seen in the lives of her children.

By an unpardonable oversight the View neglected last week to write up the delightful party given by Master John Evans to his little friends. For nearly two hours the little tots played and feasted and decided they "had a nice time."

I will sell on easy terms 240 acres of farm lands near Vine Hill, Autauga county.

C. W. Hare.

The View regrets to know that Prof. J. L. Ruffin has determined to leave our county. As a teacher and a citizen he has been of untold profit to the county. Seeking to imitate the Great teacher he has endeavored both by precept and example to help his pupils reach upward to a higher conception of what life means. Best wishes for his success and happiness follow him to his Western home.

Prof. H. L. Hicks has been employed to succeed Prof. Ruffin at Jemison. Mr. Hicks is a graduate of Howard College, has several years experience and we trust will receive the enthusiastic co-operation of his patrons.

RESOLUTIONS.

In view of the fact that by the marriage and removal to Texas, of Miss Ella Gartman, the Elite, Literary and Musical Society has lost an earnest and worthy member, therefore be it

Resolved. That we extend to her many thanks for her zeal in the interest of the Society and her efficiency in the performance of duty; and as she goes from us to meet the realities of life, may her pathway be strewn with the brightest flowers that bloom 'neath southern skies. Ever attended by Heaven's most rich and choice blessings, let it be our unanimous wish that her life be one innovation of sweet pleasure.

Resolved. That she be furnished a copy of these resolutions, and, that a copy be preserved as part of the records of this Society.

Summer hats for ladies, gentlemen girls, and boys at W. I. Mullins.

Everything needed in the line of undertakers goods for sale by W. I. Mullins.

W. I. Mullins has brought to Clanton one of the best assortment of ready made clothing ever placed on this market.

While in Topeka last March, E. T. Barber, a prominent newspaper man of La Cygne, Kan., was taken with cholera morbus very severely. The night clerk at the hotel where he was stopping happened to have a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and gave him three doses which relieved him and he thinks saved his life. Every family should keep this remedy in their home at all times. No one can tell how soon it may be needed. It cost but a trifle and may be the means of saving much suffering and perhaps the life of some member of the family. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton and McNeill, Jemison, Ala.

The summer is at hand and your wife and daughter need nice low cut shoes. W. I. Mullins is ready to supply the need.

To encourage the farmers to raise more grasses and small grain W. I. Mullins has taken the agency for McCormick's Reaper and Mowers. These machines will more than pay for themselves in a season. A sample machine on exhibition in his house.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION'S PRIZE ACRE.

$500,00 in Cash for Farmers—A Handsome Reward for the Plows of 1895.

We take pleasure in presenting The Constitution's $500 offer for the farmers of 1895. The prize consists of $100 in cash for the best acre of cotton, corn, tobacco, watermelons or sweet potatoes.

The announcement is made before the planting of the crop so as to enable all who will to take part in the contest.

Entries may be made up to June 1st, and by that time every contestant must enter his name with The Constitution and state which acre he will compete for.

In ever circular The Constitution frankly states that the care taken in the preparation of the land, the selection of [illegible] fertilizers, a record of costs and dates of plowing and other cultivation, and a careful record of the heavy rainfalls, the periods of droughts and all the other data, giving the history of the crop from the breaking of the soil to the harvesting, will be an object lesson of vast importance to every contestant, whether he wins the prize or not. This is a practical demonstration that a farm run on the intensive plan by giving careful attention to the thorough cultivation of a few acres properly rather than the poor cultivation of a large area will be far better than a reduction of farm acreage by resolutions.

The offer is made to encourage the raising of home supplies and illustrate the south's great possibilities in agriculture and to stimulate the proper cultivation of every possible acre to a to the independence of the farmer.

The prizes will be awarded by three competent judges, recognized as high authority in agricultural Matters.

The terms are breifly these: Every contestant must be a subscriber to The Weekly Constitution. He must keep a record of The Constitution's acre upon a blank, which will be furnished him free upon application. The contest is open to every southern farmer.

By special arrangement with The Constitution we offer the View with The Weekly Constitution for $1,50 or if you already have our paper, send us $1 and we will send you The Constitution one year. We are pleased to say that our neighbor in Georgia is perhaps the greatest of all American weekly newspapers. Its seventy two columns each week, which will be increased to eighty four shortly, come brim full of the latest news of the world, and many excellent features of special interest to the state, besides its well conducted departments for the farm and the household.

Every subscription recieved through us will entitle the subscriber to enter the prize acre contest as well as to guess in the $2,000 contest, closing May 1st.

This is an extraordinary opportunity to procure two good newspapers for a cent, one to supply the county news in the quickest and best possible shape and the other to bring weekly the news of the world, teeming with political current history, farmers' notes and everything else that will interest every member of the family.

You will find no better season to subscribe nor any greater offer than the present.

POCKET ELECTROPOISE.
Rev. Robert B. Morrow, of Oxford, Ala Declares That it Has Never Failed When Used as Directed.

I have had one of your Pocket Electropoises in my family for more than two years. I have used it for a great many different ills, and carefully noted the results. I have never seen it used as directed without great benefit. I purchased the Poise at first for my wife, who has suffered with dyspepsia all her life sometimes spitting up every meal for months. She is now entirely free from this evil, has not spit up her food from dyspepsia for two years.

There may be those who have faithfully used the Poise and received no benefit, but in my family for two years it has done all you promised for it. Yours sincerely

New Substitute for Butter.

The latest substitute for butter is said to be a product made from petroleum, but by what name it is to be known we have not learned. Petroleum is put to many uses, and in the exhibit at the World's fair there were over eighty different oils made from it including "imported pure olive." It is all right to use science in as many ways as possible in the aid of humanity, but it is entirely wrong to put fraudulent products on the market and call them genuine. If we are to have a new substitute for butter let it be called by some different name.

Change of Life.

When a woman approaches the change of life she is liable to have a return of all the menstrual derangements, and other ailments that afflicted her in former years. The direct action of McElree's Wine of Cardui on the organs afflicted, make it the best remedy for use during this period.

Mrs. D. Pennington, West Plains, Mo., says: "I had been suffering from change of life and it took the form of dropsy. The doctors told my husband it was useless to prescribe for me any more. About that time we got Dr. McElree's book on the treatment of female diseases and decided to try the Wine of Cardui Treatment. After using nine bottles, I am well."

Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Bad Breath, Debility, Sour Stomach, Want of Appetite, Distress After Eating, and all evils arising from a weak or disordered stomach. It builds up from the first dose, and a bottle or two will cure the worst cases, and insure a good appetite, excellent digestion and result in vigorous health and buoyancy of spirits. There is no better way to insure good health and a long life than to keep the stomach right. Tyner's Dyspepsia Remedy is guaranteed to do this. The Tranquilizing After-Dinner Drink. WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

ROYAL ETIQUETTE IN JAPAN.

When Her Majesty, the Empress of Japan, drives, no one is permitted to look at her from the windows, or chinks in the doors, or any other part of the house, but must sit down by the side of the street through which she passes. Every man and woman or child must doff hat or cap as she goes by, with the exception of ladies in European dress, who are permitted to remain covered.

CHECKMATING THE BIG HAT CRUSADERS.

That Indiana woman who refused to let two young men "scrouge" past her between acts "to go out and see a man" has had greatness thrust upon her, writes Jeannette H. Walworth. But the question that has been agitating my mind ever since I read about her heroic stand against a crying evil is, what sort of theatre hat did Miss Muncie have on when she threw herself into the breach for the preservation of theatre manners.—New York Mail and Express.

WASH RIBBONS.

Wash ribbons for underclothes are a novelty that will be hailed with delight by many a girl. It takes a plenteous purse, indeed, to supply fresh ribbons after laundering, and removal of the ribbons each time the garment is put in wash means the expenditure of much time and trouble. Very often, too, the ribbons become as soiled after a few days' wearing as does the garment itself. The wash ribbon solves the problem most satisfactorily. It neither fades nor puckers, however rubbed and soaked, and comes out from its bath as regenerated as lace and cambric themselves. Pinks, blues, yellows and lavenders are its chosen colors, and its prices are from fifty cents per piece to $2.50, according to the widths.—New York Advertiser.

A WOMAN'S TRICK ON A MILLINER.

Mrs. Mary Friedman, who keeps a millinery store at 403 South Broadway, was the victim of a swindling trick on Thursday. A woman purchased a hat from her, the price of which was $6.50. She told Mrs. Friedman that she did not have the money with her, but if Mrs. Friedman would go with her to her home, 1222 Bank street, she would give her the price of the hat. Mrs. Friedman accompanied the stranger and carried the hat in her hand. Upon arriving at 1222 the woman apparently made an effort to open the door. She then told Mrs. Friedman that the door was locked, but she would take the hat, go in the back way, return to the front door, and hand Mrs. Friedman the money. The hat was given to her, the woman disappeared up an alley at the side of the house, and has not been seen since. Mrs. Dippel, the occupant of the house, knew nothing of the woman.—Baltimore Sun.

STATELINESS IN WOMEN.

Stateliness in women proceeds from sources somewhat different from stateliness in men. It is much more independent, to begin with, of outward gifts. Not to mention our own Queen, who, as people who are not courteous affirm, can be stately to awfulness, and Queen Isabella, of Spain, who, in spite of her history and her bulk, is regal to an unusual degree, it is certain that the stateliness of Maria Theresa impressed all who came in contact with her, and certain also that no man as homely and unreserved as she was, in speech and bearing, would have been credited with stateliness.

It seems to be more allied in women than in men with independence of mind, or a sense that the will is its own justification, an absence, that it, of fear of external influence. The personality suffices to itself, and therefore there is stateliness. That is, we fancy, the secret reason why stateliness in women annoys most men, and many of the same sex. They think they ought to be more influential, and resent what they consider to be aloofness. Unapproachableness, which of course is one of the conditions of stateliness, irritates men in women, being, in fact, a faint affront to their amour propre, and we think many women feel that, too. At least, we notice that this form of praise, whenever it is given to women, is a little cold, and that the reverence a stately woman excites is apt to be a little chilly.

There is a reason for that in nature, the first function of a woman being to attract, and a reason, too, in the confusion which most men make in their thoughts when they are thinking of women, that stateliness must indicate either hauteur or unkindliness. Very often it is not so at all, some of the sweetest women being stately; when a man, or, for that matter, a woman, attributes to a woman stateliness, there is seldom complete cordiality in the eulogistic word.—The Spectator.

HOW TO MEET THE QUEEN.

As so many American ladies are presented at the British Court nowadays, it will be perhaps, both useful and apropos to give a few of the rules that govern every ceremonial of the kind that is held at Buckingham Palace, and for these rules I am indebted to Lady Constance Howard.

There are always present officials at the drawing room whose business it is to note any irregularity in dress and to inform the wearer. These officials have powers to prevent anyone inappropriately dressed from entering the royal presence. Full court dress for ladies consists in an evening gown cut low, with court bodice, short sleeves and long train. In other respects the dress may follow the current fashions.

Those who wish to wear a high court bodice must obtain her Majesty's permission to do so through the Lord Chamberlain. The headdress must consist of plumes and a veil. There must not be less than three ostrich feathers, either white or black, in case of mourning. A few years ago colored feathers were worn, but this inclination to deviate from old customs was rigorously repressed. Plumes must be worn so that they can be clearly seen when approaching her Majesty. The veils, or lappets, must also be either black or white. The old-fashioned lace lappets are now adopted by few, tulle veils generally taking their place. These are generally a yard and a half long, and the latest fashion is high on the head, securely pinning them back with jeweled ornaments.

White gloves are the only kind allowed, except in cases of mourning, when black or gray may be worn.

When first tan gloves became fashionable a few made their appearance at court, but were promptly tabooed.

A handkerchief and fan must be held in the left hand, and bouquets are now generally carried, but they are not essential.

These laws are as unalterable as those traditional ones governing the Medes and Persians, and any deviation from the code brings down the condign displeasure of her Majesty. The royal curtsey is also a most delicate and difficult gymnastic exercise. The body must be inclined much lower than the person of the sovereign, so that, now that the Majesty receives her guests seated the royal obeisance must be very low indeed. In order to do this gracefully the back must be kept stiff, the figure erect above the waist and the knees bent as low as possible. For the rheumatic or gouty chaperone this genuflexion must be simply agonizing.—New York Mail and Express.

FASHION NOTES.

The changeable taffetas are the most approved silks for linings.

The bodices of smart tailor gowns are a trifle shorter than they were in the winter.

The black material known as wool and mohair jacquard is almost as popular as crepon.

There are many new basket-woven materials and various new designs in fine-faced cloth.

Cornflower blue will be worn throughout the summer in all woolen and fancy materials.

The new taffetas, many of them, show spots of vivid scarlet on a ground of white, yellow or black, and green on violet.

A charming toque has the crown made of violet leaves with bunches of violets in front and a cascade of violets at the back.

Pierced cloths with their self-colored embroideries designed to be made over bright-hued silks continue to hold their own.

Some of the bonnets are made of the most brilliant straws imaginable—bright geranium pink, cornflower yellow and bright greens.

Very dainty trimming for dimities and other washable goods is supplied by nainsook in pink, blue, heliotrope, yellow and other light colors.

Many undeniable correct dresses have their skirts and sleeves to match, the rest of the bodice not even harmonizing with skirt and sleeves.

Combs, pins and hair ornaments of all descriptions are worn. As many as twelve hairpins and combs have been seen in the newest coiffures.

One of the new ideas this season is to trim silk parasols with ruffles of lace almost up to the very top, the lace being put on in a zigzag fashion.

The shoe that promises to be one of the most popular is the one with the opera toe. In patent, plain and tan leathers the opera toe is to be found in plenty.

Some of the new lace and embroidered net veils are so thickly covered that they have the effect of a mask and render the features beneath unrecognizable.

Blouse effects in front are seen on many of the French importations, and, if properly handled are very becoming, even to large women, as they tend to decrease the size of the hips.

To gain an artistic effect it is absolutely necessary to avoid any appearance of lines running around the room. The pictures must be hung in such a way as to break all straight lines.

A rival of chiffon for bodices is chiffonette, which resembles silk mull, though somewhat softer, and has a white ground, enlivened with embroidered pink, blue, yellow or white dots.

A dainty satin slipper, with miniature silver buckles, which may be replaced by those made of gold, set off with many tiny brilliants, is worn by swell society women of New York on special occasions.

Edges and insertions of Renaissance lace with linen centres are the newest effects for summer bureau covers, table centres, sideboard scarfs, etc. Honiton work is the modish design for table doylies.

Black and white parasols are exceedingly smart, not the black and white striped ones so much as those of black trimmed with white, though stripes and brocades showing the two tones are seen trimmed with ruffles of black and white lace.

The most attractive side combs reach from the temple and run half way back. The shell and amber combs are for use, not ornament, and are for ordinary wear; the wearer of jewelled ones shows her good taste by donning them only on dress occasions.

No Longer Use Green Glass.

It is known, says the London News, that the use of glass of a green tint has for half a century been a characteristic peculiarity of the plant houses at Kew Gardens. In 1889 the experiment was made of substituting white glass for green in the east wing of the tropical fernhouse. This was the result of the observation of the successful cultivation by Sir Trevor Lawrence of ferns with full exposure to the light at Burford, near Dorking. The improvement in the growth of the plants was remarkable. In 1892 a portion of the west wing was also reglazed in the same manner and the new temperate fernhouse was wholly glazed with white glass. The result with the gleichenias and other half-hardy ferns was everything that could be desired. As the result it has now been determined to abandon the future use of green glass altogether.

The "Witch Tree."

The "witch tree" of Nevada and Southern California exudes or exhales a phosphorescent substance which makes every branch, leaf and section of its bark visible on the darkest night.—Chicago Times-Herald.

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

FERTILIZER FOR CORN AND POTATOES.

The Massachusetts Experiment Station recommends 500 pounds dissolved bone black, 200 pounds nitrate of soda and 250 pounds muriate of potash per acre, for corn. For potatoes, 500 pounds dissolved bone black, 200 pounds nitrate of soda and 250 pounds high grade sulphate of potash. The standard brands of corn and potato fertilizers (complete manures) will also furnish these elements in equally as good or better forms.—American Agriculturist.

HOW MUCH DRY FODDER?

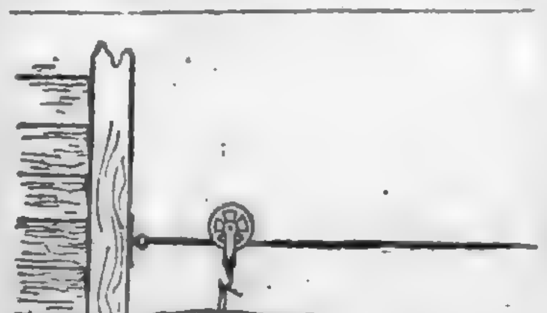
The quantity of dry fodder given to a cow may be fifteen to twenty pounds daily. It depends on what other feed is given, as if part of the feed is ensilage, or roots, or much grain is given, less hay will be needed. But if hay and grain alone are used, the feed may be twenty pounds of each, or two-thirds of hay and one-third meal. It is best to have the grain ground as finely as possible, and the food is best digested when the hay is cut into chaff and wetted and the meal is mixed with it. The food is then better masticated; and this first digestive process, when best done, aids the other digestive organs to do their work.—American Farmer.

PRUNING GRAPEVINES.

All the lower portions of the main shoots are comparatively naked, and the few stronger branches grow from the upper portion of the vine, but a well-pruned vine will be covered with strong branches from the base to the summit. This is really the leading object in grapevine pruning but not one in a hundred knows how to bring it about. It is wholly accomplished by summer pruning. The upper branches are usually the strongest, and if let to run they will draw the nourishment from all the rest. The well-instructed grape pruner watches his vines during the season of growth, and whenever any one branch is inclined to grow stronger than its neighbor, it is either pinched back in order to check its ambition or else broken off entirely. The social problem of the "rich becoming richer and the poor poorer" applies here. We check the strong branch, and the weaker is strengthened thereby.—Meehan's Monthly.

A MILKPAIL TROLLEY.

I have a wire stretched from my stable to the dairyhouse for carrying milk. The wire is seventy-five yards long and of quarter-inch steel. A trolley wheel was made from an old Singer sewing machine. A pair of small blocks hook on to the trolley, also a hook underneath for the milk can. The wire is drawn taut to clear the ground in the centre, where a wire naturally sags. A boy ten years old can thus care for fifteen to twenty gallons of milk with ease. My wire has been in use four years, and has been worn more by the children riding it than dispatching milk.—Farm and Home.



SHALLOW CULTURE FOR CORN.

I would advise fall plowing in case the land was stubble or meadow. Plow six to seven inches deep in the fall, but in the spring five inches is sufficient. The rougher the surface of fall-plowed ground the better. Pulverize, compact and level the seed-bed. Plant any time between May 1 and 23. As far as yield is concerned, there is very little difference between hill and drill planting, but it is usually advisable to check the corn, as it can then be kept clean easier. The thickness of planting will depend upon the use. In drilling where grain alone is desired, plant in rows three and two-third feet apart, one kernel to every foot. If the corn is to be fed as fodder, plant thicker, putting in one kernel to every six or nine inches. In hill planting endeavor to get four kernels in each hill. Harrow immediately before planting, as this destroys all weeds and enables the plants to get a good start before cultivation is necessary. Cultivate the ground, beginning with a slant-toothed harrow, and keep the ground free from weeds during the entire season, using a shallow cultivator. Experiments made at the Illinois station for a number of years show that an increased yield of almost six bushels per acre has resulted from shallow cultivation. The crossing of varieties has increased the yield. This may be accomplished by planting different kinds in alternate rows. Although corn has been grown at the station on one plot continuously for nineteen years with fair results, a rotation is absolutely necessary for corn raising. The following five-year rotation is desirable: Beginning with a meadow or clover sod, plant to corn two years, then seed to oats or wheat for one year, following with grass or clover for two years, and then put again in corn.—New England Homestead.

THE TERRIBLE BUFFALO GNAT.

The buffalo gnat and its relative, the turkey gnat, are rightly feared by the owners of stock in the Mississippi valley, where they have in the past created great havoc. These gnats are related to the black fly of the North, and the Hungarian gnat. The buffalo gnat gets its name not from any special fondness for the buffalo, but because of a fancied resemblance to that animal, which can easily be perceived upon looking at the insect sideways. It has an immense thorax which forms a hump on the neck; its head is depressed, as if in the act of butting, and is equipped with two short, horn-like antennae. The turkey gnat derives its appellation from the fact that it usually appears at the time turkeys are setting. These gnats range over the valley from Red River to St. Louis, infesting the rivers, bayous and low lands. South of Red River they are comparatively scarce.

The first comers of the swarm are active and bloodthirsty, but they soon decrease in numbers, and gradually peg out; then another swarm is apt to put in an appearance. The duration of the visitation is from a few days to five or six weeks. During rain, or a cool spell they are dormant; hot weather kills them. Blood sucking, which is their only occupation, finally destroys them. Low, moist ground and thickets are their haunts; they avoid sunny spots. The favorite time for attack is a dark, cloudy day, when rain is threatened. Then let the objects of their rapacity beware; with surprising activity and suddenness they swoop down upon an animal which may approach their ambuscade, do their sanguinary work and retreat with equal rapidity. While showing a singular preference for mule blood, they will attack horses, cows, cattle, sheep, fowls—in fact, all domestic and wild animals—which become frantic from pain and rush about seeking to rid themselves of the pestiferous creatures. The effects of the bites are much the same as the symptoms of rattlesnake poisoning. It has been observed that where the bitten animals do not die from early attacks upon them they do not suffer so much from later assaults.

THE BUFFALO GNAT.

The attacks of the buffalo gnat are not confined to animals. There are on record instances of the destruction of human life by their bites. Dr. Brumby, of Louisiana, reported a case of death of a woman in Madison Parish, in 1888, from this cause. H. A. Winter, while passing along low ground near Helena, Ark., in 1884, was the victim of a large swarm of buffalo gnats, and is said to have died in a few minutes from the poison. The extent of damage wrought by these little fiends is shown by the statement that in 1866 400 horses and mules were killed in the parishes of Madison, Tensas and Concordia. In 1874 stock to the estimated value of $500,000 was destroyed in Southwest Tennessee.—New Orleans Picayune.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

A cockerel or pullet becomes a cock or hen when over a year old.

If your hens don't lay by this time chop their heads off and start in again.

Don't forget to give the hens a daily supply of grass. They have been pining for it all winter.

It is a good plan to thoroughly whitewash the interior of your hen house. It is a good lice killer.

Salt for cattle is more important in summer than in winter. When the cows are on grass salt will be highly relished by them, as it serves to keep them in health.

Do not be afraid to thin out the fruit. Trees that are loaded down are liable to be injured. The largest and best fruit is grown on trees that are not permitted to overbear.

There is nothing like a clover patch for the pigs. They will not only keep in better health on clover than when confined, but will grow fast and cost less than when they are fed on grain and require feeding three times a day.

Do not be too economical with potato seed. When cutting the seed leave large pieces to the eyes. It is considered an advantage to use whole potatoes, or cut them in half by some. Do not cut the potatoes into small pieces.

Cut straw can be more evenly distributed as bedding for cattle than whole straw, and it will serve better as an absorbent when added to the manure heap. The labor required to cut it is not as great an expense as the loss from manure when the starw is uncut.

Good farming pays because it enables the land to bear better crops in the future. Hundreds of farmers who may have lost money one year find that they have made a profit the next because their efforts did not bring forth fruit until later. There is wealth in the soil that is stored up for use during successive seasons.

May is an excellent month for hatching chickens. The eggs will give better results, and the chicks will be more easily raised, owing to the advantages of the warm season and less liability of loss from cold and exposure. Let the hens hatch out a large lot of chicks, as there will be quite a number that will die from various causes, cats, hawks, and other enemies thinning them out.

Demand for Antique Coins.

Jewelers say that a curious demand has sprung up for antique coins. No one in whose breast this desire has come is content with copies. The thing is the real coin. This is set in a hollow rim of gold or silver and mounted as clasps, charms, pendants or sleeve buttons. The dealers in these give lists of the coins. Some are more valuable than others. The most beautiful are the silver Greek coins, coined 600 B. C. The drachmas and didrachmas are used for scarf pins and charms.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Incubation Period of Diseases.

The Clinical Society of London, wishing to establish a period of incubation for various diseases, instituted a series of investigations with the following results:

Diphtheria.—In this disease the incubation period does not as a rule exceed four days and is more often two days. It may also extend to five, six and seven days. The infection may take place at any time in the course of the disease. Mild cases may spread it.

Typhoid Fever.—This may vary within wide limits twelve to fourteen days, but not infrequently it is less. As the disease is usually introduced into the system by food and drink, it is not carried from one person to another, but several may get it from the same source. Contaminated water and milk is the usual cause.

Epidemic Influenza or "Grippe."—The shortest incubation period in this disease is from a few hours to three or four days. It generally strikes suddenly and without warning. A patient may carry infection throughout the whole course of the disease.

Measles.—The incubation period of measles is usually short. It is counted from the date of the eruption, which decides the disease.

Mumps.—The incubation period of mumps is rather long, from one to two weeks, and the chances of infection diminish daily.

Rubeola, Rotheln, or German Measles.—This has a long incubation period, like ordinary measles, and its infectivity diminishes in a day or two after the rash disappears.

Variola or Smallpox.—The incubation period of this disease is from one to three days.

Varicella, or chickenpox, has a period of incubation slightly longer than variola.—Scientific American.

A Pair of Them.

He was an oldish man, with a good-natured face and a weed on his hat, and he sat down in a Baker street car beside another oldish man, with a good-natured face and a weed on his hat. They looked up at each other and smiled, and the first comer querried:

"Wife, I take it?"

"Yes, and you?"

"The same."

"Bad, isn't it?"

"Very bad."

"But time——"

"Time is a great healer."

"And in due time both of us——"

And he winked.

And a woman across the aisle, with a faint show of mourning on, looked out of the window and sighed and said:

The rheumatic pains have left him.

Foul breath is a discourager of affection. It is always an indication of poor health—bad digestion. To bad digestion is traceable almost all human ills. It is the starting point of many very serious maladies. Upon the healthy action of the digestive organs, the blood depends for its richness and purity. If digestion stops, poisonous matter accumulates and is forced into the blood—there is no place else for it to go.

The bad breath is a danger signal. Look out for it! If you have it, or any other symptom of indigestion, take a bottle or two of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It will straighten out the trouble, make your blood pure and healthy and full of nutriment for the tissues.

using soap, long ago.

This one stopped because—well, we'll have to guess why. Perhaps, because it gave him too much work to do. That's what everybody thinks, for that matter, when there's nothing but soap at hand, and there's a good deal of dirt to be removed from anything.

But this one stopped because she had found something better than soap—Pearline. Something easier, quicker, simpler, more economical. No rubbing to speak of, no wear—easy work and money saved, whether it's washing clothes, cleaning house, or any kind of washing and cleaning.

HARDIN WINS.

NAMED FOR GOVERNOR OF KENTUCKY BY THE CONVENTION.

He Is for Free Silver—Only One Ballot Taken.

The Kentucky democratic convention called to order at Louisville Tuesday was the biggest, most excited and turbulent that the history of the party has ever known. In attendance it surpassed any other held for a generation.

Interest in the currency question is so great that every delegate present had his nerves strained to the last degree of tension. Yet with all the desire for harmony was evident from the start. Never before were there so many complications, for the flood of candidates crossed and recrossed each other, and the ghost of the banquet, the dreadful financial problem, kept waving its ghostly form before the affrighted eyes of the convention.

Promptly at noon John D. Carroll, chairman of the state central committee, called the body to order.

The organization of the committee on resolutions, which is composed of one man from each of the eleven districts and two at large to be appointed by the chair, shows a majority of gold men in the committee. Of the eleven already chosen, seven are gold advocates and four for free silver.

Nominations being next in order, Judge William Beckner and ex-Congressman W. J. Stone, of Lyons county, were nominated for chairman. The voting was watched with much interest, as the vote was a test one, Beckner being the Hardin man and Stone the choice of the Clay men. Judge Beckner received 448½ votes on the first ballot against 419½ received by Stone. Chairmain Beckner made a very good speech, urging harmony and submission to the will of the majority. When he referred to silver the hell was rent with yells and when he praised Cleveland's honesty and courage another demonstration took place.

When he had concluded the organization was completed and then the chairman gave the silverites a shock by dividing the committeemen from the state at large among the two factions. On the platform committee he named Senator Lindsay and Congressman Charidy, representatively gold and silver men, but not extremists. The sound money men then had an overwhelming preponderance on the committee.

The convention adopted the majority report of the committee on resolutions, which was as follows:

"To the Democratic Convention in Session at Louisville—The undersigned, a majority of your committee, beg leave to submit as their report the accompanying resolutions:

"1. The democracy of Kentucky in convention assembled congratulates the country upon the repeal of the McKinley tariff law and upon the evidences we have on every hand of returning prosperity, under operation of reduced and equalized tariff taxation, and we denounce as fraught with danger and disaster the threat of our republican adversaries to re-establish protective tariff and reinaugurate the policy of unequal taxation which, in connection with general misgovernment by the republican party, culminated in the business panic of 1893.

"2. The democratic party, which has always stood for the separation of church and state, for the sake alike of civil and religious freedom, does not hesitate to condemn all efforts to create distinction among citizens, because of differences in faith, as repugnant to an enlightened age and abhorrent to the instincts of American freemen.

"3. We reaffirm without qualification the principles and policies declared by the national democratic platform of 1892 and declare that our present national democratic administration is entitled to the thanks of the party for its honest, courageous and statesmanlike management of public affairs; and we express our undiminished confidence in the democracy and patriotism of President Grover Cleveland and his distinguished co-adviser and secretary, John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky."

The fourth and fifth resolutions are devoted to state matters.

The report of the minority, which declared for a single gold standard, was as follows:

"We, the undersigned members of the committee on resolutions, dissent from the views expressed by the majority of the committee in resolution No. 3, which is proposed as an indorsement of the present national democratic administration, because said resolution is ambiguous, obscure and uncertain in its meaning, and is, in our opinion, an attempt to straddle the most vital question now attracting the attention of the American people. And while the undersigned do not concur in the views expressed in said resolution, nor in the views expressed in the amendment, which they herewith submit, they nevertheless believe that it is the duty of the democratic party to express itself in clear and unambiguous terms on this subject. The financial policy of the present democratic administration deserves an unqualified indorsement at the hands of the democratic party of Kentucky, or it does not deserve such indorsement, and with that view of taking the opinion of representatives of the democrats of Kentucky in convention assembled, we submit the following as an amendment to the said resolution:

"'Resolved, By the democrats in Kentucky in convention assembled, that the present democratic administration is entitled to the thanks of the whole country for its statesmanlike management of public affairs, and we further declare that both President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle are entitled to the unqualified indorsement of the American people for maintaining the credit of the government and their issuance of $160,000,000 of interest bearing bonds is hereby expresely indorsed.'

"The undersigned members of the committee on resolutions believing the democratic party of Kentucky should plainly declare either in favor of true bimetallism, or the gold standard, offer the following as a separate resolution and ask its adoption:

"'Resolved, That we believe in the coinage of both gold and silver as the primary money of the country into legal tender dollars, receivable in payment of all its debts, public and private, upon terms of exact equality.'"

The minority report was signed by three of the committee. After a number of heated speeches had been made, the report of the minority of the committee on resolutions, reaffirming the platform of 1892, but refusing to indorse President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle, was defeated by a vote of 584 to 331. Several counties changed their vote to "no" afterwards, so that the final vote was 598 against the adoption of the minority report to 270 for it.

The next question was on the adoption of the second minority report, which was signed by the free silver men. Only 24½ votes were cast for the second minority resolution. The question was then on the majority report. It was adopted by a vote of 644 to 233.

Hardin Nominated.

After the nominating and seconding speeches were concluded, the secretary called the roll of counties for a nomination for governor. Hundreds of persons in the hall jotted down the vote as it was called out, and before the ballot was finished such a scene as is rarely witnessed outside of a democratic convention in the south ensued. It was seen that Hardin had received the 440 votes necessary to a choice, and his adherents created a scene of pandemonium for a while. The air was full of hats and hurrahs, and the counties which had been for Clay, in many instances, began to change their votes for the successful candidate. The ballot before any changes were made was:

Hardin 466½.
Clay 338.
Henry Watterson 3.
Ex-Governor Buckner 3.
W. J. Stone 63.

Only one ballot was needed. The representative of the free silver element had plenty of votes to spare, after receiving the necessary number.

DISRESPECT TO ALTGELD.

The Illinois Legislature Treats His Message Shabbily.

The Illinois legislature met at Springfield Tuesday afternoon in extra session, but did no business of importance. Governor Altgeld's message was read in both branches and in the house was referred to the committee of the whole. In the senate it was referred to the committee on expenditures. This action was regarded as a slap at the governor and was the first indication of war between the republican majority and the executive.

KILLED BOTH GIRLS.

Horrible Deed Enacted by a Jilted Lover.

A special from Tallulah Falls says: Seymour Keener, a young white man, killed his two pretty cousins, Lillie and Laura Moore, in Tennessee valley Sunday afternoon.

Miss Lillie was nineteen and her sister seventeen. Keener fell in love with his Cousin Lillie four years ago when she was only a child of fifteen. She did not love him in return and after receiving his attentions for two years, she rejected him. Maddened at her refusal to marry him, Keener declared that he would kill her unless she changed her mind.

Neither Miss Lillie nor her family paid any attention to the threat. Sunday afternoon the two sisters started to call on a neighbor who lives some distance away. They had to pass Keener's house on the road. Keener saw them and immediately began to prepare to follow them. He loaded two revolvers. Then he got all the spare money he had in the house—$180—and kissing his own little sisters goodby, he left, walking rapidly in the direction the Moore girls had gone. Some distance away he concealed himself in the bushes by the roadside. Later, when the sisters were approaching on their way home, Keener sprang out and confronted them with a pistol in each hand.

Both girls screamed, for Keener looked to be dangerous. He spoke to Lillie. Laura, knowing instinctively that Keener meant harm to her sister, threw her arms around Lillie's body. She plead with her cousin to let them go on home. He tried to tear Laura from Lillie, but being unable to do this, he placed a pistol at Laura's head and shot her dead. Then he turned the weapons on Lillie and fired seven bullets into her body.

Leaving both girls in the agony of death he fled. The shots had been heard at a neighboring house and persons running out found the two girls lying in the road. It was impossible to do anything for them, save to lift their lifeless bodies up tenderly and remove them to their home.

A posse soon started in pursuit of the murderer. Circumstantial evidence pointed to Keener. He was found before night. He resisted arrest. His pistols were empty, but he drew a knife and fought. James Dickerson was seriously wounded.

Keener was taken to jail at Clayton, seventeen miles from Tallulah Falls. He admits the murder, but says that Laura was killed accidentally. He declares that he did not mean to hurt her. He expresses no regret for killing Lillie, and says that he has intended for two years to kill her.

DR. HOPKINS WILL REMAIN.

Withdraws His Resignation as President of Technological School.

The commencement exercises of the Georgia School of Technology were concluded at Atlanta Wednesday morning. The following young gentlemen received their degrees:

S. W. Allen and J. A. Almand, Elbert county; H. W. Clark, Richmond county; J. M. Goldsmith, Jr., Fulton; G. H. Harrison and Wm. Jesop, DeKalb; J. F. Lovette, Fulton; C. W. McCall, Chatham; W. B. Nunnally, Fulton; T. F. Oetjen, Richmond; J. E. Smith, Fulton; R. N. Towers, Floyd. Only the papers of Messrs. Harrison, Lovette and Towers were read. These papers showed diligent research and a thorough knowledge of the subjects treated.

The annual address was delivered by Hon. J. F. Hanson. He spoke of the advantages of a mechanical and technical education to the young men of the south. He spoke plainly and yet hopefully of the future of the country; discussed the present need of material advancement along the industrial line, and exploded the theory that cotton is king.

Dr. Hopkins to Be Retained.

At a meeting of the board of trustees Dr. Hopkins reconsidered his resignation and will still remain at the head of the institution. This is good news to the numerous friends of Dr. Hopkins an all interested in the welfare of the institution.

Comstock Makes a Raid.

Anthony Comstock, with his men made a big raid on the offices of the American Bank Note Company premises and in the office of T. C. Gruber, at New York. He captured 100,000 circulars and 1,000 tickets of lotteries.

CAPITAL GOSSIP.

ITEMS OF NEWS PICKED UP AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Sayings and Doings of the Official Heads of the Government.

Secretary Carlisle has refused to reverse his decision as to the deporting of three Chinamen who are now in San Francisco. These Chinamen left New Orleans several months ago for Bluefields, with the intention of settling there. They changed their minds and returned to New Orleans. Admission to the United States was denied them and they were ordered to depart for China.

The case of Captain Henry W. Howgate, recently convicted in the criminal court of forgery and falsification of government accounts, probably will be taken up in the district court of appeals during the first week of October. His counsel are preparing a bill of exceptions to carry the case to the higher court and expect to file it in a few days. The feature of the bill and the point on which the strongest fight will be made is the "fugitive from justice" question.

For the first time since December 1, 1894, the gold reserve exceeded $100,000,000 Wednesday. The exact figures were $100,830,355, with an available net balance in cash of $184,978,457. The gain since February 8 last, the date of the bond issue, is $58,047,395 in gold reserve and $42,282,887 in the net balance. The syndicate still owes the government about six millions in foreign gold, their payments up to this date having slightly exceeded the contract requirements.

Advices received by the marine hospital service confirm previous reports relative to the plague in Foo Chow, China, and say it is an established epidemic. It is confined to the city proper, most of the deaths occurring within the city walls near the gates. Several cases are alleged to have occurred among the natives of a village on the island of Nantan, in the vicinity of a foreign settlement, but Consul Hixson is unable to say that these are real cases of plague.

Baron von Thielman, the new German ambassador, arrived in Washington Friday night from Hamburg. He was accompanied by his wife and two young daughters with a retinue of eight servants. In the absence of President Cleveland, Baron von Thielman will deliver his credentials to Secretary Olney and enter at once upon the duties of his office, seizing the first opportunity when the president returns to be formally presented. The new ambassador is not a stranger to Washington, having been secretary of legation at the capital from 1874 to 1878, when Baron Schloezer was minister.

Although it is customary to promptly inform the state department of such an important change, no word has yet been received at the department from Ambassador Bayard touching the downfall of the Roseberry cabinet in London. It is assumed, however, that Mr. Bayard is waiting until the formal announcement is made in parliament and the new ministry has succeeded in power, so as to make his statement. At the state department it is believed that the change from liberal to a conservative government in Great Britain will not sensibly affect the relations between the United States and Great Britain, for it has come to be a well recognized fact that while British politics are subject to even more violent and sudden mutations than are known in the United States, there is seldom a change in the foreign policy of the British government resulting from these upheavals.

Advantageous Concessions.

Consul General Jernigan, at Shanghai, has sent to the state department another report upon the commercial advantages of the treaty between China and Japan. Former treaties contained no favored nation clause, but the new treaty contains concessions beneficial to and expansive of all Asiatic commerce. The concessions to Japan have given to the world new marts and avenues of trade. Now twenty-eight ports are open and the countries having the "favored nation clause" in their treaties have the equal privileges with Japan. Japan was under restrictions as to the interior trade which have now been removed.

Mr. Jernigan says the most important provision of the treaty is that which makes it free to carry on manufacturing industries. This virtually opens China to new industries, as machinery may now be imported under one clause of the treaty. Mr. Jernigan says that if American capitalists and merchants propose to make permanent business investments in China they should study with great dilligence the wants of the Chinese and not venture too far without accurately estimating all surroundings.

Spain Must Pay Up.

The United States have demanded the immediate payment of $1,500,000 which Spain has owed to Antonio Maximo Mora, an American citizen, since 1886. During one of the Cuban revolts twenty years ago, the Spanish government arrested A. M. Mora, an American citizen, and seized his valuable sugar plantation. Before Spain admitted its mistake, it had collected from the Mora estate more than $2,000,000. A settlement was insisted on by Secretaries Fish and Bayard, and, finally, under pressure, Spain agreed to pay $1,500,000.

Before the last congress adjourned it passed a joint resolution requesting the president to insist upon the payment of the sum agreed upon between the governments of Spain and the United States in liquidation of the claim of Antonio Maximo Mora against the government of Spain, with interest from the time when the said amount should have been paid under the agreement. This resolution passed both houses and was approved by the president, and, therefore, has all the force of law.

Spain has made many excuses for delaying the payment of this just claim, but now it appears that further excuse will not be tolerated. On the day that Mr. Olney became secretary of state in place of Mr. Gresham, he sent a letter to Spain through the United States minister at Madrid, demanding the immediate payment of $1,500,000 which the Spanish government has owed to Mr. Mora since 1886. Mr. Olney, according to report, calls the attention of the Spanish government to the fact that the justice of this claim is not in dispute, and that no further delay will be tolerated.

Russian and Japanese War Expected.

A dispatch from Shanghai to a local news agency at London says that the high officials in Shanghai are confidently expecting that war will ensue between Russia and Japan over the situation and administration of affairs in Corea within three months.

BANKER AGNEW INDICTED.

Charged With Crookedness and Misapplication of Funds.

E. W. Agnew, president of the First National bank of Ocala, Fla., has been indicted by the grand jury of the United States court Jacksonville, on charges of embezzlement, abstraction and misapplication of funds of the bank and of making false entries on the books of the bank by crediting his personal account with sums of money aggregating $25,000. The bank suspended two months ago and has since been in charge of National Bank Examiner J. R. McDonald. The affairs were found to be in bad shape and it is doubtful if the depositors will get 10 per cent of their money.

Agnew is under bond for appearance for trial in the United States court. One of the counts in the indictment is placing a check for $3,400 payable to the bank to his private credit. Another is the embezzlement of $17,500 in bank notes, greenbacks and coin. He is charged with buying worthless stocks and bonds of a par value of $25,000 for a nominal consideration and placing them to his personal account on the books of the bank at the face value.

SUIT AGAINST SAM SMALL.

Massey Wants $50,000 for Slanderous Publication.

The suit of Hon. John E. Massey, superintendent of education of Virginia, against the Pilot Publishing Company, its directors—Sam W. Small and R. E. Byrd, a lawyer of Winchester, Va.—was called in the city court of Norfolk Monday morning, Judge Prentiss on the bench. Mr. Massey asks $50,000 for slanderous publication. The Pilot charged that he was corruptly induced to favor and influence the board of education of Virginia to favor certain books of the American Book Company.

TRADE TOPICS.

Bradstreets Review of Business for the Past Week.

Bradstreet's report of business for the past week says:

"The feature of the business week is the customary check to activity in trading in staple articles of merchandise, due to the near approach of midsummer, with the accompanying stock taking in some lines. In addition to this, perhaps the only other thing not pointing to improvement is the reaction of prices of cotton, coal, wheat, flour, corn, oats, pork and lard from previous relatively high levels. In almost all other directions reports on the business situation and outlook are exceptionally favorable.

"The New York stock market keeps its strength in the face of high exchange rates and the absence of foreign interest.

"Favorable crop prospects, especially in southwestern territory, and the rise in iron and steel prices, create a bullish professional temper, under which realizing sales have little effect. The return of one of the bond syndicate leaders from Europe is regarded as a bullish influence.

"Notwithstanding the reaction in the price of cotton, cotton goods in some instances are higher, with the market quiet and likely to remain so until after July 4th. Woolen goods are quiet with mills fairly well employed where labor troubles have not interfered.

"Trading in wool has been very heavy, and while sales at the west have been made at low prices, quotations have since advanced ½@1 cent per pound, thus apparently placing wool in line with leather, wheat, corn, cotton, iron and steel. Among the staples which have enjoyed a revival the demand for iron and steel continues, perhaps, the most striking feature. In a few instances certain grades of iron have enjoyed the unusual distinction of having quotations advanced twice within the week. Since the rise in prices began pig iron has advanced 25 and steel billets about 30 per cent in price, and reserve plants are being pressed into service.

"In the southern states business continues at about mid-summer proportions, with improvement in dry goods and groceries, at Chattanooga and Atlanta, a better feeling in trade circles at Birmingham, and only a moderate expansion of business at Galveston."

SOUTHERN GETS IT.

The Atlantic and Florida Sold by the Central Trust Co.

The Southern railway gets the Atlanta and Florida railroad. And Atlanta gets the new union passenger depot, of which the city has dreamed many years. These two bits of railroad news constitute the most important change in the railway chess board of this region of the south for a long time.

While it is true that the Atlanta and Florida was bought in, on the face of the contract, by the Central Trust Company of New York two weeks ago, it became known that the deal was really in behalf of the Southern Railway Company, to which the formal deed of the property has been made.

The Southern will take charge without delay, and the Atlanta and Florida becomes a part of the splendid system of roads which is rapidly growing to proportions as great as the greatest railway system in America.

The reasons given for the purchase of the Atlanta and Florida by the Southern are that the road was cheap and was regarded as available at the price paid. The price as named in the papers was $275,000.

It will be remembered that when the Central Trust Company bought the property this was the price paid, but owing to certain indebtedness of the road to the Central Trust Company, only $59,975.48 of the price named had to be paid in actual cash for the property.

The amount of purchase was for the most part taken up in what the Atlanta and Florida already owed the Central Trust Company of New York, the amount of indebtedness being $152,383.66, and another debt coming due July 1st of $62,640.86. These debts to the Central Trust Company were accepted in part payment for the road and the actual outlay of cash was comparatively small.

Earnings of the Georgia Central.

For April the Georgia Central railroad earned $21,763, a decrease of $29,599, and from July 1st to date net $1,436,697, a decrease of $91,573.

ROSEBERY QUITS.

THE PRESENT GOVERNMENT OF ENGLAND DECIDES TO RESIGN.

Salisbury Summoned by the Queen to Form a New Cabinet.

It is officially announced from London that the Rosebery government will resign. Lord Salisbury will be summoned by the queen to form a ministry and his cabinet will proceed with the routine business of the house, obtain provisional supplies and then dissolve parliament. It is expected that the elections will take place on the 10th of July.

The second meeting of the cabinet Saturday afternoon began at 4 o'cock and lasted until 5:45 o'clock. The meeting was held to decide whether the government should resign or dissolve parliament. It was decided to resign.

Lord Rosebery had a long private audience with the queen and communicated to her the decision arrived at by the government.

The Central News is authority for the statement that Lord Rosebery, while at Windsor castle, tendered the resignations of himself and his colleagues to the queen, who accepted them. Her majesty has sent for Lord Salisbury, who will proceed to Windsor castle when he will be entrusted with the formation of a ministry.

It is not doubted that a joint ministry will be formed of liberal unionists and conservatives and the cabinet will be called a unionist government. When it became known that Lord Salisbury had been summoned by the queen it was said that he would not consent to form a ministry with the present house of commons and that he would recommend the queen to dissolve parliament.

The unionist rank and file advise a prompt appeal to the country. They believe that they will be able to obtain a majority of eighty in the next parliament. They are now very enthusiastic and sanguine.

SALISBURY ACCEPTS.

He Agrees to Take Charge and Form a New Ministry.

The Central News (London) is authority for the statement that Lord Salisbury, during his interview with the queen, informed her majesty that he was ready to form a ministry and submitted for her approval a list of the names of the members of the proposed new cabinet of state for the colonies. An official dispatch from Windsor announces that Lord Salisbury has accepted the request to form a ministry and kissed the hand of her majesty upon being formally appointed premier.

The members of the new ministry, so far as they have been selected, are officially announced as follows:

Prime minister and secretary of state for foreign affairs, the marquis of Salisbury.

Lord president of the council, the duke of Devonshire.

First Lord of the treasury, Right Hon. Arthur James Balfour.

Secretary of state for the colonies, Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain.

Chancellor of the exchequer, Right Hon. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach.

First lord of the admiralty, Right Hon. George Joachim Goschen.

The other places in the ministry have not as yet been definitely allotted.

It is reported that Lord Salisbury, besides becoming prime minister, will take the foreign portfolio temporarily. He has made overtures to the marquis of Dufferin to resign his present office of British ambassador to France and become secretary of state for foreign affairs.

Fine Coking Coal in Tennessee.

A test has recently been made of the coal mines at Coal Creek and Jellico, Tenn., and it is found that it is the finest coal for coke purposes of any ever used. The gentlemen who made the test are Cleveland, O., men. They will at once open up the largest coke works in the country.

Poisoned Herself and Children.

While insane Mrs. Sanford [illegible], wife of a farmer living near Shellsburg, Iowa, poisoned three of her six children and committed suicide in the same manner. The children died.

He Is for Free Silver—Only One Ballot Taken.

The Kentucky democratic convention called to order at Louisville Tuesday was the biggest, most excited and turbulent that the history of the party has ever known. In attendance it surpassed any other held for a generation.

Interest in the currency question is so great that every delegate present had his nerves strained to the last degree of tension. Yet with all the desire for harmony was evident from the start. Never before were there so many complications, for the flood of candidates crossed and recrossed each other, and the ghost of the banquet, the dreadful financial problem, kept waving its ghostly form before the affrighted eyes of the convention.

Promptly at noon John D. Carroll, chairman of the state central committee, called the body to order.

The organization of the committee on resolutions, which is composed of one man from each of the eleven districts and two at large to be appointed by the chair, shows a majority of gold men in the committee. Of the eleven already chosen, seven are gold advocates and four for free silver.

Nominations being next in order, Judge William Beckner and ex-Congressman W. J. Stone, of Lyons county, were nominated for chairman. The voting was watched with much interest, as the vote was a test one, Beckner being the Hardin man and Stone the choice of the Clay men. Judge Beckner received 448½ votes on the first ballot against 419½ received by Stone. Chairmain Deckner made a very good speech, urging harmony and submission to the will of the majority. When he referred to silver the hall was rent with yells and when he praised Cleveland's honesty and courage another demonstration took place.

When he had concluded the organization was completed and then the chairman gave the silverites a shock by dividing the committeemen from the state at large among the two factions. On the platform committee he named Senator Lindsay and Congressman Claridy, representatively gold and silver men, but not extremists. The sound-money-men then had an overwhelming preponderance on the committee.

The convention adopted the majority report of the committee on resolutions, which was as follows:

"To the Democratic Convention in Session at Louisville—The undersigned, a majority of your committee, beg leave to submit as their report the accompanying resolutions:

"1. The democracy of Kentucky in convention assembled congratulates the country upon the repeal of the McKinley tariff law and upon the evidences we have on every hand of returning prosperity, under operation of reduced and equalized tariff taxation, and we denounce as fraught with danger and disaster the threat of our republican adversaries to re-establish protective tariff and reinaugurate the policy of unequal taxation which, in connection with general misgovernment by the republican party, culminated in the business panic of 1893.

"2. The democratic party, which has always stood for the separation of church and state, for the sake alike of civil and religious freedom, does not hesitate to condemn all efforts to create distinction among citizens, because of differences in faith, as repugnant to an enlightened age and abhorrent to the instincts of American freemen.

"3. We reaffirm without qualification the principles and policies declared by the national democratic platform of 1892 and declare that our present national democratic administration is entitled to the thanks of the party for its honest, courageous and statesmanlike management of public affairs; and we express our undiminished confidence in the democracy and patriotism of President Grover Cleveland and his distinguished co-adviser and secretary, John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky."

The fourth and fifth resolutions are devoted to state matters.

The report of the minority, which declared for a single gold standard, was as follows:

"We, the undersigned members of the committee on resolutions, dissent from the views expressed by the majority of the committee in resolution No. 3, which is proposed as an indorsement of the present national democratic administration, because said resolution is ambiguous, obscure and uncertain in its meaning, and is, in our opinion, an attempt to straddle the most vital question now attracting the attention of the American people. And while the undersigned do not concur in the views expressed in said resolution, nor in the views expressed in the amendment, which they herewith submit, they nevertheless believe that it is the duty of the democratic party to express itself in clear and unambiguous terms on this subject. The financial policy of the present democratic administration deserves an unqualified indorsement at the hands of the democratic party of Kentucky, or it does not deserve such indorsement, and with that view of taking the opinion of representatives of the democrats of Kentucky in convention assembled, we submit the following as an amendment to the said resolution:

"'Resolved, By the democrats in Kentucky in convention assembled, that the present democratic administration is entitled to the thanks of the whole country for its statesmanlike management of public affairs, and we further declare that both President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle are entitled to the unqualified indorsement of the American people for maintaining the credit of the government and their issuance of $160,000,000 of interest bearing bonds is hereby expressly indorsed.'

"The undersigned members of the committee on resolutions believing the democratic party of Kentucky should plainly declare either in favor of true bimetallism, or the gold standard, offer the following as a separate resolution and ask its adoption:

"'Resolved, That we believe in the coinage of both gold and silver as the primary money of the country into legal tender dollars, receivable in payment of all its debts, public and private, upon terms of exact equality.'"

The minority report was signed by three of the committee. After a number of heated speeches had been made, the report of the minority of the committee on resolutions, reaffirming the platform of 1892, but refusing to indorse President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle, was defeated by a vote of 584 to 331. Several counties changed their vote to "no" afterwards, so that the final vote was 598 against the adoption of the minority report to 270 for it.

The next question was on the adoption of the second minority report, which was signed by the free silver men. Only 24½ votes were cast for the second minority resolution. The question was then on the majority report. It was adopted by a vote of 644 to 233.

Hardin Nominated.

After the nominating and seconding speeches were concluded, the secretary called the roll of counties for a nomination for governor. Hundreds of persons in the hall jotted down the vote as it was called out, and before the ballot was finished such a scene as is rarely witnessed outside of a democratic convention in the south ensued. It was seen that Hardin had received the 440 votes necessary to a choice, and his adherents created a scene of pandemonium for a while. The air was full of hats and hurrahs, and the counties which had been for Clay, in many instances, began to change their votes for the successful candidate. The ballot before any changes were made was:

Hardin	466½.
Clay	338.
Henry Watterson	3.
Ex-Governor Buckner	3.
W. J. Stone	63.

Only one ballot was needed. The representative of the free silver element had plenty of votes to spare, after receiving the necessary number.

DISRESPECT TO ALTGELD.

The Illinois Legislature Treats His Message Shabbily.

The Illinois legislature met at Springfield Tuesday afternoon in extra session, but did no business of importance. Governor Altgeld's message was read in both branches and in the house was referred to the committee of the whole. In the senate it was referred to the committee on expenditures. This action was regarded as a slap at the governor and was the first indication of war between the republican majority and the executive.

KILLED BOTH GIRLS.

Horrible Deed Enacted by a Jilted Lover.

A special from Tallulah Falls says: Seymour Keener, a young white man, killed his two pretty cousins, Lillie and Laura Moore, in Tennessee valley Sunday afternoon.

Miss Lillie was nineteen and her sister seventeen. Keener fell in love with his Cousin Lillie four years ago when she was only a child of fifteen. She did not love him in return and after receiving his attentions for two years, she rejected him. Maddened at her refusal to marry him, Keener declared that he would kill her unless she changed her mind.

Neither Miss Lillie nor her family paid any attention to the threat. Sunday afternoon the two sisters started to call on a neighbor who lives some distance away. They had to pass Keener's house on the road. Keener saw them and immediately began to prepare to follow them. He loaded two revolvers. Then he got all the spare money he had in the house—$180—and kissing his own little sisters goodby, he left, walking rapidly in the direction the Moore girls had gone. Some distance away he concealed himself in the bushes by the roadside. Later, when the sisters were approaching on their way home, Keener sprang out and confronted them with a pistol in each hand.

Both girls screamed, for Keener looked to be dangerous. He spoke to Lillie. Laura, knowing instinctively that Keener meant harm to her sister, threw her arms around Lillie's body. She plead with her cousin to let them go on home. He tried to tear Laura from Lillie, but being unable to do this, he placed a pistol at Laura's head and shot her dead. Then he turned the weapons on Lillie and fired seven bullets into her body.

Leaving both girls in the agony of death he fled. The shots had been heard at a neighboring house and persons running out found the two girls lying in the road. It was impossible to do anything for them, save to lift their lifeless bodies up tenderly and remove them to their home.

A posse soon started in pursuit of the murderer. Circumstantial evidence pointed to Keener. He was found before night. He resisted arrest. His pistols were empty, but he drew a knife and fought. James Dickerson was seriously wounded.

Keener was taken to jail at Clayton, seventeen miles from Tallulah Falls. He admits the murder, but says that Laura was killed accidentally. He declares that he did not mean to hurt her. He expresses no regret for killing Lillie, and says that he has intended for two years to kill her.

DR. HOPKINS WILL REMAIN.

Withdraws His Resignation as President of Technological School.

The commencement exercises of the Georgia School of Technology were concluded at Atlanta Wednesday morning. The following young gentlemen received their degrees:

S. W. Allen and J. A. Almand, Elbert county; H. W. Clark, Richmond county; J. M. Goldsmith, Jr., Fulton; G. H. Harrison and Wm. Jesop, DeKalb; J. F. Lovette, Fulton; C. W. McCall, Chatham; W. B. Nunnally, Fulton; T. F. Oetjen, Richmond; J. E. Smith, Fulton; R. N. Towers, Floyd. Only the papers of Messrs. Harrison, Lovette and Towers were read. These papers showed diligent research and a thorough knowledge of the subjects treated.

The annual address was delivered by Hon. J. F. Hanson. He spoke of the advantages of a mechanical and technical education to the young men of the south. He spoke plainly and yet hopefully of the future of the country; discussed the present need of material advancement along the industrial line, and exploded the theory that cotton is king.

Dr. Hopkins to Be Retained.

At a meeting of the board of trustees Dr. Hopkins reconsidered his resignation and will still remain at the head of the institution. This is good news to the numerous friends of Dr. Hopkins an all interested in the welfare of the institution.

Comstock Makes a Raid.

Anthony Comstock, with his men made a big raid on the offices of the American Bank Note Company premises and in the office of T. C. Gruber, at New York. He captured 100,000 circulars and 1,000 tickets of lotteries.

CAPITAL GOSSIP.

ITEMS OF NEWS PICKED UP AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

Sayings and Doings of the Official Heads of the Government.

Secretary Carlisle has refused to reverse his decision as to the deporting of three Chinamen who are now in San Francisco. These Chinamen left New Orleans several months ago for Bluefields, with the intention of settling there. They changed their minds and returned to New Orleans. Admission to the United States was denied them and they were ordered to depart for China.

The case of Captain Henry W. Howgate, recently convicted in the criminal court of forgery and falsification of government accounts, probably will be taken up in the district court of appeals during the first week of October. His counsel are preparing a bill of exceptions to carry the case to the higher court and expect to file it in a few days. The feature of the bill and the point on which the strongest fight will be made is the "fugitive from justice" question.

For the first time since December 1, 1894, the gold reserve exceeded $100,000,000 Wednesday. The exact figures were $100,830,355, with an available net balance in cash of $184,978,457. The gain since February 8 last, the date of the bond issue, is $58,047,395 in gold reserve and $42,282,887 in the net balance. The syndicate still owes the government about six millions in foreign gold, their payments up to this date having slightly exceeded the contract requirements.

Advices received by the marine hospital service confirm previous reports relative to the plague in Foo Chow, China, and say it is an established epidemic. It is confined to the city proper, most of the deaths occurring within the city walls near the gates. Several cases are alleged to have occurred among the natives of a village on the island of Nantan, in the vicinity of a foreign settlement, but Consul Hixson is unable to say that these are real cases of plague.

Baron von Thielman, the new German ambassador, arrived in Washington Friday night from Hamburg. He was accompanied by his wife and two young daughters with a retinue of eight servants. In the absence of President Cleveland, Baron von Thielman will deliver his credentials to Secretary Olney and enter at once upon the duties of his office, seizing the first opportunity when the president returns to be formally presented. The new ambassador is not a stranger to Washington, having been secretary of legation at the capital from 1874 to 1878, when Baron Schloezer was minister.

Although it is customary to promptly inform the state department of such an important change, no word has yet been received at the department from Ambassador Bayard touching the downfall of the Roseberry cabinet in London. It is assumed, however, that Mr. Bayard is waiting until the formal announcement is made in parliament and the new ministry has succeeded in power, so as to make his statement. At the state department it is believed that the change from liberal to a conservative government in Great Britain will not sensibly affect the relations between the United States and Great Britain, for it has come to be a well recognized fact that while British politics are subject to even more violent and sudden mutations than are known in the United States, there is seldom a change in the foreign policy of the British government resulting from these upheavals.

Advantageous Concessions.

Consul General Jernigan, at Shanghai, has sent to the state department another report upon the commercial advantages of the treaty between China and Japan. Former treaties contained no favored nation clause, but the new treaty contains concessions beneficial to and expansive of all Asiatic commerce. The concessions to Japan have given to the world new marts and avenues of trade. Now twenty-eight ports are open and the countries having the "favored nation clause" in their treaties have the equal privileges with Japan. Japan was under restrictions as to the interior trade which have now been removed.

Mr. Jernigan says the most important provision of the treaty is that which makes it free to carry on manufacturing industries. This virtually opens China to new industries, as machinery may now be imported under one clause of the treaty. Mr. Jernigan says that if American capitalists and merchants propose to make permanent business investments in China they should study with great dilligence the wants of the Chinese and not venture too far without accurately estimating all surroundings.

Spain Must Pay Up.

The United States have demanded the immediate payment of $1,500,000 which Spain has owed to Antonio Maximo Mora, an American citizen, since 1886. During one of the Cuban revolts twenty years ago, the Spanish government arrested A. M. Mora, an American citizen, and seized his valuable sugar plantation. Before Spain admitted its mistake, it had collected from the Mora estate more than $2,000,000. A settlement was insisted on by Secretaries Fish and Bayard, and, finally, under pressure, Spain agreed to pay $1,500,000.

Before the last congress adjourned it passed a joint resolution requesting the president to insist upon the payment of the sum agreed upon between the governments of Spain and the United States in liquidation of the claim of Antonio Maximo Mora against the government of Spain, with interest from the time when the said amount should have been paid under the agreement. This resolution passed both houses and was approved by the president, and, therefore, has all the force of law.

Spain has made many excuses for delaying the payment of this just claim, but now it appears that further excuse will not be tolerated. On the day that Mr. Olney became secretary of state in place of Mr. Gresham, he sent a letter to Spain through the United States minister at Madrid, demanding the immediate payment of $1,500,000 which the Spanish government has owed to Mr. Mora since 1886. Mr. Olney, according to report, calls the attention of the Spanish government to the fact that the justice of this claim is not in dispute, and that no further delay will be tolerated.

Russian and Japanese War Expected.

A dispatch from Shanghai to a local news agency at London says that the high officials in Shanghai are confidently expecting that war will ensue between Russia and Japan over the situation and administration of affairs in Corea within three months.

BANKER AGNEW INDICTED.

Charged With Crookedness and Misapplication of Funds.

E. W. Agnew, president of the First National bank of Ocala, Fla., has been indicted by the grand jury of the United States court Jacksonville, on charges of embezzlement, abstraction and misapplication of funds of the bank and of making false entries on the books of the bank by crediting his personal account with sums of money aggregating $25,000. The bank suspended two months ago and has since been in charge of National Bank Examiner J. B. McDonald. The affairs were found to be in bad shape and it is doubtful if the depositors will get 10 per cent of their money.

Agnew is under bond for appearance for trial in the United States court. One of the counts in the indictment is placing a check for $3,400 payable to the bank to his private credit. Another is the embezzlement of $17,500 in bank notes, greenbacks and coin. He is charged with buying worthless stocks and bonds of a par value of $25,000 for a nominal consideration and placing them to his personal account on the books of the bank at the face value.

SUIT AGAINST SAM SMALL.

Massey Wants $50,000 for Slanderous Publication.

The suit of Hon. John E. Massey, superintendent of education of Virginia, against the Pilot Publishing Company, its directors—Sam W. Small and R. E. Byrd, a lawyer of Winchester, Va.—was called in the city court of Norfolk Monday morning, Judge Prentiss on the bench. Mr. Massey asks $50,000 for slanderous publication. The Pilot charged that he was corruptly induced to favor and influence the board of education of Virginia to favor certain books of the American Book Company.

TRADE TOPICS.

Bradstreets Review of Business for the Past Week.

Bradstreet's report of business for the past week says:

"The feature of the business week is the customary check to activity in trading in staple articles of merchandise, due to the near approach of midsummer, with the accompanying stock taking in some lines. In addition to this, perhaps the only other thing not pointing to improvement is the reaction of prices of cotton, coal, wheat, flour, corn, oats, pork and lard from previous relatively high levels. In almost all other directions reports on the business situation and outlook are exceptionally favorable.

"The New York stock market keeps its strength in the face of high exchange rates and the absence of foreign interest.

"Favorable crop prospects, especially in southwestern territory, and the rise in iron and steel prices, create a bullish professional temper, under which realizing sales have little effect. The return of one of the bond syndicate leaders from Europe is regarded as a bullish influence.

"Notwithstanding the reaction in the price of cotton, cotton goods in some instances are higher, with the market quiet and likely to remain so until after July 4th. Woolen goods are quiet with mills fairly well employed where labor troubles have not interfered.

"Trading in wool has been very heavy, and while sales at the west have been made at low prices, quotations have since advanced ½@1 cent per pound, thus apparently placing wool in line with leather, wheat, corn, cotton, iron and steel. Among the staples which have enjoyed a revival the demand for iron and steel continues, perhaps, the most striking feature. In a few instances certain grades of iron have enjoyed the unusual distinction of having quotations advanced twice within the week. Since the rise in prices began pig iron has advanced 25 and steel billets about 30 per cent in price, and reserve plants are being pressed into service.

"In the southern states business continues at about mid-summer proportions, with improvement in dry goods and groceries, at Chattanooga and Atlanta, a better feeling in trade circles at Birmingham, and only a moderate expansion of business at Galveston."

SOUTHERN GETS IT.

The Atlantic and Florida Sold by the Central Trust Co.

The Southern railway gets the Atlanta and Florida railroad. And Atlanta gets the new union passenger depot, of which the city has dreamed many years. These two bits of railroad news constitute the most important change in the railway chess board of this region of the south for a long time.

While it is true that the Atlanta and Florida was bought in, on the face of the contract, by the Central Trust Company of New York two weeks ago, it became known that the deal was really in behalf of the Southern Railway Company, to which the formal deed of the property has been made.

The Southern will take charge without delay, and the Atlanta and Florida becomes a part of the splendid system of roads which is rapidly growing to proportions as great as the greatest railway system in America.

The reasons given for the purchase of the Atlanta and Florida by the Southern are that the road was cheap and was regarded as available at the price paid. The price as named in the papers was $275,000.

It will be remembered that when the Central Trust Company bought the property this was the price paid, but owing to certain indebtedness of the road to the Central Trust Company, only $59,975.48 of the price named had to be paid in actual cash for the property.

The amount of purchase was for the most part taken up in what the Atlanta and Florida already owed the Central Trust Company of New York, the amount of indebtedness being $152,383.66, and another debt coming due July 1st of $62,640.86. These debts to the Central Trust Company were accepted in part payment for the road and the actual outlay of cash was comparatively small.

Earnings of the Georgia Central.

For April the Georgia Central railroad earned $21,753, a decrease of $29,599, and from July 1st to date net $1,436,697, a decrease of $91,578.

ROSEBERY QUITS.

THE PRESENT GOVERNMENT OF ENGLAND DECIDES TO RESIGN.

Salisbury Summoned by the Queen to Form a New Cabinet.

It is officially announced from London that the Rosebery government will resign. Lord Salisbury will be summoned by the queen to form a ministry and his cabinet will proceed with the routine business of the house, obtain provisional supplies and then dissolve parliament. It is expected that the elections will take place on the 10th of July.

The second meeting of the cabinet Saturday afternoon began at 4 o'cock and lasted until 5:45 o'clock. The meeting was held to decide whether the government should resign or dissolve parliament. It was decided to resign.

Lord Rosebery had a long private audience with the queen and communicated to her the decision arrived at by the government.

The Central News is authority for the statement that Lord Rosebery, while at Windsor castle, tendered the resignations of himself and his colleagues to the queen, who accepted them. Her majesty has sent for Lord Salisbury, who will proceed to Windsor castle when he will be entrusted with the formation of a ministry.

It is not doubted that a joint ministry will be formed of liberal unionists and conservatives and the cabinet will be called a unionist government. When it became known that Lord Salisbury had been summoned by the queen it was said that he would not consent to form a ministry with the present house of commons and that he would recommend the queen to dissolve parliament.

The unionist rank and file advise a prompt appeal to the country. They believe that they will be able to obtain a majority of eighty in the next parliament. They are now very enthusiastic and sanguine.

SALISBURY ACCEPTS.

He Agrees to Take Charge and Form a New Ministry.

The Central News (London) is authority for the statement that Lord Salisbury, during his interview with the queen, informed her majesty that he was ready to form a ministry and submitted for her approval a list of the names of the members of the proposed new cabinet of state for the colonies. An official dispatch from Windsor announces that Lord Salisbury has accepted the request to form a ministry and kissed the hand of her majesty upon being formally appointed premier.

The members of the new ministry, so far as they have been selected, are officially announced as follows:

Prime minister and secretary of state for foreign affairs, the marquis of Salisbury.

Lord president of the council, the duke of Devonshire.

First Lord of the treasury, Right Hon. Arthur James Balfour.

Secretary of state for the colonies, Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain.

Chancellor of the exchequer, Right Hon. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach.

First lord of the admiralty, Right Hon. George Joachim Goschen.

The other places in the ministry have not as yet been definitely allotted.

It is reported that Lord Salisbury, besides becoming prime minister, will take the foreign portfolio temporarily. He has made overtures to the marquis of Dufferin to resign his present office of British ambassador to France and become secretary of state for foreign affairs.

Fine Coking Coal in Tennessee.

A test has recently been made of the coal mines at Coal Creek and Jellico, Tenn., and it is found that it is the finest coal for coke purposes of any ever used. The gentlemen who made the test are Cleveland, O., men. They will at once open up the largest coke works in the country.

"Remember that none of the rivals behind you can throw sand dust in your eyes," so said some sensible man or woman. It means that if one in business and professional life would be free from the dust and worry incident to being on the same round of the ladder with the great mass of his competitors he must bend every energy to go several rounds higher, to which point the great majority never climb because they lack energy, application, ambition, perserverance, in short they have not as their motto; "Everlastingly at it brings success."

Today-Thursday-is the Fourth of July, and the heart of every true American who is at all acquainted with the story of this country's trials and triumphs rejoices within him, and prayers of gratitude rise up to Heaven for such a great and glorious heritage left us by the fathers. Let every household on this day talk about the noble deeds of the revolutionary fathers and mothers, how for conscience sake they came to this, then, wilderness that they might find a place where they could worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience. and how heroically they fought the mother country until her tyrant heel was pushed from the neck of liberty, and America arose forever henceforth to be known as the "land of the free and the home of the brave."

With this issue begins our third year as manager and editor of the View. While the income of the paper is barely enough to pay its actual running expenses, yet we enter upon this year with brighter hopes, and with a stronger determination than ever to make the View a potent factor in the pubuilding of the moral, intellectual and material interests of Chilton county. During the past two years we have become acquainted with very many of the citizens, and for the uniform kindness shown us we are truly grateful. It is our hope that every man, woman and child of this county shall feel that he or she is perfectly welcome to make our office headquartes when ever in Clanton. Let us all become acquainted and that will mean that we will become friends.

The thing needed to kill the free silver clan deader than the mountains in the moon is a cheap excursion or two to Mexico for the benefit of the free silverites who for the lack of financial educational advantages, may be left over at the end of this summer's campaign. Every day brings fo th letters from pro-free silverites, who, having gone to Mexico for instruction, return the staunchest of sound money advocates. The latest letter of this kind is from Mr J. R. Dowdle, of Meridian Miss. It is addressed to Hon. H. M. Street, one of Mississippi's best known citizens, and is worthy of wide circulation. The letter in full as taken from the Meridian News, is as follows:

Monterey, N. L., June 8, 1895.

Col. H. M. Street, Meridian, Miss.

Dear Sir—You will doubtless remember that you requested me to join a sound money league, which I declined to do, pending further investigation. As you will observe from the heading of this, I am now in the republic of Mexico, where free coinage of silver reigns supreme and have an object lesson which I shall not forget. Common day laborer's wages here are very low, ranging from 37½ to 75 cents a day in Mexican money, and it takes $1.85 of this money to get one dollar of ours. Wishing to purchase a negligee shirt I was shown one worth $1 in Meridian The price here was $5. The people are anxious for the United States to adopt free coing at 16 to 1, hoping it will benefit Mexico, but intelligent people here from the states admit it will not benefit us to do so.

Before coming here I heard it said that Mexico was the most prosperous country in America; I do not find it so. I now authorize you to sign my name to the sound money roll.

Yours truly,
J. R. Dowdle.

The free silver leaders say free silver will double the value of farm products, but according to Mr. Dowdle, when the farmer goes to buy himself a shirt, he will have to put up $5 instead of $1. This is something worthy of the farmer's most serious consideration.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

The State Normal College, Florence, Alabama.

—Opened in 1873 with 50 children all from Florence Last year it enrolled 314, mostly mature persons and teachers, learning improved methods. These represented all parts of Alabama and several other States. Next year 400 are wanted and 500 within five years.

$100 will defray a year's expenses, including board. Not more than $15 required in any one month.

Fall term opens September 17, 1895.

Ed Chilton View!

Mr. A. A. Dyer one of our most prominent citizens died last Friday morning and was buried saturday evening in the presence of a large congregation. He was a good man, quiet in his life and strictly moral in all his habits, was a Deacon in the Baptist church at Ebenezer, and the faithful superintendent of its Sunday school for several years. He was also Notary Public and ex officio Justice of the Peace, giving satisfaction in that important office. We shall miss him, his place will be hard to fill.

We tender our sympathy to the bereaved family and commend them to the God of all grace.

W. J. Ruddick.
Stanton, July, 1st.

Mr. E. E. Posey, General Passenger Agent of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, announces that the exhibit made by that line, at the Interstate Fair, at Springfield, Illinois, will be brought to Atlanta to the Cotton State and International Exposition. The exhibit was a very fine and comprehensive one and will be improved and brought up to date for exhibition at Atlanta, where it will compare favorably with the other handsome railroad exhibits.

The Cotton States and International Exposition opens September 18; closes December 31, 1895

We have considerable respect for the political leaders who believe so strongly in their own principles that they refuse to coalesce with any other party unless that party will come on their puncheon and swallow their principles, lie down on the inside for instance.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Chat H. Fletcher. is on every wrapper.

THE ATLATA CONSTITUTION'S PRIZE ACRE.

$500,00 in Cash for Farmers—A Handsome Reward for the Plows of 1895.

We take pleasure in presenting The Constitution's $500 offer for the farmers of 1895. The prize consists of $100 in cash for the best acre of cotton, corn, tobacco, watermelons or sweet potatoes

The announcement is made before the planting of the crop so as to enable all who will to take part in the contest.

Entries may be made up to June 1st, and by that time every contestant must enter his name with The Constitution and state which acre he will compete for.

In ever circular The Constitution frankly states that the care taken in the preparation of the land, the selection of [illegible] fertilizers, a record of costs and dates of plowing and other cultivation, and a careful record of the heavy rainfalls, the periods of droughts and all the other data, giving the history of the crop from the breaking of the soil to the harvesting, will be an object lesson of vast importance to every contestant, whether he wins the prize or not. This is a practical demonstration that a farm run on the intensive plan by giving careful attention to the thorough cultivation of a few acres properly rather than the poor cultivation of a large area will be far better than a reduction of farm acreage by resolutions.

The offer is made to encourage the raising of home supplies and illustrate the south's great possibilities in agriculture and to stimulate the proper cultivation of every possible acre to a to the independence of the farmer.

The prizes will be awarded by three competent judges, recognized as high authority in agricultural matters.

The terms are breifly these: Every contestant must be a subscriber to The Weekly Constitution. He must keep a record of The Constitution's acre upon a blank, which will be furnished him free upon application. The contest is open to every southern farmer.

By special arrangement with The Constitution we offer the View with The Weekly Constitution for $1,50 or If you already have our paper, send us $1 and we will send you The Constitution one year. We are pleased to say that our neighbor in Georgia is perhaps the greatest of all American weekly newspapers. Its seventy two columns each week, which will be increased to eighty four shortly, come brim full of the latest news of the world, and many excellent features of special interest to the state, besides its well conducted departments for the farm and the household.

Every subscription recieved through us will entitle the subscriber to enter the prize acre contest as well as to guess in the $2,000 contest, closing May 1st.

This is an extraordinary opportunity to procure two good newspapers for a year, one to supply the county news in the quickest and best possible shape, and the other to bring weekly the news of the world, teeming with political current history, farmers' notes and everything else that will interest every member of the family.

You will find no better season to subscribe nor any greater offer than the present.

POCKET ELECTROPOISE.

Rev. Robert B. Morrow, of Oxford, Ala. Declares That it Has Never Failed When Used as Directed.

I have had one of your Pocket Electropoises in my family for more than two years. I have used it for a great many different ills, and carefully noted the results. I have never seen it used as directed without great benefit. I purchased the Poise at first for my wife, who has suffered with dyspepsia all her life sometimes spitting up every meal for months. She is now entirely free from this evil, has not spit up her food from dyspepsia for two years.

There may be those who have faithfully used the Poise and received no benefit, but in my family for two years it has done all you promised for it. Yours sincerely

After Many Years.

In sawing through a white oak log, three feet in diameter, a few days ago, a sawyer at Blanchester, O., came across the date 1780 carved in the wood near the middle of the log. The figures were very distinct. The carving was doubtless done when the tree was young, and in some way the wood grew around and over it without filling up the carved furrows.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

A HISTORICAL HOME SOLD.

Clovernook, the historical home of the poetical sisters, Alice and Phoebe Cary, near Cincinnati, Ohio, was sold under foreclosure a few days ago. The Briggs-Swift estate bought it to be preserved as a historical literary centre and put Warren Cary in charge.—Chicago Times-Herald.

SAVED BY PUFF SLEEVES.

A carriage belonging to J. D. Tweed was being driven down a hill near his home, at Steubenville, Ohio, when the horses ran away and turned over a bank. Two of Mr. Tweed's sons were in the carriage, and one jumped to catch the horses, while the other held the lines. The carriage rolled over several times before reaching the bottom of the bank.

Two of Mr. Tweed's daughters were in the back seats, and although the carriage was damaged they escaped uninjured, and attribute their escape to falling on their large puff sleeves.—New York World.

COIFFURES FOR SUMMER.

Anything new in the art of hairdressing is of special interest to the woman who delights in change of any sort and, especially in arranging her hair according to the very latest mode regardless of the contour of her face and the becoming effect. All kinds and varieties of coiffures are continually replacing one another, and any style which distinguishes a woman from the prevailing fashion seems new simply because it is not in general use. And now the woman who would be indisputably stylish must dispense with the parting she has taken so much trouble to cultivate and adopt the later fashion of rolling the hair back from her forehead a la Pompadour, as her less conservative Parisian sisters have been doing for some time.

There is a certain fitness of things in the combination of Pompadour hair, fichus, wide collars and deep ruffs, and the parting must go, or the would-be up-to-date woman will be entirely out of the race. American women adopt a mode with great unanimity after they once approve and take it up, but they are slow to act on the first suggestion of change. The modern Pompadour is not so trying and severe in outline as the old, for the hair is first waved, not frizzed, all around the head in deep soft waves, and a few short tendril-like curls are brought down on the forehead to make it becoming. The ideal coiffure is always the one which improves rather than detracts from the appearance, so it is wise to copy the French women again, and always modify the fashion to suit the individual.

Almost any mode of hairdressing is in order, from the high knot on the crown of the head to the ugly big Bath bun worn by English women low in the neck, providing it has a touch of style in the arrangement. One thing noticeable in the latest coiffures is that more hair is worn, and short curls are sometimes added to the knot in the back. Fancy side combs have disappeared from the front and top of the head, and are more often worn at the back. When the parting is vastly becoming, as it is to long and perfectly proportioned oval faces, the hair is waved loosely down over the ears or combed back to stand well out at the sides, and arranged in soft coils and loops at the back.

All sorts of devices are invented by the hairdressers to supply all the deficiencies of nature, and furnish real curling locks that will not straighten out under the influence of sea air or betray their secret, and they have learned to conceal their art so cleverly that fringes of all kinds are purchased by women with abundant hair just for the comfort they afford when the atmosphere is moist. Fringes are made to cover the head, so that the tiresome process of crimping the hair with hot irons is no longer necessary. Another ingenious arrangement supplies a few little careless curls to fall over the ears in the most natural manner.

Tortoise shell ornaments are to be worn more during the summer than the jeweled ones which have reigned through the winter.—New York Sun.

FASHION NOTES.

Spotted esprit net in both black and white is used for neck ruffles.

Chiffon hats are more plentiful than lace ones, but the latter are still worn.

Rose-pink and gray are used together, especially for evening and dressy costumes.

One of the novelties in fans is shaped exactly like half of a handkerchief and has square corners instead of round ones. It comes in every shade of gauze spangled in jet, steel and gold.

Very natty bathing suits are made of black alpaca, with full skirts and trousers, and full waists with a square yoke outlined with white braid, and short, voluminous sleeves that would do credit to full-blown evening dress.

Buttons play a prominent part in fashions of the season, and are used chiefly for ornament, except in tailor-made gowns. Large buttons of rhinestones, and dainty miniatures are seen, while tiny black silk and small round pearl buttons are sewn on in rows as a bodice trimming.

Silks striped with fine lines and scattered with tiny spots are quite as fashionable as the chine and pompadour effects which seem to grow prettier all the time. A pretty evening gown for a young lady is of white silk flounced with pink rosebuds, and the bodice is of pink chiffon, with an applique design of cream lace dotted over it.

A pretty summer gown is made of drab linen batiste, and trimmed on the skirt in front and at the sides with three bands of the linen embroidered in white open work over pink silk and finished on the edge with a narrow beading, through which black velvet baby ribbon is run. Narrow bands trim the blouse waist, two in the back and three in front, and the belt and collar are of pink satin ribbon.

Turning a Triple Somersault.

I saw John Worland do it in New Haven in 1884, and he told me the whole history of the act, and of the many men who have tried to do it. The first man to attempt to turn a triple somersault was a performer in Van Amburgh's circus, in Mobile in 1842. He broke his neck. W. J. Hobbes made the attempt in London in 1845, and was instantly killed. The next one was John Amoor. He had been successfully turning a double, and was the original in accomplishing it over four horses. He tried to do a triple at the Isle of Wight in 1859, turned twice, landed on his forehead, and broke his neck. Sam Reinhart, while traveling with Cooper and Bailey's Circus, became dissatisfied with the double somersault feat, and was anxious to do a triple. He did it at Toledo in 1870, making a high leap, turned twice and a half, alighted on the broad of his back, and was disabled for some time. Billy Dutton accomplished the feat at Elkhorn in 1860, but he never made another attempt. The only man, living or dead, that ever accomplished the feat successfully, was John Worland, the man I saw. He threw a triple somersault six times from a spring-board. The first time he attempted it was at St. Louis in 1874, with Wilson's circus. He made three trials, twice over five horses, landing on his back. At the third attempt he landed on his feet.

The last time he accomplished the feat was when I saw him at New Haven in 1884. It was at the Forepaugh show, and the Mayor of the city and many newspaper men were present. First a performer ran down the board and turned a single somersault; then another man followed and turned a double; after which Worland ran down the board and threw a triple somersault, landing on a bed on his feet as straight as an arrow. It has seldom occurred that any man has done a triple somersault before a circus audience after due announcement, but there is no doubt about Worland's act. It was duly announced by the ring-master, and hundreds of people saw him do it.—Harper's Round Table.

Peculiar Malady Among Squirrels.

Relief from the squirrel pest, which has threatened to utterly ruin the farmers of the southern and southeastern part of Whitman County, in Eastern Washington, seems to be at hand. Recent reports from different points of the afflicted district are to the effect that instead of the immense increase in numbers which had been predicted from the early appearance of the squirrels, there is a marked decrease over last year, amounting in some instances almost to their extinction.

The cause is not thoroughly understood, but is believed to be the prevalence among them of a fateful epizootic.

At several places around Penewawa they are reported to be dying in appreciable numbers, and examination has shown the squirrels to be covered with scabs. A. L. Daniels, living near Penewawa, says the animals in his neighborhood no longer run nimbly about, and in many instances drag their hind parts. In fact, they are so badly used up that a man can walk up to them. George Smith reports a similar condition in his neighborhood, and in other sections the diminution in the numbers of the squirrels has been noticed, though the cause has not been determined.—Portland (Oregon) Telegram.

A Remarkable Jet of Water.

A five-inch jet of water, which rises in a solid stream for over 100 feet, is one of the features of the No. 2 reservoir at Portland, Oregon. Colonel Smith, the chief engineer of the water works, says that it will be possible to have even a finer jet at No. 3 reservoir in the city park. A jet of 200 feet and as many fountains as can be got, throwing water as high as desired, may be some of the features.—New York Advertiser.

A Dramatic Suicide.

In Altona a private soldier, on being relieved from his duty as a sentinel, went up with firm tread to his officer in command and reported himself as having committed suicide. Sure enough, on inspection he was found to have a bullet hole beginning at the left nipple and ending underneath his shoulderblade. Thirty minutes later he was dead.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

A CHAT WITH THE DRUGGIST.

"Will housekeepers never understand," said a druggist who had been weighing moth-balls, camphor gum, and other so-called enemies to moths, for a month or more, "that if clothing is put away with the eggs of the moths on it, moths will in all probability hatch and feast on their furs and flannels in spite of all their efforts to the contrary?" Clothing that needs wind and sun should, in our climate, be put on the line in March and be beaten, brushed, and cleansed in every part. It should be then laid in a trunk, or clean bureau drawers, until ready to be sealed in paper, labelled, and put away for the summer. In the latter part of April and the month of May it is dangerous to leave anything woolen or fur on the line even a few minutes after brushing, as that is the time that the moth-miller takes to the nice sun-warmed garment, crawls perhaps into some pocket, and lays its eggs.—New York Post.

A VALUABLE HINT.

"My husband," said a physician's wife not long ago, "chanced to see one day, standing on a shelf outside our kitchen window, some moulds of jelly cooling for the night's dinner. They were uncovered, as they were out of reach of cats and in full view of cook's watchful eye; but he questioned me about them, and asked if it was our usual custom to leave jelly thus unprotected. I was obliged to reply so far as I knew, it was. 'Then,' he said, 'don't you know that when we medical men want to secure minute organisms for investigation, we expose gelatin to the air or in places where we have confined malignant germs? The gelatine speedily attracts and holds them. I'm afraid your flavored gelatine does the same. Cool the jelly if you must, but cover it with a piece of close muslin.' And we have always done that since then."

It is to be feared that kitchen processes are sources of illness more often than is imagined. In many city houses the little kitchen annex where stands the refrigerator, and where various eatables are kept, is directly against a drain. Yet here stand daily uncovered milk, butter, often custards and puddings, and various other absorbents. The average cook is absolutely ignorant of sanitary cause and effect, and the eternal vigilance of the house mother is the family's chief safeguard.—Boston Journal of Commerce.

DURABLE ORNAMENTAL WORK.

In choosing materials and designs for the ornamenting of bureau, dressing case and table, it is wise to buy only such as will bear washing. Many delicate fabrics look pretty when fresh, but it is hard to throw them away when soiled, if you have set countless stitches in them. Leisure spent on such fancy work seems wasted in a world where there is so much that is wonderful to see and learn. Fancy work—yes, even real art work, except when it becomes a means of bread-winning—should be kept in its rightful minor place. When a fine piece of work is to be done, choose lasting materials, worthy the time spent over them. For inexpensive toilet articles there is nothing neater than plain or dotted muslin, edged with ruffles of itself or gathered lace. Coarser than this is plain scrim, which can be easily hemstitched, or, pulling out a few threads, have rows of tiny ribbons of a favorite color drawn in, which makes a tasteful border. These ribbons can be easily replaced when faded, or withdrawn when the scrim itself needs laundering. Scrim shrinks quite seriously in washing, so be contented to have each article a little too large at first. Denim, in blue or brown, is worthy of being ornamented with bold designs in outline and lace stitch, and when done in the lustrous linen threads in white, is handsome. Bolting cloth, with its firm texture, and pongee are other fabrics on which silks and linens whose colors are fast can be used, and yet be lasting. Coarse linen—butcher's linen it is often called—is sold by the yard or in pieces already hemstitched. White or colored embroidery is always pretty on this linen. Even cheese or butter cloth will make dainty toilet "fixings," with gay bows and hemstitching, but it is not worthy more time-taking work than simple brier or feather stitching.—New York Times.

RECIPES.

Apple Jelly for Cake.—Grate three apples, the rind and juice of one lemon, one cup of sugar; boil three minutes. This is nice for any layer cake.

Layer Cake.—One cup of sugar and two eggs beaten before adding sugar, butter the size of an egg, two-thirds cup of sweet milk, one and two-thirds cups of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder.

Cold Slaw.—One cup vinegar, one egg, two teaspoonfuls of sugar and one of salt and a little pepper. Let the vinegar boil; beat the other ingredients and add. Let boil five minutes, pour over the cabbage when cool.

Lemon Pie, Very Nice.—One lemon, one coffee cup of sugar, yolks of two eggs, two tablespoonfuls of flour, half a teacupful of milk. Grate the rind of the lemon, squeeze out the juice and chop the remainder fine; beat the yolk and sugar together and mix with the other ingredients and bake in a medium-sized pie plate. Beat the whites to a stiff froth, add a tablespoonful of sugar, spread over the top when done and brown slightly.

Spaghetti.—Put a tablespoonful of lard and butter into a porcelain saucepan. When hot add one-quarter of a pound of spaghetti, broken in desired lengths, half an onion, sliced, one large tomato, sliced, pepper and salt and a dash of red pepper. Stir to prevent burning and allow to brown slightly. Then add one large cup of stock or hot water and boil until the water has been absorbed, being sure that the spaghetti is tender.

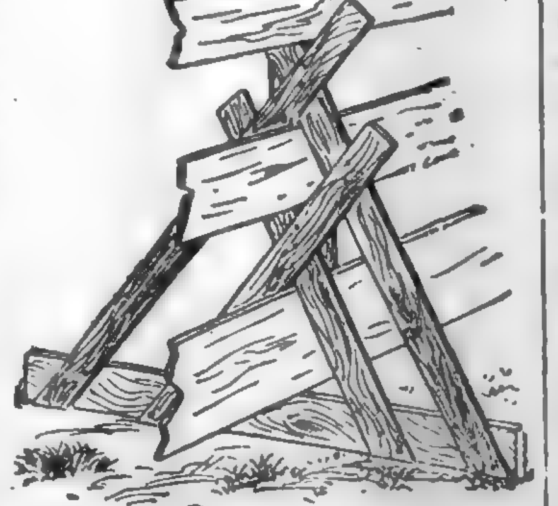
Mock Turtle Soup.—Boil together a calf's liver and heart and a knuckle of veal for three or four hours, skimming well, then strain off. Chop the meat fine and add to it a chopped onion, salt, pepper and ground cloves to taste, thickening, if necessary, with a little browned flour, cooking again in the liquor. Have the yolks of four or five hard-boiled eggs cut up for the tureen, also slices of lemon.

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

REPAIRING CATTLE FENCES.

In many pastures there are places where, on account of wet soil, the fence stakes rot off quickly, and with the constant "heaving" of the ground the boards do not remain long upon the stakes. The illustration shows how such spots in a fence can be substantially repaired. The crosspiece and the braces are narrow boards, put on in such a way that they not only keep the fence firmly braced in an upright position—even though the stakes be rotted off at the surface of the ground—but serve also the purpose of holding each board in place, even though it be not nailed. These strips are quickly nailed into position, and will prove very satisfactory; but where water is inclined to stand along the line of a boundary, it is well to plow a deep furrow alongside the fence, running the furrow off at frequent intervals to lower ground to secure drainage. It is almost impossible to keep a fence from rotting, or to keep it upright, except by the use of some such device as that shown in the cut, where water stands in and upon the ground for a considerable portion of the year.—New York Tribune.



GOVERNMENT DIRECTIONS FOR WEEDING.

The direct loss in crops, the damage to machinery and stock and the decrease in the value of land due to weeds in this country, amount to tens of millions of dollars a year, according to the estimate of Botanist F. V. Coville of the Agricultural Department. The statement is make in a bulletin of the department, which says the loss is sustained almost wholly by the farmers. The bulletin embodies a number of important directions for weed eradication, and urges that these methods be incorporated in our systems of practical farming. During last year the ordinary farm crops were checked in their growth by the extreme drouth and with the unusual amount of weeds the official investigations were enlarged. None of the processes by which seed production may be prevented or root stocks killed are regarded as impracticable, but in many cases weed extermination is impossible and their reduction to a state of comparative harmlessness is all that can be looked for.

The report urges all land owners to be on the watch for new plants and learn their character, if possible, before they become established and assert themselves as aggressive weeds on farms. This is practically the only possible method of complete extermination, unless public sentiment is aroused to a more vigorous and universal destruction of weeds. Any species, according to the bulletin, can be subdued and controlled within the limits of an ordinary farm, and unless the value of the land is low from other causes, this work can be profitably undertaken.

Prevention of seed production in cases of annuals will gradually reduce the quantity of weeds and prevent further spreading. This is accomplished in cultivated fields by burning over to destroy as many as possible of the seeds on the surface, and successive plowing is required. Broken lands should not be permitted to remain idle, and mowing or cutting off the main stems of weeds is deprecated as multiplying the stalks; but cutting the roots below the crowd usually kills them. Destruction of terrenil seeds is best procured by prevention of seed production and by killing the underground portion.—New York Advertiser.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

Don't let the weeds get the best of you.

Plant trees and shrubs and thus add beauty to your home.

Never allow stems, leaves, dirt or imperfect berries in the box.

No food will make hens lay like a liberal supply of wheat in some shape, and a regular ration of green cut bone.

In planting corn for ensilage, plant thicker than for grain. If in hills, thirty by forty-four inches is about right; if in drills, a stalk to every six to ten inches in each row.

If the fowls are confined do not fail to give a supply of grass or other green stuff. They will appreciate it fresh every morning. If you have never tried it you will be surprised at the amount fifty hens will put away in a day.

Do beautiful flowers and luscious fruits impart health and happiness to the home? Then let us see to it that there may be an abundant supply. Nature is willing in her great productions in horticultural treasures. Are you willing to make use of this generosity?

When the breeding season is over, unless you mean to use the same males next year, you may as well dispose of them at once as to keep them at an expense. If you wish to use next season, they will be as well off and their mates better off if you separate the males, especially the roosters, from the females.

Fresh air is needed, not only for comfort, but also for health. See that the fowl houses are not foul houses. We know of nothing that sweetens poultry quarters better than a good coating of dry, fresh earth on the floor every time the house is cleaned, which should be at least once a week in this kind of weather.

In Southern Hospitals.

Some conception of the magnitude of the labors performed in field and hospital service by the officers of the medical corps of the Confederate army may be formed by the consideration of the following general results:

Year.	Killed.	Wounded.	Prisoners.
1861........	1,315	4,054	2,772
1862........	18,562	68,659	48,300
1863........	11,876	51,313	71,211
1864-65....	[illegible]	70,000	80,000
	53,973	194,026	202,283

During the period of nineteen months, January, 1862, to July, 1863, inclusive, over one million cases of wounds and disease were entered upon the Confederate field reports, and over four hundred thousand cases of wounds upon the hospital reports. The number of cases of wounds and diseases treated in the Confederate field and general hospitals were, however, greater during the following twenty-two months, ending April, 1865. It is safe to affirm, therefore, that more than 3,000,000 cases of wounds and diseases were cared for by the officers of the medical corps of the Confederate army during the civil war of 1861—'65. The figure of course do not indicate that the Confederacy had in the field an army approaching 3,500,000. On the contrary the Confederate forces engaged during the war, 1861-1865, did not exceed 600,000. Each Confederate soldier was on an average, disabled for greater or lesser period, by wounds and sickness, about six times during the war.—Galveston News.

The Melaphone.

This is an improvement on the telephone. The instrument originated in the west, and by its use it is said that the human voice can be heard over a mile. A dispatch from Cincinnati, O., states that the Melaphone was tested on a steamboat and that the pilot talked with parties on either shore with the greatest ease and distinctness. It is regarded by the steamboat men of great value in river traffic.

He Was Desperate.

Said Mrs. Fussy (who had kept the long-suffering shopkeeper in agony for over an hour)—You needn't show me anything more; there is nothing here that suits me.

"Can't I show you the door, ma'am?" asked the shopkeeper, desperately.

A Slave From Boyhood.

(From the Red Wing, Minn., Republican.)

"I am now twenty-four years old," said Edwin Swanson, of White Rock, Goodhue County, Minn., to a Republican representative, "and as you can see I am not very large of stature. When I was eleven years old I became afflicted with a sickness which baffled the skill and knowledge of the physician. I was not taken suddenly ill but on the contrary I can hardly state the exact time when it began. The first symptoms were pains in my back and restless nights. The disease did not trouble me much at first, but it seemed to have settled in my body to stay and my bitter experience during the last thirteen years proved that to be the case. I was of course a child and never dreamed of the suffering in store for me. I complained to my parents and they concluded that in time I would outgrow my trouble, but when they heard me groaning during my sleep they became thoroughly alarmed. Medical advice was sought but to no avail; I grew rapidly worse and was soon unable to move about and finally became confined continually to my bed. The best doctors that could be had were consulted, but did nothing for me. I tried various kinds of extensively advertised patent medicines with but the same result.

"For twelve long years I was thus a sufferer in constant agony without respite, abscesses formed on my body in rapid succession and the world indeed looked very dark to me. About this time when all hope was gone and nothing seemed left but to resign myself to my most bitter fate my attention was called to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Like a drowning man grasping at a straw, in sheer desperation I concluded to make one more attempt—not to regain my health (I dare not to hope so much) but if possible to ease my pain.

"I bought a box of the pills and they seemed to do me good. I felt encouraged and continued their use. After taking six boxes I was up and able to walk around the house. I have not felt so well for thirteen years as during the past year. Only one year have I taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I am able now to do chores and attend to light duties.

"Do I hesitate to let you publish what I have said? No. Why should I? It is the truth and I am only too glad to let other sufferers know my experience. It may help those whose cup of misery is as full to-day as mine was in the past."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

To Clean Silk Waists.

Both light and dark silk waists, when soiled, may be greatly improved in appearance by sponging them well with gasoline or naphtha. Take a clean piece of old bleached cloth, wet it in the gasoline and rub quickly all over the waist, rubbing the silk lengthwise. Wipe the silk over with a clean dry cloth and hang in the open air for the odor of the cleaning fluid to evaporate. If wrinkled, press the silk on the wrong side with a moderately warm iron, first laying a cloth over its surface. This kind of cleaning will remove all grease and much grime, though not all kinds of spots. Carpets and furniture coverings are often greatly improved by cleaning them in the same way. Do not bring the gasoline or naphtha near a fire or light and thoroughly air anything cleaned with it. When a carpet has been cleaned by it, leave windows open for an entire day.—New York Post.

One Way of Getting Home.

One dark, foggy night there was a knock at the door of a doctor in Sheffield.

"Who's there?"

"Oh, doctor, make haste. My wife is dangerously ill!"

The doctor uttered a suppressed growl of impatience, for the village to which he was summoned was about six miles out of town. He ordered his carriage and the two drove on through the damp, cold night.

Just before they reached the village in question the husband of the sick woman alighted on some pretext or other, but did not return; and after driving into the village the medico found nobody who needed his assistance.

A week later he received a note, without signature, explaining the mystery:

"Dear Doctor—I am exceedingly obliged for you giving me a lift in your carriage, for I found it impossible to procure another conveyance, and it was a dreadful night. I hope you will forgive me this once."—Exchange.

GLORIOUS FOURTH.

HOW IT WAS CELEBRATED IN VARIOUS LOCALITIES.

Rioting at Boston--Great Day It Was at Chicago--Across the Water.

The 119th anniversary of the independence of the nation was celebrated in every city, town and hamlet throughout the country.

Rioting in Boston.

The most extraordinary scenes were enacted in East Boston on the 4th. They began with the exchange of insults between the paraders and the thousands of sightseers who lined the sidewalks; it ended with a murder and the injury of two other persons. After the parade had gone over the route and disbanded, portions of it were on their way home. All the trouble was in connection with the afternoon parade, which had come to be called "the little red schoolhouse parade," the paraders representing A. P. A. lodges, Patriotic Sons of America, Orange lodges, Order of United Workmen and other kindred organizations.

This parade was booked to start at 1:30 o'clock and the head of the column started from White street pretty nearly at that time. It presented a [illegible] [illegible]. It was completely surrounded by police, who not alone led the column, but flanked both sides [illegible] hundred yards. There were [illegible] policemen, under the command of Deputy Pierce and Captain Irish.

There were about 1,200 men in the parade. It was headed by the Little Red School House which has been the subject of much talk and comment. It was a facsimile of the regulation New England schoolhouse seen in all of its states. In front were a number of men with sashes made of the stars and stripes. Standing in the open doorway was a tall figure clothed in military costume, representing Uncle Sam. On each side of the miniature building were three windows, and in each window was a man reading a book. The float was covered with red, white and blue bunting. The schoolhouse was surmounted with stars and stripes.

The route of the procession was a continuous rioting, in which many persons were injured and one fatally clubbed.

After the parade was over a small detachment of the paraders was attacked on the street and in the melee which followed one man was shot in the groin and died shortly afterwards.

The annual celebration of the Guilford battle ground was observed at Greensboro, N. C. The orator of the day, Dr. George T. Winston, spoke on the life and times of Major Joseph Winston, who played an important part in this particular battle. The Winston statue was unveiled with imposing ceremonies.

One of the greatest patriotic demonstrations of organized labor ever held in Chicago took place at Sharpshooters' park under the auspices of the Illinois State Federation of Labor and the Trade and Labor Assembly of Chicago. The star speakers of the day were Vice President Stevenson and Governor McKinley. Over 20,000 people visited the park during the day.

The majority of New Yorkers had planned passing the national holiday out of town. Thousands left the city for nearby seashore resorts and the many parks about New York. Cheap excursions were run over many of the railroads, carrying thousands to the mountain resorts close at hand.

Independence Day was quietly celebrated in St. Louis. There were the usual number of picnics, ball games, athletic events and excursions to the country. The event of the day, however, was a sham battle at the fair grounds by the military companies participating in the interstate drill. It is estimated that fully 20,000 persons were present.

The patriotism of Americans never has been displayed with more intensity than in the celebrations on the Pacific coast Thursday. Especially in San Francisco, and in Los Angeles, the metropolitan city of the south, the national spirit assumed a degree of enthusiasm which only some new inspiration or a new birth of liberty might be expected to evoke.

Across the Water.

A 4th of July reception was held at the United States embassy at Rome, Italy, which was attended by most of the Americans residing or sojourning in Rome.

The American Society in London gave a banquet at the Holburn restaurant in honor of Independence Day. The Hon. Wayne MacVeigh, the American ambassador to Italy, presided.

The banquet given in the great hall of the Grand hotel by the American Chamber of Commerce at Paris in honor of independence day, was an enormous success.

BRYAN SPEAKS AT BIRMINGHAM

In Advocacy of Free and Unlimited Coinage of Silver.

Ex-Congressman W. J. Bryan addressed 3,000 people at the Winnie Davis wigwam in Birmingham, Ala., Tuesday night in advocacy of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. Mr. Bryan was rather hoarse, but notwithstanding that, he spoke for three hours.

At the conclusion of his speech the Nebraskan was asked if he would support the democratic nominee for president next year if the national convention should adopt a platform in accordance with the views of President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle on the money question and should nominate a candidate with those views. To this Mr. Bryan replied that he did not care to anticipate a question which he did not believe would confront him, but he said with the lights before him no power in heaven above, nor in the earth, nor in hell beneath could make him vote for a goldbug on a goldbug platform. Cleveland and Whitney have both said that they would not vote for a democratic silver man.

CROPS ARE BOOMING.

Good News Received From Every Section of the State.

The weekly crop bulletin of the weather bureau shows that the crops of the state are in splendid condition, an indication that the farmers of the state will be prosperous this year.

From every portion of the state comes the statement that the crops are rapidly growing and that there will be more than an average yield.

Generous showers have fallen in all sections of the state since last report; the temperature has been normal or slightly above. Crops are all in flourishing shape, and though cotton has not yet entirely recovered from its backward condition, it is clear of grass, weeds and lice, has green, healthy color, and with ordinarily seasonable weather, will yield up to or above the average. All other crops are in good condition.

A CHEAP IRON MILL.

Cost a Million and Sold for Only Eleven Thousand.

The iron mills of the Moorhead, McLean Company, in Pittsburg, Pa., have been sold by the sheriff. The plant is worth over $1,000,000, but went for $11,000, just enough to cover the taxes due on the property and the sheriff's costs. By this transaction the plant of one of the oldest iron firms goes out of its possession for good. The purchaser is the New York Life Insurance Company, holder of the morrtgage on which the sale was made. The mortgage was for $350,000, but the interest accumulated ran the claim up to $370,000.

SCALE OF WAGES WANTED.

Spinners at Lowell, Mass., Want a Report by July 8th.

The heads of the manufacturing corporations of Lowell are asked by the mule spinners to report on a schedule of wages by July 8th. The new schedule is practically the same that is already in use in Fall River and New Bedford, being based upon the number and quantity of yarn produced.

BOATNER IS REPORTED

As the Party Who Sold Examination Papers.

State School Commissioner Glenn, since his return from Cumberland Island, has been giving his time to the question of fraud among the teachers in the recent state examinations. He has received letters from all over the state in regard to the matter, and one of them names the man who has been selling the questions to the teachers.

The man whose name has been reported to the commissioner is a teacher in the Gammon Theological School in Atlanta. His name is D. W. Boatner, and a warrant was taken out for his arrest in Elbert county, but he had fled and could not be apprehended.

Commissioner Glenn says he has been working on the matter, and from what he can learn, one of the packages containing questions was broken open at the postoffice in Atlanta by a colored employe and given to Boatner, the teacher of theology, who had a large number of duplicated questions printed from it and has been selling them all over the state to colored teachers who were anxious to pass a good examination, and paid one and two dollars for the questions.

Letters have been received by Mr. Glenn from the commissioners in Elbert, Putnam and Franklin, showing that frauds were perpetrated there, and from Newton, Wayne, Jefferson, Oglethorpe and Macon, showing that they suspect fraud to have been committed there. Mr. Glenn has not decided yet what he will do in the matter, but he will probably call another examination for the colored teachers.

BELIEVES SPAIN WILL WIN,

Though it May Take Two Years to Down the Insurgents.

Segundo Alvares, mayor or Havana, Cuba, arrived in New York city Monday morning. Mayor Alvares, who owns the largest cigar factory in Havana, makes serious charges against the United States government in regard to the neutrality laws. He says:

"The government and people of the United States are either blind or ignorant regarding the present revolution in Cuba. Your president has issued a proclamation enforcing the neutrality laws, but in direct violation of these laws you allow military drills to take place at Key West and Tampa, Fla. You do not intend to aid the insurgents directly, but you tolerate the millitary companies within your territory to aid the insurgents, against your good faith in your treaty with Spain.

"Of course, the people and the government of the United States are not entirely to blame for this state of affairs. There are a great many Cubans, prominent in business and politics in your country, who become citizens simply for the purpose of arousing friendly sentiment here. They do not renounce their citizenship in Cuba.

"The present war may last one or even two years longer, but Spain will win in the end. The principal opposition comes from sympathizers in the United States. I speak from a Spanish standpoint, for I was born in the province of Asturias, in Spain."

THE BUCHANAN CASE.

Though the Doctor is Dead His Lawyers are Still Active.

Colonel George W. Gibbons, who with A. C. Butts, labored hard to save the wife murderer, Dr. Buchanan, from the electric chair, said he did not intend to let the case drop. "Nothing, however, can be done until the United States supreme court decides the question of our appeal," said he. "We will perfect our appeal, perhaps making some modifications to suit the present conditions of facts, and then ask for an opinion. We will proceed exactly as though Dr. Buchanan was alive. If the United States supreme court decides in our favor we will push the case to the limit."

PROFESSOR HUXLEY DEAD.

He Was an Eminent Naturalist and Well Known Author.

Professor Huxley, the great English naturalist, who has been ill for some time, died at his home in London Saturday afternoon. His mind was clear to the last and his death was painless. He began to fail about the beginning of March. A severe attack of influenza was followed by bronchitis and his heart, lungs and kidneys became affected.

CAPITAL GOSSIP.

ITEMS OF NEWS PICKED UP AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

Sayings and Doings of the Official Heads of the Government.

Our consul at Santiago de Cuba reports that yellow fever is on the increase there, but says it is impossible to give the number of cases owing to the fact that physicians in private practice do not report their cases. He says there were nineteen deaths in the city from yellow fever during the week ending June 22.

Guatemala's purpose to build a system of railroads at government expense is being looked into by the Bureau of American Republics at Washington with a view to giving American capitalists an opportunity to participate in the investment. It has already attracted the attention of British investors and the British foreign office has given notice that the specifications for the roads will be shown in the government buildings at London. The Bureau of American Republics expects from Minister Lazo Arriaga copies of the specifications for use by American investors.

The ordnance department of the army is making good progress in the work of constructing the new small bore rifles at the Springfield armory. The entire infantry army of the service has already been supplied with the new weapon, the artillery branch is now being supplied and the work of making the carbine for the use of the cavalry is well under way. It is fully expected that the entire United States army will be equipped with the weapon before next winter. Then the ordnance department will turn its attention to supply the militia of the states and the old Springfield rifles will be retired as fast as the armory can replace them with new guns.

The expenditures for the four years of civilian administration of the weather bureau ending June 30, are estimated at $3,398,090. The appropriations for the same period have been $3,632,953. These facts are pointed out in an official statement detailing the growth of the bureau. The expenditures for the present fiscal year will aggregate $835,000 against total appropriations of $878,439. The estimated surplus for the bureau remaining in the treasury July 1, will be $43,439. The average annual expense of the service for ten years under the military organization was $924,661 and under four years of civil organization $849,523.

By order of First Assistant Postmaster General Jones, the principal postoffices throughout the country have discontinued the use of the cancelling machines, by which letters are postmarked and the stamps upon them cancelled. In explanation of this action it is stated by Postmaster General Wilson that the department is endeavoring to secure better terms for stamp cancelling machines. The department rents about 200 of them, some from the American Postal Machine Company at $200 per annum, and the remainder from Hey & Dolphin, of New York, at $400 each. This amounts to more than the original cost of the machines and is thought to be excessive.

Private letters received at Washington from Caracas state that Congressman Leonidas Livingston, of Georgia, was the recipient of many public and private courtesies during his recent visit to Venezuela. The local authorities at La Guayra were notified to facilitate his landing at that port. His hotel bill was paid by the Venezuelan authorities while he remained at Caracas, and numerous entertainments were given in his honor. In this manner both the government and the citizens of the republic endeavored to show their appreciation of the friendship which Mr. Livingston displayed for them in securing the passage by the house of representatives at the last session of a resolution demanding that the differences between Venezuela and Great Britain should be arbitrated.

To Protect Crows.

In a recent agricultural department report, farmers are cautioned to refrain from waging a general war of extermination of crow and blackbirds. While at times they injure crops, their depredations, according to the department, can usually be prevented. On the other hand they do incalculable good by destroying insects. The grain eaten by them under ordinary circumstances does not cause serious loss, as much of it consists of scattered or waste kernels. Their occasional descent on corn or wheat fields in flocks of hundreds or thousands indicates that the species is too abundant and should be reduced. Practicable means should be taken by farmers to protect themselves and extreme penalties inflicted if the crop and the birds' lives cannot both be saved. Another report deprecates the general condemnation of raptorial birds for the offense of a few. It laments the lack of knowledge of the life histories of these birds on the part of legislative committees that draft the game laws of the various states. That the beneficial species of hawks and owls will eventually be protected, it claims there is not the slightest doubt. When farmers are convinced that the birds are their friends, they will demand protection for them, and already leading agricultural and sportsmen journals are deploring the indiscriminate slaughter.

DENOUNCED BY SOVEREIGN.

The Master Workman Makes Protest Against Debs' Incarceration.

Several hundred members of the local Knights of Labor of Washington were addressed by Master Workman Sovereign at a meeting held to protest against the imprisonment of Eugene V. Debs, president of the American Railway Union and manager of the great Chicago strike last year. Mr. Sovereign denounced the confinement of Debs as an unlawful act of the courts. He exhorted the workingmen to band together for mutual protection, and announced that he had issued an order to the Knights of Labor of the United States to set apart Labor Day (the first Monday in September), as a time to make a mammoth protest against Mr. Debs' incarceration. Several other speakers followed Mr. Sovereign. It was the opinion of the majority of them that the only successful way to make a strike was at the polls.

At the conclusion of the speechmaking a resolution was adopted demanding of congress legislation which shall give legal protection to organized employes of corporations and secure them in the future from the arbitrary and unjust application of an injunction under a gross and willful misconstruction of the law. The resolution also demanded that the status of labor organizations shall be legally declared and the duty of the judiciary in all matters at issue between the employer and employe fully defined.

NEW FRUIT RATE.

The Growers Will Save at Least $45 a Car in Freight.

The fruit men of the state will get a rate of 65 cents a hundred on peaches—a rate of $130 a car to New York—or the railroads will have to show the interstate railroad commission why the rate is not granted. This was decided at the conference between the members of the rate committee and those of the railroad commission at Atlanta.

The conference was very short, as it lasted but a few moments. There was no speech making and no hearing of evidence. The commissioners informed the gentlemen of the rate committee that they had decided that a fair rate on peaches would be 65 cents a hundred, instead of 81 cents, the present rate, and instead of 49 cents, the rate asked for by the fruit men. The commissioners also stated that they thought $130 was a fair rate of freight for a carload of peaches from the orchards to New York. This is quite a victory for the fruit men and they are very much elated over it. They have been paying $175 a car on peaches.

CONTRADICTORY REPORTS

Regarding the Condition of Prince Bismarck's Health.

News regarding the condition of Prince Bismarck is contradictory and difficult to obtain. The London Times' correspondent at Friedericharuhe confirms the cablegram to the Associated Press and the Hamburg Boursenhalle says that the accuracy of the statement that the prince is seriously ill is undoubted.

Wednesday morning Governor Atkinson signed the first order that he has signed since his illness. It was an order to close all the offices at the capitol on the 4th, as that was a legal holiday.

BUCHANAN DIES.

Electrocuted at Sing-Sing for the Murder of His Wife.

Dr. Buchanan, the wife murderer, was electrocuted in the state prison at Sing Sing, N. Y., Monday morning. It was 11:14 when the witnesses were called to the execution chamber. All was then ready, and Electrician Davis was at the switchboard. In a closed box was the convict, who, upon signal, was to turn the switch. Dr. Buchanan walked in without a word and took his seat. In about thirty seconds he was strapped and in forty seconds was pronounced dead. The voltage of 1,700 was kept on for four seconds, and then reduced to 40 volts, which was kept on for thirty seconds more. It was the quickest and most successful execution ever seen at the prison.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

Seldom if ever before in the history of criminal procedure in this country has there been such a determined and untiring legal fight made to save or prolong the life of a condemned murderer as that which has been made in behalf of Dr. Robert W. Buchanan, the convicted wife poisoner. He has practically been on the threshold of the death cell no less than three times since he was sentenced. On two of these occasions his life was prolonged by the clemency of Governor Morton, who granted a respite of one week at the earnest solicitation of the prisoner's wife, and the other respite owing to legal technicalities, among others an appeal to the United States supreme court and the British ambassador, Sir Julian Pauncefote.

In 1890, his wife, whom he accused of faithlessness, separated from him, leaving their children in his charge. After this separation, Buchanan met a woman named Annie Sutherland, who had kept a house of ill-repute in Newark, and she became infatuated with him. He secured a divorce from his first wife and married the Sutherland woman in 1890.

This woman, who was reputed to be very wealthy, made and signed a will in the doctor's favor. The instrument was witnessed by two of Buchanan's quandam friends. She was old enough to be the doctor's mother and when they went to live at No. 267 West Eleventh street, New York, he passed her off as a wealthy widow who insisted on being his housekeeper.

Buchanan soon began indulging heavily in drink and quarrels became frequent. On April 22, 1892, his second wife took sick suddenly. A doctor was called in, and Buchanan told him his wife had kidney troubles. A dentist's wife and professional nurse who attended the woman saw Buchanan administer two spoonsful of medicine to the sick woman that evening. On the following evening, April 23, Mrs. Buchanan died while Dr. Buchanan was absent on a professional call.

REMARRIED HIS DIVORCED WIFE.

At the funeral he laughed and joked with those who accompanied him to the cemetery and told many people that the dead woman had left him $40,000. On the 16th of May he secretly remarried his divorced wife at Windsor, N. S. They went to New York and lived at the Hotel Hamilton under assumed names. As the facts leaked out through the newspapers, Buchanan became frightened and spread the report that the deceased woman was addicted to the morphine habit.

In a burst of confidence he said to a friend, "I wish to God I had cremated her. Then the newspapers and the authorities could go to hell."

On June 5th the body was disinterred and an autopsy held. The following day Buchanan was arrested and committed to the tombs on a charge of murder.

His trial, which was a very sensational one, was begun March 20, 1893. It cost the county about $30,000. Experts were pitted against each other and no stone was left unturned by the prosecution or defense in their preparation for a medico-legal battle. The best criminal lawyers in the city defended Buchanan. The trial lasted six weeks. On April 26th, having debated for two days, the jury returned a verdict of guilty.

Decided Against the Government.

Judge Ross in the United States district court at San Francisco decided the suit of the government against the estate of the late Senator Stanford for $15,000,000. The decision is against the claim of the government.

ADVENTISTS IN JAIL

CONVICTED OF WORKING ON THE SABBATH DAY.

They Violated Tennessee's Law, and Made No Defense.

The trial of a number of Seventh Day Adventists, residents of Graysville, Rhea county, Tennessee, was brought to a close in the circuit court at Chattanooga after occupying the attention of the court for three days. A number of defendants were charged with following their usual vocations on the Sabbath day and the majority of them were found guilty. Attorney General J. A. Fletcher left no stone unturned to convict the accused, and as the charges were proved and no defense whatever made, he had little trouble in securing conviction. The offenses charged were trivial in character and were committed in the county, five miles from the town of Dayton, but as the public roads were, in the majority of cases, near the defendants' residences, the clause "in a public place," or "within a certain place," or "within a certain distance of a public road" was inserted. The offense was proved to be "hurtful to the morals of the community."

The defendants, without exception, are honest, industrious, respectable citizens, having the confidence of the better element in the community. The prosecutor in the first instance was a laborer without any social standing and without means. The accused were H. C. Leach, accused of cutting underbrush on his farm; W. L. Burchard, charged with cutting wood; N. B. England, same offense; Lewis Abbott, a merchant, charged with selling goods on Sunday; Allen Cathey, a mere boy who works in the mines all the week and is the support of a widowed mother and aunt, charged with cutting stove wood for his mother's use; Dwight Plumb, charged with a similar offense; W. T. Kerr, charged with building a fence, and plowing; Monroe Morgan, shingling a house.

Elder Gillett, a deacon of the Adventist church, held in high esteem by the entire community, had several charges against him, but the witnesses could not be found and the case was continued. Several other cases were also held over to the next court. Judge Parks, in passing sentence, said: "I will take the occasion, however, to express my sincere personal regret that a necessity exists for inflicting punishment on these people, for it must be patent even to the most casual observer, that they are good citizens, who are thoroughly conscientious in the course they have taken. They are not Sabbath breakers in the ordinary sense of that term. The original intention of the law was certainly not to punish such people. It was directed at that class of people who, out of sheer wickedness and want of decent respect for things sacred, violate that day which by concurrent belief of the Christian world in general had come to be recognized as the Sabbath."

The court then imposed small fines, the heaviest being $850. The defendants said that if they paid the fines they would be putting the law of man before the law of God, so they would suffer for conscience's sake. They emphatically refused to pay the fines and were removed to the jail, which adjoins the courthouse, without any excitement.

Wire Workers on Strike.

Three hundred wire drawers at the works of the American Wire Company at Cleveland, O., have struck for a ten per cent. increase in wages. The men made a demand for the advance, and on being notified that it could not be granted, went out in a body.

A Courthouse Burned.

The substantial brick courthouse at Lexington, Henderson county, Tenn., was totally destroyed by fire early Wednesday morning, together with the greater part of all the court records, papers, etc., of the Lexington corporation.

China's Loan Over-Subscribed.

The Central News says the loan of £1,000,000 to China, which was issued to enable China to meet certain obligations for armaments pending the completion of the arrangements for the indemnity loan, has been over-subscribed three or four times.

We spent the 4th with the good people of Kincheon. They gave their visitors a magnificent feast. Those fond of dancing tripped the light fantastic under a shed, while the older people and non dancers enjoyed themselves in other ways.

Despite the rain every body had a good time and we dare say closed the day with more kindly feelings one for the other. In response to many pressing requests this editor undertook the difficult task of making an extemporary speech to an after dinner crowd in the open air. His lame throat only allowed him to speak for a fews minutes. He here thanks those excellent people for their respectful attention.

Last June Dick Crawford brought his twelve-months-old child, suffering from infantile diarrhoea, to me. It had been weaned at four months and had always been sickly. I gave it the usual treatment in such cases but without benefit. The child kept growing thinner until it weighed but little more than when born, or perhaps ten pounds. I then started the father to giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Before one bottle of the 25 cent size had been used a marked improvement was seen and its continued use cured the child. Its weakness and puny constitution disappeared and its father and myself believe the childs' life was saved by this remedy. J. T. Marlow, M. D., Tamaroa, Ill. FOREIGN CAPITAL [illegible].

On [illegible] — Advantages of an Influx of Foreign Money.

Our foreign debts are a great source of worriment to the free coinage people. Every instance of bonds sold abroad is taken up by them to prove that our property is passing into the hands of foreigners; that Germany, France and England will soon own this country, and that we cannot possibly pay our interest to them in gold.

Strangely enough it never seems to occur to them that the Americans who are selling this property may be getting full value for it.

And yet when you meet one of these Americans who has just completed a sale to a foreign syndicate, he never seems dejected. If any body in America has lost anything by the sale he must be the man, but who ever saw an American struggling to escape from the clutches of an English syndicate who were trying to buy his property. The fact is these political economists act upon the theory that this property passes to the foreigners without consideration, whereas the question of consideration is well looked after by the Americans immediately interested. That is not a matter requiring government supervision. The United State has been greatly benefited in the past by the flow of European capital hither for investment. It has hastened the development of the country, reduced the cost of transportation, increased the value of western farms, and lowered the rates of interest.

A recently issued little book entitled "Coin at School in Finance," by Geo. E. Roberts treats this subject in an effective manner. It gives a clever "take off" on Coin's notorious "school." The following quotation is properly enough put into Coin's mouth and the nonsense of it exposed as follows:

"Your plan," shrieked Coin, "is to pay our debts by making new ones. Your prosperity means coming in from abroad. The hobby of your school of finance is to keep our credit good abroad, so that we can borrow more money. I say that I don't want to see another dollar of foreign money come here; it means that we must either pay interest on it, or give up some of our property for it. We are mortgaging or selling (the two mean the same thing) the birthright of our children."

And Coin's eyes glared, his hair stood on end, great drops of perspiration stood on his face, and he looked like a man with a nightmare.

The Bimetailist looked at him with curiosity. Then he addressed Mr. Miller, the leading Eagle Grove citizen who had been in constant attendance.

"Mr. Miller, if an Englishman should arrive here tomorrow with $100,000 to build a plow factory in Eagle Grove, would there be any riotous demonstrations?"

"Well," said Mr. Miller, smiling "I don't know but you might call them such. The whole town would turn out to welcome him. We would give him a banquet, present him with a tract of ground for his establishment, exempt him from taxation for ten years and furnish him free water from the city plant."

"But haven't you learned from Coin that the profits from this factory for all time would go to swell our gold exports?"

"We would let the gold exports take care of themselves and welcome the factory."

"But suppose," said the Bimetallist, thoughtfully, that this Englishman should find that he could do better with his profits here in Eagle Grove than by taking them back to England, and should announce in due time, that he would build an oat-meal mill here. Would you tolerate it?"

The eyes of the Eagle Grove audience sparkled with delight and humor. It was evident that the Englishman would have no prejudices to overcome.

"And suppose," said the Bimetallist, continuing, "that he should conclude that instead of taking the income from the two establishments to England where interest rates are very low, to loan it in this country to younger and enterprising men who desire to embark in similar enterprises, or to men like Gov. Altgeld, who wanted to put up sixteen story buildings but had money enough for only eight stories. Would your consideration for the birthright of your children permit this?"

"I think no obstacles would be put in the genteman's way," and another smile went around the audience.

"[illegible]," he [illegible] "[illegible] simple, and harmless these movement of capital are when examined in detail. The enterprise and bargains of individuals are behind them all, and they are controlled by laws that are beyond the power of syndicates or governments. Money has come to this country from abroad for the same reasons that millions of sturdy working men have come, viz: because it could earn more here than there, and the governments or syndicates of Europe can no more draw it away from us while that condition remains than they can draw back the men who have bettered their condition here."

"You can't draw all the money of the world into one country any more than you can partition the Atlantic and pump one side dry. England leaks gold at every pore after enough is piled up there to depress interest rates. Coin seems to labor under the impression that gold runs into England but never out. He thinks they eat it, or hoard it in their cellers. That is a mistake."

"I think nothing of the kind," said Coin. "I know that all people like to keep their money in use. But I say that when the Englishman puts his gold out again it is for something that will increase it, and that his class, wherer they live in England or elsewhere, are getting richer and richer, and in the natural course of present politics will own the earth."

"Just as our Eagle Grove Englishman might come in time to own the United States, even though every man who did business with him profited by him?" interposed the Bimetallist.

Coin was silenced. His logic had carried him to an absurdity. Ex.

DO YOU WANT TO STOP TOBACCO?

You can be Cured While Using It.

The habit of using tobacco grows on a man until grave diseased conditions are produced. Tobacco causes cancer of the mouth and stomach; dyspepsia; loss of memory; nervous affections; congestion of the retina, and wasting of the optic nerve, resulting in impairment of vision, even to the extent of blindness; dizziness, or vertigo; tobacco asthma; nightly suffocation; dull pain in the region of the heart, followed later by sharp pains, palpitation and weakened pulse, resulting in fatal heart disease. It causes loss of vitality.

QUIT BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE.

To quit suddenly is too severe a shock to the system, as tobacco—to an inveterate user, becomes a stimulant that his system continually craves. "BACCO CURO" is a scientific and reliable vegetable remedy which has been use for the last 23 years having cured thousands of habitual tobacco users—smokers, chewers and snuff dippers.

YOU CAN USE ALL THE TOBACCO YOU WANT, WHILE TAKING "BACO-CURO," IT WILL NOTIFY YOU WHEN TO STOP. WE GIVE A WRITEN GUARANTEE to permanently cure any case with three boxes, refund the money with 10 per cent interest.

"BACO-CURO" is not a substitute, but a reliable and scientific cure—which absolutely destroys the craving for tobacco without the aid of will power, and with no inconvenience. It leave the system as pure and free from nicotine as the day of your first chew or smoke.

Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per box three boxes (thirty days treatment and GAURATEED CURE,) $2.50, or sent direct upon receipt of price. SEND SIX TWO CENT STAMPS for SAMPLE BOX BOOKLET and PROOFS FREE. Eureka Chemical & Manufacturing Company, Manufacturing Chemists, La Crosse Wisconsin.

W. I. Mullins has brought to Clanton one of the best assortment of ready made clothing ever placed on this market.

A horse kicked H. S. Shafer of the Freemyer House, Middleburg, N. Y. on the knee, which laid him up in bed and caused the knee joint to become stiff. A friend recommended him to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which he did, and in two days was able to be around. Mr. Shafer has recommended it to many and says it is excellent for any kind of a bruise or sprain. This same remedy is also famous for its cures of rheumatism. 40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Summer hats for ladies, gentlemen girls, and boys at W. I. Mullins.

We know how to sympathize with our friend and brother George Honeycutt in the death of his seven months old baby. The little fellow being left motherless a short time ago, entwined itself the more strongly about the father's heart and it was like tearing out the parental heart, but the God who rules above is too wise to err.

Mr. J. P. Massie, familiarly known to our readers as Bull Massie, died at the home of Dr. Johnson just about sunset Saturday evening. For some years past the poor fellow realized that he was in the grasp of that terrible monster, consumption. Calmly he prepared for the change whenever it might come and bravely he contested every inch of the ground with his enemy. He was ambitious to live, but at all times said "the will of the Lord be done." He was a great favorite with all who knew him. (?) as modest as a girl yet as faithful to duty as was Robert E. Lee. He appreciated deeply the kindness shown him by all, especially the parental attentions of Dr. Johnson and wife who gave him every comfort in their power. Pall bearers chosen from his fellow Sunday school workers bore him to the Baptist church where in the presence of a great congregation Mr. Lowery preached a suitable sermon, and then lovingly his body was laid away to await the morning of the Great resurection.

Everything needed in the line of undertakers goods for sale by W. I. Mullins.

By request Judge Honeycutt preached on the 4th of July to the descendants of Mr. John Baker. One hundred and thirteen of whom were present.

Ready made clothes from the cheapest to the best on sale by W. I. Mullins.

We have never known more faithful and loving watching during long days and nights of sickness, than was rendered by Mr. John Massie during his brother's last illness. He scarcely left the bedside day or night.

Mr. J. L. Beard has moved from Verbena to Elmore and expects to practice his profession at that point, and in Montgomery, Wetumpka and Prattville. We trust that he will be succesful.

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION'S PRIZE ACRE.

$500,00 in Cash for Farmers—A Handsome Reward for the Plows of 1895.

We take pleasure in presenting The Constitution's $500 offer for the farmers of 1895. The prize consists of $100 in cash for the best acre of cotton, corn, tobacco, watermelons or sweet potatoes.

The announcement is made before the planting of the crop so as to enable all who will to take part in the contest.

Entries may be made up to June 1st, and by that time every contestant must enter his name with The Constitution and state which acre he will compete for.

In ever circular The Constitution frankly states that the care taken in the preparation of the land, the selection of ... fertilizers, a record of costs and dates of plowing and other cultivation, and a careful record of the heavy rainfalls, the periods of droughts and all the other data, giving the history of the crop from the breaking of the soil to the harvesting, will be an object lesson of vast importance to every contestant, whether he wins the prize or not. This is a practical demonstration that a farm run on the intensive plan by giving careful attention to the thorough cultivation of a few acres properly rather than the poor cultivation of a large area will be far better than a reduction of farm acreage by resolution.

The offer is made to encourage the raising of home supplies and illustrate the south's great possibilities in agriculture and to stimulate the proper cultivation of every possible acre to a to the independence of the farmer.

The prizes will be awarded by three competent judges, recognized as high authority in agricultural matters.

The terms are breifly these: Every contestant must be a subscriber to The Weekly Constitution. He must keep a record of The Constitution's acre upon a blank, which will be furnished him free upon application. The contest is open to every southern farmer

By special arrangement with The Constitution we offer the View with The Weekly Constitution for $1,50 or if you already have our paper, send us $1 and we will send you The Constitution one year. We are pleased to say that our neighbor in Georgia is perhaps the greatest of all American weekly news papers. Its seventy two columns each week, which will be increased to eighty four shortly, come brim full of the latest news of the world, and many excellent features of special interest to the state, besides its well conducted departments for the farm and the household.

Every subscription recieved through us will entitle the subscriber to enter the prize acre contest as well as to guess in the $2,000 contest, closing May 1st.

This is an extraordinary opportunity to procure two good newspapers for a year, one to supply the county news in the quickest and best possible shape, and the other to bring weekly the news of the world, teeming with political current history, farmers' notes and everything else that will interest every member of the family.

You will find no better season to subscribe nor any greater offer than the present.

POCKET ELECTROPOISE.

Rev. Robert B. Morrow, of Oxford, Ala Declares That It Has Never Failed When Used as Directed.

I have had one of your Pocket Electropoises in my family for more than two years. I have used it for a great many different ills, and carefully noted the results. I have never seen it used as directed without great benefit. I purchased the Poise at first for my wife, who has suffered with dyspepsia all her life sometimes spitting up every meal for months. She is now entirely free from this evil; has not spit up her food from dyspepsia for two years.

There may be those who have faithfully used the Poise and received no benefit, but in my family for two years it has done all you promised for it. Yours sincerely

Rev Robert B. Morrow,
Oxford, Ala., Dec. 25, 1894.

Electrified Hotel.

A hotel in Chicago is so heavily charged with electricity that the guests cannot move around without getting a shock that is often painful. It is so bad that when one walks across the room a spark will leap over a space of two inches. The guests have some funny experiences. One man came near getting a gash cut in his face when he went to get shaved, because he was so startled by a spark from the razor. Then another man thought he had stepped on needles when he got in a bathtub. This peculiar condition of the building puzzles the electricians, and some think that the whole house will have to be overhauled and revised.—Boston Journal of Commerce.

Madam Boisvert.

I am a mid-wife and have been giving McElree's Wine of Cardui and Black Draught tea to my lady patients, both during pregnancy and after birth as a tonic, and have found the treatment will do more than is claimed for it. Two years ago I was so troubled with female weakness myself, that I could not work at all. I heard McElree's Wine of Cardui recommended, and got six bottles of it, and a mammoth package of Thedford's Black-Draught. I began the treatment as directed, and in two weeks I had improved so much I could do my work, and have never been troubled with it since.

GLADSTONE QUITS.

ENGLAND'S "GRAND OLD MAN" DECLINES RE-ELECTION.

He Held Office for More than Half a Century.

Mr. Gladstone's promised letter to his Midlothian constituents in connection with his retirement from political life has been published at London. After bidding farewell to the electors who have supported him at the polls for many years past and expressing his gratitude for their adhesion to the principles he advocated, the ex-premier proceeds to say:

"It is beyond question that the century now expiring has exhibited since the close of its first quarter a period of unexampled activity, the changes of which, taken in the mass, have been in the direction of true and beneficial progress. An overwhelming proportion of the reforms within this period have been affected within the direct action of the liberal party or by direct action of such statesmen as Peel and Canning, who were ever ready to meet odium or to forfeit power for the public good. In all of the fifteen parliaments in which I have served, the people of Scotland have decisively expressed their convictions in favor of this wise and temperate policy and I trust that the electors of Midlothian will continue to lead the people of Scotland in the future as they have in the past."

FITZSIMMONS ACQUITTED.

The Verdict Received With Tremendous Cheering.

Bob Fitzsimmons, the well-known pugilist, who was on trial for a week at Syracuse, N. Y., on the charge of being responsible for the death of his late sparring partner, Con Riordan, is free, the jury announcing the verdict as "not guilty."

Immediately a tremendous cheer went up. Such a boisterous demonstration has not been seen in the Onondaga county courthouse in many years. County Judge Ross pounded with his gavel in vain for order, and finally commanded the sheriff and his deputies to put everybody under arrest. This had the effect of quieting the crowd, and inasmuch as the order was not carried out, everybody went away happy. The summing up of Attorney Frederick House, for the defense, was an eloquent effort, and it took the jury but a short time to arrive at the verdict of acquittal.

FORMOSA EASILY TAKEN.

The Japs Experienced No Trouble in Capturing the Place.

A special from Amoy, China, says: The republic of Formosa was short lived. Li Chung Fung and John W. Foster anchored twelve miles from Kelung last Sunday and on shipboard made the formal delivery of the island to Admiral Kabayama, in accordance with the terms of the treaty. That is, the necessary papers were exchanged. China, through Lord Li, ceded all rights to the island and told Japan to take it if she could. Japan took the young republic with the same skill and ease with which she conquered China.

A BIG SILVER FIND.

Much Excitement Over the Discovery in Colorado.

A special to the Denver Times from Steamboat Springs, Col., reports great excitement in the neighborhood of Hahn's Peak, over the discovery of an immense blow-out of silver bearing rock said to come from a blanket vein. The ore is said to run several hundred ounces of silver to the ton. There are already four or five hundred men on the ground and hundreds of claims have been staked off.

Express Company Wins.

The circuit court at Indianapolis has decided that the Adams Express Company can only be taxed on personal property in the state. The state tax commissioners had assessed the company on a mileage basis and the company prayed for an injunction. The case will go to the state supreme court and probably to the United States supreme court for final settlement.

Chauncey is Not Engaged.

In regard to the report of his alleged engagement to a young Washington heiress, Chauncey M. Depew says the story is made of the whole cloth and adds that "he does not know of any young lady worth $8,000,000 who would have him."

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Situation as Reported for the Past Week.

A review of Southern industries for the past week indicates that the rapid advance of iron in the past three weeks, being a total advance of $1.50 per ton, and an advance of 40 per cent since April 1st, has somewhat of a speculative tinge, but all the conditions warrant legitimate advance which it is thought will be maintained and perhaps a further advance will be made. There is great activity in blast furnaces all over the South, and more excitement in the market than for seven years. The daily output of iron in the South is increasing. Wages are being advanced from ten to fifteen per cent by nearly all the iron, coal and ore companies of the south. Lumber is more active, especially cypress, but prices are rather sluggish. All advices from all sections of the South, covering every line of industry are favorable.

Among the new industries reported for the week is a brick manufacturing company at Wheeling, W. Va., with a capital of $100,000; a $20,000 fertilizer factory at Marlboro, Va., and a $10,000 company incorporated at Louisville, Ky., to establish engine works. A foundry and machine shop will be erected at Bristol, Tenn.; a marble company has been chartered with a capital of $20,000 to do business at Fort Smith, Ark., and a $100,000 company to deal in mineral lands at Raleigh, N. C. At Wheeling, W. Va., a $100,000 oil company to bore for oil and gas is reported, and a cotton mill to cost $125,000 will be erected at Blue Wing, N. C.

A large number of woodworking plants will be erected, the most important being a $60,000 bucket and tub factory at Charleston, W. Va., and a lumber mill to cost $50,000 at Houston, Texas.

The water works and electric light plant at Austin, Tex., will be completed at a cost of $300,000.

Among the enlargements reported are furnaces at Birmingham, Ala., and Buena Vista, Va., iron works at Tecumseh, Ala., mines at Coal Creek, Ala., and cotton mills at Durham, High Point and Mt. Holly, N. C.

The new buildings for the week include an $18,000 asylum and $15,000 church at New Orleans, La., a $100,000 depot at Louisville, Ky., and a hotel to cost $150,000 at Tampa, Fla.—Tradesman (Chattanooga, Tenn.)

MORE BLOOD SPILLED

And Charged Up to South Carolina's Dispensary Law.

The latest sensation in connection with the dispensary system of South Carolina is furnished by Spartanburg. Last Friday morning, at the hour of 1, two citizens were killed and two state constables were wounded; one mortally, the other seriously. This is the story of the awful happening so far as mortals can ever know. There were no disinterested witnesses of the war, only the constables and moonshiners saw and heard.

Since the dispensary system went into effect the people of the wild Blue Ridge Mountains, which are distant about twenty miles from Spartanburg have been giving the dispensary people a great deal of worry, the close proximity to the North Carolina hills has made it extremely difficult for the constables of Governor Evans to keep mountain whiskey out of the town and county. In spite of all that could be done the moonshiners would bring down the product of their stills. The result has been that the Spartanburg dispensary has been unable to prosper. Very recently the constables, about five or six in number, have been on the alert and have planned to catch the mountain men.

Several days ago Constable Toland, a resident officer, applied for help to execute his plans. This help was granted by the chief constable, and Friday morning the plans were tried. However, several nights previous were put in trying to catch the game, but with no success. The constables stationed themselves at a point on the mountain road about four miles from the city and waited for the mountain schooner with its cargo of whisky. At 1 o'clock their watch was rewarded. The wagon came in sight, and Constable Stevenson stepped into the road, and catching the bridle of a mule, told the men to surrender. The constable said that a man on the wagon expressed a preference to surrender, but began immediately to shoot. The firing then became general. The constables used their shot guns and pistols upon the crew of the schooner, and received in return a volley of bullets from the wagon. How many men were on the wagon no one knows. When the firing ended two moonshiners, Jack Fisher and Bill Durham, were found dead and two constables wounded, Pettigrew by a ball just below the right nipple; Toland through the right lung. The former will die. Toland has good chances of recovery.

There is no account other than that given by the constables. The coroner held an inquest Friday afternoon, and the verdict was to the effect that the men came to their death by gunshot wounds from the guns of unknown parties. A strange feature of the affair is that the guns found on the wagon of the mountaineers contained their full charge; they gave no evidence of having been fired.

There is great excitement in the mountains. Fisher and Durham were kings of the mountains from Spartanburg to Asheville, and have a host of followers.

Later News.

On Saturday the awful tragedy was still the talk of the town. Farmers from the country poured into the city to talk and hear the story of the crime. The situation is indeed a serious one and the worst, it is thought, is yet to come. How soon, the friends of Fisher and Durham alone can tell. The feeling at Tryon, N. C., and surrounding country, the home of the murdered men, is intense and further trouble will surely come.

Word was received from the mountains that the friends of Fisher and Durham were worked up to the pitch of excitement and were buckling on their Colt's pistols. They have sworn to avenge the death of their brother and friend. A state constable would stand no more showing in Tryon, N. C., than a rabid dog. Stevenson and Byers are now in jail with the charge of murder hanging over their heads.

MACON'S PEACH CARNIVAL.

Finest Display of Fruits Ever Seen in Georgia.

The formal opening of the peach carnival at Macon was marked by many brilliant and attractive features. The city was gaily decorated and everybody was in holiday humor and attire. The main feature of the first day's exercises was the grand street parade which was followed by appropriate addresses. Thousands of people turned out to witness the inauguration of this unique festival and everything passed off most auspiciously.

The Carnival will hold until July 20 and there will be special attractions each day. The display of fruits will be the finest ever seen in Georgia. Macon is in the center of the peach region. The largest peach orchards in the world are almost in sight of the city and at this season, which has been made glorious by the greatest Georgia peach crop on record, it is appropriate that such a carnival as that now in progress at Macon should be held.

It will attract attention to the immense possibilities of fruit culture in this state. The recent progress of this industry has been remarkable. The melons, peaches, grapes, plums, pears and other fruits produced in this state now represent millions of dollars annually and are becoming more important every year. The Peach Carnival will increase the interest in this work both at home and abroad.

To Drain the Ocmulgee Swamps.

A petition has been presented to the county commissioners of Bibb with 1,500 signatures, asking them to take steps towards the drainage of the Ocmulgee swamps below Macon. The commissioners adopted resolutions asking Bibb's representatives in the legislature to use their power in having a law passed so that the work could be undertaken.

Will Dispose of Her Jewels.

It is stated that Mrs. Leland Stanford, of San Francisco, will soon go to Europe to sell her jewels so that she may apply the proceeds to carrying on the Leland Stanford, Jr., university at Palo Alto. The need of ready money is given as the object. The jewels are valued at $1,000,000.

GLOVE CONTESTS UNLAWFUL.

Comptroller Finley on the Corbett-Fitzsimmons Fight.

State Comptroller Finley, of Texas, gave the projectors of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons contest, of Dallas, a setback in a letter to the tax collector of Dallas. He says: "After careful examination and consideration of the question presented, I have reached the conclusion that, while the act of 1889 provided for an occupation tax of $500 for every fight between man and man, the legislature of this state has, by a subsequent enactment, made it unlawful for any person to voluntarily engage in a pugilistic encounter for money; that the effect of said act was to repeal so much of the act of 1889 as permitted an occupation tax to be charged for fights between man and man, has been so decided by our courts of criminal appeals. You are, therefore, respectfully advised that this department will not attempt to legalize the proposed pugilistic encounter in this state by issuance of license therefor, or by authorizing you, as tax collector of Dallas county, to receive any sum of money from any person as license tax for such performance when the same is manifestly unlawful and has been so expressly declared by the people of Texas through their legislature."

They Will Fight.

Dan A. Stuart, president of the Florida Athletic Club, said in regard to the above: "The refusal of Comptroller R. W. Finley to issue a license does not cut any figure whatever. I have the opinions of six of the leading lawyers of Texas that there is no law against glove contests, and the Corbett-Fitzsimmons match will be pulled off October 31st. Work will begin on the building next Saturday. One million feet of lumber was purchased today for the building. License or no license, the contest will take place."

SOUTHERN GETS IT.

The Atlantic and Florida Sold by the Central Trust Co.

The Southern railway gets the Atlanta and Florida railroad. And Atlanta gets the new union passenger depot, of which the city has dreamed many years. These two bits of railroad news constitute the most important change in the railway chess board of this region of the south for a long time.

While it is true that the Atlanta and Florida was bought in, on the face of the contract, by the Central Trust Company of New York two weeks ago, it became known that the deal was really in behalf of the Southern Railway Company, to which the formal deed of the property has been made.

The Southern will take charge without delay, and the Atlanta and Florida becomes a part of the splendid system of roads which is rapidly growing to proportions as great as the greatest railway system in America.

The reasons given for the purchase of the Atlanta and Florida by the Southern are that the road was cheap and was regarded as available at the price paid. The price as named in the papers was $275,000.

It will be remembered that when the Central Trust Company bought the property this was the price paid, but owing to certain indebtedness of the road to the Central Trust Company, only $59,975.48 of the price named had to be paid in actual cash for the property.

The amount of purchase was for the most part taken up in what the Atlanta and Florida already owed the Central Trust Company of New York, the amount of indebtedness being $152,383.66, and another debt coming due July 1st of $62,640.86. These debts to the Central Trust Company were accepted in part payment for the road and the actual outlay of cash was comparatively small.

THE WHISKY TRUST WAR.

The Reorganization Committee Scores a Decided Victory.

After a long and arduous campaign each battle of which has been hotly contested, the reorganization committee of the whisky trust at a meeting in Chicago practically reached the end of its work and scored a final victory over the Greenhut-Morris interests which have bitterly contested every step. The consideration of the order for a judicial sale was finished and all its points agreed upon. Judge Showalter said he would sign the order as soon as a clean printed copy of it as amended was submitted to him. The sale will be ordered to take place by auction in Cook county, and the price of $9,800,000 offered by the reorganization committee will be considered and upset price. A deposit of $100,000 in cash will be required, to be forfeited in case the company fails to run the distilleries or to keep them in repair. As security the stockholders and creditors will have a lien on the whole property and the court will be empowered besides to take back the property if he finds it is being wasted.

HARRINGTON BOUNCED.

Cleveland Dismisses the Chief of the Weather Bureau.

Prof. Mark W. Harrington, chief of the weather bureau, has been removed by the president. There has been friction between Professor Harrington, who is a hold-over of the department, and Secretary Morton, his official chief, for some time. On June 19th, according to the statement which Mr. Harrington now for the first time makes public, the president requested his resignation "because of personal interests," as Professor Harrington phrases it. He declined to resign and the president directed his removal, to take effect with the beginning of the new fiscal year, July 1st.

Professor Harrington was appointed by Secretary Rusk in 1890, from Michigan, because of his long acquaintance with meteorological matters.

Four Men Burned by Gas.

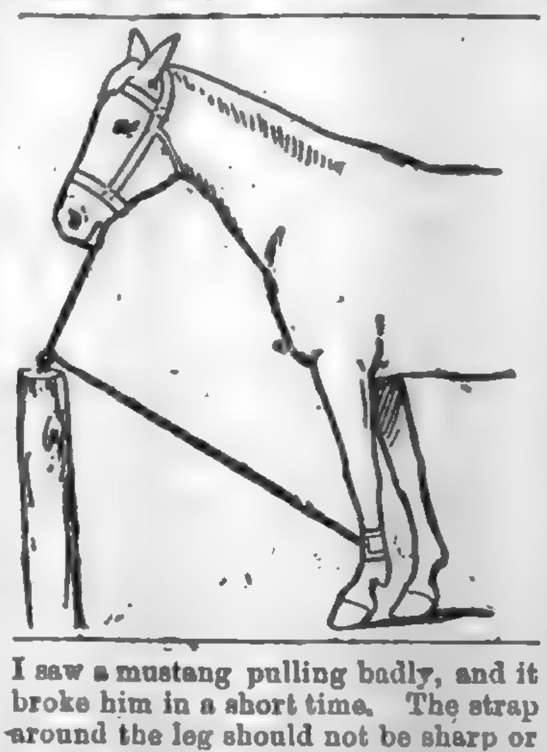
A peculiar accident occurred at the Homestead steel works at Pittsburg, Pa., which may result in the loss of two lives. Four men, all bricklayers, were on the inside of one of the heating furnaces making repairs. By mistake gas was turned into the furnace and ignited, burning the four men. Two were fatally injured, as they inhaled the gas.

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

HALTER-PULLING PREVENTED.

To break a horse of halter-pulling, use a strong halter and run the tie through the ring in a post or manger and tie to one fore foot at suitable length. I improvised this plan when



I saw a mustang pulling badly, and it broke him in a short time. The strap around the leg should not be sharp or stiff and the limb should be protected by a piece of thick wool or cloth.—H. B. Frink, in Farm and Home.

PROTECT SHEEP AGAINST GRUB IN THE HEAD.

Many American shepherds advise smearing the salt trough with tar, but this is seldom thorough enough. A practice to be recommended, where the flock is not too large, is to smear the noses of the sheep periodically, at least once a week, during the season of greatest activity of the fly, with a mixture of equal parts of tar and grease, or of tar and fish oil, or of tar and whale oil. Some have used whale oil alone with good results. A brush will be found convenient to apply these mixtures. A reliable authority speaks in flattering terms of the use of an ointment made as follows: Beeswax, one pound; linseed oil, one pint; carbolic acid, four ounces. Melt the wax and oil together, adding two ounces of rosin to give body, then, as it is cooking, stir in the carbolic acid. The same authority mentions the use by some breeders of choice stock of a canvas face cover smeared with this mixture, or with one of asafetida and tallow, which may be adjusted in such a fashion as not to interfere with the sight or with grazing, and yet protect the lamb against the fly that lays the egg from which the grub hatches. Some farmers plow a few furrows in the pasture so the sheep may put their noses in the fresh earth and thus keep the fly away.—New England Homestead.

MANAGEMENT OF YOUNG TURKEYS.

The critical period in the life of the domesticated turkey is the first three or four weeks of its life. The young chicks are exceedingly tender, and require close attention to prevent disease and other natural enemies getting in among them. When the young first come off the nest they should be confined in pens or small yards for a few days, or until they are strong enough to jump or fly over a board twelve to eighteen inches high, after which they may be allowed more liberty, but not to wander far away into the fields and wet grass early in the morning; and they should also be housed during long, cold spring rains. To prevent wandering, see that they are bountifully supplied with nutritious and agreeable food near their roosting places. For the first few weeks the chicks should have coarse corn meal and sour milk, or, what is better, baked corn bread and curdled milk. There is danger of overfeeding with raw corn meal, as this will sometimes harden in the crop, especially if the supply of sour milk is not sufficient. Scraps of meat and animal meal, as it is termed, may be given after the chicks are two weeks old. When a month old, if the weather has become warm, as it is usually in June, the chicks may be allowed to go into the fields, where they will find insects and worms and other natural and healthful food, but be sure and feed them and have some sour milk and clean water ready for them when they come up at night; and then you can count the flock and see how many, if any, are being killed during their wanderings.—New York Sun.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

See that the brood mares are in thrifty condition.

Give every horse and colt a bran mash once a week.

There is a great deal in the early maturing of horses.

When held to a strong light a fresh egg is clear, and if shaken in the hand no jarring or motion of the contents must be felt.

A fresh egg will sink in water. It is not always safe to judge an egg by its appearance. It may be apparently fresh, yet if it absorbs enough air to permit it to float even a little above the bottom of the dish it may not be perfectly fresh.

The latest sulky for the race-track has the driver's seat over the hips of the horse and pneumatic-tired wheels just back of the horse's forelegs on each side. The new device reduces the amount of harness necessary, and is said to give the horse perfect freedom of motion.

Trees are a great protection to fruits and flowers. Some people think they are detrimental, but we fail to see where it comes in. In our recent cold spell here it is reported that fruits, such as strawberries and raspberries, were greatly helped out by the protection afforded by trees. Don't be too quick in cutting out the large trees—perhaps they will do more good than harm after all.

Ducklings thrive best on soft food. One part cornmeal, one part bran and a small proportion of animal meal, mixed with cooked potatoes or turnips, make an excellent mess for them. The drinking vessel must always contain plenty of water, so that the bills may be cleaned by the ducklings, as they are liable to die if their nostrils are clogged. They also require water to assist in swallowing their food, but should not be allowed on ponds until well feathered.

Royal Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE

A Substitute for Ice.

Chicago has been interested recently by some experiments with a new chemical compound designed to take the place of ice. The chemical costs 20 cents a pound. It is placed in the ice box of a refrigerator, a small amount of water is added to cause it to dissolve; the refrigerator is then closed and cold results immediately. The inventor says that the compound contains 11 ingredients, and the formula is a secret. The mixture is light pink in color, and is in the form of crystals like coarse salt. It is said to be perfectly harmless, and has an alkaline taste. When moistened it instantly becomes intensely cold. The effect lasts twenty-four hours, or until the crystals are entirely dissolved. Then it is placed on a fire and "boiled down" until the water evaporates and the crystals are left in their original form. It is then ready for use again by simply adding fresh water. It is asserted that the chemicals lose none of their properties by the process and that the crystals can be used for years. During the Chicago tests ice was frozen to the thickness of window glass in a few minutes, and to the thickness of two or three inches in less than six hours. The experiments were successful in every way, and ice dealers ought to be particularly interested in them. There is little doubt that before many years a refrigerating appartus will be devised by which houses may be cooled in summer as easily as they are now warmed in winter. The new refrigerating compound may be an important factor in the solution of this problem.

Counterfeit Dimes.

Counterfeit silver 10 cent pieces that contain as much, if not more silver than genuine coin, have been discovered in the United States subtreasury. They have been received from banks and are so carefully made that it requires the trained eye of an expert to detect their bogus character. The coins have the appearance of being well worn, a result of careful work on the part of the counterfeiter and a valuable aid to their circulation. Several of the coins have been sent to the secret service officials, who pronounce them most dangerous counterfeits and express the belief that they were made in Europe and sent to this country for circulation.—Philadelphia Record.

Sayings and Doings of the Official Heads of the Government.

The July returns for cotton, as given out by the department of agriculture, make the average condition 82.3 against 81 in June, an improvement of 1.3 points. The condition July 1, 1894 was 89.6, and the same date in 1893, 82.7 per cent. The averages of the states are as follows: Virginia, 100; North Carolina, 79; South Carolina, 81; Georgia, [illegible]; Florida, 93; Alabama, 81; Mississippi, 86; Louisiana, [illegible]; Texas, [illegible]; Arkansas, 93; Tennessee, 92.

The imports of sugar at six of the leading ports of the United States during the month of June aggregated [illegible] pounds of the total value of [illegible]. Receipts at San Francisco, the one missing port of consequence, came in free of duty, being of Hawaiian origin, and, therefore, would not affect the matter of customs. Mr. Ford, chief of the bureau of statistics, states that the importation was, therefore, much less than that made in the month of May and much less than the imports made in June, 1894, in quantity and only about one-half in value.

The state department is in receipt of a report from Jesse W. Sparks, consul at Piedras Negras, on the colony of negroes brought from Alabama and Georgia last February to Tlahualila, Mexico. It appears that W. H. Ellis, a colored man, under contract with the owners of a large tract of land near Tlahualila, imported the negroes to farm the land. Some of the emigrants have since made their way to Piedras Negras and complain of bad treatment. Reports have appeared in some American newspapers that some of the colonists escaped from the farm, were pursued by Ellis, and thirty-two were shot down, while the survivors were captured, taken back to the colony and subjected to harsh punishment. The consul's investigation [illegible] this story to be almost entirely without foundation. Forty-three of the colonists did leave the colony. Twenty of them returned in safety.

An Emphatic Denial.

Mr. Dupuy de Lome, the Spanish minister at Washington, has received no intimation that his government desired an explanation of the Figaro-Eustis interview in Paris. Ambassador Eustis' denial of the alleged interview is accepted in official circles as conclusive. This denial has been accentuated by the following cable message sent from Paris by a personal friend of the ambassador to the Washington bureau of the Philadelphia Ledger: "There is no truth whatever in the reported interview published in the Figaro with Ambassador Eustis. He never uttered what is attributed to him and did not discuss with any person the subjects treated in the publication. The fullest and most emphatic denial is given the entire story by the ambassador."

Receipts and Disbursements Heavy.

Treasury receipts and expenditures have both been running so far this month. The former have attained the aggregate of $10,979,000, or nearly $1,250,000 a day. Sundays and holidays excluded, and the expenditures foot up $23,318,000, making the deficit $12,338,000. Since July 1st the general treasury balance, according to the printed daily statement, has decreased $2,000,000, standing at $191,[illegible]. From this there is to be deducted $[illegible]527,616 for bonds and interest paid. The gold reserve has dropped from $107,557,000 to $107,213,[illegible]. The amount of treasury notes and United States notes redeemed in gold and reissued is $533,189. It is not believed that the deficit will be very much increased for the month over the figures it has now reached, and it may be reduced.

Will Build Warships.

It is the belief among the officials at Washington that the Japanese will use a large part of the war indemnity which China is to pay her for the purpose of materially increasing her navy. The financial resources of Japan will be very abundant during the coming year, as she will receive over $100,000,000 before next May and thereafter about $20,000,000 a year for five years. This will be drawn entirely from China and will be in addition to Japan's usual receipts from customs and internal revenue.

The authorities there have already indicated their purpose of using a considerable part of the funds on new ships. A Japanese naval expert visited this country some time since and went to the various American ship yards. Mr. Kurino, the minister at Washington, also visited the Cramp yards. As a result of the talk there seemed little doubt that one or more large ships would be ordered by Japan. The government was certainly disposed that way and it is believed that if the delay has occurred in closing the contract it must be due to the conditions imposed by the American builders.

Deepening Georgia Harbors.

The annual report of the engineer office in charge of river and harbor improvements of eastern Georgia shows that the available depth at high water of Savannah harbor has been increased from twenty-four to twenty-five feet and that the annual saving in freight rates alone, due to this increased depth, amounts to more than the sum expended by the United States upon this harbor, while the rates of marine insurance have also been reduced. The channel of the river between Savannah and Augusta has been cleared of snags, stumps, logs, etc., with the result that river traffic is steadily increasing—in fact, the engineer says the annual commerce has increased at the rate of $10 for every dollar expended by the government and freight rates have been reduced about 20 per cent.

At Brunswick, Ga., a good navigable fifteen-foot mean low water channel has been secured across the shoal in front of the harbor and its commerce has been considerably stimulated. The inside water route between Savannah and Fernandina, which is slowly being improved, has developed commerce valued at nearly $3,000,000, in addition to which 40,000 passengers were carried. The possibilities of these channels when properly developed are incalculable.

A CHALLENGE.

Bimetallists Want a Discussion With Sound Money Men.

The following letter has been sent from the office of the American Bimetallic League in Washington City:

"Washington, D. C., July 8.—Hon. Charles S. Fairchild, Chairman Committee on Sound Currency Reform Club, 52 William Street, New York. Dear Sir: The existence of the committee on sound currency, of which you are chairman, with the existence at the same time of the American Bimetallic League, which I have the honor to represent, evidences a wide diversity of opinion on the money question. Each organization is laboring to educate the people on different theories of money and each advocates a different financial policy. They cannot both be right.

"The deep interest manifested on this subject throughout the United States and the importance of arriving at the truth that the people in the coming elections may act wisely has suggested that a candid discussion of the question by representative men of the two organizations might conduce to a better understanding of the truth and be highly beneficial.

"With this view the Bimetallic League respectfully invites the committee on sound currency to a discussion of the money question on distinctive propositions to be argued upon and to be carried on by questions and answers.

"I would suggest that not more than five nor less than three on a side be selected to conduct the discussion to be held at some time and place as may be agreed upon.

"Should this suggestion meet your approval I would suggest an early meeting to agree upon the propositions to be discussed and the regulations under which the discussion shall be conducted. Very respectfully yours,

A. J. Warner,

"President American Bimetallic League."

ELECTING A PRESIDENT.

Cubans in the United States Elect Marti's Successor.

A national Cuban presidential election was held all over the United States Wednesday, and also in Mexico, Jamaica and South America. Tuesday night the political clubs composing the international party of Cuban revolutionists met in the various cities of these countries and every one elected a delegate to the electoral college, which will decide who is to be president of the provisional government of Cuba to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late President Jose Marti.

The election being special for the office of president only, the delegates of the electoral college will not meet together, but will send their attested ballots to the offices of the treasurer of the party in every one of the countries named. Then the international delegates will count the ballots and declare the election of the successful candidate.

The treasurer of the party in the United States is Mr. Benjamin J. Guerra, whose headquarters are in New York. Mr. Guerra was absorbed during the day in the interesting occupation of receiving election returns.

There are, it is said, over 100 clubs, controlling as many election districts in the United States. Returns have been received from New York city, Chicago, New Orleans, Jacksonville, Vera Cruz, Mexico and Philadelphia. The delegates from all of these cities cast their ballots for Thomas Palma.

TENNESSEE'S CENTENNIAL.

Its Celebration Assured by Nashville Citizens.

The Tennessee centennial will now be celebrated beyond doubt. The Nashville city council at a meeting Monday night voted to submit to a vote of the people the proposition to subscribe $100,000 to the enterprise. Then the entire council went to the meeting of the subscribers which had been called at the Chamber of Commerce. That hall was so full that an adjournment had to be taken to Watkins hall. Here the amount of subscriptions was run up to about $75,000, and forty of the most prominent men of the city, bankers, preachers and merchants, volunteered to finish a systematic canvass of the city and raise $100,000 in subscriptions. The utmost enthusiasm prevailed and nearly 1,000 people were interested in the meeting.

Brooklyn has established a great water tower, sixty-five feet high, as a part of the fire department equipment of that city. It is intended to counteract the evils attendant upon the erection of enormously high buildings that are now becoming a most serious menace to life and property in all the large commercial cities of the country.

NORTH CAROLINA BRIEFS.

Interesting Paragraphs of Current Happenings.

The new cotton mill contracted for at Roanoke rapids will contain 12,000 spindles and will later have 30,000 spindles.

All the capital stock has been subscribed for a $60,000 cotton mill at Hillsboro.

Arrangements are complete for building a $300,000 cotton mill at Mayo's falls, near Madison.

The excessive tax of 4 per cent on druggists, imposed by the last legislature, from which it was expected to yield $100,000, will not yield over $6,000.

It is discovered that Rev. B. A. Fuller, who is charged with sending an infernal machine to a woman at Centralia, state of Washington, was quite recently at Charlotte. While there he talked constantly of a widow at Centralia who, he said, had rejected him. He paid attentions to several Charlotte ladies.

A sensation was created at Raleigh Thursday afternoon by the presentment by the grand jury of the superior court of S. P. Satterfield, principal clerk of the lower house of the last legislature, and J. U. Brown, enrolling clerk, for failure to do duty as officers in permitting the act to prevent assignments to be enrolled which had never passed either branch of the legislature.

Revenue Deputy Dancy, riding at night in Wilkes county, was attacked by three white moonshiners and knocked from his horse. One of the men jumped upon and stamped him with heavy boots. Dancy shot this man through the shoulder. The other two men fled. Dancy was about to shoot the wounded man again when the latter begged him to spare his life.

The grand jury in the superior court at Raleigh returned a true bill against Mrs. Pattie D. Barrington and three brothers named Barnes, printers, for publishing in a weekly paper called The Criminal Docket, a malicious libel, charging ex-Judge Spier Whitaker, of Raleigh, with having stolen $1,300 of her money. All these defendants have been arrested.

THE CROP REPORT.

More Fruit Than Ever Known—Cotton Making Good Headway.

According to the weekly crop report it begins to look as if the peach crop this year will be the largest ever gathered. The trees are fairly drooping under the weight of their luscious burden and every orchard in the state will yield an abundant crop. This is good news. The same conditions that produce a heavy fruit crop produce good health. The two go hand in hand.

Melons are rolling into market every day and the crop is a very fine one. Cotton is doing well and the indications are that the farmers of Georgia will have a prosperous year.

"The week just ended," says the report, "was the wettest since the beginning of the season, the rainfall being in the shape of showers attended with warm sunshine. The temperature conditions were about normal, though in a few localities the nights were cooler than was good for cotton. All crops are growing very rapidly, cotton especially. The corn crop continues very promising, a good harvest being already assured in some of the southern counties. Peaches and melons are abundant, the first named crop bidding fair to turn out the heaviest ever known in the state. Wet weather has delayed the 'laying by' of crops in the northern districts, where some injury is also reported to grain in the field and shock. Several severe local storms occurred during the week, causing much damage by breaking down fruit trees, prostrating corn and oats where not harvested."

HOW ABOUT WHITNEY?

His Availability as a Presidential Candidate Being Discussed.

The strict enforcement of the excise law in New York and the generally obnoxious methods of the reform party in that city under Mayor Strong are taken as an indication by some of the democratic leaders that New York will again go strongly democratic at the next elections, and thus have a strong influence upon the democratic nomination for president in 1896.

Speaking of this possibility, the Evening News says: "The sentiment in the state of New York in favor of sending a delegation instructed to vote for William Collins Whitney for president of the United States is growing every day. It is not believed that Mr. Hill will attempt to get the delegation. Senator Hill, while as strong in the state of New York today as he ever was, has, his friends say, given up the idea that he can secure the democratic nomination for the presidency in 1896, and will willingly go into the battle in the interest of the man who is recognized as the strongest leader in the democratic party today."

HARRY HAYWARD RESPITED.

Miss Ging's Murderer Will Not be Executed on the Day Fixed.

The supreme court of Minnesota has granted a stay of execution in the case of Harry T. Hayward, under sentence of death for murdering Miss Ging, until after the appeal can be heard in the October term.

Decided Against Mrs. Lease.

The supreme court at Topeka, Kan., has rendered its decision in the case of Mrs. Mary Lease against the members of the state board of charities in favor of the defendant, George H. Clark, who was appointed to succeed her on the board. This effectually removes Mrs. Lease from office.

MRS. NOBLES TO DIE.

SHE AND GUS FAMBLES SENTENCED TO HANG.

Debby Was Acquitted, While Mary Fambles Gets a Life Sentence.

A surging mass of humanity overran the little town of Jeffersonville, Ga., at an early hour Wednesday morning to witness the trial of the alleged murderers of old man Nobles. At the courthouse every available place for seeing and hearing was taken advantage of and railings and stairways and tables were crowded; wagons and buggies were pushed up to the high windows of the courtroom and a sea of faces looked in at the proceedings.

Indictments having been found, promptly at 8 o'clock proceedings began with Elizabeth Nobles, the wife, Debby Nobles, the eighteen-year-old daughter of William Nobles, and Gus Fambles, Mary Fambles and Dalton Joyner, negroes in the prisoners' dock. These five had joined their cases and were to be tried together.

The jury was rather easily obtained. The state objected to two or three only, while the defense rejected most of those placed upon them. About six went off for being opposed to capital punishment and a dozen for not being impartial.

The story as told by the witnesses shows the murder to have been one of the most unprovoked and cruel in the annals of crime. Ashley B. Combs told how he went to see Mrs. Nobles when he learned of the disappearance of her husband, whom he had known so many years. He thought Mrs. Nobles a good woman and expressed his sympathy for her in her trouble. She told him how Mr. Nobles had left to go to Danville or Allentown with some plows and to get a little dram. She expressed herself as being very uneasy and very much troubled at her husband's continued absence.

Suspicion being aroused, Mary Fambles and her husband were arrested. The Fambles woman confessed and implicated the others. Then all of them confessed except Dalton Joyner, who strongly denies any complicity. These confessions, however, were not made until the body had been found.

Sheriff S. E. Jones testified that he went to the Nobles place in response to a telegram. It was after dark when he got there. There was much excitement and several times exclamations of "hang them" were made. The hatchet with which the murder was committed was produced in court. Debby told the sheriff she wanted the old man killed because he was rough on her. In answer to the question as to whether she had given him cause to be rough on her, she answered: "Once." Asked what that was, she answered that she had a baby.

Mary Fambles told Sheriff Jones that Mr. Nobles and Gus had some words in the field. She told Mrs. Nobles about it, and remarked that old man Nobles ought to be killed.

"Then why in the devil don't Gus kill him?" was Mrs. Nobles' comment.

Sennette Arnold testified as to finding the body. The grave was only five feet long and twenty inches deep. Nobles was very tall and sparely built. The legs had to be doubled up to get him in the grave. The skull at the back of the head was crushed.

Haywood Wynn told how old Mrs. Nobles had decoyed her husband to the place of his death by dropping corn upon the ground as though thieves had dropped it there. She persuaded him not to go to the dwelling house when he came in from work at dusk, but to go immediately and take his stand for the corn thieves. She said she would get his gun for him. She did not carry the gun, but hid it so that the children, not seeing it in its usual place, would suppose she had carried it to their father.

Dr. E. J. Denson testified that there were three wounds and that either of them would have produced death. The position of the wounds showed that the persons who gave them were standing and that Nobles was in a stooping posture.

Effie Nobles made a statement saying she knew of the murder, but took no part in it.

Dalton Joyner stated that he went to Gus Fambles' house on the night of the murder after a chicken. He got the chicken and left. He said he was not gone more than fifteen minutes. He denied any complicity in the crime.

Mary Fambles simply denied knowing anything about the murder. All of these prisoners, except Dalton, have confessed the crime repeatedly heretofore.

The evidence of other witnesses was about the same as the above. The defense introduced no testimony.

Gus Fambles told the witness, Coombs, and others, that Mrs. Nobles struck the first blow, which felled the old man to a stooping position. He, Fambles, struck the second, and Dalton Joyner, the third blow. All agree that Mrs. Nobles paid $10 to have him killed, and one witness has testified that she promised him $50 more, and Effie promised $10. This was in Mary Fambles's confession in the courtroom.

Solicitor Eason, in outlining the state's case, created somewhat of a sensation by saying they did not even give him a Christian burial, but took him off into the bushes and shoved him into a hole as if he were a hog.

TWO TO HANG.

Two to hang, one to the penitentiary for life and one acquitted was the verdict of the jury in the Nobles murder trial Thursday.

The prisoners were promptly on hand at 7 o'clock, the hour court opened. No one manifested any weakness except Gus Fambles. He was evidently almost in a state of collapse during the entire proceedings. The old Nobles woman was as cool as a block of ice, and Debby was almost defiant in her brazen effrontery.

The speeches were able. Solicitor Tom Eason, Colonel L. D. Shannon and John M. Stubbs made masterly arguments for the state. All of these acquitted Dalton Joyner because they had failed to find convincing evidence against him. In his charge, Judge Smith directed the jury to bring in a verdict of acquittal in Joyner's case. All believe him to be guilty, but as the Scotch verdict read, it was not proven. The defense were heavily handicapped. Messrs. Warren & Nottingham were like swimmers thrown into deep water with a heavy weight about their necks. They had no evidence, no extenuating circumstances—nothing to stand upon. They did splendidly, and much to the surprise of many, they succeeded in acquitting Debby Nobles, and Mary Fambles only received a life sentence to the penitentiary.

The verdict of the jury was a surprise to many and much dissatisfaction has been expressed at it. The conviction of Mrs. Nobles and Debby and Gus Fambles and Mary, his wife, was considered by many a certainty.

Mrs. Nobles and Gus were convicted in the first degree and sentenced to hang on August 16th.

Mary Fambles was convicted with a recommendation to life imprisonment.

Debby Nobles was acquitted. Debby, the daughter, was the fountain head of all the trouble. It was her licentiousness that had caused the trouble in the Nobles household. It was a contest between a virtuous man in the person of old man William Nobles on one side and his depraved daughter, backed up by his wife, on the other. His reproof and censure were cutting and they determined to get rid of him.

The solemn death sentenced produced no perceptible effect and the old woman and Debby were laughing in less than a minute after it had been pronounced. Dalton Joyner, in the opinion of many, is guilty of assisting in the murder. Gus Fambles says Joyner struck one of the blows and assisted in putting old man Nobles under the ground, but the state failed to make out a case against him and he goes scot free.

It was Debby and not Effie Nobles, as previously published, who said in the statement on the witness stand that she knew about the plot, but had nothing to do with it. It was Debby who also promised to give an additional $10 to have her father killed and not Effie. Miss Effie is a nice and dutiful daughter and knew nothing of the plot. The prisoners were taken to the Bibb county jail for safe-keeping. No motion for a new trial has been made and it is not probable that there will be one. It is safe to say there will be no petition from the county asking the governor to commute the sentence of Mrs. Nobles.

SAM SMALL ON THE STAND.

He Tells About the Publication of the Alleged Libel.

A large crowd was in attendance when court opened at Norfolk, Va., Tuesday morning in the Massey-Pilot case. The defense called to the stand, Mr. Sam W. Small, one of the defendants in the case. He was examined by Mr. Heath, narrating his newspaper experience, and saying that at the time of the publication of the Massey Book Company article, he believe the statements to be true, and believed that there was evidence that would establish the truth of the statements in said article. In the course of his connection with the Pilot he received letters calling his attention to school matters, and, having knowledge of the transaction of the American Book company, he was led to believe that the school book matter was worth looking into. Mr. Byrd prepared an article and sent it to the witness. When it reached the Pilot office, he (Small) pruned it till he thought it would pass muster and then he published it.

Questioned by Mr. Neely, of counsel for plaintiff, Mr. Small admitted that he had not retracted in his newspaper the things he had published, and which he had afterwards learned were not true.

NEGROES IN CONVENTION.

They Meet in Columbia to Decide on a Political Policy.

Wednesday about one hundred negroes met in the state senate chamber at Columbia, S. C., with closed doors, to discuss the part they would take in the coming election for a constitutional convention. They conferred all day and at night gave out a lengthy address "to the people of the United States." It sets forth their alleged grievances, mainly that they do not get a fair count at the ballot box, or equal accommodations on trains and at hotels. They also object to the frequency of lynchings. They adopted a resolution to take a free hand in the fight for a constitutional convention.

Southern Securities Sold Abroad.

Railroad Company Gets a Big Loan.

It is announced that the Philadelphia Railroad company has placed with a firm of bankers in London 1,000,000 pounds sterling consolidated 3 1-2 per cent bonds, maturing 1945, price not stated. This is nearly $5,000,000.

THE FLOOR COLLAPSED

And the Audience Fell Through in a Struggling Heap.

A frightful accident terminated the Elk festivities at Atlantic City, N. J., Wednesday night, in which a large number of persons sustained terrible injuries, from which some will die. It was at 9:30 o'clock when Grand Exalted Ruler of the Buffalo Body, Meade D. Detwiler, of Harrisburg, had finished his address at the opening of the social session of the Elks, in the Inlet Casino, and was about to introduce James J. Armstrong, of New York, when a cracking sound was heard.

A moment later the floor, upon which were almost a thousand people, slowly opened, and the mass of humanity was precipitated to the first floor, a distance of twenty-five feet. Men, women and children plunged into the hole and upon one another. The cries, shrieks and groans were deafening and the direst confusion reigned. An alarm was immediately sent out, and all the physicians in town responded. The work of extricating the injured proceeded rapidly, and by 12 o'clock they had all been removed to the hospitals or their hotels.

The president has appointed Wm. H. Anderson, of Kentucky, to be register of the land office at Enid, Okla., to succeed R. W. Patterson, of Georgia, deceased; Charles F. Carpenter to be chief engineer and Edward Dorsey and Henry O. Stayton to be first assistant engineers in the revenue cutter service.

HANGED THE BABIES.

Then Mrs. Lena Rosesner, of Pittsburg, Made Way With Herself.

At Pittsburg, Pa., Mrs. Lena Rosesner hanged herself to a closet door after she had hung up two of her children in another room. She sent her eldest daughter, aged 9, to visit a relative. Then she hung her daughter, Ella, aged 3, to the bed-post. After that she tied a towel about the neck of her baby and hung it up on the post of its crib. After that she hung herself. When discovered all were dead except the baby and it was chewing the towel with which it was tied up.

CANNOT GARNISHEE.

Tennessee Creditors Cannot Hold Up Georgians' Wages.

Judge Clark of the federal court, at Chattanooga will render an important decision in a few days affecting the validity of garnishment brought by a resident of Tennessee against a resident of Georgia. It is learned that Judge Clark will hold that an attachment cannot be issued upon a resident of Georgia by a resident of Tennessee through publication, even if the party sued is an employe of a road or company doing business in Tennessee.

GOV. ALTGELD SNUBBED.

House of Representatives Goes Counter to His Wishes.

A Springfield, Ill., special says: In spite of the fact that Governor Altgeld requested the democrats of the house to refrain from nominating ex-Speaker Crafts for the speakership, they went ahead and did it. It was not done without the protest of 26 out of 61 representatives on the minority side, however.

Encouraging Railroads.

By an almost unanimous vote the city of Knoxville and Knox county, Tenn., voted to transfer its $50,000 worth of stock in the Knoxville and Ohio road to the promoting fund of Colonel Albert E. Boone's Black Diamond road, to be built from Jellico to Port Royal, S. C., via Knoxville. The city also voted a like sum to the same company to promote the fund of the Belt Line around the city of Knoxville.

Free Delivery for Tampa.

Postmaster General Wilson has issued an order establishing on September 1st next, a free delivery service at Tampa, Fla., with five letter carriers.

FOURTEEN KILLED

IN A RAILROAD SMASH-UP IN CANADA.

One Section of an Excursion Train Crashes Into Another.

A terrible accident occurred at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning at Craig's Road station, on the Grand Trunk railway, about fourteen miles west of Levis, Canada.

The death list is as follows:

CHARLES BEDARS, mail clerk.
MISS BEDARS, his daughter.
HECTOR McLEOD, engineer.
RICHARD PERKINS, fireman.
REV. FATHER T. J. MERCER.
REV. MR. COGAN, also of Richmond.
REV. MR. DIGNAN, of Windsor Mills.
MISS VALIN, and her aunt, name unknown, of St. Joseph de Levis.
MISS THAUFT, St. Joseph de Levis.
MRS. CAYER, of Danville.
Two MISSES DELYCOURT, of Shefford.
JOHN O'FERRALL, of Richmond.

The wounded were taken to Quebec for treatment and are as follows: John Cadules, J. P. Cayer, Seraphim Cayer, Joseph Gayer, Louise Cayer, all of Danville; Virginia Sylvester, Mrs. Francis Toutaine, Broughton; Louise Godette, Arthabaskaville; Patrick McHugh, Cobilton; Rev. Father T. de Rosiercure, of Broughton; Vierra Allard, Richmond; Antonio Baire, Arthabaskaville; M. J. Quinion, traveling passenger agent, Montreal.

A very large pilgrimage from Sherbrooke, Windsor Mills and Richmond had left the latter town about ten o'clock last evening for the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre. There were two sections of the train, one running a few minutes behind the other. The first section was standing at the Craig's Road station, taking water, when the second section, passing the semaphore, dashed into the rear Pullman coach of the first section, smashing it to kindling wood and killing, it is said, everybody in that car except the Pullman conductor who jumped.

Engineer McLeod and Fireman Perkins of the second section were both instantly killed.

The Pullman coach was telescoped into the first-class cars of the first section, killing a number of passengers. Three priests are among the killed.

BUSINESS REVIEW.

Bradstreets' Weekly Report of Trade Conditions.

Bradstreet's review of trade for the past week says:

"There are 197 business failures reported throughout the United States this week, as compared with 215 last week, 164 in the first week of July, 1894, 319 in 1893 and 152 in the like week of 1892.

"Total business failures in the Dominion of Canada number 25 this week against 28 last week, 39 in the week one year ago and 26 two years ago.

"Notwithstanding the week is broken by a holiday, favorable trade conditions heretofore reported continue to exercise a pronounced influence, prominently general advances in prices and in prices of staples and in wages of industrial employes. The extent of the voluntary advances in wages reported within a month or two has outgrown the resources of voluntary statistical bureaus which have endeavored to keep track of, latest advices being that more than one million industrial workers have received an advance averaging about 10 per cent.

"The upward tendency of prices, while not as marked as a month ago, is still striking, because of additional advances; those of lumber, tin plate and print cloths being new. Cotton goods are firm generally on the late advance in raw cotton, although some varieties are quiet at this, the midsummer season. Fancy prints are active for fall delivery. Wool, which was late in starting in the race for higher quotations, is quoted at another advance for South American and Australian varieties. Prices at London sales are up 10 or 15 points, which, having been more than discounted here, induces the trade to anticipate reaction unless London quotations advance further. Cotton also is higher, as is leather, following which we have a repetition of the announcement made each week for more than a month that quotations for pig iron and steel billets have advanced. To this must be added a similar statement in respect to bar iron.

"Among the list of staples for which prices are lower are flour, wheat, corn and oats, in all instances the outcome of reports of improved crop conditions. Pork and lard are also lower, as are potatoes and butter.

"No material improvement is reported from the south, rains continuing to be damaging to agricultural interests and to check business in Texas, while at the south Atlantic and gulf state cities the quiet movement of staple goods and fair or unsatisfactory collections of the past month or two continue. But advices from nearly all cities reported appear to agree that wholesale dealers in nearly all lines are greatly encouraged as to the outlook for business during autumn, believing that the demand will be greatly stimulated by the very general, and, as it is now believed, permanent improvement in prices."

No Queen's Speech.

A special from London is to the effect that parliament will be prorogued on July 24. There will be no queen's speech.

This arduous labor on on his part accounts for the phenomenal success of the State Normal College at this place.

Troy Messenger.

Last June Dick Crawford brought his twelve-months-old child, suffering from infantile diarrhoea, to me. It had been weaned at four months and had always been sickly. I gave it the usual treatment in such cases but without benefit. The child kept growing thinner until it weighed but little more than when born, or perhaps ten pounds I then started the father to giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. Before one bottle of the 25 cent size had been used a marked improvement was seen and its continued use cured the child. Its weakness and puny constitution disappeared and its father and myself believe the childs life was saved by this remedy. J. T. Marlow, M. D., Tamaroa, Ill. [illegible] that the world will most generally place upon us our true value regardless of what [illegible] may say.

For a time, by pretentious show one may deceive the people into believing that he is some great one, but, if he be not the possessor of genuine integrity of character time, the power which moves the mills of the Gods, will soon grind off the veneering and let him stand forth as he is. Parents, teachers and all those having the direction of the young should impress that truth home to their hearts and consciences. Let them also learn the truth that moral courage is far superior to physical bravado, for that is what most of the so called physical courage is. Give them to know that most of these fellows that seem anxious to knock a chip off somebody's shoulder has not the courage to beg a gentleman's pardon when they know they have injured him unjustly. They have not the courage to try to conquer their passions, appetites and sins. We have worshipped prize fighters for several years until the boys are adopting brute force and endurance as the correct standard. Let us teach that every one of these fighters from the cross roads bully to the wearer of the worlds belt is so much of a coward that he dare not tackle the man whom he believes to be his equal in size, agility or strength nor to try to live an upright life.

The community stands around with gaping mouth doing honor to Mr. A for mauling Mr B. They don't for a moment stop and ask whether A would have attacked B if it had not been a notorious fact that B was a coward and was never known to fight. Of course it takes a brave man to insult a coward(?)

In other days when men felt that their wounded pride could only be healed by a resort to a duel a certain Congressman challenged a brother to mortal combat, the brother refused, whereupon the angered statesman retorted, "You are a coward." "Of course I am, and you knew it, or you would never have sought a quarrel with me." replied the peaceable gentleman.

And that is the situation generally. It is hard to bear an insult. Public sentiment usually forces a man to resent an affront even if he must kill the offender. This is contrary to God's law, which says: "Vengence is mine, I will repay," "heap coals of fire upon your enemy's head," "pray for them which despitefully use you and persecute you." Such a course is also contrary to common sense. Except when drunk or under great provocation a gentleman will not knowingly insult even the weakest, the meanest creature on earth and then when cooling time has come he is most anxious to make amends. On the other hand if the insulting party is himself not recognized as a gentleman, then, whatever he might say or do, short of a personal attack, should have no more effect to anger a gentleman than the barking of a worthless cur. Let us adopt and teach these truths and we will hear less of rows and murders, and will see a higher type of manhood spring up.

No better example of true courage could be given than that enacted by Wm. L. Yancy and Wm Hunter, two distinguished lawyers in the days agone. They had a difficulty in the midst of an important trial. Neither one apologized to the other. Some years later Hunter was visiting Governor Watts. He remarked that his difficulty with Yancy had given him a great deal of trouble and said he, "I have come to the conclusion that I was in the wrong".

At once that noble old man pointed out the course a truly brave man should take and before breakfast Mr. Hunter had found Mr. Yancy and begged his pardon.

"No, no," said Mr. Yancy, as he threw his arms about his late enemy, "it was my fault and I apologize," Brave men and true gentlemen often become excited and are drawn into difficulties with their fellow men. But so soon as passion has subsided the training of the gentleman shows itself in an effort to repair the wrong he has done. And on the other side the true gentleman is ever ready to accept the acknowledgement of wrong.

Picnic at Lodge [illegible]

The Sabbath School here had a successful picnic last Saturday. Near 300 people were present who maintained the best of order and enjoyed themselves. The school met at the church and marched to the grove led by Brethren Farley and David Lodge. Then the choir gave us splendid music, and Rev. Mr. Guthrie delivered an appropriate address, Dinner was on hand in abundance. Edward Bruce was on hand with his water melons, and J. W. Hayes presided over the lemonade stand.

The world is moving towards a higher plane of morality. Such cities as New York, Chicago, and even Montgomery, are enforcing the laws against Sunday saloons, gambling and kinded evils. The day is at hand when a man who seeks the votes of a people must at least make some claim to morality.

Democracy, Republicanism and Populism should be small things in the estimation of true Christians compared with the desire to keep pure the moral and social atmosphere of this country. In this connection we want to say that the man or set of men who defies the moral sentiment of a community must go down at last under the cyclone of righteous indignation which is sure to strike him,

LILY LOQUACITY.

The writer had occasion to visit some of the hospitable people of Billingsley, Autauga county, recently and was glad to see that the farmers of that section are blessed with good crops. Also to see that they are "living at home" and "boarding at the same place." There is a warm place in my heart for their kind hospitality

Miss Ollie Garner opened a school at Oak Grove school house last Monday, with flattering prospects. The people made no mistake in selecting Miss Ollie for a teacher.

Misses. Eulah and Minnie Rasberry, after spending a couple of weeks very pleasantly in Birmingham with Mrs. Lizzie Perdue and Miss Inez Hammond, returned home last Friday.

The people of Isabella are to meet Saturday before the third Sunday in this month, to put new pillars under the Church building etc. Every body is invited to turn out prepared to work, and, as Bro. — said "leave there tongues at home."

Mulberry was well represented at the Teachers Institute last Saturday.

Mr. James Cholley and wife are visiting relatives in Coosa county.

Clint,

Mr. H. P. Kendricks of Billingsley was here Monday. He says this county has made wonderful improvement in the past 20 years. Morally, socially, intellectually and financially Chilton county is forging ahead. Farmers are really in better condition and do more intelligent farming than at any time of this county's history.

The meeting of the State Bar association at Montgomery last week was a great success.

It is reported that Hon. Francis L. Pettus will be a candidate for Governor. Where is Capt. Johnson's chances going to?

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

The State of Alabama, Chilton Co. James P. Lolly, complainant, vs Mandy Lolly, defendant.

In Chancery at Clanton, Alabama, seventh District, North-eastern Chancery Division, June 17th 1895.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register, by the affidavit of James P. Lolly, that the Defendant, Mandy Lolly is a non resident of the State of Alabama, and to the best of affiant's knowledge, information and belief said Defendant is over the age of twenty-one years, and that her Post office and residence are unknown to affiant.

It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Chilton View, a newspaper published in Clanton once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her the said Mandy Lolly to answer or demur to the same, within thirty days after the 22 day of July 1895, and failing to do so a decree pro confesso will be taken against her in said cause.

Done at office, in Clanton, Alabama, this 17th day of June 1895.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Miss French Evans left Friday for [illegible] to relatives in Randolph and Birmingham.

Miss McMorries of Wetumpka, visited relatives here one day last week.

Mrs. Anderson and Miss Tanner of Montgomery, and Mr. and Mrs. Croswell of Deatsville are in town for the summer.

Mr. Walter Jeffries is at home for a rest.

Dr. J. A. McNeil of Jemison has been quite unwell.

Prof. McMorris and the writer got to Jemison last Saturday too late to catch a conveyance to the the Teachers Institute.

Miss Lottie Wager of Elmore, is a pleasant visitor to Mrs. Parker.

Our jolly friend W. H. Cooper, commercial angel, was here Monday.

The town was full of people Monday to see how tax lands would sell. The list was not large, but the buyers were [illegible].

Mr. K. Wells has our thanks for a [illegible] and cabbage.

Mr. [illegible] Evans frequently places the View under obligations by treating to water melon and other fruits.

Mr. Mack Marler and sister, Miss Mary [illegible] of Stanton enjoyed the Lomax picnic.

Mrs. Lowe and Butler are making improvements on their home. They have put a new roof on their dwelling.

Misses Malaly Chambers and Eva Blalock of Stanton were at the Lomax picnic.

We [illegible] tulate our friend Coke Stout [illegible] the arrival of twin girls [illegible].

[illegible] Mims and wife are the happy recipients of a new girl and boy.

Messrs. T. T. Thornton of Minnesota and John E. Peterson of Iowa have been inspecting our Chilton county [illegible]. If they can make proper arrangements they may buy a considerable quantity of our land.

We regret to chronicle the death of Mr. Thomas B. Gay, which occurred at Pratt City July 12. He was a good man and died respected by all.

Rev. J. G. Lowery began holding regular nightly services at the Clanton Baptist church last Tuesday night. He expects to preach every night this week and Sunday.

Mr. Merritt has sold out the balance of his interest in nearly 8,000 acres of land to Mr. Runion of Iowa.

Dr. and Mrs. Stewart gave an entertainment Friday night, complimentary to Mr. Wm. Adams of Montgomery.

New Salem church has a good Sunday School with Mr. Jno. R. Caine as [illegible].

[illegible] is visiting his sister [illegible] Caine, near Strasburg.

[illegible] Joe Stafford is again with us [illegible] summer season.

[illegible] young friend Luke Garthman has [illegible] talent for painting. He seems to love the mixing and blending of colors, and if he sticks to it he can reasonably expect some day to be in the [illegible] among the world's great painters.

Every body will regret to know that Messrs. J. M. Stanfield and son lost their mill by fire last Tuesday. We trust that their well known pluck and energy will soon put them in shape.

Heartiest congratulations are extended to Mr. Evans Pinckard and his to be bride. On the 24th, in Tuskegee, he is to be married to Miss Phala Belle DeBardeleben.

On yesterday July 17th Mr. Chas. K. Bivings well known to our readers as a most excellent young man, was united in marriage to Miss Kate Gardner of Georgiana. Miss Gardner is one of the most superior young women in the land, and we tender congratulations to the happy pair.

Our sympathies go out to Mr. Wm. T. Smith and wife of Jemison in the death of their little Annie, aged two years. While on a visit to Tuskaloosa the little girl died. She was buried at Smithville Saturday evening.

No man ever made more friends in Chilton county, we suppose, than did Mr. O. A. Duke. He is a hightoned honorable gentleman and we would be pleased to have him move back to Clanton.

It is of the highest possible interest to every citizen in Clanton that the University School should be made a splendid success. The Principal has put out, and is constantly spending, his money to give the very best of facilities for educating our children. He tells us that Prof. B. D. Wilson who has been selected to be the Principal of the Intermediate Grade, is a young man recommended to be of the best moral character, and that his influence will be felt for good among the young. He will have direct control of the military department. Now the plain fact is that without the union of our citizens with our teachers the school will fall short of the success it ought to make. If we have been indifferent it is now time to put forth efforts to attract pupils to the school. Families who can take boarders should let it be known and by putting the rate at a low figure we ought to have for next year 30 or 40 boarding pupils in the town.

We are favored with a few lines from Mr. J. [illegible] Headley of Little Warrior. He is a northern man, but on a visit to his relatives in this county last year, became attached to our people.

He is rejoiced that God is remembering his neighborhood with showers of rain and with great revivals. He says that the hearts of the people are turning from politics to religion. He has enjoyed the articles written by Rev. Mr. Guthrie and published in the Christian Advocate.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. is on every wrapper.

THE ATLATA CONSTITUTION'S PRIZE ACRE.

$500,00 in Cash for Farmers—A Handsome Reward for the Plows of 1895.

We take pleasure in presenting The Constitution's $500 offer for the farmers of 1895. The prize consists of $100 in cash for the best acre of cotton, corn, tobacco, watermelons or sweet potatoes

The announcement is made before the planting of the crop so as to enable all who will to take part in the contest.

Entries may be made up to June 1st, and by that time every contestant must enter his name with The Constitution and state which acre he will compete for.

In ever circular The Constitution frankly states that the care taken in the preparation of the land, the selection of [illegible] fertilizers, a record of costs and dates of plowing and other cultivation, and a careful record of the heavy rainfalls, the periods of droughts and all the other data, giving the history of the crop from the breaking of the soil to the harvesting, will be an object lesson of vast importance to every contestant, whether he wins the prize or not. This is a practical demonstration that a farm run on the intensive plan by giving careful attention to the thorough cultivation of a few acres properly rather than the poor cultivation of a large area will be far better than a reduction of farm acreage by resolution.

The offer is made to encourage the raising of home supplies and illustrate the south's great possibilities in agriculture and to stimulate the proper cultivation of every possible acre to a to the independence of the farmer.

The prizes will be awarded by three competent judges, recognized as high authority in agricultural matters.

The terms are breifly, these: Every contestant must be a subscriber to The Weekly Constitution. He must keep a record of The Constitution's acre upon a blank, which will be furnished him free upon application. The contest is open to every southern farmer

By special arrangement with The Constitution we offer the View with The Weekly Constitution for $1,50 or if you already have our paper, send us $1 and we will send you The Constitution one year. We are pleased to say that our neighbor in Georgia is perhaps the greatest of all American weekly newspapers. Its seventy two columns each week, which will be increased to eighty four shortly, come brim full of the latest news of the world, and many excellent features of special interest to the state, besides its well conducted departments for the farm and the household.

Every subscription recieved through us will entitle the subscriber to enter the prize acre contest as well as to guess in the $2,000 contest, closing May 1st.

This is an extraordinary opportunity to procure two good new papers for a year, one to supply the county news in the quickest and best possible shape, and the other to bring weekly the news of the world, teeming with political current history, farmers' notes and everything else that will interest every member of the family.

You will find no better season to subscribe nor any greater offer than the present.

Rev. Robert B. Morrow, of Oxford, Ala. Declares That it Has Never Failed When Used as Directed.

I have had one of your Pocket Electropoises in my family for more than two years. I have used it for a great many different ills, and carefully noted the results. I have never seen it used as directed without great benefit. I purchased the Poise at first for my wife, who has suffered with dyspepsia all her life sometimes spitting up every meal for months. She is now entirely free from this evil, has not spit up her food from dyspepsia for two years.

There may be those who have faithfully used the Poise and received no benefit, but in my family for two years it has done all you promised for it. Yours sincerely

Rev Robert B. Morrow,
Oxford, Ala., Dec. 25, 1894.

Do You Know?

That vaseline makes the best dressing for russet shoes?

That spirits of turpentine is the thing with which to cleanse and brighten patent leather?

That moderately strong salt and water taken by the teaspoonful at intervals is a cure for catarrhal cold?

That a level teaspoonful of boracic acid dissolved in a pint of freshly boiled water and applied cool is the best wash for inflamed sore eyes or granulated lids?

That the same is an excellent gargle for inflamed sore throat?

That soft newspaper is excellent to cleanse windows or any glassware?

That cold tea cleanses paint better than soap and water unless the paint is white when milk is better?

That milk should be used to cleanse oil cloth?

That a bit of raw onion will remove fly specks from gilding without injury to the gilding?

That a rough flat-iron may be made smooth by rubbing it when warm over a teaspoonful of table salt?

That a pinch of salt put into starch will prevent its "sticking?"

That the white spots on a varnished surface will disappear if a hot flatiron is held over them for a second?

That hard soap is better than grease to quiet creaking doors or to make unwilling bureau drawers submissive?

Attractive If Not Dangerous.

A German scientist has discovered a method to preserve the colors of flowers, even the most delicate. Ammonia in the air is the chief cause of flowers losing their tints, and if they can be pressed between paper which has been previously saturated with a solution of 1 per cent of oxalic acid in water the specimens of the palest hues may be perfectly preserved.

The Pursuit of Happiness.

When the Declaration of Independence asserted man's right to this, it enunciated an immortal truth. The bilious sufferer is on the road to happiness when he begins to take Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most efficacious regulator of the liver in existence. Equally reliable is it in chills and fever, constipation, dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney trouble and nervousness. Use it regularly, and not at odd intervals.

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

WATERING PLANTS.

The best way of watering plants is to stand the pots in a pail of water, and leave them there until all bubbling ceases, which shows that the water has well soaked through the mold. This should be done about twice a week in winter, and when it is cold weather, luke warm water should be used. To keep plants healthy and green, their leaves should be sponged over at least once a week.—New York Dispatch.

THE WEATHER BUREAU.

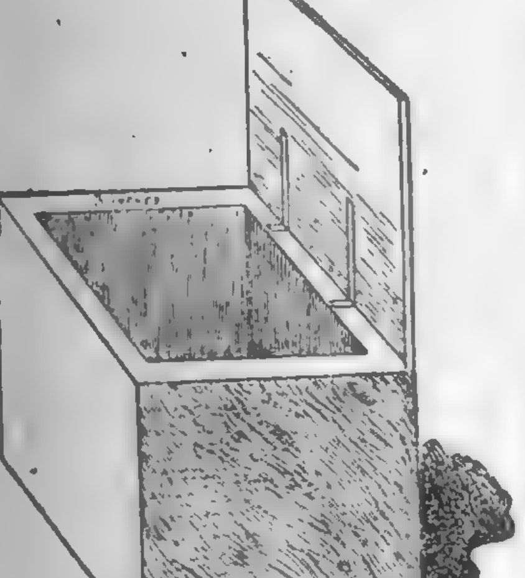
There is no question of the value of the forecasts of the Weather Bureau for the use of farmers. It is not a waste of money in any way, and as the farmers are quite as dependent on the weather as sailors are for the safe prosecution of their business, it must be considered a good use of the public money to spread this information for the benefit of farmers. One farmer who yearly cuts more than 100 acres of hay has the reports telegraphed to him from the nearest large city every day, and in this way, has for two years past escaped any injury or stoppage of the haying, getting in every load dry and in the best condition. This is easily worth fifty times the cost of the information. It would be a good thing for the majority of farmers to take one of the daily papers of the nearest large city, if for no other use than to get these weather prognostications.—New York Times.

KEROSENE EMULSION.

Plant lice, scale and other insects which get their living by suction cannot be poisoned, says the Massachusetts Ploughman. Something must be used that will kill by contact. Kerosene emulsion is best. This emulsion is made by dissolving one pound of soft or hard soap in one gallon of boiling water. While this solution is still very hot add two gallons of kerosene, and quickly begin to agitate the whole mass through a syringe or force pump, drawing the liquid into the pump and forcing it back into the dish. Continue this for five minutes or until the whole mass assumes a creamy color and consistency which will adhere to the sides of the dish and not glide off like oil. It may now be diluted with cold rain water, or the whole mass may be allowed to cool, when it will assume a semi-solid form not unlike loppered milk. This standard emulsion, if covered and placed in a dark, cool place, will keep for a long time. In making a dilution from this cold emulsion, it is necessary, first, to dissolve it in two or three parts of boiling water, and then add what is necessary of cold soft water.

AN ECONOMIC ICE BOX.

This consists of two boxes, the larger about three feet square, the smaller of sufficient size to allow a space 2½ or three inches between the two at the bottom as well as the four sides. This space should be filled with sawdust or fine charcoal. The inside box is lined with zinc. Through the center of this a small hole is cut which will admit a half-inch lead pipe. This is of a sufficient length to pass through the bottom of both boxes to carry off what water may come from the ice. These boxes can be varied according to the size of the cake of ice which is placed on the bottom of the inside box, with no other support. Shelves can be easily supplied by hanging strips of tin over top of inside box which will hold cleats upon which shelves can be placed. These boxes can many times be obtained at dry goods stores. The entire cost is about one dollar.—American Agriculturist.



ECONOMICAL ICE BOX.

REMOVE THE SHOES OFTEN.

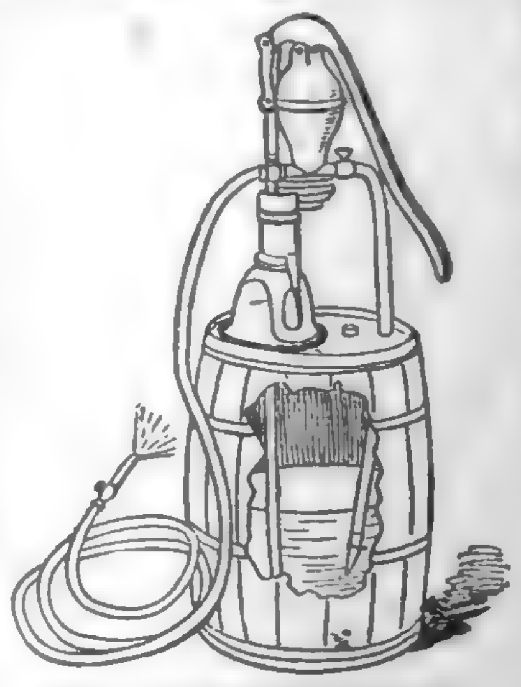
R. Boylston Hall says in Colman's Rural World there comes up another and fully as important a point in the matter of keeping the feet of the colts and mature animals trued, balanced, in proper proportion and in proper angle to the limbs they support, so that the articulation shall be as near smooth and frictionless as possible, and that is, never allow the shoes to remain on the feet longer than three weeks, when they should be removed, reset, or new ones put on, as the case may require. The importance of this is obvious. The feet in a healthy state of growth grow about three-eighths of an inch each month and they grow irregularly; therefore, to keep the animal "plumb on his pins," advantage must be taken of the irregularities of growth by observing the rule pointed out, as to duration of time the shoes should remain on the feet without removal.

Some people have a prejudice against removing the shoes so often, and it is only a prejudice. When the shoes are removed as often as directed, it is but a few moments' job to do what a trifle there is to be done to the foot with the rasp only. It is but a shaving off here and there, and the foot is true, balanced, and in proper angle again, and it will be easily kept so with just this little bit of care; and does any one owning a horse begrudge the little time and expense required to keep him in this perfect condition of balance, therefore in comfort? I hope not, for owners, let me tell you, you'll be the winners "by a large majority" in the capacity of your animal to perform its duties, and in the resultant saving of money by not having your animal "off," with a necessary lay-up, involving loss of time, and "time is money."

CHEAP ORCHARD-SPRAYING OUTFIT.

In a recent interview Secretary Morton described as follows a cheap orchard-spraying apparatus, which is shown in the accompanying illustration:

"Spraying to control various insect pests, particularly those of the orchard and garden, has reached so satisfactory and inexpensive a basis that it is recognized by every progressive farmer as a necessary feature of the year's operations, and, in the case of the apple, pear and plum crops, the omission of such treatment means serious loss. The consequent demand for spraying apparatus has been met by all the leading pump manufacturers of this country, and ready-fitted apparatus, consisting of pump, spray tank or barrel, and nozzle with hose, are on the market in numerous styles and at prices ranging from $20 upward. The cost of a spraying outfit for orchard work may, however, be considerably reduced by purchasing merely the pump and fixtures and mounting them at home on a strong barrel. An apparatus of this sort, representing a style that has proven very satisfactory in practical experience, is illustrated in the accompanying figure. It is merely a strong pump with an air chamber to give a steady stream provided with two discharge hose pipes. One of these enters the barrel and keeps the water agitated and the poison thoroughly intermixed, and the other and longer one is the spraying hose and terminates in the nozzle. The spraying hose should be about twenty feet long, and may be fastened to a light pole, preferably of bamboo, to assist in directing the spray. The nozzle should be capable of breaking the water up into a fine mist spray, so as to wet the plant completely with the least possible expenditure of liquid. The two more satisfactory nozzles are those of the Nixon and the Vermorel type. A suitable pump with nozzle and hose may be obtained of any pump manufacturer or hardware dealer at a cost of from $13 to $15. If one with brass fittings be secured it will also serve for the application of fungicides. The outfit outlined above may be mounted on a cart or wagon, the additional elevation secured in this way facilitating the spraying of trees, or for more extended operations the pump may be mounted on a large water tank."



CHEAP ORCHARD-SPRAYING OUTFIT.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

A fretful, nervous horse is, as a rule, a poor article to start out with on a long campaigning tour.

Worms are hanging out the danger signal on the trees of many a pretty village. Don't put off the application of remedies.

The man who buys now and breeds his horses intelligently will have youngsters ready for the market when there will be plenty of men willing to buy at good prices.

Professor Warington, in his inaugural lecture at Oxford, England, said that in the full adoption of scientific methods lay the only hope of placing the agricultural industry on a sound basis. Professor Warington is good authority.

Avoid the junkhead horses; breed the best; breed none but the best; breed from nothing but your best, and look out sharp to improve on the next cross, and wherever your dam is lacking be sure the sire you use is not lacking in the same point, and, if possible, not lacking in any essential qualification.

There are plenty of instance of highly successful race horses and producers of race horses that were so far from being high spirited that they were called loafers by those who came in contact with them. Joe Patchen is a successful race horse, and all who have seen him race have noticed his "soldiering" characteristics.

Any farmer who has a dozen or more apple or pear tree should have a spraying apparatus and familiarize himself with the use of fungicides and insecticides. The difference in value between a good and a poor crop will more than pay for the outfit, and it often comes handy for spraying other crops, such as potatoes, tomatoes, etc.

Some day it will be discovered that certain kinds of horses are scarce, but that several years will elapse before the demand can be fully met. Rises come as a thief in the night. No one is ever expecting them until it is too late to stock up, but if everybody knew just when the rise is to take place there would be no rise.

Examine carefully the teeth of every horse and colt on the place. If the teeth are sharp and cut the cheeks and prevent proper mastication of the food, your horse will be in poor condition no matter what you feed him. Sharp teeth will cause them to throw up their heads, drive on line, etc. All long or irregular teeth must be shortened or smoothed with the tooth rasp.

It is said the manufacture of false tails for horses has reached so high a degree of perfection that the counterfeit may be buckled on to the stump of a docked horse and he will travel along beside a mate with a natural long tail defying detection. Yet for the sake of the pocketbook, as well as for the animal's comfort in fly time, it is far better to let the horse keep his natural tail.

He Was Counselor in the Chinese-Japanese Peace Negotiations.

John W. Foster has arrived at his home in Washington city from China, where he served as counselor to the Chinese peace envoys in the negotiations to end the Chinese-Japanese war. Mr. Foster has been absent from Washington on this mission nearly seven months, having started on December 22d, last. Until the day he left Shanghai for home, after having accompanied Lord Li to Formosa to transfer that island to the Japanese in accordance with the provisions of the treaty of Shimonoseki, Mr. Foster was engaged almost night and day in the labors of his office, and he comes back somewhat fatigued and ready for a summer's rest.

In conversation with a press reporter, Mr. Foster was asked for his opinion of the prospects of permanent peace with China and Japan as the result of the treaty of Shimonoseki. He replied:

"There is good reason to expect permanent peace between the two empires. The terms demanded by Japan may, under the circumstances, be regarded as reasonable, especially in view of the retrocession of the Liao-Tung peninsula. The treaty has been observed and carried out by China with scrupulous good faith. Her conduct in this respect has created a very favorable impression in Japan."

The secretary of state has issued a commission to another new tobacco manufacturing company, The Florence Tobacco Warehouse and Prize Company. The capital stock is $3,000, divided into 60 shares, with the privilege of increasing the capital stock to $6,000.

COLORED PYTHIANS

Hold a Big Convention at Americus, Georgia.

Americus was in the hands of the colored grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, last Tuesday and Wednesday. Delegations were in attendance from all the chief cities of the state. The parade and addresses occupied the afternoon. Alderman Burt welcomed them to the city in behalf of the mayor and council. Responses were made by the grand chancellor, C. A. Shaw, of Brunswick, and H. A. Rucker, of Atlanta. The session lasted two days. Two thousand visitors were in attendance and the convention was a very successful one.

PROFESSOR HUXLEY DEAD.

He Was an Eminent Naturalist and Well Known Author.

Professor Huxley, the great English naturalist, who has been ill for some time, died at his home in London Saturday afternoon. His mind was clear to the last and his death was painless. He began to fail about the beginning of March. A severe attack of influenza was followed by bronchitis and his heart, lungs and kidneys became affected.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Situation as Reported for the Past Week.

Reports from all parts of the southern states for the past week indicate that the revival in business continues, notwithstanding that the midsummer is at hand, and many important new industries were organized during the week. The reports show a stiffening in iron at present quotations and a decided stiffening in lumber quotations with improving conditions being manifest, especially in cypress and pine. Southern manufacturers, especially in iron, report great improvement in inquiries and some further advances in wages have been made. The southern cotton mills are full of orders.

Among the forty new industries reported for the week the most important are as follows: A cotton compress at Houston, Tex., to cost $200,000; a compress at Summit, Miss., and electrical plants at Scotland Neck and Washington, N. C., and Humboldt, Tenn. A company with a capital of $300,000 has been organized at Washington, Ga., to develop a large water power and erect manufacturing plants. Gold mines are to be opened at Canton, Ga., and Oxford and Salisbury, N. C.; a $50,000 company has been chartered at Fort Worth, Tex., to build grain elevators and warehouses, and the Gulf Coast Canal and Navigation Co., capital $1,500,000, has been incorporated at Galveston, Tex. A $50,000 oil company will do business at Wheeling, W. Va., and oil mills will be erected at Oglethorpe and Talbot co., Ga., Aberdeen, Miss., Liberty, S. C., and Clarksville, Tex. New cotton mills with a capital of $100,000 each are to be established at Monroe, Ga., and Columbia and Sumter, S. C.

The largest woodworking plants reported during the week are lumber mills at Elmore, Ark., and Jacksonville, Fla., to cost $50,000 each, and the Southern Furniture Co., at Texarkana, Tex., capital, $25,000.

Among the enlargements are reported a flouring mill at Altoona, Fla., and cotton mills at Durham, Lowell and Raleigh, N. C., and Wolford, S. C. The Brookside cotton mills at Knoxville Tenn., will be enlarged at a cost of $35,000.

The list of new buildings for the week includes a $15,000 business house at Monroe La., $10,000 churches at Cordele, Ga., Oxford, N. C., and one to cost $75,000 at Jacksonville Fla. A $23,000 court house and jail will be built at Swainsboro, Ga., a $10,000 hotel at Evergreen, Ala., and a warehouse at Wilson, N. C., to cost $10,000.—Tradesman, (Chattanooga, Tenn.)

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

To wash a black China silk, rub it with ammonia water and press it between two cloths.

When the cellar is being cleaned, add a little copperas water and salt to the whitewash.

Oil paints are best removed by chloroform. Apply a few drops and rub gently with a woolen rag.

To keep away black ants, the simplest remedy is to sprinkle salt plentifully in the places they infest.

Salt and mustard, a teaspoonful of each, followed with sweet oil, melted butter or milk, is the antidote for arsenic.

Wall papers that are soiled or that one feels are dirty, though the grime is not visible, should be brushed or wiped with a dry cloth, and rubbed with bread crumbs.

To disinfect a book which has been in a sick room, wash the cover with a purifier. Put it out in open air for one day, where the sun can beat down on it with all its force.

To bleach a piece of white embroidery that has become yellow, wet it in soap suds, not too strong, and lay it on the grass where the sun will shine on it. Wet it and turn it every day until sufficiently bleached.

To remove black and blue stains from scarlet cloth: Wet them with water (cold rain water), rub them with a piece of scarlet cloth and a mixture of three drops of wine vinegar and some lemon juice; finally wash in cold rain water.

Salad oil, when not fresh, acquires an unpleasant taste, and will spoil any dish to which it is added. Instead of throwing it away, save it for cleaning machines, mixed with a little paraffin, and for the mixtures used for cleaning furniture.

Two pints of white sugar, one and one-half pints of water three well-beaten eggs, heaping teaspoonful butter, two tablespoonfuls cornstarch, juice of two lemons and rind of two. Cook over boiling water. Stir to keep smooth. Use as sauce or for tarts or layer cake.

Lemons may be kept for a long time, even months, under glass. If you are not going to use them immediately, lay them on a flat surface and invert a goblet over each one. After six months' imprisonment in this way, they have been taken out as fresh and juicy as ever.

To make delicious lemon sherbet, take four lemons, two oranges, six tablespoonfuls sugar, three pints water; squeeze the lemon and orange juice upon the sugar; let it stand five minutes, add water and ice, stir well and serve; a larger allowance of sugar can be made for those who like sweet drinks.

To make horseradish sauce, take half a pint of milk or cream in a double boiler. Rub together a tablespoonful of butter and an even tablespoonful of flower; then stir them into the boiling milk, add one ounce of young horseradish, finely grated, a half teaspoonful of salt and the same of sugar. This is also a very nice sauce to serve with boiled fish.

No Need of Alarm.

Man of Family—My dear, a rice trust has been formed, and there is no telling how soon rice may go up. Better lay in enough to last a year at least.

Average American Housewife—Very well, I'll send out and buy two or three pounds.

Throat Paralysis.

(From the Courier-Herald, Saginaw, Mich.)

It was publicly talked all over Clare County, Michigan, for some time before the Courier-Herald sent a reporter to Dover to fully investigate the Coulter matter. He finally went, and we publish to-day his full report. The Coulters are prominent people, though Mrs. C. in response to the question whether she objected to being interviewed, said, "Certainly not." Her story follows:

"About 14 years ago we decided to take up our abode in Dover and everything went along smoothly for several years, business progressed, and being of a saving temperament we accumulated quite an amount. Our family increased as the years rolled by and we now have 5 children living, the oldest 15, youngest 3, but sickness made its way into our household, and doctors' bills flooded upon us, until we have nothing left but our home and these sweet children. Everything went to satisfy the claims of physicians.

"About three years ago I had a miserable feeling at the back of my ears, my right hand became paralyzed and the paralysis extended to my arm and throat, and would affect my head and eyes, sometimes for days I would lose my sight, my face was deformed, lifeless as it were, my nose was drawn to one side, and I presented a pitiable appearance and never expecting to regain my natural facial expressions. I employed the best physicians that could be procured, expending thousands of dollars for their services, but could not obtain relief. At last, they stated my case was beyond the reach of medical skill, and it would be but a short time until the end would come. This certainly was not very encouraging to me, but I never gave up hope. In connection with receiving the attendance of physicians I have tried every medicine known to the apothecary but never received any relief until Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People came to my assistance. Before I had taken half of the first box the deformity in my face had left me, and before four boxes had been consumed the paralysis had disappeared entirely, and much to my surprise I felt like a new woman. I have not taken any medicine since last spring, just about a year ago, and my trouble has not appeared since. I owe my health, my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"A short time since my little boy John was afflicted with St. Vitus' dance. He could not walk across the room without assistance, in fact he would fall all over himself, but after taking a few boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, St. Vitus' dance entirely left him, and no trace of the affliction is left. These Pills are worth their weight in gold. You may say in this connection that I am willing at any time to make affidavit to the truth of these statements, and furthermore, I will answer any communication concerning my case, as I consider it nothing more than right and just that I should assist suffering humanity."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

Facts About Population.

According to Gannett's book, "The Building of a Nation," we had 3,929,214 people in 1790, and in 1890 we had 62,622,250. We have doubled our population in the past thirty years, while France has increased 3 per cent and Great Britain and Ireland 20 per cent. Maine and Vermont are not increasing, and Nevada is decreasing. In 1790 Virginia was the most populous state in the union, with Pennsylvania second. In 1810 New York reached the second place, and in 1820 the first place, Virginia then being second. In 1830 Pennsylvania got the second place and still holds it. In 1790 the third place was held by North Carolina, but between 1840 and 1880 Ohio held it, and in 1890 Illinois secured it.

In 1790 we had only six cities of over 8,000 population each. Our urban population then was 131,472, and the rural 3,797,742. In 1890 we had 443 cities of over 8,000 population each, and twenty-eight of them had a population of over 100,000 each. We have eleven cities of over 200,000 population each. Our urban population has jumped up to 18,284,385, while the rural population is 44,337,865. The north Atlantic states contain the greatest proportion of the urban element. Within a radius of fifteen miles of the New York city hall may be found 3,250,000 people.

The average size of families has diminished from 5.55 persons in 1850 to 4.03 in 1890, over 11 per cent. The highest average is in the southern states. The males at the last census numbered 32,067,880, and the females 30,554,370. Despite our civil war, the males have increased more than the females for the past forty years. In Europe it is different. There the females outnumber the males.

Happy Relief.

Old Gentleman—Do you think, sir, that you are able to support my daughter without continually hovering on the verge of bankruptcy?

Suitor—Oh, yes, sir, I am sure I can.

Old Gentleman—Well, that's more than I can do. Take her and be happy.

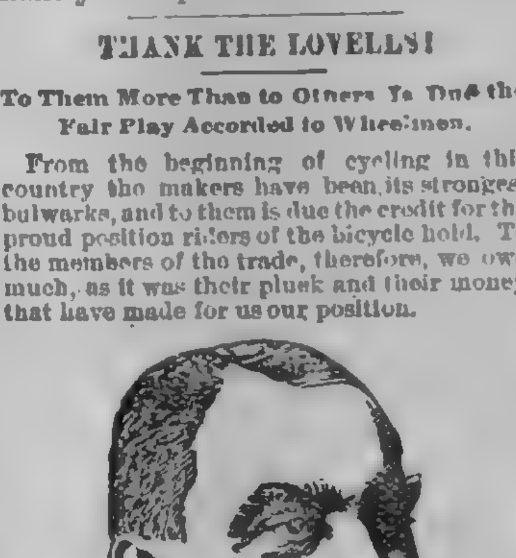
THANK THE LOVELLS!

To Them More Than to Others Is Due the Fair Play Accorded to Wheelmen.

From the beginning of cycling in this country the makers have been its strongest bulwarks, and to them is due the credit for the proud position riders of the bicycle hold. To the members of the trade, therefore, we owe much, as it was their pluck and their money that have made for us our position.



COL. BENJ. S. LOVELL.

Among the men who early felt the benefits of cycling, and did not hesitate to expend money, is Colonel Ben. S. Lovell, of Boston, Treasurer of the John P. Lovell Arms Company, of that city. Their firm name has been a familiar one for over fifty years, having been established in 1840, doing a sporting goods and gun business. Being in a kindred trade, it was but natural that they should engage in the making and selling of bicycles. Their success has been unbounded, as they have made a name for the Lovell Diamond Cycles that is a familiar household one in every hamlet in the land. It is not possible to have done that without cost, and a considerable one, too, as readers of current literature will admit, for have not all of us encountered the symbolic words "Lovell Diamonds?" To estimate the gross amount that has been expended for advertising would be a difficult task, but it is said that considerably over $100,000 was spent by them during 1894. All the big Eastern dailies had entire pages, which cost lots of money, and the magazines filled many pages exploiting Lovell Diamond Cycles.

Can it be wondered at, then, that cycling has become popular, when men like Colonel Lovell spend such sums to make it so?

Colonel Lovell is Treasurer of the John P. Lovell Arms Company, and is a man of rare business attainments, acquired by long experience and an aptitude possessed by few. In private life he has won the respect and esteem of every one he has been brought in contact with, while his public record is equally good, on five different occasions representing his town in the Legislature, serving in both branches. He served on the staff of Governor Long for three consecutive years, and is now a member of Governor Greenhalge's staff. He has been a delegate to four National conventions, and there is not an office in the gift of his townsmen which would not be at his disposal were it not for his great business responsibilities. There is no man in the bicycle business more respected than Colonel Benj. S. Lovell, and no better bicycle is made in the world than the Lovell Diamond.

Two Hundred Miles Per Hour.

After a half dozen years of experimenting, A. B. Criel, of Ionia, Mich., has perfected a model of a postal car which, he claims, will attain a speed of 200 miles an hour, and is designed by the inventor to carry mail between the principal cities of the country. This car is to be thirty-three feet long and to run on a steel elevated track, eighteen feet above the ground, and it is estimated that the road will cost $10,000 a mile. The car is provided with an apparatus for picking up and throwing off mail, so arranged that it will work automatically. The model is provided with thirty-four apartments, and carrying out the scale of the model the bags to be dropped in each place will be capable of holding 10,000 letters. Under the patentee's idea power houses can be supplied at intervals of 200 miles, and the electric current, sufficient to make the entire run from New York to Chicago, may be generated from the waste power at Niagara Falls. It is so arranged that the operator in the central electric station will always know the location of the car. Ex-Postmaster General Bissell, who has been shown a working model of the device, has indorsed it, as have many scientists. Mr. Criel's model weighs nearly 1,500 pounds.—Boston Transcript.

BIMETALLISTS MEET

SILVER'S ADVOCATES IN GEORGIA HOLD A CONVENTION.

The Resolutions as Adopted--Brief Summary of the Proceedings.

[illegible] cates of free coinage in [illegible] convention at Griffin [illegible]. The meeting was called to [illegible] after 10 o'clock, by [illegible], president of the Spalding [illegible] League. Delegates from [illegible] the state to the number of [illegible] present. The proceedings [illegible] election of Hon. Pat [illegible] permanent chairman and [illegible] as secretary.

[illegible] Walsh made a very grace[illegible] thanks for the honor con[illegible]. He reviewed the call [illegible] convention and said that it had [illegible] to represent the wishes [illegible] of Georgia, in reference [illegible] so deeply and vitally [illegible] interests. He asked why [illegible] this great state this year [illegible], although bountiful crops [illegible] harvested, discontented and [illegible] voices should be heard from [illegible] to the sea. He attribu[illegible] the drastic financial policy of [illegible] which has apprecia[illegible] money, bonds and stocks in the [illegible] capitalists of the country. [illegible] wise, judicious and [illegible] system the depression [illegible] would be dissipated and [illegible] would return to the people. [illegible] at the theory of supply [illegible], and said it was not over[illegible]tion that afflicted the people, [illegible] consumption, which was [illegible] with loud applause. He dwelt [illegible] on the present purchas[illegible] of the dollar, and said it [illegible] buy more of labor and the pro[illegible] labor at this time than it ever [illegible].

[illegible] that the convention had [illegible] by men who wanted office [illegible] he wanted no office and [illegible] higher honor than the priv[illegible] serving his people. He knew [illegible] connected with the silver [illegible] who was not actuated by the [illegible] purpose that animated the [illegible] were present at the birth of [illegible] cratic party. He declared [illegible] other side was actuated by [illegible] motives which he deplored as he [illegible] waves of fanaticism, waves of [illegible] waves of pestilence, but no [illegible] that were so destructive to the [illegible] of the people as this wave of [illegible] and avarice now sweeping [illegible] country. He announced the [illegible] ready for business.

[illegible] motion of Captain Evan Howell, [illegible], a committee on resolutions [illegible], one from each congressional district and two from the state [illegible]. The committee appointed [illegible] of the following: First district, A. J. Brenner; second district, [illegible] Wilson; third district, S. T. [illegible]; fourth district, Henry R. [illegible]; fifth district, A. C. McCalla; [illegible] district, C. T. Zachary; seventh [illegible], Wm. Phillips; eighth district, [illegible] Carlton; ninth district, H. T. [illegible]; tenth district, W. H. Fleming; [illegible] district, T. N. Roberts. [illegible] the state at large: Evan P. [illegible] and Allen Fort.

When the resolutions committee [illegible] appointed a motion was made and [illegible] that the chairman appoint a [illegible] president for the state league, [illegible] from each congressional district [illegible] two from the state at large.

The Platform Agreed On.

The committee on resolutions agreed [illegible] the following report:

We, the representatives of the [illegible] of the state of Georgia, who [illegible] the bimetallic standard of both [illegible] and silver, in convention assem[illegible], indorse and adopt as the senti[illegible] of the convention the following preamble and resolutions, adopted by [illegible] Memphis bimetallic convention, on [illegible] 13th day of June, 1895:

Whereas, Silver and gold coin have [illegible] ages constituted the money of [illegible] world, were the money of the [illegible] of the republic, the money of [illegible] and of the constitution.

The universal experience of man[illegible] has demonstrated that the joint [illegible] of both silver and gold coin as [illegible] constitute the most stable [illegible] of value and that the full [illegible] of both metals is necessary as [illegible] of exchange

The demonetization of either of [illegible] historic metals means an appre[illegible] in the value of money, a fall in [illegible] prices of commodities, a diminu[illegible] profits of legitimate business, [illegible] continued increase in the burden of [illegible] withdrawal of money from the [illegible] of trade and industry, where [illegible] longer yields a safe and sure re[illegible] and its idle accumulation in the [illegible] and the great money centers of [illegible] country.

[illegible] is no health or soundness in [illegible] financial system under which a [illegible] dollar is productive of in[illegible] to its possessor, while an in[illegible] dollar yields a constantly di[illegible] return, and under which [illegible] are made by the actions of idle capital or by a persistent fall in the prices of commodities and a persistent dwindling in the [illegible] of profits in almost every branch of useful industry. Such a system is a premium on sloth and a penalty upon industry, and such a system is that which the criminal legislation of 1873 has imposed upon this country.

"The bimetallic standard of silver and gold has behind it the experience of ages and has been tested and approved by the enlightened and deliberate judgment of mankind. The gold standard is a departure from the established policy of the civilized world with nothing to commend it but twenty two years of depression and disaster to the people and extraordinary accumulation of wealth in the hands of a few.

"There are some facts bearing upon this question recognized and admitted by all candid men, whether advocates of bimetallism or of the single gold standard. Among these is the fact that the very year that marked the change from the bimetallic to the single gold standard is the very year that marked the change from a condition of rising prices, large profits, general contentment and great prosperity to a condition of falling prices, diminishing profits, insecurity of investment, unemployed labor and a heavy depression in all branches of trade and industry. It is not a matter of dispute among the honest advocates of the gold standard that general prosperity came to an end with the destruction of the bimetallic system, and that hard times, falling prices, idle workingmen and widespread depression came in with the gold standard and prevails today, wherever the gold standard has been adopted.

"Every international monetary conference that has been called, every demand in this country [illegible] for an international agreement to establish the bimetallic standard is a confession that the demonetization of the system was a blunder, if not a crime, that its consequences have been disastrous and that the [illegible] it has wrought are full of menace and of peril

"The logic of facts establishes beyond intelligent question that the destruction of silver as primary money by a conspiracy of selfish interests is the cause of the wide-spread depression and suffering that began with the gold standard. There can be no restoration of prosperity, no permanent relief from prevailing conditions until the great cause has been removed by a complete restoration of silver to its proper place as a money metal, equal with gold

"We believe in a money of stable value; we believe least of all in an appreciative standard; it is only through the practical operation of bimetallism that a stable standard of value can be secured. A standard constituted of money constantly increasing in value is not a sound, a single, nor a stable standard, but a constantly changing standard

"The effect of gold monometallism is to establish one standard for the creditor and another for the debtor; and there can be no more dishonest monetary system than that which gives short measure to the borrower and long measure to the lender.

"Under the policy prevailing prior to 1873 there can be no violent change in the relative value of the two metals, for a rise in value of one metal is counteracted by a decreased demand, and a fall in value by an increased demand. Under the operation of this beneficent law a stable relation was maintained between them in spite of the most extreme changes in relative productions. From the first period of our history up to 1873, the right of the debtor to choose whether he should pay his debts in silver or gold coin was always recognized. The subsequent policy has been to transfer this right to the creditor, thus tending to constantly increase the value of the dearer metal and destroy the parity between them.

"Believing that it is absolutely necessary to reverse this iniquitous and ruinous policy, we, therefore, resolve:

"That we favor the immediate restoration of silver to its former place as a full legal tender standard money, equal with gold, and the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1 and upon terms of exact equality.

"That while we should welcome the co-operation of other nations, we believe that the United States should not wait upon the pleasure of foreign governments or the consent of foreign creditors, but should themselves proceed to reverse the grinding process that is destroying the prosperity of the people and should lead by their example the nations of the earth.

"That the rights of the American people, the interests of American labor and the prosperity of American industry have a higher claim to the consideration of the people's lawmakers than the greed of foreign creditors, or the avaricious demands made by 'idle holders of the capital.' The right to regulate its own monetary system in the interest of its own people is a right which no free government can barter, sell, or surrender. This reserved right is a part of every bond, of every contract and of every obligation. No creditor or claimant can set up a right that can take precedence over a nation's obligations to promote the welfare of the masses of its own people. This is a debt higher and more binding than all other debts and one which is not only dishonest, but treasonable to ignore.

"Under the financial policy that now prevails we see the land filled with idle and discontented workingmen and an ever-growing army of tramps, men whom lack of work and opportunity have made outcasts and beggars. At the other end we find that a few thousand families own one-half the wealth of the country.

"The centralization of wealth has gone hand in hand with the spread of poverty. The pauper and the plutocrat are twin children of the same vicious and unholy system. The situation is full of menace to the liberties of the people and the life of the republic. The issue is enfranchisement or hopeless servitude. Whatever the power of money can do by debauchery and corruption to maintain its grasp on the law-making power will be done. We, therefore, appeal to the plain people of the land with perfect confidence in their patriotism and intelligence to arouse themselves to a full sense of the peril that confronts them and defend the citadel of their liberties with a vigilance that shall neither slumber nor sleep.

"Resolved, further, That public office is a public trust; and that the use of public patronage for the purpose of molding public sentiment in the interest of plutocracy tends to sap and destroy the rights and liberties of the masses.

"Whereas, it is important to organize to enforce in one state the declaration of principles announced in these resolutions; therefore,

"Resolved, That we call upon the people of this state to organize in every county and militia district with the object in view to secure representatives, state and national, who will favor these principles, and who will in good faith carry them out, without any straddling or evasion.

"And to this end the chairman of this convention shall appoint a vice president from each congressional district, with two from the state at large, subject to ratification of this convention. Each vice president shall see to the organization of bimetallic clubs in each county in this state, and each county shall see to the organization of militia districts and wards of their respective counties and cities.

"The said vice presidents shall constitute the state executive committee of the bimetallic clubs of the state."

The resolutions were adopted amid loud cheering.

The proceedings progressed smoothly and the meeting was about to adjourn to hear Senator Morgan's speech when Mr. Gardner, of Pike, a democrat and ex-member of the legislature, addressed the chair and offered the following resolution:

Whereas, The democrats of Georgia have this [illegible] in the city of Griffin, and whereas [illegible] party can preserve its principles [illegible] interests, without a strict adherence to party organization,

Therefore, be it resolved by the convention that all [illegible] participating in the deliberations of this convention acknowledge themselves democrats, and pledge themselves to support the democratic party.

The resolution created some confusion but was finally passed up to be referred to the committee on resolutions. Mr. Gardner descended from the chair, quiet prevailed, and the delegates adjourned to the grove to hear the speech of Senator Morgan.

Senator Morgan Speaks.

In beginning his speech Senator Morgan said that in accepting the invitation from Georgians to discuss the silver question he felt at home, inasmuch as Alabama and Georgia were closely allied and the question was mainly a family trouble; that he came as a democrat to advocate democratic principles as old and as sound as the democratic party. He said he would speak in defense of an act of congress that was approved by George Washington in 1792—for the free coinage of silver, which was re-enacted in 1837, and was annihilated by John Sherman in 1873. He said he would not discuss what money was good, except in the sense of being equal in current value in the United States, where our legal tender laws make equal every gold, silver and paper dollar issued by the United States.

Mr. Morgan gave an interesting and complete history of silver legislation, and in closing said:

"The democratic party is a safer guardian of the rights of silver money than any other party, whether republican, populist or mugwump. I therefore am willing to entrust this great question to their keeping, and I shall remain at my post under that flag, as I have done for twenty years, in the senate, and will do all that is in my power for this, the cause of the people."

A PHOSPHATE TRUST

In Which Millions of Property are Involved.

It is reported from New York that a big combination of all the phosphate companies in this country has been in progress for several months. It is said that millions of dollars' worth of property are involved in this proposed trust, and the effect will be felt by every farmer in the country. American farmers depend principally on the phosphate found in Florida, South Carolina and Tennessee, and now these diggings are to be taken over by a big trust and the price raised. The big combination has been engineered by Dr. Otto A. Moses, of New York, who owns large phosphate beds in the south.

Liberals Heavy Losers.

A London cablegram of Monday says: The returns received thus far show the election of 149 conservatives, 22 unionists and 25 liberals, 4 anti-Parnellites and 4 Parnellites. The total number of seats gained by the unionists is nineteen. If any further proof of the change of opinion in the constituencies was wanted it was furnished yesterday in the districts in which contested elections were held. It does not require the gift of prophecy to be able to foretell a most disastrous defeat for the liberal party. Somee of the districts that have heretofore been safely liberal, have this time given large unionist majorities, and the indications are that this will be repeated in many of the districts where elections are yet to be held.

DIDN'T KNOW HE WAS WEALTHY.

Death of a Pioneer Who Was Heir to Many Millions.

Cornelius Yager, one of the most noted of California's pioneers, died at Fresno a few days ago. He was born in Kentucky in 1811 and was connected with some of the most prominent families in the state. When an old man he learned that he was one of the heirs to an estate in Germany valued at $50,000,000. The money was left by some relatives and now lies in a bank at Hamburg awaiting settlement.

CAPITAL GOSSIP.

ITEMS OF NEWS PICKED UP AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

Sayings and Doings of the Official Heads of the Government.

First Assistant Postmaster General Jones, has issued an order to postmasters throughout the country, forbidding the issue of money orders payable on their own offices. The order can be issued on a sub-station.

The comptroller of the currency has declared dividends in favor of the creditors of insolvent national banks as follows: Ten per cent. the First National bank of Middlesborough, Ky.; 5 per cent. the First National bank of Wilmington, N. C.

The internal revenue bureau has practically completed the work of recording and scheduling the returns received under the income tax act and very soon will be ready to begin the work of refunding the amounts paid before the act was declared unconstitutional.

The treasury department has resumed the issue of gold certificates, which had been suspended during the period when the treasury gold reserve was below $100,000,000. Since June 25th last, when the gold reserve again became intact, the treasury has issued about $200,000 gold certificates on gold paid mostly at United States mints. There are now outstanding $43,376,000 in gold certificates, with $172,180 in the treasury, the remainder being in circulation.

Milliken May Surrender.

It is more than probable that Benjamin H. Milliken, who was indicted some days ago for breaking into and entering the residence of Judge Samuel F. Phillips, with intent to feloniously assault the latter's daughter, Gertrude, will surrender himself to the authorities in a few days. Mr. William A. Milliken, of the postoffice department, a brother of the indicted man, called upon District Attorney Birney in relation to the case. Beyond admitting that much, Mr. Birney would say nothing more as to the object of Mr. Milliken's call upon him, but the district attorney remarked significantly that he would not be the least bit surprised if the accused man surrendered himself within a short period.

Yellow Fever in Cuba.

Reports received Tuesday by the marine hospital service from Cuba show an alarming increase in the number of deaths from yellow fever. Reports have heretofore covered a period of two weeks, but the one received Tuesday covers but one week and shows that from June 30th to July 6th there were twenty-five deaths reported from Santiago de Cuba, and for the week from July fourth to July 11th, twenty cases and eight deaths at Havana. The great increase in the death rate in the neighborhood of Santiago is said to be due to the military operations which are in progress in the vicinity of that city and presence there of large numbers of unacclimated soldiers. For the week from June 28th to July 4th there were nine deaths reported from Vera Cruz.

A New Civil Service Rule.

The president has promulgated a new rule modifying rule V, of the civil service rules, the effect of which is to greatly limit the number of promotions in classified customs districts, except after appropriate examination. The necessity for the change in the rule arose from the extension of the classification in the customs service on the 2d of November last to positions paying salaries of less than $900, opening the door for the promotion of many persons who had entered the service through personal or political favoritism. The old rule would permit these persons, after they were brought into the classified service, to be advanced to many of the best paying positions without examination.

Under the new rule, promotions can be made only to a limited extent without examination, and no promotion can be made from one grade to another an appropriate examination to test fitness for the position to which the promotion is to be made. This amendment does not apply to the New York customs district, for which special promotion regulations are provided, requiring examinations for all promotions.

STAMBULOFF WAYLAID.

Attacked by Four Men Who Shoot and Stabbed Him.

Advices of Monday from Sofia state that while ex Prime Minister Stambuloff, accompanied by M. Petkoff, was walking home from the Union Club, he was attacked by four unknown men. Two of them shot him with revolvers, while the other two stabbed him. M. Stambuloff fell to the ground groaning. He was removed to his residence and physicians were summoned. After an examination of the wounds the doctors announced that there was little hope of M. Stambuloff's recovery. The assassins escaped and there is no clue to their identity.

M. Stambuloff was wounded in more than twenty places. He raised his hand to guard his head, and his wrists were nearly severed. Both hands had to be amputated. M. Petkoff was slightly wounded. The first report that all four of the assassins escaped was erroneous; one of them was arrested.

Harrison Not in the Race.

Benjamin Harrison has broken the silence as regards the presidency. He has said that under no circumstances will he become a candidate for that office.

BUSINESS REVIEW.

Bradstreets' Weekly Report of Trade Conditions.

Bradstreet's review of trade for the past week says:

"There are 197 business failures reported throughout the United States this week, as compared with 215 last week, 164 in the first week of July, 1894, 319 in 1893 and 152 in the like week of 1892.

"Total business failures in the Dominion of Canada number 25 this week against 28 last week, 39 in the week one year ago and 26 two years ago.

"Notwithstanding the week is broken by a holiday, favorable trade conditions heretofore reported continue to exercise a pronounced influence, prominently general advances in prices and in prices of staples and in wages of industrial employes. The extent of the voluntary advances in wages reported within a month or two has outgrown the resources of voluntary statistical bureaus which have endeavored to keep track of, latest advices being that more than one million industrial workers have received an advance averaging about 10 per cent.

"The upward tendency of prices, while not as marked as a month ago, is still striking, because of additional advances; those of lumber, tin plate and print cloths being new. Cotton goods are firm generally on the late advance in raw cotton, although some varieties are quiet at this, the midsummer season. Fancy prints are active for fall delivery. Wool, which was late in starting in the race for higher quotations, is quoted at another advance for South American and Australian varieties. Prices at London sales are up 10 or 15 points, which, having been more than discounted here, induces the trade to anticipate reaction unless London quotations advance further. Cotton also is higher, as is leather, following which we have a repetition of the announcement made each week for more than a month that quotations for pig iron and steel billets have advanced. To this must be added a similar statement in respect to bar iron.

"Among the list of staples for which prices are lower are flour, wheat, corn and oats, in all instances the outcome of reports of improved crop conditions. Pork and lard are also lower, as are potatoes and butter.

"No material improvement is reported from the south, rains continuing to be damaging to agricultural interests and to check business in Texas, while at the south Atlantic and gulf state cities the quiet movement of staple goods and fair or unsatisfactory collections of the past month or two continue. But advices from nearly all cities reported appear to agree that wholesale dealers in nearly all lines are greatly encouraged as to the outlook for business during autumn, believing that the demand will be greatly stimulated by the very general, and, as it is now believed, permanent improvement in prices."

BRICE MAY BUY.

A Rumor that He is Backing a Big Railroad Scheme.

It is stated at Lima, O., on apparently good authority that Senator Brice is behind a big scheme to buy in the Ohio Southern Railroad company from the receiver and build an extension from Lima to Detroit, Mich., to parallel the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, which he failed to secure control of a year or so ago. The line will be only ten miles longer than present routes. It is understood that the right of way through Lima has been secured

NEBRASKA DEMOCRATS

Issue a Call for a State Convention August 22.

The Nebraska democratic state central committee met at Omaha with a full membership, and resolved to call the state convention to meet at Omaha on August 22d to nominate a state ticket. The offices of the committeemen who have united with the bolters were declared vacant and the vacancies were ordered filled. The meeting was harmonious and enthusiastic.

THROUGH A BRIDGE

A Freight Train Plunges, Killing and Injuring Fifteen Persons.

A Santa Fe freight train, bound from Denver to Colorado Springs, fell through a bridge just south of Monument, Col., at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, killing three persons, fatally injuring three and seriously injuring fifteen others.

Silver Convention in Missouri.

By a special vote of 12 to 2 the Missouri democratic state central committee in session Monday at St. Louis decided to call a state silver convention. The convention will be held at Pertle Springs, Tuesday, August 6th.

Butchering Saved His Life.

A Brooklyn man, who had studied for the priesthood, and was just about to take orders, relinquished the idea and opened a butcher shop on Court street. He is a finely educated man, but he wears a white apron and cuts up meat from 6 in the morning until 8 in the evening, and has never been heard to complain about the life. When he made the sudden change he feared that he had contracted consumption from overstudy and a general weakening of the system, brought about by confinement and hard work. He took matters into his own hands, and decided that a butcher shop was the best place for a man with weak lungs. There may be something in his idea, for to-day he is fat and strong, and looks as if he would live for more than the allotted three score and ten.

FOR MRS. NOBLES' PARDON.

Atlanta Ladies Getting Up a Petition to the Governor.

Several prominent Atlanta ladies are earnestly working on a petition in behalf of Mrs. Nobles, who is convicted of being an accomplice in the killing of her husband and who is now under sentence of death. The recent trial at Jeffersonville was one of the most sensational ever held in the state.

The movement was started at the suggestion of one of the most prominent ladies in the city and there are several of them already actively at work in behalf of this woman. It is their intention to get the ladies of Jefferson county to get up a joint petition and present them both to the governor.

The ladies have also decided to circulate it throughout the state and have the men as well as women sign it.

The petition to the governor argues as one of the principal reasons why the pardon should be granted, that not in the records of Georgia has a woman ever been hung; that the woman was driven to desperation by the ill treatment of her husband; that she is not in the full possession of her mind, not meaning that she is insane, but that she was slightly demented on account of ill treatment and poverty; that it is her first offense; that the records of Georgia would be stained with the name of a woman who met death on the gallows.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Situation as Reported for the Past Week.

The review for the past week shows a strong [illegible] of the iron market. The advances in prices are fully sustained, there is a good inquiry and iron is moving freely. The recent consummation of the pool by the coal and iron interests of Alabama will doubtless have a tendency to further strengthen prices for southern iron, and has already caused a material advance in the price of coal.

Trade in commercial and industrial circles has been greatly stimulated by the active request for iron and steel and prospects are favorable for continued improvement. The rapid rise in iron has caused the starting up of many idle furnaces and others are preparing to go in blast. The rolling mills are all busy and the lumber and textile mills report an increased demand for their product.

The situation among the striking coal miners in West Virginia remains unchanged. Elsewhere in the coal mining districts of the south unusual activity prevails.

Thirty-six new industries are reported for the week, the most important being a $50,000 electric light plant at Chattanooga, Tenn., a light and power plant to cost $15,000 at Mexia, Texas, fertilizer works at Cordele, Ga., a flouring mill at Lenoir, N. C., and a $50,000 ice factory at Greenville, Texas. Machine and repair shop to cost $300,000 will be erected at Atlanta, Ga., a $20,000 gold mining company has been organized at Atlanta, a $50,000 oil and gas company at Charleston, W. Va., and an oil and gas company with a capital of $100,000 at New Martinsville, W. Va. A $30,000 bagging and tie concern has been chartered at Waco, Texas, and a $40,000 oil mill will be built at Bonham, one to cost $50,000 at Greenville and another to cost $75,000 at Ladonia, Texas. A $100,000 cotton mill will be erected at Birmingham, Ala., one to cost $30,000 at Madison, N. C., another with a capital of $150,000 at Lancaster, S. C., and a $250,000 mill at New Hope, N. C.

Among the woodworking plants reported is a $50,000 lumber mill at New Orleans, La., and lumber companies, with capital of $10,000 each, at Hubbard and Texarkana, Texas.

The enlargements reported include electric light, gas and water works at Charleston, W. Va., implement works at Nashville, Tenn., cotton mills at Petersburg, Va., and Pulaski, Tenn., and woodworking plants at Zirconia, N. C., Dovesville, S. C., and Guntersville, Ala.

Among the new buildings for the week is a $30,000 college at West Point, Miss., a $20,000 court house at Guntersville, Ala., a $19,000 church at New Orleans, La., and a hotel to cost $20,000 at Wilmington, N. C.—Tradesman (Chattanooga, Tenn.)

Robbers in Florida.

A band of mounted robbers galloped into Lake City, Fla., dynamited and robbed the safe in A. M. Chandler's store, looted the ticket office at the depot, shot at the night watchman, wounded a negro and then rode out of town with their plunder, firing off their pistols. This gang in four weeks has raided the towns of Jasper, Live Oak, White Springs, Huntington, Hawthorn and Lake City, securing booty valued at several thousand dollars.

A General Strike Decided Upon.

The miners of the Marquette, Mich., range who are out on a strike, held a mass meeting at Negaunee Tuesday and decided to make the strike general. Three thousand men are already out, and if the strike becomes general it will involve over 5,000 men. So far there has been no violence, but trouble is feared from a body of strikers now on the way to the Buffalo mine, where the men are still at work.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Loan.

Speyer & Co., of London, announce that the $5,000,000 3½ per cent loan of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company brought out in London was heavily oversubscribed.

A Voluntary Increase.

The Donaldson Iron Company of Emaus, Pa., has voluntarily increased the wages of its 400 employes 10 per cent, the increase to go into effect August 1st.

No Queen's Speech.

A special from London is to the effect that parliament will be prorogued on July 24. There will be no queen's speech.

THAT is the most perfect government under which a wrong to the humblest is an affront to all.

THE Salvation Army now numbers among its officers the smallest man in the world. Gerrit Keyzer, the celebrated Dutch dwarf and the legitimate successor of Gen. Tom Thumb, may now be seen in Amsterdam and The Hague parading the streets in uniform and leading the army meetings, in which he is said to have been singularly successful.

IN Argentina the preservation of meat by electricity is to be tried on a large scale by an English company that owns the patents. It will set up six establishments in Buenos Ayres, Entre Rios, and Banda Oriental to kill 8,200 head of cattle a day.

MINISTERS AROUSED

THEY WILL TRY TO PREVENT THE PRIZE FIGHT IN DALLAS.

An Appeal to the Public to Co-Operate With Them.

The pastors of Austin, Texas, have met and inaugurated a movement against the Corbett-Fitzsimmons prize fight being pulled off in Dallas in October. They issued an address of [illegible] to the citizens of the state, calling upon them to rally and [illegible] to the bitter end the proposed [illegible] encounter.

The address reads in [illegible]: "If the people in Texas friendly to law and order are now neglectful or [illegible], the abettors of vice will [illegible] in setting aside and defying [illegible] our state becomes at once [illegible] arena for the brutalities of the 'roughs' on the American continent. Precluded from other states, they will resort to our borders, thus become so hospitable to barbarism and infamy. From time to time then other of our towns will be invaded by the prize fighters of the whole continent with their hordes of debauched followers. Our excitable and inexperienced youth will be induced into imitation. Their ambition will be fired to seek the brutal honors of the ring instead of the [illegible] pleasure and credit of scholarship, industry and domestic virtue. Our other wholesome laws for restraining vice will be trodden in the mire. Our state will sink beneath Mexico in disrepute, poverty and decadence.

"We therefore, beg you to join us, first, in the vigorous expression of your opposition to the proposed outrage, and next in a respectful representation to the governor and other officers of the commonwealth—the lawful guardians of public order—assuring them of our full support, moral and physical, in every laudable effort to prevent this and similar offenses. While we desire the co-operation of every friend of virtue of every condition or of either sex, we especially wish the voters of the state to give expression to their patriotism in this juncture; because they are the individuals to whose hands the sovereignty and power of making and upholding right laws are committed by the constitution. We, therefore, request you, dear sir, to secure from all your fellow Christians and fellow citizens a written expression of their will touching this threatened disorder and remit to us. We offer ourselves to execute this laborious work of collecting the memorials and publishing their results in proper manner and we beg that each person will sign with the word voter appended to his name, who is lawfully entitled to that franchise."

Encouraging Railroads.

By an almost unanimous vote the city of Knoxville and Knox county, Tenn., voted to transfer its $50,000 worth of stock in the Knoxville and Ohio road to the promoting fund of Colonel Albert E. Boone's Black Diamond road, to be built from Jellico to Port Royal, S. C., via Knoxville. The city also voted a like sum to the same company to promote the fund of the Belt Line around the city of Knoxville.

Wages Will be Advanced.

The nailers at Ellis & Lessing's iron and steel plant at Pottstown, Pa., have been notified that on and after August 1st they will receive an increase of 20 8-10 per cent in wages. On the same day the men employed in the plate mill will be put back to the scale of '93, which is a decided advance over the present rate.

FIREMEN MEET DEATH.

Crushed by Falling Walls While Fighting the Flames.

A fatal fire at Cincinnati Wednesday in the main part of the shipping quarter of the city resulted in the instant death of two firemen and the probable fatal injury of a half dozen others. The fatalities were caused by the falling of the walls of the buildings.

Last June Dick Crawford brought his twelve-months-old child, suffering from infantile diarrhoea, to me. It had been weaned at four months and had always been sickly. I gave it the usual treatment in such cases but without benefit. The child kept growing thinner until it weighed but little more than when born, or perhaps ten pounds. I then started the father to giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Before one bottle of the 25 cent size had been used a marked improvement was seen and its continued use cured the child. Its weakness and puny constitution disappeared and its father and myself believe the child's life was saved by this remedy. J. T. Marlow, M. D., Tamaroa, Ill. BUNYAN ON SILVER.

Now, at the farther-side of that plain was a little hill called Lucre, and in that hill a silver mine, which some of them that had formerly gone that way, because of the rarity of it, had turned aside to see; but, going too near the brink of the pit, the ground being deceitful under them broke, and they were slain. Some, also, had been maimed there and could not to their dying day be their own men again.

Then I saw in my dream that a little off the road, over against the silver mine, stood Demas, gentlemanlike, to call to passengers to come and see, who said to Christian and his fellow, "Ho; turn aside hither, and I will show you a thing."

Christian—What things so deserving as to turn us out of the way?

Demas—Here is a silver mine and some digging in it for treasure. If you will come, with a little pains you may provide richly for yourselves.

Then Christian called to Demas, saying: "Is not this place dangerous? Hath it not hindered many in their pilgrimage?"

Demas—Not very dangerous except to those that are careless.

But withal he blushed as he spoke.

Christian—What is thy name? Is it not it by the which I have called thee?

Demas—Yes, my name is Demas. I am the son of Abraham.

Christian—I know you. Gehazi was your great-grandfather and Judas your father, and you have trod their steps.

MUTINY IN THE SILVERITE ARMY.

The Several Factions Are Each Pulling In Different Directions.

It is amusing to watch the struggles of the silverites with their friends and allies, the Populists and other fiat money advocates. As the men who believe in making a dollar half silver and half fiat find their principal support among believers in dollars wholly fiat, they try to avoid offending the latter by opposing unlimited greenbacks and similar cheap money schemes. But an attempt to convert the Populist party to a platform of the single plank of free coinage at 16 to 1 has split that party in two wings, which are now getting ready to fight each other. The men who want government loans on land and farm products will not be satisfied with a currency scheme which will only benefit the silver mine owners. While the silverites fear to indorse the wild money notions of the Populists lest they drive away supporters who are not ready to swallow all the third party's nostrums, the Coxeyites are poking fun at them as men who have not the courage to follow their cheap dollar arguments to their logical end—Populism.

The result will be that the silverites will have to decide between such of their followers who really believe that free silver would give us sound money and those who want unlimited issues of cheap money based on nothing. If they decide for the latter, they will lose the support of all the believers in common honesty and property rights who have been deceived into favoring free coinage. If they go against fiat paper money, they will lose the aid of the Populists. In either case the cause of sound money will gain.

The Safe Basis For Silver Coinage.

A sign that the silverites are beginning to realize that free coinage at 16 to 1 is an impossibility is found in the demand by some silver organs for the coinage at that ratio of all silver produced in the United States. But this scheme is just as absurd as the proposal to open our mints to the world's stores of silver. No tariff would be able to keep foreign silver out of this country if it was valued here at a higher rate than its commercial value. Even though the importation of bullion was prohibited, it would be easy to bring in silver tableware, etc., which would be melted down. The idea of coining all United States silver will not stand examination. The only safe basis is to coin as much as can be maintained at a parity with gold. As soon as our supply of the latter metal increases to a proper amount we may venture to coin more silver. But not till then.

Want Silver Monometallism.

Some of the silverites are profuse in their protests that they only want bimetallism and do not wish to cease using gold as a standard of values or to drive it out of circulation. But it is only necessary to read the papers and speeches in which the free coinage doctrine is preached to see that, while pretending to favor using gold, they really want silver alone. The wholesale denunciation of gold as "money of the rich," as "a standard which robs debtors for the benefit of creditors," etc., shows that it is not merely love of silver, but hatred of gold, which inspires these attacks. Why not be honest, Messrs. Silverites, and admit that in advocating a policy which, on the confession of that eminent bimetallist, President E. B. Andrews, "would drive all our gold out of the country," you are working for the silver standard?

Many of our readers knew Dr. J. J. D. Renfroe and will regret to learn that his last son, the brother of Mrs Jno. R. Sampey, died last week at Woodlawn.

Mrs. Spiver of Montgomery is on trial charged with poisoning her husband.

WHICH IS RIGHT?

Two Assertions of the Silverites That Are Sadly Conflicting.

The two legs on which the free silver argument lamely limps are two assertions which flatly contradict each other. The first is the statement that with free coinage at 16 to 1 the commercial value of silver will advance until 16 ounces of silver will equal in value one ounce of gold. This claim is backed up by the oft repeated charge that it was the alleged demonetization of silver in 1873 which caused the value of that metal to fall, and it is urged that free coinage would at once restore its old value.

The second assertion of the silverites is their claim that free coinage would stop the fall in prices which they all insist is due to our financial policy. They have won the support of the farmers solely because they denounced our present currency system as one which makes money scarce and dear and have promised that free coinage will make money cheap and plentiful. In fact, their very strongest plea for unlimited silver is their claim that it would double the prices of farm products by measuring them in cheaper money. And if it would not do so it certainly could not help the farmer.

Here then are the plain statements of the silverites:

Free coinage will increase the value of silver so that it will be twice as dear as it is now. Putting the government's stamp "One Dollar," on 412½ grains of silver will make it equal in value to 25 4-5 grains of gold.	Free coinage will double the prices of all products by measuring them in the cheaper and more plentiful metal and will enable debtors to pay their debts with one-half of the goods they would have to give now.

Which is right?

Rhyme of the Ancient Populist.

It was an ancient Populist,
His beard was long and gray,
And punctuated by his fist
He had his little say:
"This is the age of gold," he said.
"'Tis gold for butter, gold for bread,
Gold for bonds and gold for fun,
Gold for all things 'neath the sun."
Then with a smile
He shook his head.
"Just wait awhile,"
He slyly said.
"When we get in and run the state,
We'll tackle gold; we'll legislate.
We'll pass an act
And make a fact
By which these goldbugs will be whacked
Till they're as cold
As is their gold.
We're going to make a statute law by which
'twill be decreed
That standards are abolished, for a standard favors greed.
This is the country of the free, and free this land shall be
As soon as we, the 'people,' have our oppor tunity,
And he who has to pay a bill
Can pay in what'er suits his will.
The tailor? Let him take his coats
And pay his notes,
Or if perchance
He's long on pants
Let trousers be
His £. s. d.
The baker? Let his landlord take
His rent in cake
Or anything the man can bake,
And if a plumber wants a crumb
He may unto the baker come
And plumb.
A joker needing hats or cloaks
Can go and pay for them with jokes,
And so on. What a fellow's got
Shall pay for things that he has not.
If beggars' rags were cash, you'd see
No longer any beggary.
In short, there'd be no poverty."
"A splendid scheme," quoth I.
"But stay!
What of the nation's credit, pray?"
"Ha, ha! Ho, ho!" he loudly roared.
"We'll leave that problem to the Lord.
And if he fails to keep us straight
Once more we'll have to legislate
And so create,
Confounding greed,
As much of credit as we need."

—John Kendrick Bangs in Harper's Weekly.

Commissioner Lane calls the Governor's attention to the fact that the so-called agricultural schools are not doing their duty in teaching agricultural. He is correct, if these schools are going to be simply high schools then the state should allow the communities most interested to take care of them.

DO YOU WANT TO STOP TOBACCO?

You can be Cured While Using It.

The habit of using tobacco grows on a man until grave diseased conditions are produced. Tobacco causes cancer of the mouth and stomach; dyspepsia; loss of memory; nervous affections; congestion of the retina, and wasting of the optic nerve, resulting in impairment of vision, even to the extent of blindness; dizziness, or vertigo; tobacco asthma; nightly suffocation; dull pain in the region of the heart, followed later by sharp pains, palpitation and weakened pulse, resulting in fatal heart disease.

It causes loss of vitality.

QUIT BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE.

To quit suddenly is too severe a shock to the system, as tobacco—to an inveterate user, becomes a stimulant that his continually craves. "BACO-CURO" is a scientific and reliable vegetable remedy which has been use for the last 25 years having cured thousands of habitual tobacco users—smokers, chewers and snuff dipppers.

YOU CAN USE ALL THE TOBACCO YOU WANT, WHILE TAKING "BACO-CURO," IT WILL NOTIFY YOU WHEN TO STOP. WE GIVE A WRITEN GUARANTEE to permanently cure any case with three boxes, refund the money with 10 per cent interest.

"BACO CURO" is not a substitute, but a reliable and scientific cure—which absolutely destoys the craving for tobacco without the aid of will power, and with no inconvenience. It leaves the system as pure and free from nicotine as the day you took your first chew or smoke.

Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per box, three boxes, thirty days treatment and GAURATEED CURE, $2.50, or sent direct upon receipt of price. SEND SIX TWO CENT STAMPS FOR SAMPLE BOX, BOOKLET and PROOFS FREE. Eureka Chemical & Manufacturing Company, Manufacturing Chemists, La Crosse Wisconsin.

POCKET ELECTROPOISE

Rev. Robert B. Morrow, of Oxford, Ala., Declares That it Has Never Failed When Used as Directed.

I have had one of your Pocket Electropoises in my family for more than two years. I have used it for a great many different ills, and carefully noted the results. I have never seen it used as directed without great benefit. I purchased the Poise at first for my wife, who has suffered with dyspepsia all her life, sometimes spiting up every meal for months. She is now entirely free from this evil, has not spit up her food from dyspepsia for two years.

There may be those who have faithfully used the Poise and received no benefit; but in my family for two years it has done all you promised for it. Yours sincerely

Mr. M. M. Durbin is ahead on tomatoes. He brought one to the View that weighed one and a half pounds. He informed us that he is about half through thrashing oats. He has put up 100 dozen, bundles fed three head of mules and two milch cows off the patch ever since they begun to turn, and has thrashed 90 bushels. That is good farming and shows what Kitchcon land can make. Mr. Durbin has only 80 acres in cotton and 75 in corn. With a few more rains he expects to make 80 bales cotton and 1000 bushels of corn, and meat accordingly.

RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas: God in his Providence, has seen fit to remove from us our dearly beloved brother, J. P. Messey, a consistent and worthy member of the Baptist church, an earnest conscientious teacher and worker in the Sabbath School, and a young man of noble Christian influences; and,

Whereas: While we sustain great loss in his death, and mourn his departure we are comforted when we remember that our momentary loss is his eternal gain. Therefore be it

Resolved: That we bow in humble submission to Him who doeth all things well, and

That we follow his example in this: that we "Watch and pray, for we know not at what hour our Lord cometh;" and,

That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our minutes, a copy furnished the parents of deceased, and a copy furnished the Chilton View and Banner for publication.

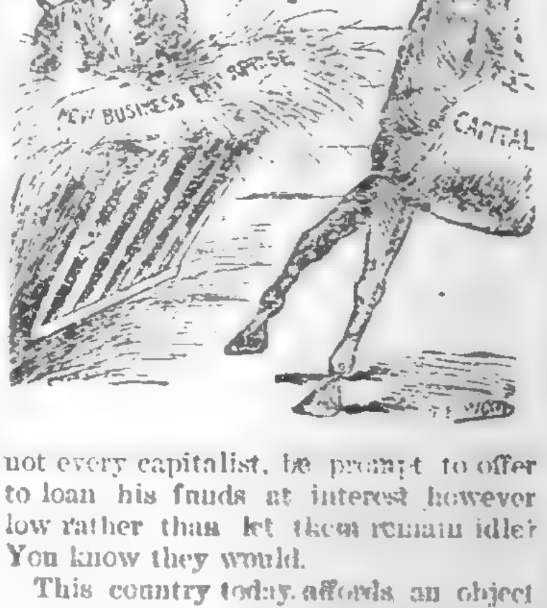
SCARING CAPITAL AWAY.

That's What Free Silver Agitation Is Doing at the Present Time.

Business activity depends in large measure upon a low rate of interest, which is the most conclusive proof of plenty of money to be loaned. If I can get capital at 4 per cent a year, I can build a factory and employ hands and carry on an industry successfully and with profit to myself. Where if I had to pay 6 or 7 per cent for the money or could not borrow it at all I might be unable to do so and the factory would remain unbuilt and the labor unemployed. How are we to have interest cheap and money abundant? Capitalists are no worse than other men. But they are no better. They are just like yourselves. What would you do? Supposing that there were a lot of men who advocated the passage of a law that after you had loaned out money on gold values would force you to accept silver values in return. Would you be in a hurry to lend money? Would you not rather keep it locked up in a trust company or else loan it only at high interest and for short terms? Of course you would. And then if this agitation stopped and every one became satisfied that there would be no interference with the standard of values, and that capital when loaned out would be safe and would be repaid in money as good as loaned, would not you, would not every capitalist, be prompt to offer to loan his funds at interest however low rather than let them remain idle? You know they would.



This country today affords an object lesson of this. In those parts of the country where the people believe that our currency is safe, and that no change in its standard is likely to take place, plenty of money can be had at 4 and 5 per cent, while in those parts of the country in which the people are confident that free coinage legislation will be had, and that a loan made for any long time ahead may be repaid in depreciated silver, there is scarcely a place where you can borrow money on very long time at all or even short time at less rates than 6 or 8 per cent. Free silver would not add a dollar to the real wealth of the west or south. But the apprehension of it has kept from those sections of the country the millions upon millions of capital that, had they been invested there, might have made such prosperity as the world has not seen since the sun shone upon Eden.—Hon. John De Witt Warner

FOR FREE SILVER FIRST.

The Tramp Was Ambitious, but He Wanted Something to Sell.

The prominent citizen of an interior town took a good look at the tramp who applied to him for assistance, and then said, "You would like to have me do something that would permanently better your condition, wouldn't you?"

"That's it, boss," replied the tramp.

"I knew it!" exclaimed the prominent citizen. "As a class you have been maligned. You are not seeking the nickels and dimes merely. You have higher aims. You have ambitions."

"Right you are, boss. If you'd stake me to a hundred now"—

"I'll do better than that," said the philanthropist. "I'll try this Detroit free land idea. You shall have a couple of acres to start with."

"Seems 'most too good to be true, boss," exclaimed the tramp. "What kin I sell it for?"

"Sell it! Sell it! You can't sell it."

"Then 'tain't no good to me," returned the tramp.

"Why, certainly it is. You can work it—raise vegetables and all that, you know, and make yourself self supporting."

"Work it?"

"Certainly!"

"Work?"

"Of course."

"I reckon we'd better part right here," said the tramp. "I ain't never worked nothin but a man. I'm ambitious all right, an if you've got anything I kin hock for the price of a beer I'm your horseshoe, but you can't catch me on no free land deal. I'm for free silver first."—Chicago Post.

A Dollar We Want.

What we want, says an exchange, is a dollar easy to get and hard to let go; a dollar that will pay $4 worth of debts and then come back by means of a string attachment; a dollar that snuggles easy in the socks of John Smith, but withers like the manna of old in a safe of a railroad president; a dollar that will buy some flour while it buys much whisky and tobacco; a dollar that is above drawing interest and yet will double itself while the owner sits in the shade and spits at a crack in the pavement; a dollar that will circulate without depreciation, will buy shoes for baby while it buys fun for a man in places where he can't take his wife; a dollar that will surely repair the waste of sloth, appetite and bad judgment; a dollar that comes to the lap of indolence like worms to the craw of a fatherless robin; a dollar that will remove the sentence pronounced upon Adam, reverse the order of nature and transform the nature of man.—Maysville (Ky.) CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria," and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offence?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. is on every wrapper.

Children's Clothing.

None of the clothing worn by children should bind any portion of the body so that it will not have perfectly free action.

The fashion of pinning a baby's legs in a bowknot in its "pinning blanket" is the cause of weakkneed, bow-legged children, and the whipping post would be fair penance for such gross ignorance on the part of parents. The child whose limbs are free to exercise and kick will have a fair chance at growing vigorous, even though handicapped by hereditary defects.

The minute a baby shows a desire to "kick out of its clothes," as some mothers complain, take off its long, heavy skirts and put it in dresses where its legs will have a chance to assert themselves, but keep your floors warm and clean for the child to tumble about in its own way, and it will get over its crossness and probably grow up with moderately straight legs.—Exchange.

Circulation of the Blood.

In about twenty-two seconds a drop of blood goes the round of the body. In about every two minutes the entire blood in the body makes the round through the right side of the heart, the lungs, to the left side of the heart, through the arteries, the veins, again to the heart.—Health Magazine.

Thousands of women, especially in the spring of the year, are nervous, tired, have headache, sick stomach, fainting spells, dizziness, scanty or profuse menses, weak back, constipation; their sides, shoulders and limbs ache constantly in fact, they suffer from general debility of the whole system. The superior tonic qualities of McElree's Wine of Cardui make it the leading remedy for this class of troubles.

Mrs. P. C. Adams, Chattoogaville, Ga., writes: "Two years ago I was taken sick with indigestion, fainting spells, constipation, falling of the womb, and various other symptoms, and kept getting worse and worse. After taking four bottles of McElree's Wine of Cardui in connection with Thedford's Black-Draught tea I am able to do any kind of work that a woman can do."

D. L. Coker, Calvina, Fla., says: "McElree's Wine of Cardui has brought rosy cheeks back to one of my cousins after she was given up to die by two of the best physicians.

A JOINT DEBATE

BETWEEN HARVEY AND HORR ON THE FINANCIAL QUESTION.

The Novel Contest to Last Eight Days, Sundays Excepted.

The discussion of the silver question between W. H. Harvey, author of Coin's Financial School, and Hon. Rowsell G. Horr, of New York, which is to continue eight days, was begun at Chicago Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Illinois Club. The disputants will take the affirmative and negative at pleasure, and neither will talk longer than ten minutes at any one time, the discussion thus being a running fight at close range. The judges are ex-Solicitor General of the United States Charles H. Aldrich and Hon. Henry Miller.

The privilege of being present at this momentous contest was accorded to few. There were seats for about 200 persons in the assembly room of the club house, but only a little over half that number were present.

Congressman J. C. Sibley, of Pennsylvania, a leader of the free silver forces in the east, occupied a prominent seat. He will remain during the debate, unless business engagements prevent. A prominent advocate of the gold standard was A. B. Humphrey, secretary of the National League of Republican Clubs. Others present were: W. W. Meagher, of the bimetallic league; Lyman J. Gage, referee for Mr. Horr; Fred W. Peck and A. H. Revell, of Chicago; L. G. Powers, of St. Paul; Dr. S. A. Robinson, of New York, and Charles A. Sergel, of Chicago. The last three acted as advisers to Mr. Horr, and sat by his side, taking copious notes while Mr. Harvey spoke.

Mr. Harvey consulted little with anybody. He brought with him a great pile of authorities for the purpose of substantiating statements made in his book, to which he frequently referred.

A man with a watch sat near the speakers, and whenever one had spoken eight minutes he would tap loudly on a call bell. This notified the speaker that he had two minutes more to conclude his statement. By these stages of ten minutes each the speakers will proceed for eight days, using only the afternoons and resting Sundays.

Rules of the Debate.

Dr. Homer Thomas, president of the Illinois Club, called the assemblage to order, briefly setting forth the objects of the debate. He introduced Hon. H. G. Miller and ex-Judge William A. Vincent, both of Chicago, who, he said, would be judges, and at the conclusion of the controversy decide which had the best of the novel debate.

Mr. Miller then read the rules which are to govern. It was, he said, the intention of the speakers to deliver altogether 140,000 words. Of these, 5,000 are to be reserved for use at the end of the discussion. This will give each a chance to recapitulate his argument in 2,500 words. Three hundred words additional will be allowed each contestant as a rejoinder to his adversary's closing argument. Mr. Miller stated that the whole discussion was copyrighted and that, while it would be given the widest publicity through the press, it was the intention of the principals to preserve the debate as private property and issue it in book form.

The debate was started by Mr. Horr, who referred to the author of "Coin's Financial School" with some severity. He said he never read a book making so many misstatements.

Mr. Harvey, in his opening statement, contented himself with a presentation of his plan of campaign and told what he would prove.

Mr. Horr wanted to know why the names of prominent citizens had been used in Mr. Harvey's book, and words put into their mouths that they had never used, to which Mr. Harvey replied his book was simply an allegory and the fact that a little boy was put in as teacher ought to be enough to prove to any sensible person that this was so.

Then the speakers plunged at once into the thick of the fight. The argument at all times was very spirited, and both speakers had hard work to preserve their tempers.

THE LONG FIGHT ENDED.

And the Mergenthaler Company Gets the Rogers Patents.

A deal of great magnitude was completed at Detroit, Mich., when Don M. Dickinson, representing the Mergenthaler Linotype Company, paid to Colonel Frank J. Hecker, in one check, the sum of $415,000, which gave to the Mergenthaler people all rights, title and interest of every name and nature in the patents in the machine of the Rogers Typograph Company. This deal ends a long and hard-fought legal battle, which lasted for many years. This deal will have no effect on the users of the Rogers machines. All the indebtedness of the Rogers company will be paid out of the money, and the stockholders will receive the balance, amounting to about 10 cents on the dollar.

Deeded to the Southern.

The formal transfer of the Atlanta and Florida to the Southern railway was made a few days ago in the superior court clerk's office at Atlanta. There a deed from Mr. G. T. Palmer and Mr. John W. Grant as commissioners from the United States court of all the property of the road to the Central Trust Company, of New York, was filed for record. At the same time a deed from the Central Trust Company to the Southern Railway Company for $275,000 was filed for record.

IT is a significant sign of the times when a grandmotherly little old lady boasts of being a feminine nimrod. That is, however, what Mrs. Wallihan, of Colorado, a white-haired, gentle little woman, well past middle life, can claim to be. She is a deer-slayer of renown. Thirty-two deer have fallen before her fire and she enjoys deer stalking with her husband as much as the ordinary white-haired old lady enjoys sitting before the fire with her consort and reading the religious weekly.

GROVER ON MATRIMONY.

His Married Life Has Been One "Grand, Sweet Song."

A letter from President Cleveland, in which he speaks of his married life as one "Grand, Sweet Song" has been brought to light by the news of the recent tender event at Gray Gables.

In December, 1890, Colonel John Temple Graves, the southern orator, was sending out invitations to his approaching wedding. He sent one to his best friends, the ex-president and Mrs. Cleveland, who were then residing in New York. Acknowledging the receipt of the invitation, Mr. Cleveland wrote as follows:

"My Dear Mr. Graves—We received the card of invitation to your wedding a day or two ago, and I am glad that your letter received only a few hours ago, justifies me, on behalf of my dear wife and myself, to do more than formally notice the occasion.

"And first of all, let me assure you how much we appreciate the kind and touching sentiment you convey to us in our married state. As I look back upon the years that have passed since God, in His infinite goodness bestowed upon me the best of all gifts—a loving and affectionate wife—all else, honor, the opportunity of usefulness and the esteem of my fellow countrymen are subordinated in every aspiration of gratitude and thankfulness.

"You are not wrong, therefore, when you claim, in the atmosphere of fast coming bliss which now surround you, kinship with one who can testify with unreserved tenderness to the sanctification which comes to man when heaven-directed love leads the way to marriage.

"Since this tender theme has made us kinsmen, let me wish for you and the dear one who is to make your life doubly dear to you, all the joy and happiness vouchsafed to man.

"You will, I know, feel that our kind wishes can reach no greater sincerity and force than when my wife joins me in the fervent desire that you and your bride may enter upon and enjoy the same felicity which has made our married life 'one grand, sweet song.' Very truly your friend,

"GROVER CLEVELAND.

Colonel Graves has kept the letter in a white and gold frame, hanging in his parlor, at Manchester. Two years ago he wrote to President Cleveland for permission to publish the letter, for its influence upon the domestic life of the American people. Mr. Cleveland, replying, said that although he had forgotten the verbiage of the letter, he left the publication to the "delicacy and discretion" of his friend.

CRITICISES TAMSEN.

It Would Have Pleased the Grand Jury to Indict Him.

The United States grand jury at New York Tuesday afternoon handed in to Judge Lacombe its presentment in regard to the escape of the post-office thieves, Russell, Allen and Killoran, from the Ludlow street jail. The grand jury severely criticised Sheriff Tamsen, Warden Raabe and Keepers Schoen and Schneer. Judge Lacombe in his charge to the grand jury said practically that, while the grand jury could censure anybody for negligence in connection with the escape, yet the laws were so framed that unless it found that the keepers or sheriff voluntarily allowed the prisoners to escape it could not find an indictment against any person.

SIXTY-SIX MAJORITY.

Prohibitionists are Successful in Spalding County.

The returns of the prohibition election in Spalding county as consolidated are as follows: Votes polled, 1,288; for the sale, 611; against, 677, giving a majority of 66 to the prohibitionists.

The election was the closest ever held in Spalding county, and the result was a surprise to both sides. The wets were over-confident, and the drys worked like beavers.

If the election stands the barrooms will close on the 1st of January, and under the terms of a special law for the county, another election on this question cannot be had for four years. There is a great deal of determined feeling over the result.

WILL SHUT DOWN

Unless the Striking Weavers Return to Work at Present Wages.

The issue in the fight between the Philadelphia manufacturers and their striking ingrain carpet weavers, is now clearly defined. The men have refused the proposition of the manufacturers to continue work at the present rate of wages until December 1st, when the asked for increase of 7½ per cent would be granted, and the manufacturers are equally determined not to accede to the demand for an increase at once. Thomas Bromley, Jr., secretary of the manufacturers' committee, said that if the men did not return to work at present wages the manufacturers would shut their mills down.

PLACED UNDER THE BAN.

Satolli Gives Notice That the Edict Must be Observed.

Catholic members of the Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows and Sons of Temperance have been authoritatively placed under the ban of the Roman Catholic church by a published order, which went into effect last Sunday and was read from all the pulpits of that church in the Chicago diocese. Archbishop Feehan has been notified by Monsignor Satolli, the papal delegate, that the edict is to be observed to the strictest letter. It affects some eight thousand Knights of Pythias and several thousand Odd Fellows and Sons of Temperance.

Will Readjust the Wage Schedule.

The operatives of the Beoli and Fitchburg Worsted Company's mills, at Fitchburg, Mass., have received the following notice: "On July 29th the schedule of wages in this mill will be readjusted and advances made as far as the condition of business will admit." The advance will affect 600 or more operatives, and had suffered a reduction since the hard times began.

Colors Among Flowers.

Yellow and white. Botanists are agreed that the earliest petals were yellow, and that, originally, all flowers were of that color. The order of development of color in flowers appears to be yellow, pink, red, purple, lilac, up to deep blue—probably the highest level—while white may occur in any normally colored flower, just as albinos are found among animals. As flowers become more specialized, they become more dependent upon the visits of special insects, purple and blue flowers, for instance, benefitting most from, and being most preferred by bees and butterflies. A French authority states that about 4200 species of plants are utilized for various purposes in Europe. Of these only about one-tenth have an agreeable perfume, the others being either inodorous or having an unpleasant smell. White flowers are the most numerous. One thousand one hundred and twenty-four species out of 4200 are white, and 187 of these have a scent; 931 (77 perfumed) are yellow; next in order comes red, with 823, of which 84 give forth a perfume; then blue, 594 (34 scented), and violet, 308, only 13 of which have any perfume. The remaining 490 kinds are of various shades of color, and only 28 of them have a pleasant smell.—Boston Standard.

Converting Salt Water Into Fresh.

A curious property of the trunks of trees has been discovered, that of retaining the salt of sea water which has been filtered through the trunk in the direction of the fibres. In an apparatus, specially adapted to ship use, water is pumped from the sea into a reservoir and then forced through the filter formed by the tree trunk. When the required pressure is reached, about two atmospheres, the water makes its exit at the other extremity in a fine stream, and is said to be free from every particle of saline taste. The tree trunk used measured fifteen feet in length by six inches in diameter. Some trees are better adapted to the purpose than others.—Boston Journal of Commerce.

Renewing Steel Rails.

Instead of consigning worn out steel rails to the scrap heap, as heretofore, a process has been patented and put in successful operation for re-rolling them. The method consists in heating the old rail below the decarbonizing point and then replacing the displaced steel. The rails are necessarily elongated in the rolling process, but this does not seem to be a disadvantage. It is claimed that with proper heating the steel is even of an improved quality.—Railroad Gazette.

What a Government Costs.

In 1870 the total ordinary expenditures of the United States government amounted to $309,653,551. Of this $28,340,202 was paid out for pensions, and $129,235,498 on interest on the public debt. Combined, these two items of expense amounted to $157,575,700, leaving for all other expenses $152,077,861, or about $3.85 per capita.

In 1880 the total was $267,642,958, the amount paid for pensions having increased to $56,777,174, and the amount paid in interest on the public debt having decreased to $95,757,575, leaving $115,108,209, or only $2.15 per capita.

In 1890, out of a total of $318,040,711, the sum of $106,936,855 was paid for pensions, and $36,099,284 for interest, leaving $173,004,572, or $2.80 for other expenses. This was one of the years of the billion dollar congress, and this fact accounts for the increased expenditures per capita over 1880.

In 1893 the pension expenses were heaviest, amounting to $159,357,558. In interest the amount of $27,264,392 was paid, making for the two a total of $186,621,950, out of a total of $383,477,950. Thus we see that for years the two items of expense caused by the war have made about half of the total expenditures of the government.

Both of these items of expense will probably steadily decrease hereafter, probably declining as much as ten per cent each year. The appropriation for pensions was more than $15,000,000 less in 1894 than in 1893, and while the interest was about a half million more, this was exceptional. The debt is gradually being decreased, and when bonds retired are replaced by others, it is at a lower rate of interest.

Thus, with increasing population and decreasing expenditures, it is easy to see that our government ought to be administered at a smaller cost per capita every year, and will be unless congress squanders in other lines the money that will be saved by the natural decrease of pension and interest payments.

Kissing Mother.

A father talking to his careless daughter said: "I want to speak to you of your mother. It may be that you noticed a care-worn look upon her face. Of course it has not been brought there by any act of yours, still it is your duty to chase it away. I want you to get up tomorrow morning and get breakfast. When your mother comes and begins to express her surprise, go right up to her and kiss her on the mouth. You can't imagine how it will brighten her dear face.

"Besides, you owe her a kiss or two. Away back, when you were a little girl, she kissed you when no one else was tempted by your fever tainted breath and swollen face. You were not as attractive then as you are now. Through years of childish sunshine and shadows she was always ready to cure, by the magic of a mother's kiss, the little, dirty, chubby hands whenever they were injured in those first skirmishes with the rough old world."

The Grave of Lincoln's Mother.

The grave of Nancy Hanks Lincoln, the mother of President Lincoln, at Rockport, Indiana, was decorated on July 4 by women of Perry, Spencer and Warwick counties. It is enclosed by an iron fence, and is marked by a simple, plain headstone, on which is inscribed; "Nancy Hanks Lincoln, Mother of the Martyred President. Died November 5, 1818, aged 35 years."

Intoxication From Tea.

Although Cowper speaks of "the cups that cheer, but not inebriate," there is evidence of the intoxicating power of tea. In China tea is rarely used till it is a year old because of the peculiar intoxicating property which new tea posses. Three or four grains of theine are contained in less than half an ounce of good tea and may be taken in a day by most full grown persons without unpleasant effects, but if twice this quantity, or eight grains, a day be taken the pulse becomes more frequent, the heart beats more strongly and trembling comes on. At the same time the agitation is excited, and after awhile the thoughts wander, visions begin to be seen, and a peculiar state of intoxication comes on. All these symptoms are followed by and pass off in a deep sleep.

Whether the tannin in tea contributes in any degree to its exhilarating or narcotic action is not known. That it does aid in the exhilarating effect which tea produces is rendered very probable by the fact that a species of tannin is the principle ingredient in the Indian betel nut, which is so much prized in the east and which is said to produce a mild and agreeable intoxication. Mate or Paraguay tea, prepared from the leaves of the Brazilian holly in the state in which it is commonly used for a stimulating beverage, also intoxicates.—Baltimore American.

A Revised Version.

Doctor—I would advise you, dear madam, to take frequent baths, plenty of fresh air and dress in cool gowns.

Husband (an hour later)—What did the doctor say?

Wife—He said I ought to go to a watering place, and afterwards to the mountains, and to get some new light gowns at once.—Fliegende Blatter.

He Was Courteous.

"Yes," remarked the young man as he pulled himself together after his hasty exit, "I must say that old Crispin has a rather disagreeable temper, but he's a real gentleman for all that. Few men would be so thoughtful and so courteous as to wipe the mud off their boots before kicking a fellow out of the house!"—Boston Transcript.

You can carry the little vial of Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets right in the vest-pocket of your dress suit, and it will not make even a little lump. The "Pellets" are so small that 42 to 44 of them go in a vial scarcely more than an inch long, and as big round as a lead pencil. They cure constipation.

One "Pellet" is a laxative; two a mild cathartic. One taken after dinner will stimulate digestive action and palliate the effects of over-eating. They act with gentle efficiency on stomach, liver and bowels. They don't do the work themselves. They simply stimulate the natural action of the organs themselves.

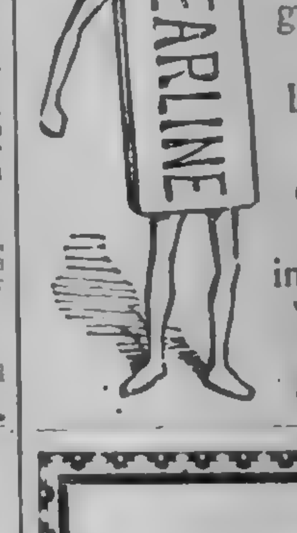
USE NO SOAP



with Pearline. 'Twould be absurd. It isn't necessary. Pearline contains everything of a soapy nature that's needed or that's good to go with it. And Pearline is so much better than soap that it has the work all done before the soap begins to take any part.

You're simply throwing away money. It's a clear waste of soap—and soap may be good for something, though it isn't much use in washing and cleaning, when Pearline's around.

What an amazing thing, exclaims the New York Tribune, that a hundred and thirty-seven members of the British House of Commons could be found willing to put themselves on record as opposed to giving Oliver Cromwell a memorial among those of the other rulers of England! And the man who hustles around to meet the premium on his meagre $10,000 is forced to marvel thereat, admits the New York World.

The newspaper accounts of the experiences of the survivors of the wrecked Pacific mail steamship Colima satisfy the ordinary taste for romantic horror. One Mexican who reached a raft went crazy from drinking salt water. Three men found themselves afloat on a part of the cabin roof, and managed to drag on it a keg of claret which drifted near them. After long efforts the keg was opened, and two of the shipwrecked men drank of its contents until they were brutally drunk. One went to sleep, but the other quarreled and finally fought with his sober companion. They struggled there until the intoxicated man was knocked overboard. His antagonist pulled him back to the rude raft. The combativeness was knocked out of him by his cold plunge, but he continued to drink the wine until he fell into the sea. This time there was no help for him, and he was drowned. When the other drunken man awoke he heeded the warning of the wretch's example and drank only sparingly. The two were at last rescued. There is much fiction far less exciting than this narrative, comments the New York Times.

Sayings and Doings of the Official Heads of the Government.

Thursday's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance, $191,211,193; gold reserve, $105,604,123.

An amicable agreement has been reached between the immigration bureau of the treasury department and the Plant Steamship Company, and the seven cigar makers ordered deported from Tampa, Fla., have been returned to Havana.

Cadet appointments to the United States Military Academy have been issued to Herbert Flynn, Morriston, Ind.; William C. Winans, alternate, Brookville, Ind.; Frank E. Davis, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Howard Long, alternate, Angola, Ind.; Francis Coward, alternate, Charleston, S. C.

Commissioner of Indian affairs Browning has forwarded a dispatch to Agent Teter at the Fort Hall, Idaho, agency, instructing him to order the Indians now on the warpath to return to their reservations quietly and peacefully before the military detachment ordered to the scene reaches there.

Secretary Herbert has disposed of all matters requiring his immediate attention and will at once begin his vacation, turning the navy department over to the care of Assistant Secretary McAdoo. He will leave Washington on the dispatch boat Dolphin for a tour of inspection on the Atlantic coast. He will be accompanied by his son and Lieutenant Reamey, his naval aide. While away he will visit New York, the Newport torpedo station, New London, Boston and Portsmouth. He will also see the president at Gray Gables.

Acting Secretary Wike, of the treasury department, has informed the collector of customs at Wilmington, N. C., that Passed Assistant Surgeon J. M. Eager, United States marine hospital service, has been ordered to assume command of the quarantine service for the port of South Port, N. C., preliminary to opening a permanent station, the work of which is to be begun shortly. All vessels wishing inspection will be required to produce a certificate of pratique, signed by him, before being admitted to entry. Owing to the inadequacy of facilities at Georgetown, S. C., and South Port, N. C., for the proper disinfection of vessels, orders have been issued to the collectors of the ports interested to send infected vessels arriving at either of them to the quarantine stations at Cape Charles or Black Beard island, Sapelo sound.

If reports from Washington are correct, the secretary of the interior has been persuaded that it is his duty to comply with the act of congress and open the Nez Perces Indian reservation to settlement at once. The 1st of August is said to be the date fixed for allowing settlers to enter the lands and take homesteads. The cause for the delay, it is claimed, has been the desire of the secretary to keep in the treasury the $600,000 that congress agreed to pay the Indians as the first installment of the $1,600,000 they are to receive for their rights. The Nez Perces reservation lies on the western border of the state of Idaho, nearly midway between its northern and southern limits. It contains about 500,000 acres of land, most of which is said to be among the choicest in the state.

Internal Revenue Receipts.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Miller has submitted his preliminary report for the fiscal year ended June 17th.

The total receipts from all sources of internal revenue for the year were $143,245,977, a decrease for the fiscal year just ended of $3,922,471 as compared with the year 1894.

The expenses of this bureau for the fiscal year ended June 30th, 1895, will approximate $4,068,253 and deducting this from the disbursements made in connection with the assessment and payment of the bounty on sugar amounting to $10,391, the net cost of collecting will be about $4,037,861. The exact amount expended for the collection of internal revenue cannot be ascertained exactly until all accounts of collectors for the fiscal year are received and adjusted.

The Sugar Planters Cornered.

Representative Adolph Meyer, of Louisiana, called upon Comptroller Bowler at the treasury department Monday afternoon and had a long conference with him regarding the proposed hearing upon the constitutionality of the law directing the payment of certain bounties to sugar producers, which the comptroller has fixed for August 7th. Mr. Meyer stated that the sugar producers of Louisiana, in whose behalf he had made the trip to Washington, were satisfied with the date that the comptroller had fixed for the hearing, and would be there at that time with counsel to present their views. Mr. Meyer stated to a reporter that his visit had no other significance; that the sugar planters knew that Mr. Bowler had $5,000,000 of their money held up in the department and they wanted to know what their chances for getting it were. He had promised to tell them on the 7th proximo or thereabouts and with what they would have to be content with.

Talking for the Bounty.

Senator Blanchard and Senator Caffery and Representative Meyers, of Louisiana, had an extended conference with Attorney General Harmon, Thursday morning, on the local aspect of the cases of the sugar bounty claims now pending before Comptroller Bowler, of the treasury department. It is said that the matter of claims to sugar bounty aggregates only about 140, while the amount of the claims is $5,000,000. Blanchard and Caffery will go to Gray Gables to discuss the subject with the president. The hearing of the case is set for August 7th, and unless Comptroller Bowler announces his decision, no one, of course, knows what it will be, but the impression is strong in official circles that the whole question of the payment of these bounty claims will find its way into the courts for settlement. These claims should not be confused with the beet sugar claims, amounting to only $238,000, although it was upon the payment of the latter that Mr. Bowler originally based his determination to hear argument.

BUSINESS REVIEW.

Bradstreets' Weekly Report of Trade Conditions.

Bradstreet's review of trade for the past week says: "All the previously reported favorable industrial and commercial features are continued this week, the endurance of the revival in demand for iron and steel, the further advances in prices of the same, and additional increase of wages of industrial employes being the most significant.

"Notwithstanding the season of midsummer quiet in some lines of general trade, the volume of general business throughout the country is largely in excess of that one year ago.

"Bank clearing totals recede a little from last week's extraordinary large aggregate, the amount being $1,029,000,000 this week, a falling off of 10 per cent from last week, but an increase of 25 per cent over the total in the like week of 1894.

"But the record of prices is of greater firmness than even that shown by clearings, the only decreases of importance noted being wheat, flour, corn, cotton and lard.

"Merchants at all larger cities are preparing to send out travelers, and until they begin to exhibit results no exact estimate of how fall trade will open can be prepared. At this time the outlook is regarded as highly favorable. At Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore, among eastern cities, noteworthy gains in sales of staples are announced.

"Reports from southern cities show further improvement, gains this week being more marked than in a like period for months before. Country merchants in South Carolina are much encouraged with the crop outlook, as the demand is fair and prices tend upward. Like reports came from Augusta, and in Texas cotton buyers have begun to make their presence felt. Delayed payment of sugar bounties checks trade in the Louisiana sugar districts. The volume of trade is smaller at Jacksonville."

INDIANS AROUSED.

They are Making it Warm for Settlers and Prospectors.

The first advices of an authentic nature from the scene of the Indian troubles in the Jackson Hole region reached Governor Richards, of Wyoming, Tuesday in the shape of telegrams sent by courier from Marysvale, Wyo., to Market Lake, Idaho, from Adjutant General Stitzer, of the governor's staff, who was sent into the region to investigate the troubles between the Indians and the whites. One message reports Indians in force at the junction of Granite creek and Fall river. All passes available by horses are guarded by Indians. Prospectors are being driven in from the mountains and pickets are guarding the various mountain passes. Forces are equipped ready for a march, and everybody is armed."

Another message says that many Indians from Fort Hall are leaving to join those in the mountains. Indians from other reservations are reported joining them. Letters and couriers have been sent out by the Jackson Hole settlers asking for aid, and with those who have responded say they will go into the mountains to meet the Indians at once. Settlers have given up all hopes of saving crops and are preparing to take all women and children out of the region.

Governor Mitchell states that no movement of state troops into the Jackson Hole country will be ordered until further information is received. He has sent word to General Stitzer to report as fully as possible the situation, particularly as to the success being met with by the Indian police in inducing the Bannocks, the only known offenders among the Indians, to return to their reservation.

BLOWN TO ATOMS.

Dynamite Demolishes a Domicile and Five are Killed.

A special from Waco, Texas, says that a frightful tragedy occurred at Mart, a small village in that county, twenty miles distant, in which five negroes were killed and one seriously wounded. Two months ago a dispute arose between A. Phillips, a negro, and Phil Arnold, white, both farmers, in which the latter shot and killed the former and was in turn killed by Phillips's young son. The tragedy above reported is the sequel. Since Mr. Phillips was killed the feeling has been bitter between their friends and each has frequently been threatened with extermination. Early Saturday morning the entire town was aroused by a loud report from the house of the widow of the negro killed by Arnold. A stick of dynamite had been thrown into the building blowing it to pieces and setting fire to the wreck. There were six negroes in the building at the time, five being killed. But one person escaped, and it is thought he will die.

COTTON AND PRICES.

A Bulletin on the Prices of the Staple for One Hundred Years.

The bulletin on "the price of cotton for 100 years," which the department of agriculture has had in course of preparation for some weeks, was issued Wednesday. The period considered begins and ends with two of the most important events in the history of cotton culture, the introduction of Whitney's saw gin (1785), and the production of the largest crop the world has ever seen, 1894-'95.

The highest and lowest average prices, the crops of the United States, the exports to foreign countries, the supply and consumption in the United States Great Britain and continental Europe are given for each year, as well as the chief causes that have led to the rise and fall in prices from year to year.

In addition to a series of tables in which these facts and figures are presented, the bulletin contains numerous data relating to the progress made from time to time in the production and consumption of cotton in this and foreign countries. These are so arranged as to present a brief historical sketch of cotton production and consumption in the United States during the past century.

The tables show that prices of cotton have not been so low during the past season as they were during the decade from 1840 to 1850.

Referring to the conditions of the market and prices in the decade from 1840 to 1850 the bulletin says:

"In 1840 the largest crop ever made up to that time and the largest accumulation of stocks ever witnessed in Liverpool caused a decline to the lowest average for ten years. This was the beginning of the heavy accumulation of stocks in Europe during the next five years, which led to an extraordinary decline in prices. The highest price per pound in New York that decade was 13¼ cents, in 1850, and the lowest 5 cents in 1842 and 1845. Shepperson quoted middling in that year as low as 4 cents.

"In 1842," continued the bulletin, "middling to fair cotton reached as low as 4½ cents in New Orleans, and there is on file in the department of agriculture a letter showing that a Marengo county, Alabama, planter sold this year seventeen bales of cotton in Mobile at 4½ cents. The price Current of the day quotes middling to fair cotton in New Orleans in 1845 as low as 4½ cents and in Mobile the same year 3½ cents per pound."

With a respect to the lustrum ended with 1895 it is shown that the highest price per pound in New York was 10¼ cents in 1891 and the lowest 5 9-16 cents the present year.

A table of the fluctuation in prices shows that in 1825 it amounted to 18 cents per pound, in 1837 to 12½ cents, in 1864 to 1.21, in 1865 to 1.47 and in 1886 to only .86 of a cent, the smallest on record.

A QUESTION OF BULLS.

The Treasury Department Decides Against the Humane Society.

The treasury department at Washington has declined to entertain the protest made by one William Hosea Ballon, vice president of the Humane society, against the admission into this country of bulls and toreadors from Mexico for a bull-fighting exhibition at the Atlanta, Ga., exposition.

The protest claimed that the bulls should be excluded on the ground that they were immoral instruments, and the toreadors on the ground that their admission would violate the contract labor law.

Assistant Secretary Hamlin in reply cites section 10 of the act of August 28, 1894, prohibiting the importation of "any obscene book, pamphlet, drawing, painting, instruments or other articles of immoral nature, etc."

The letter then proceeds:

"I have to inform you that the department is unable to perceive that the importation of bulls for the purpose stated comes within the letter or spirit of the prohibition contained in the provision of law quoted and therefore declines to issue the desired instructions.

"If, as stated, the exhibition of bull fights is prohibited by the laws of Georgia, it is presumed that the authorities of the state will prevent it, but the subject does not appear to come within the jurisdiction of the department."

A HANCOCK STATUE.

Plans on Foot to Erect One at New Orleans.

Initial steps were taken at one of the river resorts just below Washington, D. C., Monday night looking to the erection in New Orleans of a statue to General W. S. Hancock, the hero of Gettysburg. The subject was fully discussed at an excursion given by the Confederate veterans and attended by several hundred Grand Army men as invited guests. Arrangements for this work have been put in the hands of General Heth and a plan will soon be outlined for the raising of a fund among the soldiers who served in the Confederate army.

THEIR CHOICE IS COXEY.

He Will be the Populist Nominee for Governor of Illinois.

A special from Springfield, O., says: "Jacob S. Coxey, the commonweal reformer, will be the populist nominee for governor, according to T. I. Creager, chairman and member of the people's party state executive committee. 'Mr. Coxey is the only man named for the nomination,' explained Mr. Creager. 'Populists with one accord seem to want him for their standard bearer, and he will be nominated by acclamation.' The convention will be held at Columbus September 1st and 2d."

A MULTI-MURDERER

EVIDENCE IS ACCUMULATING AGAINST THE MAN HOLMES.

Bones of Human Skeletons Found Hidden in His House.

A Chicago special says: Not so sensational a find as that of Wednesday was made by the men digging in the basement of the Holmes building Thursday, but it was one which may go much farther towards securing the conviction of the murderer. One of the workmen found in a pile of rubbish a letter signed "H. H. Howard," and dated May 5, 1895. The signature is one of the many aliases used by Holmes and one of the commonest of the lot. This letter is in his well-known handwriting and is addressed to an occupant of the building whom the detective who took possession of the letter before the reporters could get hold of it refused to name. It is believed, however, that the letter is to C. E. Davis, the jeweler who occupies the building with Druggist Robinson.

The letter inquires particularly as to the doing of Janitor Quinlan, and asks where he now is. It then goes on in a jocular manner to discuss the fate of the Williams girls, and asks of the recipient whether he has seen them or their ghosts about the building. Special inquiry is made as to the partitions in the house, and in conclusion the writer expresses the belief that he will not have to stay in jail much longer. It was at first reported that two letters had been found, but Detective Norton, who has charge of the material found in the cellar, denies that this is so. He declares that the two supposed letters were only parts of the same letter.

A new accusation now rests against Holmes that he made away with Miss Cigrands, with whom he lived in the house at Sixty-third and Wallace streets just before he had the Williams girls there. The neighbors remember little of the girl, not even her first name. She was a stately looking blond, about twenty-five years of age, and lived with Holmes something less than six months. When she went away Holmes told Jeweler Davis, as the letter claims, that he had succeeded in "marrying her off." It will be remembered that this is very much like what he told concerning the disappearance of Mrs. Connor. He said at the time that he had married her off in California. Miss Cigrand came to Chicago from Indiana. She associated but little with the neighbors and even the other inmates of the building were in complete ignorance concerning her habits. Holmes was not often seen with her and on those occasions he kept aloof from his acquaintances and introduced her to no one. Mrs. W. L. Doyle, of 747 Sixty-third street, knows more about this girl than anybody else, it is believed, but the Central station officers will not permit her to talk about the case.

The building in which Holmes' Chicago crimes were probably concocted and accomplished will not be pulled down. P. B. Chandler, a broker who holds a mortgage on it for $12,000 advanced to Holmes with which to build, was told by the building inspectors that all that was necessary was to improve the upper portion. This will be done and an order of foreclosure has already been secured from the court and an order will be asked for allowing the improvements to be put on. The property is now worth $40,000. Besides the principal there is $4,000 bank interest and taxes due on it.

A few more bones were found Thursday in the same hole in which those were taken the day before. They were the vertebrae and a portion of a human shoulder blade. The force of men has been doubled, and the work is progressing much faster.

The belief is gaining ground that Holmes' wife, who lives at the suburb of Williamette, knows more of the crimes of her husband than she cares to tell. It is probable that she will be put in the sweat box.

VERDICT AGAINST HOLMES.

Coroner's Jury at Toronto Finds a Verdict Against the Slayer.

The coroner's jury at Toronto, Ont., has returned a verdict of willful murder against H. H. Holmes, who is charged with the killing of the two Pietzel girls.

Coroner Johnson at once issued his warrant for the apprehension of Holmes. This is the first case under the new Canadian criminal code in which intervention of the magistrate's court is unnecessary and the matter will go direct to the attorney general's department. Proceedings will be taken at once to have Holmes extradited.

CYCLONE IN NEW MEXICO.

The Town of Silver City Almost Destroyed--Many Lives Lost.

A terrible cyclone visited New Mexico Monday. The town of Silver City is said to be almost totally destroyed and rumors are rife that thirty people have been killed. The statement of deaths cannot yet be verified as all communication with the town is cut off. Couriers from the surrounding country have gone to get details, but it will be hard for them to reach Silver City, as all bridges have been demolished. An effort is being made to get particulars.

No Queen's Speech.

A special from London is to the effect that parliament will be prorogued on July 24. There will be no queen's speech.

SOUTHERN RIVERS.

What the Government Has Done to Improve Important Streams.

Major Demrell has made his annual report to the chief engineer upon improvements of certain rivers and harbors in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

The report includes a statement of the work done on the harbor at Mobile. It shows that during the past fiscal year $544,414 was expended on the work under the plan entered upon in 1885 for the purpose of securing a depth of 23 feet of water in the river and harbor. The depth at that time was 17 feet and it was estimated that it would cost $2,043,000 to secure the additional six feet with $60,000 more per year for removing fill-in material during the progress of the work. Up to March 2, 1895, $1,993,800 had been appropriated by congress for the present work.

The report on Black Warrior river, Alabama, from Tuscaloosa to Daniel's creek, shows that during the year $61,885 was expended, that three cribs were built, that considerable work was done on the gates for the locks and dams, and that needle dams with iron trestles have been prepared for the three locks to take the place of the wooden wickets at first used which did not prove satisfactory. This work is done under the estimate made in 1885, which placed the total cost at $741,670. Up to date $593,750 has been appropriated.

DURANT ON TRIAL.

His Counsel Makes Application for a Change of Venue.

Theodore Durant's trial on the charge of having murdered Miss Blanche Lamont in Emanuel Baptist church began at San Francisco Monday morning. He was taken from the county jail shortly before 9 o'clock in custody of a deputy sheriff and driven in a buggy to the city hall. The police by this means headed off the crowd.

Durant came into court looking remarkably well, much better than he did at his preliminary examination. The courtroom was filled to overflowing. Judge Murphy opened court precisely at 10 o'clock. Mr. Duprey, of counsel for the defense, commenced the proceedings by making an application for a change of venue, to support which he proceeded to produce a number of affidavits which he desired the court to consider as read and placed on file. Judge Murphy ordered that they be read. The reading was proceeded with. In brief the affidavits state that Durant cannot secure a fair trial in San Francisco, the press of the city having already judged the case and prejudiced the people against the accused man.

FOR SOUND MONEY.

Secretary Smith Delivers an Address at Gainesville.

Secretary Smith delivered a speech on sound money at Gainesville, Ga., Tuesday. Judge Perry introduced the speaker. He said that he thanked God the people had a man with them today to discuss the great issue of the hour; who dared to do right, whatever were the consequences. He referred to the campaign of 1892 when the influence of Tammany hall, which was seeking to force the nomination of David B. Hill, was being wielded against the fearless champion of tariff reform, Grover Cleveland; when the Georgia state convention met there were some men in it who bravely stood for the right, and foremost among them was Hon. Hoke Smith.

Mr. Smith spoke for nearly two hours and when he had concluded with a tribute to President Cleveland, and sat down Judge Perry rose to his feet, and said that in view of the fact that they had just listened to the clearest, closest, most systematic and most satisfactory presentation of the financial question ever heard in the United States or ever printed in the United States, he would move a rising vote of thanks to the secretary of the Interior.

BIG STRIKE IMMINENT.

Miners Will Go Out if Wages are Not Advanced.

Secretary Patrick McBryde, of the United Mine Workers of America, says if the demand at Pittsburg, Pa., for an advance of wages August 1st is not conceded a strike will be the result.

He has received letters from different places requesting that a national suspension be ordered. The Indiana miners are out. He says if the Pittsburg operators grant the advance August 1st a similar advance will be granted in Ohio and Indiana.

If the advance is not conceded and a strike is ordered in Pennsylvania, there can be no question that it will extend to Ohio, and for his own part, says McBryde, he sees nothing of the calling of the different state officials together and the ordering of a general stoppage of work.

WANT NO AMERICAN OIL.

Russia Given a Monopoly of Kerosene Trade in Greece.

A treaty has been concluded between the Grecian and Russian governments by which a fixed import duty has been determined upon for Russian cereals and by which Russia is given the monopoly of the kerosene trade in Greece. It is expected that this will have the effect of driving American petroleum from the Greek market.

THE END OF THE DAY.

There is a quiet hour when day is done
And the blue sky is darkened, gray and cold
And stars come forth unto their nightly watch
When the old sights my eyes once more behold,

There is a dream that oft and oft recurs
Of perfect days that never have been yet
When we shall do the things that make life sweet;
I dream this dream again—again forget.

Scaring Unwelcome Visitors.

During the Franco-German War a couple of hundred Uhlans arrived in a Norman village. One of the peasants hurried to a neighboring hamlet to warn a well-to-do farmer that he might expect a visit from unwelcome raiders. The farmer was equal to the emergency. Calling his wife and daughters, all went to work with a will. Torn quilts, tattered petticoats, dilapidated gowns, were thrown over the backs of the cattle, enveloping them up to their horns, while their feet and their heads were bound with straw.

Then the sheep and goats were treated in the same fashion; bottles of medicine were scattered about; a large trough was filled with water, and in its midst was placed a great syringe. Up came the Uhlans, but at sight of the strangely attired animals and the squirt they hesitated.

At last one of the troopers inquired what was the matter. "The rinderpest," said the farmer. He had to answer no more questions. His visitors turned their horses' heads and galloped off at their best speed to make requisition elsewhere.—Pearson's Weekly.

Great Place for Crabs.

Queenstown, an Eastern Shore village of Maryland on the Chesapeake, recently shipped 6000 soft-shell crabs in a single day, and Queenstown is by no means the most important crab-shipping place on the bay. The bay shore dwellers, after having known for generations the excellence of their marine delicacies, are only now beginning to realize their commercial value. It is said that canvasbacks and terrapin are not so recklessly spread before the chance guest as they used to be before their value in Northern markets became so great.—New York Sun

The newspaper accounts of the experiences of the survivors of the wrecked Pacific mail steamship Colima satisfy the ordinary taste for romantic horror. One Mexican who reached a raft went crazy from drinking salt water. Three men found themselves afloat on a part of the cabin roof, and managed to drag on it a keg of claret which drifted near them. After long efforts the keg was opened, and two of the shipwrecked men drank of its contents until they were brutally drunk. One went to sleep, but the other quarreled and finally fought with his sober companion. They struggled there until the intoxicated man was knocked overboard. His antagonist pulled him back to the rude raft. The combativeness was knocked out of him by his cold plunge, but he continued to drink the wine until he fell into the sea. This time there was no help for him, and he was drowned. When the other drunken man awoke he heeded the warning of the wretch's example and drank only sparingly. The two were at last rescued. There is much fiction far less exciting than this narrative, comments the New York Times.

Sayings and Doings of the Official Heads of the Government.

Thursday's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance, $191,211,193; gold reserve, $105,604,123.

An amicable agreement has been reached between the immigration bureau of the treasury department and the Plant Steamship Company, and the seven cigar makers ordered deported from Tampa, Fla., have been returned to Havana

Cadet appointments to the United States Military Academy have been issued to Herbert Flynn, Morristown, Ind.; William C. Winans, alternate, Brookville, Ind.; Frank E. Davis, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Howard Long, alternate, Angola, Ind.; Francis Coward, alternate, Charleston, S. C.

Commissioner of Indian affairs Browning has forwarded a despatch to Agent Teter at the Fort Hall, Idaho, agency, instructing him to order the Indians now on the warpath to return to their reservations quietly and peacefully before the military detachment ordered to the scene reaches there.

Secretary Herbert has disposed of all matters requiring his immediate attention and will at once begin his vacation, turning the navy department over to the care of Assistant Secretary McAdoo. He will leave Washington on the dispatch boat Dolphin for a tour of inspection on the Atlantic coast. He will be accompanied by his son and Lieutenant Reamey, his naval aide. While away he will visit New York, the Newport torpedo station, New London, Boston and Portsmouth. He will also see the president at Gray Gables.

Acting Secretary Wike, of the treasury department, has informed the collector of customs at Wilmington, N. C., that Passed Assistant Surgeon J. M. Eager, United States marine hospital service, has been ordered to assume command of the quarantine service for the port of South Port, N. C., preliminary to opening a permanent station, the work of which is to be begun shortly. All vessels wishing inspection will be required to produce a certificate of pratique, signed by him, before being admitted to entry. Owing to the inadequacy of facilities at Georgetown, S. C., and South Port, N. C., for the proper disinfection of vessels, orders have been issued to the collectors of the ports interested to send infected vessels arriving at either of them to the quarantine stations at Cape Charles or Black Beard island, Sapelo sound.

If reports from Washington are correct, the secretary of the interior has been persuaded that it is his duty to comply with the act of congress and open the Nez Perces Indian reservation to settlement at once. The 1st of August is said to be the date fixed for allowing settlers to enter the lands and take homesteads. The cause for the delay, it is claimed, has been the desire of the secretary to keep in the treasury the $600,000 that congress agreed to pay the Indians as the first installment of the $1,600,000 they are to receive for their rights. The Nez Perces reservation lies on the western border of the state of Idaho, nearly midway between its northern and southern limits. It contains about 500,000 acres of land, most of which is said to be among the choicest in the state.

Internal Revenue Receipts.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Miller has submitted his preliminary report for the fiscal year ended June 17th.

The total receipts from all sources of internal revenue for the year were $143,245,977, a decrease for the fiscal year just ended of $3,922,471 as compared with the year 1894.

The expenses of this bureau for the fiscal year ended June 30th, 1895, will approximate $4,068,253 and deducting this from the disbursements made in connection with the assessment and payment of the bounty on sugar amounting to $10,391, the net cost of collecting will be about $4,037,861. The exact amount expended for the collection of internal revenue cannot be ascertained exactly until all accounts of collectors for the fiscal year are received and adjusted.

The Sugar Planters Cornered.

Representative Adolph Meyer, of Louisiana, called upon Comptroller Bowler at the treasury department Monday afternoon and had a long conference with him regarding the proposed hearing upon the constitutionality of the law directing the payment of certain bounties to sugar producers, which the comptroller has fixed for August 7th. Mr. Meyer stated that the sugar producers of Louisiana, in whose behalf he had made the trip to Washington, were satisfied with the date that the comptroller had fixed for the hearing, and would be there at that time with counsel to present their views. Mr. Meyer stated to a reporter that his visit had no other significance; that the sugar planters knew that Mr. Bowler had $5,000,000 of their money held up in the department and they wanted to know what their chances for getting it were. He had promised to tell them on the 7th proximo or thereabouts and with what they would have to be content with.

Talking for the Bounty.

Senator Blanchard and Senator Caffery and Representative Meyers, of Louisiana, had an extended conference with Attorney General Harmon, Thursday morning, on the local aspect of the cases of the sugar bounty claims now pending before Comptroller Bowler, of the treasury department. It is said that the matter of claims to sugar bounty aggregates only about 140, while the amount of the claims is $5,000,000. Blanchard and Caffery will go to Gray Gables to discuss the subject with the president. The hearing of the case is set for August 7th, and unless Comptroller Bowler announces his decision, no one, of course, knows what it will be, but the impression is strong in official circles that the whole question of the payment of these bounty claims will find its way into the courts for settlement. These claims should not be confused with the beet sugar claims, amounting to only $238,[illegible], although it was upon the payment of the latter that Mr. Bowler originally based his determination to hear argument.

BUSINESS REVIEW.

Bradstreets' Weekly Report of Trade Conditions.

Bradstreet's review of trade for the past week says: "All the previously reported favorable industrial and commercial features are continued this week, the endurance of the revival in demand for iron and steel, the further advances in prices of the same, and additional increase of wages of industrial employes being the most significant.

"Notwithstanding the season of midsummer quiet in some lines of general trade, the volume of general business throughout the country is largely in excess of that one year ago.

"Bank clearing totals recede a little from last week's extraordinary large aggregate, the amount being $1,029,[illegible],000 this week, a falling off of 10 per cent from last week, but an increase of 25 per cent over the total in the like week of 1894.

"But the record of prices is of greater firmness than even that shown by clearings, the only decreases of importance noted being wheat, flour, corn, cotton and lard.

"Merchants at all larger cities are preparing to send out travelers, and until they begin to exhibit results no exact estimate of how fall trade will open can be prepared. At this time the outlook is regarded as highly favorable. At Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore, among eastern cities, noteworthy gains in sales of staples are announced.

"Reports from southern cities show further improvement, gains this week being more marked than in a like period for months before. Country merchants in South Carolina are much encouraged with the crop outlook, as the demand is fair and prices tend upward. Like reports came from Augusta, and in Texas cotton buyers have begun to make their presence felt. Delayed payment of sugar bounties checks trade in the Louisiana sugar districts. The volume of trade is smaller at Jacksonville."

INDIANS AROUSED.

They are Making it Warm for Settlers and Prospectors.

The first advices of an authentic nature from the scene of the Indian troubles in the Jackson Hole region reached Governor Richards, of Wyoming, Tuesday in the shape of telegrams sent by courier from Marysvale, Wyo., to Market Lake, Idaho, from Adjutant General Stitzer, of the governor's staff, who was sent into the region to investigate the troubles between the Indians and the whites. One message reports Indians in force at the junction of Granite creek and Fall river. All passes available by horses are guarded by Indians. Prospectors are being driven in from the mountains and pickets are guarding the various mountain passes. Forces are equipped ready for a march, and everybody is armed."

Another message says that many Indians from Fort Hall are leaving to join those in the mountains. Indians from other reservations are reported joining them. Letters and couriers have been sent out by the Jackson Hole settlers asking for aid, and with those who have responded say they will go into the mountains to meet the Indians at once. Settlers have given up all hopes of saving crops and are preparing to take all women and children out of the region.

Governor Mitchell states that no movement of state troops into the Jackson Hole country will be ordered until further information is received. He has sent word to General Stitzer to report as fully as possible the situation, particularly as to the success being met with by the Indian police in inducing the Bannocks, the only known offenders among the Indians, to return to their reservation.

BLOWN TO ATOMS.

Dynamite Demolishes a Domicile and Five are Killed.

A special from Waco, Texas, says that a frightful tragedy occurred at Mart, a small village in that county, twenty miles distant, in which five negroes were killed and one seriously wounded. Two months ago a dispute arose between A. Phillips, a negro, and Phil Arnold, white, both farmers, in which the latter shot and killed the former and was in turn killed by Phillips's young son. The tragedy above reported is the sequel. Since Mr. Phillips was killed the feeling has been bitter between their friends and each has frequently been threatened with extermination. Early Saturday morning the entire town was aroused by a loud report from the house of the widow of the negro killed by Arnold. A stick of dynamite had been thrown into the building blowing it to pieces and setting fire to the wreck. There were six negroes in the building at the time, five being killed. But one person escaped, and it is thought he will die.

COTTON AND PRICES.

A Bulletin on the Prices of the Staple for One Hundred Years.

The bulletin on "the price of cotton for 100 years," which the department of agriculture has had in course of preparation for some weeks, was issued Wednesday. The period considered begins and ends with two of the most important events in the history of cotton culture, the introduction of Whitney's saw gin (1785), and the production of the largest crop the world has ever seen, 1894-'95.

The highest and lowest average prices, the crops of the United States, the exports to foreign countries, the supply and consumption in the United States Great Britain and continental Europe are given for each year, as well as the chief causes that have led to the rise and fall in prices from year to year.

In addition to a series of tables in in which these facts and figures are presented, the bulletin contains numerous data relating to the progress made from time to time in the production and consumption of cotton in this and foreign countries. These are so arranged as to present a brief historical sketch of cotton production and consumption in the United States during the past century.

The tables show that prices of cotton have not been so low during the past season as they were during the decade from 1840 to 1850.

Referring to the conditions of the market and prices in the decade from 1840 to 1850 the bulletin says:

"In 1840 the largest crop ever made up to that time and the largest accumulation of stocks ever witnessed in Liverpool caused a decline to the lowest average for ten years. This was the beginning of the heavy accumulation of stocks in Europe during the next five years, which led to an extraordinary decline in prices. The highest price per pound in New York that decade was 13¾ cents, in 1850, and the lowest 5 cents in 1842 and 1845. Shepperson quoted middling in that year as low as 4 cents.

"In 1842," continued the bulletin, "middling to fair cotton reached as low as 4½ cents in New Orleans, and there is on file in the department of agriculture a letter showing that a Marengo county, Alabama, planter sold this year seventeen bales of cotton in Mobile at 4¼ cents. The price Current of the day quotes middling to fair cotton in New Orleans in 1845 as low as 4¾ cents and in Mobile the same year 3¼ cents per pound."

With a respect to the last rum ended with 1895 it is shown that the highest price per pound in New York was 10¼ cents in 1891 and the lowest 5 9-16 cents the present year.

A table of the fluctuation in prices shows that in 1825 it amounted to 18 cents per pound, in 1837 to 12¼ cents, in 1864 to 1.21, in 1865 to 1.47 and in 1886 to only .86 of a cent, the smallest on record.

A QUESTION OF BULLS.

The Treasury Department Decides Against the Humane Society.

The treasury department at Washington has declined to entertain the protest made by one William Hosea Ballou, vice president of the Humane society, against the admission into this country of bulls and toreadors from Mexico for a bull-fighting exhibition at the Atlanta, Ga., exposition.

The protest claimed that the bulls should be excluded on the ground that they were immoral instruments, and the toreadors on the ground that their admission would violate the contract labor law.

Assistant Secretary Hamlin in reply cites section 10 of the act of August 28, 1894, prohibiting the importation of "any obscene book, pamphlet, drawing, painting, instruments or other articles of immoral nature, etc."

The letter then proceeds:

"I have to inform you that the department is unable to perceive that the importation of bulls for the purpose stated comes within the letter or spirit of the prohibition contained in the provision of law quoted and therefore declines to issue the desired instructions.

"If, as stated, the exhibition of bull fights is prohibited by the laws of Georgia, it is presumed that the authorities of the state will prevent if, but the subject does not appear to come within the jurisdiction of the department."

A HANCOCK STATUE.

Plans on Foot to Erect One at New Orleans.

Initial steps were taken at one of the river resorts just below Washington, D. C., Monday night looking to the erection in New Orleans of a statue to General W. S. Hancock, the hero of Gettysburg. The subject was fully discussed at an excursion given by the Confederate veterans and attended by several hundred Grand Army men as invited guests. Arrangements for this work have been put in the hands of General Heth and a plan will soon be outlined for the raising of a fund among the soldiers who served in the Confederate army.

THEIR CHOICE IS COXEY.

He Will be the Populist Nominee for Governor of Illinois.

A special from Springfield, O., says: "Jacob S. Coxey, the commonweal reformer, will be the populist nominee for governor, according to T. I. Creager, chairman and member of the people's party state executive committee. 'Mr. Coxey is the only man named for the nomination,' explained Mr. Creager. 'Populists with one accord seem to want him for their standard bearer, and he will be nominated by acclamation.' The convention will be held at Columbus September 1st and 2d."

A MULTI-MURDERER

EVIDENCE IS ACCUMULATING AGAINST THE MAN HOLMES.

Bones of Human Skeletons Found Hidden in His House.

A Chicago special says: Not so sensational a find as that of Wednesday was made by the men digging in the basement of the Holmes building Thursday, but it was one which may go much farther towards securing the conviction of the murderer. One of the workmen found in a pile of rubbish a letter signed "H. H. Howard," and dated May 5, 1895. The signature is one of the many aliases used by Holmes and one of the commonest of the lot. This letter is in his well-known handwriting and is addressed to an occupant of the building whom the detective who took possession of the letter before the reporters could get hold of it refused to name. It is believed, however, that the letter is to C. E. Davis, the jeweler who occupies the building with Druggist Robinson.

The letter inquires particularly as to the doing of Janitor Quinlan, and asks where he now is. It then goes on in a jocular manner to discuss the fate of the Williams girls, and asks of the recipient whether he has seen them or their ghosts about the building. Special inquiry is made as to the partitions in the house, and in conclusion the writer expresses the belief that he will not have to stay in jail much longer. It was at first reported that two letters had been found, but Detective Norton, who has charge of the material found in the cellar, denies that this is so. He declares that the two supposed letters were only parts of the same letter.

A new accusation now rests against Holmes that he made away with Miss Cigrande, with whom he lived in the house at Sixty-third and Wallace streets just before he had the Williams girls there. The neighbors remember little of the girl, not even her first name. She was a stately looking blond, about twenty-five years of age, and lived with Holmes something less than six months. When she went away Holmes told Jeweler Davis, as the letter claims, that he had succeeded in "marrying her off." It will be remembered that this is very much like what he told concerning the disappearance of Mrs. Connor. He said at the time that he had married her off in California. Miss Cigrand came to Chicago from Indiana. She associated but little with the neighbors and even the other inmates of the building were in complete ignorance concerning her habits. Holmes was not often seen with her and on these occasions he kept aloof from his acquaintances and introduced her to no one. Mrs. W. L. Doyle, of 747 Sixty-third street, knows more about this girl than anybody else, it is believed, but the Central station officers will not permit her to talk about the case.

The building in which Holmes' Chicago crimes were probably concocted and accomplished will not be pulled down. P. R. Chandler, a broker who holds a mortgage on it for $12,000 advanced to Holmes with which to build, was told by the building inspectors that all that was necessary was to improve the upper portion. This will be done and an order of foreclosure has already been secured from the court and an order will be asked for allowing the improvements to be put on. The property is now worth $40,000. Besides the principal there is $4,000 bank interest and taxes due on it.

A few more bones were found Thursday in the same hole in which those were taken the day before. They were the vertebrae and a portion of a human shoulder blade. The force of men has been doubled, and the work is progressing much faster.

The belief is gaining ground that Holmes' wife, who lives at the suburb of Williamette, knows more of the crimes of her husband than she cares to tell. It is probable that she will be put in the sweat box.

VERDICT AGAINST HOLMES.

Coroner's Jury at Toronto Finds a Verdict Against the Slayer.

The coroner's jury at Toronto, Ont., has returned a verdict of willful murder against H. H. Holmes, who is charged with the killing of the two Pietzel girls.

Coroner Johnson at once issued his warrant for the apprehension of Holmes. This is the first case under the new Canadian criminal code in which intervention of the magistrate's court is unnecessary and the matter will go direct to the attorney general's department. Proceedings will be taken at once to have Holmes extradited.

CYCLONE IN NEW MEXICO.

The Town of Silver City Almost Destroyed--Many Lives Lost.

A terrible cyclone visited New Mexico Monday. The town of Silver City is said to be almost totally destroyed and rumors are rife that thirty people have been killed. The statement of deaths cannot yet be verified as all communication with the town is cut off. Couriers from the surrounding country have gone to get details, but it will be hard for them to reach Silver City, as all bridges have been demolished. An effort is being made to get particulars.

No Queen's Speech.

A special from London is to the effect that parliament will be prorogued on July 24. There will be no queen's speech.

SOUTHERN RIVERS.

What the Government Has Done to Improve Important Streams.

Major Demrell has made his annual report to the chief engineer upon improvements of certain rivers and harbors in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

The report includes a statement of the work done on the harbor at Mobile. It shows that during the past fiscal year $544,414 was expended on the work under the plan entered upon in 1885 for the purpose of securing a depth of 23 feet of water in the river and harbor. The depth at that time was 17 feet and it was estimated that it would cost $2,043,000 to secure the additional six feet with $60,000 more per year for removing fill-in material during the progress of the work. Up to March 2, 1895, $1,993,800 had been appropriated by congress for the present work.

The report on Black Warrior river, Alabama, from Tuscaloosa to Daniel's creek, shows that during the year $61,885 was expended, that three cribs were built, that considerable work was done on the gates for the locks and dams, and that needle dams with iron trestles have been prepared for the three locks to take the place of the wooden wickets at first used which did not prove satisfactory. This work is done under the estimate made in 1885, which placed the total cost at $741,670. Up to date $593,750 has been appropriated.

DURANT ON TRIAL.

His Counsel Makes Application for a Change of Venue.

Theodore Durant's trial on the charge of having murdered Miss Blanche Lamont in Emmanuel Baptist church began at San Francisco Monday morning. He was taken from the county jail shortly before 9 o'clock in custody of a deputy sheriff and driven in a buggy to the city hall. The police by this means headed off the crowd.

Durant came into court looking remarkably well, much better than he did at his preliminary examination. The courtroom was filled to overflowing. Judge Murphy opened court precisely at 10 o'clock. Mr. Duprey, of counsel for the defense, commenced the proceedings by making an application for a change of venue, to support which he proceeded to produce a number of affidavits which he desired the court to consider as read and placed on file. Judge Murphy ordered that they be read. The reading was proceeded with. In brief the affidavits state that Durant cannot secure a fair trial in San Francisco, the press of the city having already judged the case and prejudiced the people against the accused man.

FOR SOUND MONEY.

Secretary Smith Delivers an Address at Gainesville.

Secretary Smith delivered a speech on sound money at Gainesville, Ga., Tuesday. Judge Perry introduced the speaker. He said that he thanked God the people had a man with them today to discuss the great issue of the hour, who dared to do right, whatever were the consequences. He referred to the campaign of 1892 when the influence of Tammany hall, which was seeking to force the nomination of David B. Hill, was being wielded against the fearless champion of tariff reform, Grover Cleveland; when the Georgia state convention met there were some men in it who bravely stood for the right, and foremost among them was Hon. Hoke Smith.

Mr. Smith spoke for nearly two hours and when he had concluded with a tribute to President Cleveland, and sat down Judge Perry rose to his feet, and said that in view of the fact that they had just listened to the clearest, closest, most systematic and most satisfactory presentation of the financial question ever heard in the United States or ever printed in the United States, he would move a rising vote of thanks to the secretary of the Interior.

BIG STRIKE IMMINENT.

Miners Will Go Out if Wages are Not Advanced.

Secretary Patrick McBryde, of the United Mine Workers of America, says if the demand at Pittsburg, Pa., for an advance of wages August 1st is not conceded a strike will be the result.

He has received letters from different places requesting that a national suspension be ordered. The Indiana miners are out. He says if the Pittsburg operators grant the advance August 1st a similar advance will be granted in Ohio and Indiana.

If the advance is not conceded and a strike is ordered in Pennsylvania, there can be no question that it will extend to Ohio, and for his own part, says McBryde, he sees nothing of the calling of the different state officials together and the ordering of a general stoppage of work.

WANT NO AMERICAN OIL.

Russia Given a Monopoly of Kerosene Trade in Greece.

A treaty has been concluded between the Grecian and Russian governments by which a fixed import duty has been determined upon for Russian cereals and by which Russia is given the monopoly of the kerosene trade in Greece. It is expected that this will have the effect of driving American petroleum from the Greek market.

Most powerful is he who has himself in his own power.

Scaring Unwelcome Visitors.

During the Franco-German War a couple of hundred Uhlans arrived in a Norman village. One of the peasants hurried to a neighboring hamlet to warn a well-to-do farmer that he might expect a visit from unwelcome raiders. The farmer was equal to the emergency. Calling his wife and daughters, all went to work with a will. Torn quilts, tattered petticoats, dilapidated gowns, were thrown over the backs of the cattle, enveloping them up to their horns, while their feet and their heads were bound with straw.

Then the sheep and goats were treated in the same fashion; bottles of medicine were scattered about; a large trough was filled with water, and in its midst was placed a great syringe. Up came the Uhlans, but at sight of the strangely attired animals and the squirt they hesitated.

At last one of the troopers inquired what was the matter. "The rinder pest," said the farmer. He had to answer no more questions. His visitors turned their horses' heads and galloped off at their best speed to make requisition elsewhere.—Pearson's Weekly.

Great Place for Crabs.

Queenstown, an Eastern Shore village of Maryland on the Chesapeake, recently shipped 6000 soft-shell crabs in a single day, and Queenstown is by no means the most important crab-shipping place on the bay. The bay shore dwellers, after having known for generations the excellence of their marine delicacies, are only now beginning to realize their commercial value. It is said that canvasbacks and terrapin are not so recklessly spread before the chance guest as they used to be before their value in Northern markets became so great.—New York Sun

PRICES WOULD GO UP.

EFFECT OF FREE SILVER ON THE COST OF LIVING.

Doubling the Volume of Money Would Really Add but $50 to $1,000—Circulating Medium Actually Lowered 4 1-2 Per Cent—Facts to Ponder.

This whole agitation in behalf of free silver is made, it seems to me, honestly and sincerely by a large body of our fellow citizens in other parts of the country and some of them in this part of the country. I desire to give them the greatest credit for sincerity in their belief. I wish to testify that from my acquaintance with a large number of these people I have failed to find that any considerable number wish to do a wrong or to deal unjustly by any other portion of our people. They do feel that there are certain evils from which they wish to escape, and it has been suggested to them that by some legerdemain of government dealing with our currency that they could escape from the evils of which they complain.

Now, the chief evil of this complaint is low prices. Now, nobody ever really complains of low prices when he wants to buy anything, and nobody who has anything to sell ever complains of high prices.

But we find that communities as a whole combine all their energies to make prices as a whole low. Individual members of every community are laboring to make prices of particular things they want to sell high, but when communities act together they are trying to make prices low.

But if this be true; if the general effort of communities is to make prices low; if that is the reason that we have granted railroad charters in order to bring the products of the distant parts of the country to our doors at low prices; if that is the reason we built the Erie canal; if that is the reason that we have made transportation on the Erie canal absolutely free, taxing the people of the state in order that it may be free; if that is the reason that we have built our highways and made them free; if that is the reason that we are doing a thousand and one other things—then why in the name of reason should government be appealed to to do something about one thing in order to make prices high?

Why, in regard to this one thing, should there be a grand exception to all the other things that a government does to and about our affairs and our products and the things that we buy and sell?

I do not concede that it would be to our advantage as a whole that government could double the price of our bread tomorrow. And yet this is the proposition that is made. I doubt if in this city you could find a dozen votes outside of the bakers' shops in favor of doubling the price of bread tomorrow. And yet that is the great thing that underlies this argument. Why, I see that Senator Stewart said the other day that young men were not marrying so much now as they used to because we did not have free silver.

Free silver—what will it do, according to Senator Stewart? Why, it will make that young man if he contemplated matrimony expect to have all the expenses of his household, from his bride's outfit, and the new coat he bought for the ceremony and so on through all his domestic arrangements even to the baby's cradle, made more dear. Do you think that would be an inducement to matrimony? Then they say that the amount of money regulates prices. Does it have any great effect upon prices if it is good money?

All the time we hear, and I believe that it is uncontradicted, that about 5 per cent of all the transactions of the people of this country are made in money. All the rest of the transactions are made with the other media—checks, notes and all kinds of things. If this is true, suppose we could double the amount of money in an instant, what would we have done? We would have doubled 5 per cent of the whole. What would we have added? We would have added 5 per cent to the whole. In $1,000 what would we have added? We would have added $50. But suppose in adding that $50 you have disturbed the minds of men so that the other 95 per cent was diminished as has been done from time to time during the last few years. Suppose you apply your percentage to $950,000 and cut that in two, owing to the uncertainty you have created in the minds of men as to the quality of their money; suppose you have only affected it by 10 per cent—what is the result? Why, you have diminished that by $95, and when you come to add the $50 that you have credited by doubling your money and deduct your $95 you will find that you are $45 worse off than when you started. You are 4 4-5 per cent worse off so far as the circulating medium that really transacts your affairs is concerned. That is one of the great reasons why we find these great disturbances in business when men tamper with the currency.

I have given this illustration in answer to the assertion that the amount of money regulated prices because some money is necessary in our transactions. True some money is necessary still, because we have not yet reduced our methods of business to such a complete system that we settle everything by accounts.

Yes, so is some grease on the axle of a wagon necessary in order to move it any great distance at any speed, because man has not yet succeeded in making an axle on which the wheel will revolve entirely without friction. I say, we can say with equal truth as to my wagon that because some grease is necessary on the axle, therefore the amount of grease fixes the cost of moving a ton of freight. You say that it is an absurdity; it is not true.

The more I have thought upon this question the more profoundly impressed I am that more people are concerned in the quality of the money, of actual money, than in its quantity.—Ex-Secretary Charles S. Fairchild.

The friends of Rev. W. B. Crumpton and wife will feel most tenderly for them when they learn that their little Lizzie a sweet 11 year old, died on Sunday last, from the effects of a fall. Only God's grace can sustain in such times as these.

GREENBACK CRAZE RELIC.

Maybe a Hint or Two In This For Other Cheap Money Philosophers.

An object lesson in currency is displayed in a Beekman street restaurant window. It consists of two imitation greenbacks pasted so that both obverse and reverse sides are shown. The greenbacks are beautifully engraved and were issued in 1880 for use in the antigreenback campaign. With them in the window is this placard, devised by the proprietor of the place:

FREE SILVER VERSUS SOUND MONEY.
Why not compromise on this? It would satisfy even the worst men in all parties, might make me secretary of the treasury and incidentally make this the best known as it is the best lunchroom in the city.

The imitation greenback is of the $1,000 denomination. On the obverse side in the center is this inscription:

No. 9985497[illegible]221608. Series 5984370[illegible]231-[illegible].

A mortgage on all property in the United States.

Swindleville avenue, Washington City, July 24, '80.

Absolute money for the sum of 1,000 dolls. Redeemable nowhere in nothing and by nobody. The law directs that this money shall circulate freely. When this note has been spent, another may be had upon application at the United States treasury.

Eternal damnation to any man who refuses to take this bill at par for all debts.

At the left is a picture of Uncle Sam turning the crank of a machine which grinds out thousand dollar bills, the devil passing on the bills with a pitchfork as fast as they are turned out. In the background is seen the capitol with the statue of America toppling from its dome. A skeleton holds up the warning but disregarded signal "Stop!" and a track on a broken trestle, on which the whole rests, points "To the devil." These mottoes decorate the illustration: "Full tender for debts, public and private," and "Death to any man who refuses to give us more credit." At the right side appears Uncle Sam holding out depleted pockets, while a scrawny eagle gapes hungrily at a serpent coiling out from the fold of a fiat bill. A shattered and empty barrel represents the treasury.

The reverse of the greenback is mostly printed mottoes. In the center is a big "$1,000," hemmed in by these four sentiments: "Burn the bonds," "Shoot the bondholders," "Down with capital," "Vive la commune." Around the side are printed statements of a satirical nature. These are some of them:

The poor man's money. The more a man has the poorer he is.

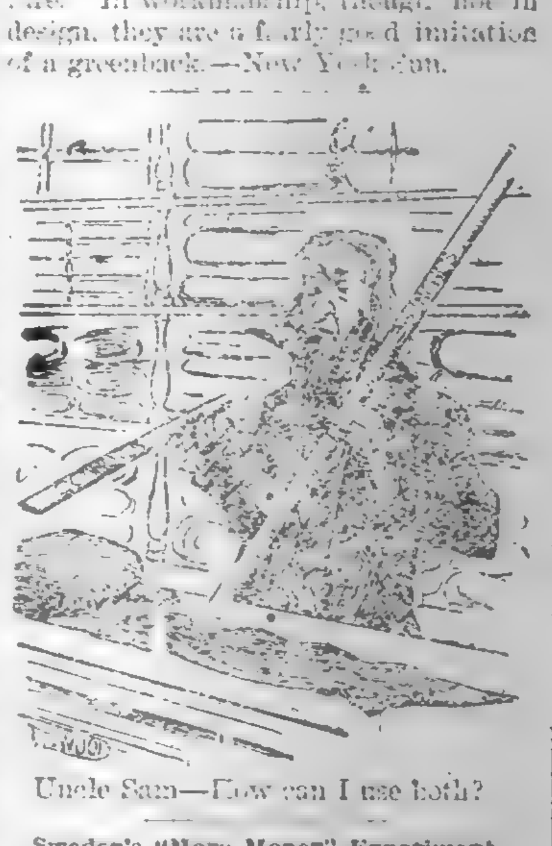
No more work. No more interest to anybody. Divide all property equally.

Gold is a coward.—H. B. Wright. This money is not afraid of anybody.

Civilization demands money representing no artificial value.—F. W. Hughes. This is just the thing—represents no value whatever.

When the government has completed its work of issuing one of these notes to each individual in the nation, every person will be worth $1,000.

Many people crowded about the window the other day and scanned the bills. Some of them asked the proprietor for copies of them, but he had no more and said he believed them to be quite rare. In workmanship, though not in design, they are a fairly good imitation of a greenback.—New York Sun.



Uncle Sam—How can I use both?

Sweden's "More Money" Experiment.

The theory that a decree of the government can give intrinsic value to money metals has been exploded in the past more than once. A signal illustration is afforded in the history of Sweden under the reign of Charles XII, known as the "mad king." Baron Gortz was the leading spirit, or rather the power behind the throne and minister of finance. War had impoverished Sweden, and the baron devised the brilliant scheme of making more money by attempting to give copper the same value as silver, so that a piece of copper money whose intrinsic value was only one-half penny should, when stamped with the king's mark, pass for 40 pence. Some of this coin was stamped with the figures of heathen gods, and later on the people in derision called the pieces the "gods of Baron Gortz."

At first this money was issued with discretion and reserve, but, as might have been foreseen, it was hard to draw the line and fix the quantity, and it soon got beyond the baron's control. All kinds of goods and provisions rose to inordinate prices, and the baron was forced to increase the value of his money to meet the demand and volume of trade, but the more it was increased the less was its value and purchasing power, and the people finally rose in their indignation and destroyed the financial plan of this early Napoleon of finance. Charles and others lost their heads, as a good many seem to be doing now on the money question.—T. L. Mathews in Fremont (Neb.) Tribune.

Changes All One Way.

Congressman George W. Cooper of Indiana, a sound money Democrat, said in a Washington interview the other day: "In Indiana I know hundreds of men who have been free silver men, but who have declared themselves for sound money. On the other hand, I cannot recall one instance in which a man has favored sound money and has then gone over to the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 without any restrictions as to an international agreement."

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

The State of Alabama, Chilton Co.
James P. Lolly, complainant, vs Mandy Lolly, defendant.
In Chancery at Clanton, Alabama, seventh District, North-eastern Chancery Division, June 17th 1895.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register, by the affidavit of James P. Lolly, that the Defendant, Mandy Lolly is a non resident of the State of Alabama, and to the best of affiant's knowledge, information and belief said Defendant is over the age of twenty-one years, and that her Post office and residence are unknown to affiant.

It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Chilton View, a newspaper published in Clanton once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her the said Mandy Lolly to answer or demur to the same, within thirty days after the 22 day of July 1895, and failing to do so a decree pro confesso will be taken against her in said cause.

Done at office, in Clanton, Alabama, this 17th day of June 1895.

FACTS ABOUT SILVER

FREE COINAGE AT 16 TO 1 MEANS MONOMETALLISM.

Purchasing Power the True Test of Actual and Relative Values—Duty of the Government in Maintaining a Parity of Gold and Silver.

Secretary of the Treasury Carlisle, in his Covington speech on May 20, stated plainly and concisely the exact meaning of Bryan Bland-Harvey [illegible] coinage. He said:

Free and unlimited coinage of full legal tender silver dollars at the ratio of 16 to 1 means that our law shall be so changed that any owner of silver bullion may send it to the mints and have it coined, at the public expense, into dollars each containing 412½ grains of standard silver, the dollars when coined to be delivered to the owner of the bullion, and all the people of the United States to be compelled by law to receive them as dollars in the payment of debts, although not intrinsically worth more than 50 cents each. The 25 8-10 grains of standard gold contained in a gold dollar is worth 100 cents, or the equivalent of 100 cents, all over the world, in silver standard countries as well as in gold standard countries, and it is worth just as much before it is coined as afterward, but the 412½ grains of standard silver contained in a silver dollar are not worth anywhere in the world more than about [illegible] cents. Or, to put the statement in a different form, 16 pounds of silver cannot be exchanged for 1 pound of gold anywhere in the world, but it requires about 32 pounds of silver to procure 1 pound of gold everywhere. But some one may say that this is not a fair statement, because it measures the value of silver by gold. The answer to this objection is that the statement does not attempt to measure the value of either of the metals, but simply to compare them, one with the other, and that for the purpose of making the comparison the value of gold is determined by its purchasing power in the markets of the world, and the value of silver is determined in the same way. Sixteen pounds of silver bullion will purchase only about one half the quantity of commodities [illegible] that one pound of gold bullion will purchase, and this purchasing power is the true test of their actual and relative values.

In the United States 16 pounds of silver, coined into dollars, will now purchase as much as a pound of gold coins, but this would not be the case under a system of free and unlimited coinage on individual account. The coinage of silver dollars here has been limited by law for the purpose of preventing an excessive issue, and they have been coined by the government on its own account and paid out for public purposes as dollars of full value, and consequently the government is bound by every consideration of good faith, to say nothing of the positive declarations contained in the statutes, to keep them as good as gold, or, in other words, to maintain the parity of the two metals, and this it has done and will continue to do as long as the present system exists. But if the present system is to be abolished and a new one established, so that private individuals and corporations can have their own bullion coined at the public expense and have the coins delivered to them for their private use, the government would be under no obligation whatever, legal or equitable, to keep them as good as gold, and, in fact, it would be impossible for it to do so, because the coinage would be unlimited, and the volume of silver in circulation would become so great in proportion to the gold the government could procure that the attempt would necessarily fail. The most extreme advocates of free coinage have not yet ventured to suggest that the government would be under any obligation to guarantee or maintain the value of silver dollars coined without charge for private parties, and without such guarantee it is clear the dollar would be worth no more than the commercial value of the bullion contained in it, just as the Mexican dollar is now. I admit that if the United States could coin without charge to the owners all the silver in the world available for coinage purposes, 412½ grains of standard silver, in bullion, would be worth as much in this country as a silver dollar, but the real question is, What would the silver dollar itself be worth? That it will not be equal to our present unit and standard of value is not only admitted, but openly urged as one of the chief arguments in favor of its free coinage.

Everywhere the people are being told that under free coinage it will require twice as many dollars to procure any given quantity of commodities as are required now, and this means, of course, that the money will be only one-half as valuable as it is now. When the public judgment is finally passed upon this subject, I think it will be found that the people of the United States are determined not to have a depreciated dollar, whether it be gold, silver or paper. They are undoubtedly entitled to have for use in their business just as good money as any other people in the world have, and no political party that attempts to deprive them of it will ever enjoy their confidence or receive their suffrages.

Metal Has No "Rights."

The "rights of silver," "we demand 'the right' to have our silver coined into legal tender dollars," are samples of the way in which silverites regard the white metal as a being with rights. But they are mistaken. A metal can have no "rights," and it is merely playing with words to talk of enforcing them. Whether we shall have free coinage and the silver standard or limited coinage on a parity with gold is matter to be decided according as the best interests of the whole people may determine. Nothing is to be gained by pretending, that in maintaining a stable currency we are depriving something or some people of "rights."

Rev. W. S. C[illegible] assisted by [illegible] Robt. Long held a successful meeting of days at Maple Springs church last week. There were several additions.

Complaints are coming in [that] young men under the influence of liquor attend our churches and create great disorder by loud discussions, etc. The protracted meetings are on hand and the church leaders should at once visit the county Solicitor and have the parties prosecuted at once. A preacher in closing his meeting cautioned his young converts and the young people generally against bad company.

Special stress was laid on the danger of young ladies receiving the attention of young men who drink. No parent should for a moment [illegible] his daughter's welfare as to encourage or even allow her to associate with men who are known to drink. If one would not be willing to have a drunken son in law he should begin in time before the fatal attachments between the daughter and the drunkard has been formed.

FACTS ABOUT SILVER

FREE COINAGE AT 16 TO 1 MEANS MONOMETALLISM.

Purchasing Power the True Test of Actual and Relative Values—Duty of the Government In Maintaining a Parity of Gold and Silver.

Secretary of the Treasury Carlisle, in his Covington speech on May 20, stated plainly and concisely the exact meaning of Bryan Bland-Harvey free coinage. He said:

Free and unlimited coinage of full legal tender silver dollars at the ratio of 16 to 1 means that our law shall be so changed that any owner of silver bullion may send it to the mints and have it coined, at the public expense, into dollars each containing 412½ grains of standard silver, the dollars when coined to be delivered to the owner of the bullion, and all the people of the United States to be compelled by law to receive them as dollars in the payment of debts, although not intrinsically worth more than 50 cents each. The 25 8-10 grains of standard gold contained in a gold dollar is worth 100 cents, or the equivalent of 100 cents, all over the world, in silver standard countries as well as in gold standard countries, and it is worth just as much before it is coined as afterward, but the 412½ grains of standard silver contained in a silver dollar are not worth anywhere in the world more than about 50 cents. Or, to put the statement in a different form, 16 pounds of silver cannot be exchanged for 1 pound of gold anywhere in the world, but it requires about 32 pounds of silver to procure 1 pound of gold everywhere. But some one may say that this is not a fair statement, because it measures the value of silver by gold. The answer to this objection is that the statement does not attempt to measure the value of either of the metals, but simply to compare them, one with the other, and that for the purpose of making the comparison the value of gold is determined by its purchasing power in the markets of the world, and the value of silver is determined in the same way. Sixteen pounds of silver bullion will purchase only about one half the quantity of commodities that one pound of gold bullion will purchase, and this purchasing power is the true test of their actual and relative values.

In the United States 16 pounds of silver, coined into dollars, will now purchase as much as a pound of gold coins, but this would not be the case under a system of free and unlimited coinage on individual account. The coinage of silver dollars here has been limited by law for the purpose of preventing an excessive issue, and they have been coined by the government on its own account and paid out for public purposes as dollars of full value, and consequently the government is bound by every consideration of good faith, to say nothing of the positive declarations contained in the statutes, to keep them as good as gold, or, in other words, to maintain the parity of the two metals, and this it has done and will continue to do as long as the present system exists. But if the present system is to be abolished and a new one established, so that private individuals and corporations can have their own bullion coined at the public expense and have the coins delivered to them for their private use, the government would be under no obligation whatever, legal or equitable, to keep them as good as gold, and, in fact, it would be impossible for it to do so, because the coinage would be unlimited, and the volume of silver in circulation would become so great in proportion to the gold the government could procure that the attempt would necessarily fail. The most extreme advocates of free coinage have not yet ventured to suggest that the government would be under any obligation to guarantee or maintain the value of silver dollars coined without charge for private parties, and without such guarantee it is clear the dollar would be worth no more than the commercial value of the bullion contained in it, just as the Mexican dollar is now. I admit that if the United States could coin without charge to the owners all the silver in the world available for coinage purposes, 412½ grains of standard silver, in bullion, would be worth as much in this country as a silver dollar, but the real question is, What would the silver dollar itself be worth? That it will not be equal to our present unit and standard of value is not only admitted, but openly urged as one of the chief arguments in favor of its free coinage.

Everywhere the people are being told that under free coinage it will require twice as many dollars to procure any given quantity of commodities as are required now, and this means, of course, that the money will be only one-half as valuable as it is now. When the public judgment is finally passed upon this subject, I think it will be found that the people of the United States are determined not to have a depreciated dollar, whether it be gold, silver or paper. They are undoubtedly entitled to have for use in their business just as good money as any other people in the world have, and no political party that attempts to deprive them of it will ever enjoy their confidence or receive their suffrages.

Metal Has No "Rights."

The "rights of silver." "we demand 'the right' to have our silver coined into legal tender dollars," are samples of the way in which silverites regard the white metal as a being with rights. But they are mistaken. A metal can have no "rights," and it is merely playing with words to talk of enforcing them. Whether we shall have free coinage and the silver standard or limited coinage on a parity with gold is matter to be decided according as the best interests of the whole people may determine. Nothing is to be gained by pretending that in maintaining a stable currency we are depriving something or some people of "rights."

All Smiles There.

They tell a story in Dalton, Ga., of a recent revival meeting in one of the rural districts of Whitfield county. In the middle of the services the preacher said:

"Will Brother Smith please lead in prayer?"

Seven men arose and began praying at once.

This embarassed the preacher and he said hurriedly:

"I mean Brother John Smith!"

At this announcement one sat down and five more got up and began praying. The preacher saw his mistake, said nothing and let the eleven pray it out among themselves.

Transparent Mirror Glass.

A transparent mirror glass recently introduced in Germany, reflects light on one side, from which it is practically opaque, while from the other side it is transparent. It is proposed to use this type of glass for glazing windows in city residences, for, while it will not cut off light or vision from the interior, it will prevent outsiders from seeing into the room.

Old Heads and Young Hearts

You sometimes see conjoined in elderly individuals, but seldom behold an old man or woman as exempt from infirmities as in youth. But these infirmities may be mitigated in great measure by the daily and regular use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an invigorant, anti-rheumatic and sustaining medicine of the highest order, which also removes dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness and kidney trouble. It is adapted to the use of the most delicate and feeble.

TRAIN HELD UP BY ROBBERS.

They Get Into the Safe and Make Way With Much Booty.

The westbound New York and Chicago express on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad was held up by six masked men at 12:30 Wednesday morning at a lonely place in the woods known as Reed siding, between Archibald and Stryker, O. The train stops there to let the eastern express pass. The latter train was approaching when the robbery took place. The robbers were mounted and rode out of the woods, which are dense and close to the track.

Conductor Darling, who was standing near one of the coaches, was ordered inside at the point of a revolver. Admission to the express car was obtained by some means and the messenger was forced to open the safe. The robbers were entirely familiar with the train. It is thought that employes of the railroad company or of the express company are implicated, either as principals or confederates. It was undoubtedly known to the bandits that an unusually large sum was in the express safe at the time. The amount obtained is said to be $8,000, but it is believed that a much larger sum was taken. No attempt was made to molest passengers, none of whom knew anything of the occurrence. When the thieves secured the contents of the safe they rode quietly away.

DICK BLAND FOR PRESIDENT.

Missouri Editors Boosting Him as a Candidate.

The editors of free silver state papers in Missouri met at Sedalia and were addressed by Hon. Dick Bland, the apostle of free silver, for two hours. At the conclusion of his speech, Governor Stone launched Mr. Bland's boom for president, and the editors present enthusiastically endorsed it. Mr. Bland refuses to say whether or not he will be a candidate.

The sound money democrats will make a fight for the control of the currency convention soon to meet to discuss the financial problem. Two months ago they were in the minority, but sentiment on the subject is undergoing a change. Missouri is in the close touch commercially and otherwise with the free silver states, and to that extent the silver men have an advantage.

THREE CHILDREN SHOT DOWN.

The Result of an Old Feud Between Italians.

News has been received at New Orleans of a terrible affair which occurred at Terre Haute, a flag station on the Valley road, twenty-nine miles north of the city. The Gordino family were seated at the supper table when Frank Nosca and another Italian, name unknown, fired upon the family with double-barreled shotguns. Rosie Gordino, Benny Gordino and Charley Calamari were instantly killed and Rossa Gordino, the father of the family, was seriously wounded.

Three children, aged six and ten years and three months, were also wounded more or less severely by the murderers' volley.

The cause of the wholesale attempt to murder is unknown, but is supposed to be a typical Italian feud.

CHAMPION CORBETT HURT.

He is Badly Bruised in a Bicycle Collision.

Jim Corbett was seriously hurt in a bicycle race at Asbury Park, N. J., while practicing at the Athletic grounds for his race at Manhattan Beach with Bob Fitzsimmons. He was spinning around the track at a 2:30 gait, paced by a stranger, whose name he does not know. Behind Corbett was his brother Joe. The stranger fell, Corbett went over him, and Joe tumbled over both. The champion was badly bruised, and is unable to raise his right arm. His leg was cut from the hip down, and it is necessary to support him when he walks about. The accident will prevent Corbett from racing with Fitzsimmons. The wheel he was riding was a gift from Zimmerman, who won over one hundred races on it while abroad.

THE OLD TRUST KNOCKED OUT.

The Last Spark of Life Extinguished by Judge Showalter.

The last remnant of life of the old whisky trust was, upon motion of Levy Mayer, counsel for the reorganization committee, extinguished by an order entered in the United States court at Chicago by Judge Showalter at noon Wednesday. The order is a final decree and will have the effect of winding up the affairs and business of the old company. It makes the receivership of General McNulta permanent and final, and directs him to sell as speedily as possible the remainder of the property not already sold.

A PUGILIST DIES

From the Effects of a Prize Fight Lick.

A young Milwaukee pugilist named Schmidt was killed as the result of a mill held in that city. It was a private affair and quite a number of sports were present. Schmidt was hit and fell forward. The crowd saw he was dangerously hurt and ran away. A doctor was summoned and the man carried to Trinity hospital, where he died shortly afterward. It is not known who his opponent was. No marks of violence could be found on the body, and it is supposed the man died from the shock.

Not Entitled to Pensions.

BRYAN AND BUSH

Debate the Financial Question in Anniston, Ala.

Probably 2,000 people crowded into the Noble street theater at Anniston, Ala., to hear the debate on the currency question between ex-Congressman William J. Bryan, of Lincoln, Neb., and Captain T. G. Bush, of Anniston. Hundreds were turned away for lack of room. The proposition discussed was "Should the United States, immediately and independently of other countries, restore the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1?" Mr. Bryan spoke for the affirmative and Captain Bush for the negative.

CONVICT STOCKS SUICIDES.

A Strong Petition Was Being Prepared for His Pardon.

A special from Mineola, Ga., says that Porter Stocks, a convict, shot himself and died shortly afterward. Stocks was a convict in the penitentiary, and was leased to a lumber company which has saw mills at Mineola, a few miles from Valdosta. Stocks was chatting with Dr. Howell, the camp physician, and one of the guards. Dr. Howell's pistol was lying on the table. Stocks handed his watch to the physician, walked off a few paces and fired at his own heart. Stocks was sent to the penitentiary from Atlanta for manslaughter.

A SKELETON UNEARTHED.

Evidence of Horrible Crimes Being Closely Woven About Holmes.

The backbone of a human form was one of Wednesday's awful finds by Chicago detectives who are at work in the Holmes building in Englewood. The second find was a rib; later there was a bone with two teeth, and now Chief Badenoch and Inspector Fitzpatrick have gone to Englewood to direct personally the future search. It is supposed the bones were a part of the body of one of the Williams sisters.

THE OFFER ACCEPTED.

Savannah and Atlantic Bondholders Join the Central in Reorganization.

The Savannah and Atlantic bondholders have accepted the offer of the Central reorganization committee. This was the only road remaining out of the reorganization syndicate. Bonds were at once deposited. Thursday closed the depositing of securities, but it is believed there will be a further extension.

Walden's Shortage.

John L. Walden, the defaulting treasurer of the Dime Savings Bank of Williamantic, Conn., who left that city Thursday, is believed to have sailed from New York for Australia on Saturday. The bank vaults were opened Monday morning and the exact shortage found to be $26,900.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Situation as Reported for the Past Week.

The chief features of the industrial situation in the south for the past week is the advance in wages among southern coal and iron industries and the stiffening in iron. The chief coal operators of the south have by mutual agreement advanced coal 25 cents a ton. Wages were advanced 10 per cent. during the week by the Rome, Ga., Iron Co., Etna furnaces at Rome, Ga., Woodward Iron Co., at Woodward, Ala., advanced 700 miners and 200 coke drawers 10 per cent. The Tennessee Coal and Iron Co. advanced 1,500 tipplemen, drivers, etc., 10 per cent. The Dayton, Tenn., Coal and Iron Co. advanced 400 men 40 per cent.

Reports show five southern blast furnaces have gone into blast in a week and iron works have good orders and are booking ahead; no further advance in southern iron is now expected, though prices are stiff. Lumber prices show some stiffening but no advance.

Forty new industries were established or projected for the week, the most important being as follows: A $75,000 development company at Danville, Va., electric light plants at Brookhaven, Miss., Georgetown, S. C., and Stephenville, Texas. A 75-barrel flouring mill at Charlotte, N. C., and one with 60-barrels daily capacity at Union W. Va., a large iron furnace near Low Moor, Va., a machine shop at Mobile, Ala. A land and mining company with a paid up capital of $125,000 has been organized at Mammoth Springs, Ark., a $100,000 land and power company and $60,000 granite company at Marble Falls, Texas. At Aransas Pass and Corpus Christie, Texas, channel and dock companies have been chartered with capital of $1,000,000 each. A $25 000 oil mill has been erected at Anderson, S. C., a $50,000 cotton mill at Athens, Ga., knitting mills at Birmingham, Ala., and Newport News Va., and cigar and tobacco works with a capital of $350,000 at Palatka, Fla.

Among the woodworking plants is a box factory at Houston, Tex., hoop factory at Tuscumbia, Ala., planing mill at Atlanta, Ga., saw and planing mills at Birmingham, Ala., and McAlpin, Fla., and wagon and buggy works at Sanford, N. C.

The enlargements for the week include cotton mills at Columbia, Ala., King's Mountain, N. C., and Cowpens, S. C.

Among the new buildings reported during the week are the following: A $15,000 court house at Centre, Ala., one to cost $40,000 at Forsyth, Ga., and another to cost $100,000 at Huntington, W. Va. A $15,000 dormitory at Raleigh, N. C., a $30,000 hotel at Houston, Texas, and a hotel and business house to cost $15,000 at Evergreen, Ala.—Tradesman (Chattanooga, Tenn.)

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

LIVER ROT IN SHEEP.

Liver disease of the sheep is due to the presence of parasitic worms in liver, mostly in the gall bladder. These worms are taken into the sheep mostly in water in which the eggs are, or by swallowing with the grass, on low pasture, the small snails in which the worms' eggs exist, as this is one stage of the existence of this parasite known as the liver fluke. The symptoms of the disease are a white skin, yellow eyes, dry, harsh wool, swelling below the jaws, and general poor condition. The belly is filled with a yellow or redish water outside the bowels, due to effusion of serum from the blood, and this produces intense thirst, which is one marked symptom of the disease. There is scarcely any hopeful remedy, as the disease is generally fatal; but to give salt regularly and to avoid low, wet pasture and stagnant pond water will be effective means of prevention.—New York Times.

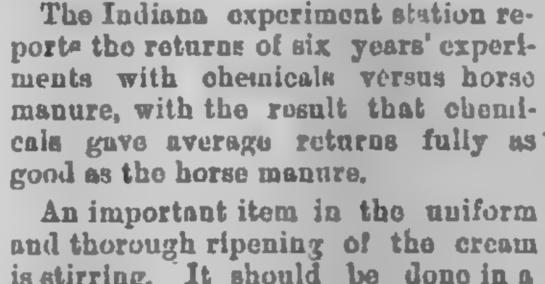
TRUCK FARMING.

Truck farming is a specialty that calls for aptitude, for a knowledge of detail in sowing the seed, raising the plants, planting, cultivating and marketing, as seperate and distinct from farming as any one business can be from another. The man who confines his operations to ten acres had to have more help, do more work and perform that work in season and out of season all the year round, and all the time know where he can find a daily marketing, without dabbling in the pettifogging details of the everyday duties that belong to the truck farmer, details of which he has neither taste nor inclination, and probably never will have.

A farmer may conclude to raise a field of potatoes, and if he has the land and knows how, may make a crop of thousands of bushels and be able to ship them by the carload to any market in the country. But this is farming. He may do the same with other crops, for the cultivation of which he has an aptitude and a fancy, and in some seasons make quite a success of them. There are many reasons why these outside crops should be adopted and cultivated by farmers as a specialty much as some make a specialty of dairying, swine-breeding, horse-breeding, small fruits, poultry or bees. But be the venture what it may, the soil, the training of the farmer, the nearness to market, the shipping facilities, and certainty of finding sale at profitable prices have all to be taken into consideration. Successful truck farming calls for special training and a thorough knowledge of every plant to be grown, and how and when to grow it.—Coleman's Rural World.

FENCING STACKS.

Ideal farming does not require stacks to be fenced in to protect them from cattle, for it is not considered good practice as a rule to pasture meadows in the fall. But it sometimes happens that it is most convenient to place stacks in fields where they are obliged to be protected from stock by a temporary fence of rails around each stack. Where this is done, if the corners of the temporary fence are cross-stayed and capped when the stack is opened in the winter, the stakes will be found frozen in the ground, which generally necessitates breaking or chopping them off. A better way of securing the corners of such a fence is to bind them by placing a rail on each side of a corner, one end resting on the ground close to the fence and the other locking into the corner, as shown in the illustration. By this means the fence is well secured to resist severe winds and the crowding of cattle, and when moved is not found frozen in.—American Agriculturist.



SECURE STACK FENCE.

THE HAY CROP.

To the majority of farmers the grass is the most valuable crop raised, but one which generally receives very little attention, writes B. F. Simons.

This being a most unfavorable season for grass, greater care must be taken to secure it at its best.

As a rule, this crop should be cut early. Mr. Martin J. Sutton, a recognized English authority, says: "I was quite unprepared to find, as experiments prove, that hay can be made with advantage when the grass is only seven inches high, and that even at the flowering stage meadow hay has passed its best."

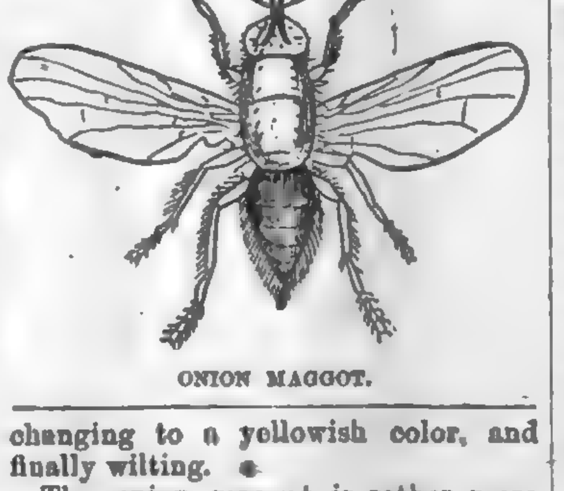
Grass should be cut when the plants contain the most nutriment, which may be determined by observing the amount of milk received from the dairy. When the grass is at its best the flow of milk will be greatest; as the amount diminishes, the grass is of less value. When grass is cut early the field will often produce a crop of aftermath, which, when not injured by frost, is chemically proven by Dr. J. A. Voelcker to be equal in value to an early first cut. Late cutting greatly injures the roots of clover plants. Three late harvests generally destroy all the plants. Late cut meadows almost always suffer from drouth, grasshopers, or the frost of winter, and quite frequently from all three.

If the hay is the most important it should be harvested at its best, regardless of other crops. The pecuniary loss from lack of attention to other crops is much more noticeable, but seemes insignificant in comparison when everything is taken into consideration.

Grass should be dry at the time of cutting. That method is the best for curing, in which the hay when dry is handled the least. Since water greatly injures both the color and nutritive value, haycaps should be used and the utmost care taken to protect the hay, when dry, from the rain.—New York Tribune.

ONION MAGGOT.

Early in June a somewhat hairy fly may be seen flying about and depositing its eggs on the leaves of the young onion plants close to the roots. This insect is the onion maggot. Its presence is indicated by the leaves becoming soft and flaccid to the touch, often changing to a yellowish color, and finally wilting.



ONION MAGGOT.

The onion maggot is rather more slender than the common house fly, which it otherwise closely resembles. The flies are of an ash gray color, with the head silvery and a rusty black stripe between the eyes, forked at its hind end. A row of black spots extends along the middle of the abdomen, or hind body, which sometimes run into each other, thus becoming a continuous stripe. These spots are very distinct in the male, but rather often imperceptible in the female. The difference between the two sexes is most plainly shown by the eyes, which in the males are close together and very large, while in the female they are widely separated from each other. These flies are about a quarter of an inch in length, the females being rather the larger. The eggs are large, white and somewhat oval. About half a dozen are laid on a single plant, and the young maggot burrows downward and, making its way into the root, devours all except the outer skin. The maggots reach their full growth in about two weeks, when they leave the onions and change to pupae in the ground. They remain in this stage about two weeks, when the perfect flies emerge. There are successive broods during the season, and the winter is passed in the pupa stage.

The onion maggot feeds only upon onions, and is the worst pest against which the growers of this vegetable have to contend. It is widely distributed and destructive wherever it occurs. Many methods of combatting it have been suggested.—New York World.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.

It is not natural for a pig to be wallowing in the mud all the time.

The Ontario experiment station advises that apple trees be planted far enough apart so that when full grown they will not touch each other.

The talk of the successful corn harvester is again in the land, for the sake of stimulating the growers of this royal crop. The successful corn harvester is one of the destinies of the future.

C. Meeker, Consul to England, reports that American fruit arrives at England usually in an overripe condition, and suggests that it will find a better sale if gathered before complete maturity.

The Indiana experiment station reports the returns of six years' experiments with chemicals versus horse manure, with the result that chemicals gave average returns fully as good as the horse manure.

An important item in the uniform and thorough ripening of the cream is stirring. It should be done in a way that will thoroughly mix the new cream with the old and at the same time avoid anything like churning.

The farmers of Texas use ordinary baking soda with quite good success in keeping weevil out of corn and other grain. The amount used is twelve to fifteen pounds of soda to every hundred barrels of corn in the shock.

The absence of shells on the eggs is due to the want of such food as is rich in the lime necessary for the shells. Raw lime will not answer the purpose, as it is indigestible, but some burned bones will provide exactly what is required.

Good cows are an important factor in the dairy; but it is well to remember that the highest development for producing milk and butter is antagonistic to the highest development for producing beef, and if a good cow excels as a dairy animal she will fail as a beef grower.

There is one point that the beginner too often overlooks, and that is to have good pastures, and especially to have them clear of foul or noxious weeds. Cows, in grazing over the pastures, often eat weeds when they are convenient, and this often causes a bad flavor in the butter.

Choice varieties of rhubarb are always propagated by dividing the plants and not from seed, because the seedlings are likely to vary almost as much as seedling apples and pears. One of the most popular varieties of the rhubarb here in the East is known as Myatt's Linnæus, an old excellent-flavored sort.

The easiest way to get rid of the tent caterpillar from the apple trees is to take a long, slender rod, with a few fishhooks tied to the end for a foot or so, and twist this end in the nest early in the morning, taking the web and the worms together. The bunch is crushed, or the gathering of them is burned.

A large quantity of American hay found its way into Switzerland last season, the municipalities of each town or village being the purchasers. They bought large quantities and distributed it among the people at cost, thus preventing unscrupulous dealers from taking undue advantage of the crisis by raising the price of hay beyond the reach of the poorer classes.

A Sound Measuring Watch.

A watch has been invented which measures distance by sound. The inventor, a French officer named Thouvenin, has called the instrument a phonotelemeter. To operate it a little button is pressed at the instant of the flash and again at the sound. In the meantime a needle traverses a dial, registering time to the one-tenth part of a second. The rest is a mere matter of calculation.—Atlanta Constitution.

The Growth of Our Country.

Harper's Weekly, in discussing the material growth of the country between 1873 and 1894, gives these figures: "In 1873 the net deposits in the national banks of the United States were $673,400,000; in 1894 they were $2,019,300,000. In 1873 this country exported cotton goods to the value of $2,947,528. In 1894 its exports of cotton in quantity had multiplied more than four-fold, and their value had increased to $14,340,886. In 1873 the country produced 264,314,148 gallons of crude petroleum, and in 1894 its production had increased to 2,033,331,972 gallons. In 1873 the total product of cane sugar in this country was 134,832,493 pounds; in 1894 it was 610,825,618 pounds. In 1873 our wool product was 158,000,000 pounds; in 1894 it was 298,057,384 pounds. In 1873 we manufactured 2,401,202 tons of pig iron; in 1894 we made 7,124,502 pounds.

To Ebonize Wood.

To make woods, such as cherry, mahogany, etc., look like ebony, the following directions are given by the Boston Journal of Commerce: To imitate black ebony, first wet the woods with a solution of logwood and copperas, boiled together and laid on hot. For this purpose two ounces of logwood chips, with one and a half ounces of copperas to a quart of water, will be required. When the work has become dry wet the surface again with a mixture of vinegar and steel filings. This mixture may be made by dissolving two ounces of steel filings in one-half pint of vinegar. When the work has become dry again sandpaper down until quite smooth. Then oil and fill it with powdered drop-black mixed in the filler. Work to be ebonized should be smooth and free from holes, etc. The work may receive a light coat of quick-drying varnish, and then be rubbed with finely pulverized pumice stone and linseed oil until very smooth.—Exchange.

He Will Not Drown Himself.

(From the Troy, N. Y., Times.)

R. W. Edwards, of Lansingburgh, was prostrated by sunstroke during the war and it has entailed on him peculiar and serious consequences. At the present writing Mr. E. is a prominent officer of Post Lyon, G. A. R., Cohoes, and a past aid de camp on the staff of the commander-in-chief of Albany Co. In the interview with a reporter he said:

"I was wounded and sent to the hospital at Winchester. They sent me, together with others, to Washington—a ride of about 100 miles. Having no room in the box cars we were placed face up on the bottom of flat cars. The sun beat down upon our unprotected heads. When I reached Washington I was insensible and was unconscious for ten days while in the hospital. An abscess gathered in my ear and broke; it has been gathering and breaking ever since. The result of this 100 mile ride and sunstroke was heart disease, nervous prostration, insomnia and rheumatism; a completely shattered system which gave me no rest night or day. As a last resort I took some Pink Pills and they helped me to a wonderful degree. My rheumatism is gone, my heart failure, dyspepsia and constipation are about gone, and the abscess in my ear has stopped discharging and my head feels as clear as a bell, when before it felt as though it would burst, and my once shattered nervous system is now [illegible] sound. Look at those fingers," Mr. Edwards said, "do they look as if there was any rheumatism there?" He moved his fingers rapidly and freely and strode about the room like a young boy. "A year ago these fingers were gnarled at the joints and so stiff that I could not hold a pen. My knees would swell and I could not straighten my legs out. My joints would squeak when I moved them. That is the living truth.

"When I came to think that I was going to be crippled with rheumatism, together with the rest of my ailments, I tell you life seemed not worth living. I suffered from despondency. I cannot begin to tell you," said Mr. Edwards, as he drew a long breath, "what my feeling is at present. I think you lifted ten years right off my life and left me prime and vigorous at forty-seven. I could feel no better. I was an old man and could only drag myself painfully about the house. Now I can walk off without any trouble. That in itself," continued Mr. Edwards, "would be sufficient to give me cause for rejoicing, but when you consider that I am no longer what you might call nervous, and that my heart is apparently nearly healthy, and that I can sleep nights, you may realize why I may appear to speak in extravagant praise of Pink Pills. These pills quiet my nerves, take that awful depression from my head and at the same time enrich my blood. There seemed to be no circulation in my lower limbs a year ago, my legs being cold and clammy at times. Now the circulation there is as full and as brisk as at any other part of my body. I used to be so light-headed and dizzy from my nervous disorder that I frequently fell while crossing the floor of my house. Spring is coming and I never felt better in my life and I am looking forward to a busy season of work."

Depew on the South.

The great opportunities of our country are in the south. The flood of immigration which has been pouring into this country for fifty years has sought the west, the northwest, and the Pacific coast. In these southern states we find, as nowhere else in the country, the original stock which fought at Cowpens and King's mountain and Yorktown. The composite of all races which has developed the continent from the great lakes to the Pacific has set a standard of progress difficult to surpass. They had the advantage of virgin soil and uninhabited regions in which to locate and build their Commonwealths and found their cities. The intelligent patriotism of the southern people in the last quarter of a century has overcome difficulties which seemed insurmountable. A recognition of the assimilating and elevating power of education has created the New South with its hospitable invitation and boundless resources. The young men of the south have no call to tempt fortune in the crowded cities of the north or the east. At their doors and within their own states are their missions and their careers.—Chauncey M. Depew.

Making Himself Useful.

A woman residing in a flat ordered a piece of ice from the grocery. The youth who brought it was a German. He put it on the dumb waiter in the basement to be hoisted up. She pulled away.

"Gracious!" she exclaimed. "How heavy this ice is! The grocer must have given me good weight."

By great exertion she succeeded in getting the dumb waiter up. To her astonishment she found the boy seated on the ice. With what breath she had left she demanded:

"What did you make me pull you up here for?"

"Why," replied the boy, "I thought the cake would be too heavy for you to lift, so came up to help you off with it."—Shoe and Leather Reporter.

Old Rip Van Winkle went up into the Catskill mountains to take a little nap of twenty years or so, and when he wakened, he found that the "cruel war was over," the monthly magazines had "fought it over" the second time and "blown up" all the officers that had participated in it. This much is history, and it is also an historical fact that, it took the same length of time, for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to become the most celebrated, as it is the most effective, Liver, Blood and Lung Remedy of the age. In purifying the blood and in all manner of pimples, blotches, eruptions, and other skin and scalp diseases, scrofulous sores and swellings, and kindred ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" manifests the most positive curative properties.

"This breaks the record, father," said Lamech, throwing himself down under the shade of a fig tree. "It's the hottest day this country ever saw."

"Hot, my son?" exclaimed Methuselah. "Hot? This isn't anything. I remember one day 937 years ago—or was it 938—"

But Lamech had fled, and the sound of Noah snoring inside the tent grew clear and distinct again.—Chicago Tribune.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

KENNEDY'S Medical Discovery.

DONALD KENNEDY, OF ROXBURY, MASS.,

Has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures every kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common pimple.

He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases (both thunder humor). He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston. Send postal card for book.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the right quantity is taken.

When the lungs are affected it causes shooting pains, like needles passing through them; the same with the Liver or Bowels. This is caused by the ducts being stopped, and always disappears in a week after taking it. Read the label.

If the stomach is foul or bilious it will cause squeamish feelings at first.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it. Dose, one tablespoonful in water at bed time. Sold by all Druggists.

WASHINGTON NOTES

GOSSIP OF THE CAPITAL IN BRIEF PARAGRAPHS.

Doings of the Chiefs and Heads of the Various Departments.

According to reports received by the marine hospital service, the yellow fever is making largely increased ravages among the people of Cuba. The medical inspector at Havana states that in the week ended July 25th there were seventy new cases in that city and twenty-three deaths. From Hiogo and Tokio, Japan, comes the report that in the week ending July 6th there were 104 new cases of cholera with seventy-nine deaths.

Naked and Starving.

The condition of the distressed negro colonists from Georgia and Alabama, who deserted the Thahualilo colony, in Mexico, is more deplorable than at first supposed. Consul Sparks, at Piedras Negras, telegraphs the state department that while rations are being furnished the 300 colonists who have reached Eagle Pass, Texas, they are practically naked. The other three hundred who have not yet crossed to the United States have little to eat. Subscription to furnish these colonists with food and clothing and transportation has been started and the state department has no funds for the purpose. Many are ill, but are receiving medical attention from Assistant Surgeon Teneyck, of the army. It is not known how the colonists will be cared for unless a subscription is started for their relief, such as was done in this country, for the starving Russian peasants.

Talked With Bowler.

Senator Caffrey, Representative Myer and Judge Semmes, the latter counsel for the sugar bounty claimants of Louisiana, had an audience Wednesday with Comptroller Bowler, of the treasury department, regarding the unpaid sugar bounty for the fiscal year 1894. The three gentlemen repeated the arguments they had previously made, but the comptroller insisted that he saw no reason to change the position previously taken by him. It is said that Comptroller Bowler may, if he chooses, reserve his ultimate decision one year, but it is not believed he will do so. It is thought that his decision after the formal hearing next week, will be, rendered as speedily as is consistent with the importance of the case. Should it remain unchanged, congress will be asked to amend the law under which he was appointed so that his duties shall be of a purely ministerial character.

Secretary Carlisle has been informed by these Louisiana gentlemen that the continued withholding of the money will result in a defeat of the democratic party in Louisiana and that nothing can prevent the state from swinging into the republican column next year unless the money shall be paid within a short period. It is feared by the Louisiana people if the money be not paid before the meeting of congress next winter, a bill will be introduced to repeal the law under which the bounty is to be paid.

The Debt Statement.

The debt statement for July, issued Thursday afternoon, shows few changes since the June statement. The interest bearing debt was increased $31,-[illegible],790, this being the amount of the [illegible] of the recent issue to the [illegible] syndicate, the first half having been included in the last previous statement. This will make the total bonded debt $747,359,760, and the whole national debt, exclusive of certificates and treasury notes, $1,128,-[illegible]. The cash balance of $195,-[illegible] reported last month will be decreased by about eight million.

The interest-bearing debt increased $[illegible],340; the non-interest bearing [illegible] decreased $813,025, and cash in the treasury decreased $8,090,622.

The balances of the several classes of debt at the close of business, July [illegible] were: Interest-bearing debt, $[illegible],190, debt on which interest [illegible] since maturity, $1,699,650; [illegible] bearing no interest, $378,198,334; total, $1,127,258,435.

The certificates in treasury notes offset by an equal amount of cash in the treasury outstanding at the end of [illegible] were $581,799 693, an increase of $2,591,830. The total cash in the treasury was $807,397,830. The gold reserve was $100,000,000. Net cash balance, $87,149,530. In the month there was a decrease in gold [illegible] and bars of $539,863. The total [illegible] was $155,354,065. Of [illegible] was an increase of $407,399. ADDRESS TO WORKINGMEN

Issued by the President of the Texas State Federation of Trades.

James Scott, a leading democrat politician and president of the State Federation of Labor of Texas has issued a call for a state convention of all trades to meet at Lampasas August 23. This is the most powerful organization of wage workers in the state. The call says:

"You will be called upon to decide whether by your acquiescence you indorse the action taken by the present national administration in sending the federal troops to overawe labor in forcing it to accede to the unjust demands of concentrated capital while refusing to employ the army in suppressing lawlessness in the Indian territory.

"You will be called upon to decide whether you favor the bonding of this country in perpetuity to the money kings of Europe.

"You will be called upon to decide whether you favor the demonetization of silver and indorse the subsequent displacement of labor which filled the country within the past two years with armies of idle men, willing to work, for whom no work was to be had; and above all you will be called upon to decide as to what forms a closer bond of union for the continued preservation of all those principles that are dear to the citizenship of this country, among which are included the right to life and liberty.

"In order to resist the threatened onslaught of capital it is imperative that we should present a united front to the advancing aggressiveness of the enemy and without seeking an appeal to passion or to unduly arouse bitter prejudices, I desire to say that the laboring masses of this country have homes to preserve from the heartless rigors of the cold commercialism of the age that knows no distinction between right and wrong, and to which the virtues are summed up in the word —'dollars.'"

STANDARD WAGON CO. FAILS.

Liabilities Are Stated to be $400,000 and Assets $300,000.

The Standard Wagon company at Cincinnati has assigned to Edward S. Ritchie, assets $300,000, liabilities $100,000. Although the company confessed judgment to the Merchants' National bank for $32,000, the failure created a stir, as it was considered by some heavier than $400,000 in liabilities.

Several years ago the company assigned and after considerable litigation the assignment was raised. The liabilities were then about $900,000. Since then that debt has been reduced about $500,000. The company has done a good business and has paid the debts that have been met out of the earnings of the business.

Before the assignment the Standard company bought out the Davis Carriage Company. On the sum due there has been paid about $100,000, and there is about the same amount due. The notes for that are falling due all the time and the company has not been able to meet them without borrowing money. The company's credit was not good, and money could not be raised on its real estate.

DEADLY CLOUDBURSTS.

A Mexican Town Demolished and Many Drowned.

A disastrous flood visited Sorocco, New Mexico, Wednesday. Sixteen persons are known to have lost their lives in the raging waters. The storm began with a terrific downpour of rain. Shortly afterwards a cloudburst struck the mountain, about five miles above the town, and in less than a half an hour gigantic waves, bringing bricks, mud and debris, took their devastating course through the streets.

Fifty buildings in the city were washed away and contents destroyed. About one hundred building are more or less damaged, and a large portion of the contents damaged or destroyed. To these losses must be added the total destruction of gardens and vineyards, and these losses fall upon the poorer classes of people.

MARYLAND'S PROHIBS.

They Meet in Baltimore and Nominate a State Ticket.

Maryland's prohibitionists closed a two days' meeting at Baltimore Thursday afternoon. Four hundred and six enthusiastic opponents of the liquor traffic, representing all the counties of the state, took part in the deliberations of the body. The convention nominated the following ticket: For governor, Joshua Levering, of Baltimore; for comptroller, Dr. J. L. Nicodemus, of Frederick county; for attorney general W. Frank Tucker, of Baltimore.

PEACE AT BROOKSIDE.

Miners Resume Work and No Further Trouble is Expected.

Charles Green, a negro has been arrested at Brookside, Ala., charged with participation in Tuesday's riots. He was placed in the Birmingham jail. The miners started to work Thursday but an unsatisfactory feeling still exists. Two young white men who did considerable talking before the fight and disappeared during the riot, are being very much censured and there is talk of tar and feathers. No further trouble is expected.

Preparing to Furnish Health.

J. W. Tufts, of Boston, who bought 5,000 acres of land two miles from Southern Pines, Moore county, N. C., has put 150 men at work there preparing the land for settlement. He advertises for 200 carpenters to put up buildings, which he is to rent to northern health seekers.

ONLY A WILD RUMOR.

Indians Have Not Massacred the Whites at Jackson's Hole.

A special from Salt Lake City says: The wild rumors received Friday that a massacre of whites had occurred at Jackson's Hole appear to be without foundation in fact, and the special dispatch received at an early hour Saturday morning from Market Lake saying that all was quiet at Jackson's Hole and that no fighting had occurred has since been confirmed.

The fact is, the settlers are well armed and strongly entrenched, and can, if necessary, hold out until the soldiers arrive. Three hundred Indians are encamped on the ground where their fellows were killed a week ago and are hungry for vengeance. There are considerable bodies of Indians scatted all over the Teton basin, and the signal fires for their assembling are burning. They are, however, short of ammunition and it is doubtful if they can obtain any through the passes, as they are guarded as far as possible by the whites and have strong fortifications at the mouth of Trail Creek Canyon.

CLOUDBURST IN COLORADO.

A Mining Town Almost Destroyed During a Heavy Storm.

Adelaide, a flourishing mining town in Colorado, was struck by a series of cloudbursts Tuesday that flooded the entire district and devastated over fifty houses. So far as known three persons were drowned and swept away by the rush of the water and many narrowly escaped drowning to be rendered homeless.

The cloudburst was followed by a second one and again another, which razed many buildings to the ground, including stores and residences. The damage to the town will exceed $100,000, and in the path of the storm it will be many days before an estimate of the damage can be made.

Railroad and telegraph communication have been cut off from the town, and the tracks are washed away for a distance of four miles on either side of the town.

WISCONSIN BANK CLOSED.

The Depositors, However, Will be Paid in Full.

The Keystone National bank at West Superior, Wis., has been taken charge of by C. H. Brush, the national bank examiner. The heavy drain of the last two months has caused the deposits to decrease from $280,000 to $227,047. The bank claims its assets are $291,000 and liabilities $259,747. The city had on deposit $28,000 and the state $75,000. Other local depositors bring the amount up to $187,000. It has always been considered one of the strongest institutions in the city, and since 1890 has paid good dividends to its stockholders. The assets are amply large to protect all depositors, and in all probability it will resume in the near future.

McLaurin the Only Candidate.

H. C. McCabe announces his withdrawal from the race for governor of Mississippi. He was the "sound-money" candidate against A. J. McLaurin, the free silver champion. This leaves the field open to McLaurin and he will be nominated by acclamation.

To Meet at Saratoga.

The New York republican state committee met and voted to hold the state convention at Saratoga September 17th. The committee voted to meet in Saratoga on the evening of September 16th.

Ten Per Cent Increase.

The Maryland Steel Company has decided to increase the wages of 200 employes 10 per cent, to take immediate effect. President Wood says: "The great business revival warrants the employment of the larger number of men at higher wages."

The "Pilot" Assigns.

The Norfolk Pilot has assigned, liabilities $17,000. Judge J. E. Heath was made trustee for the creditors. The company will be reorganized, and will issue hereafter a four-page paper.

All governing overmuch kills the self-help and energy of those governed.

To Please the Eye.

Here are some of the paradoxes of architecture. If a column which supports an entablature is perfectly straight, it appears to lean outward, therefore the architect makes it lean inward. The perfectly level edge of a roof appears to drop about the middle, therefore it must be raised slightly at that point. A tapering monument with straight sides appears to be concave, therefore the sides are swelled a little. Corners are made to look square by being in truth a little broader angled. Architects discovered ages ago that the human eye was prone to deceive and they have humored it ever since.

Schoolroom Tools.

Sixty years ago Mr. Joseph Gillott was a working jeweler in Birmingham. One day he accidentally split one of his fine steel tools, and being suddenly required to sign a receipt, and not finding a quill pen at hand, he used the split tool as a substitute.

This happy accident led to the idea of making pens of metal. It was carried out in secret, and now the name of Gillott is found on almost every pen you use.

India rubber, used for erasing pencil marks, was known in England as early as 1770. A cube of it half an inch square cost 8s.

APPEAL TO SPENCER.

Atlanta Wants the Headquarters of the Southern.

A committee of citizens of Atlanta, Ga., including delegates from the Chamber of Commerce, met President Spencer, of the Southern Railway Company, at New York Wednesday for the purpose of endeavoring to induce the railway company to remove its headquarters to Atlanta.

The general views presented to Mr. Spencer were that Atlanta is the logical centre of the system; that the company receives more business from that centre than from any other point on its line and that as it is the most important depot of the Southern system it should be made the headquarters of the company.

The delegation was composed of S. F. Woodson, president of the Chamber of Commerce of Atlanta; Hon. Porter King, mayor of Atlanta; H. H. Cabaniss, Captain Evan P. Howell, T. B. Neal, R. D. Spalding, R. M. Farrar, ex-Governor R. B. Bullock, J. E. Maddox and W. C. Sanders.

President Spencer, when seen by the representative of the Associated Press after the meeting, stated that he and Vice-President Andrews of the Southern Railway Company, had heard the views of the delegation and the points they made in favor of the change of the company's headquarters from Washington to Atlanta.

He declined to express any opinion on the subject, saying that of course he could not at this time say what action the company would take in the premises. The members of the committee, he said, had stated the case very forcibly and what they had said would be carefully weighed and considered by the company.

FILIBUSTERERS LAND.

They Successfully Eluded the Watchful Cruisers.

Information has been received in New York of the successful landing in Cuba a few days ago of two large bodies of insurgents who brought with them two cannon, fully 700,000 rounds of ammunition, 500 pounds of dynamite and hundreds of repeating rifles and revolvers. One expedition consists, it is said, of 278 men, and the other of seventy-five men, almost all of them veterans of the last revolutionary war in Cuba.

Letters announcing the safe landing of two expeditions on the south coast of Santa Clara province, Cuba, were also received at the headquarters of the Cuban revolutionary party in New York. One of the expeditions was under the command of Major General Carlos Roloff and Brigadier General Jose Rodriguez, chief of staff of General Gomez, was leader of the second. The expedition, it is stated, started from Two Bays, in the Bahama islands, and were taken in small boats to several sailing craft which conveyed the whole party to Cuba.

FOR ANNEXATION.

The Matter Again Being Agitated in Hawaii.

The steamer Mariposa arrived at San Francisco Thursday from Sydney and Auckland, via Samoa and Honolulu, bringing the following Hawaiian advices:

Honolulu, July 25.—Considerable pressure is being brought to bear to cause the legislature, now in session, to pass a joint resolution authorizing and instructing President Dole to reopen annexation negotiations with the United States. At a meeting recently held by the native Hawaiian organization, resolutions to that effect were passed. It is believed that such a resolution will be introduced by the executive before the senate adjourns.

MILLIKEN ARRESTED

On a Warrant Sworn Out by Judge Phillips of Washington.

A private dispatch received from LaGrange, Tenn., announces the arrest there Saturday morning of Benjamin Harrison Milliken, private secretary to Senator Harris, of Tennessee, who was indicted by the grand jury at Washington sworn out by Judge Phillips, charging him with housebreaking and attempting assault on his daughter, Miss Fertrude Phillips, on the night of July 4th last.

TEN PER CENT INCREASE.

Wages of Iron Workers Raised the Second Time.

A second wages advance of 10 per cent has been made the employes of the Norton Iron Works at Ashland, Ky., 150 in all, while the Ashland Wire and Iron Company from this date shows 5 per cent increase to 900 men. The iron industry locally is flourishing.

TROUBLE AT BLUEFIELDS.

Non-Union Men Being Driven Away by West Virginia Strikers.

The non-union men are being forced to leave the West Virginia coal fields by the strikers, who threaten personal violence to those who will not quit work. Serious trouble is expected within the next few days.

Large Building Burned.

Fire early Sunday morning almost completely wrecked the five-story office building at Nos. 28 and 30 West Twenty-third street, New York. Scharles Bros., toys, and Joaquin & Co.'s French millinery showrooms, which occupied the whole of the ground floor, were totally cleaned out, and their loss, added to the losses of the other occupants of the building, will bring the total damage done by the flames up to at least $200,000.

Genuine simplicity of heart is a healing and cementing principle.

TO EXTEND THE SAM

THE LINE TO BE BUILT TO SAVANNAH AT ONCE.

The Columbus Southern Will Probably be Taken In.

There is very little doubt that the officers of the Georgia and Alabama railway, which was organized in Americus last week, will consist of the following: John Skelton Williams, of Richmond, Va., president; Cecil Gabbett, of Americus, vice president and general manager; W. W. Mackall, of Savannah, temporary secretary; W. H. McFarland, of Florida, auditor; J. Wilcox Brown, of Baltimore, treasurer. Mr. Brown is president of the Maryland Trust Company, of Baltimore.

The directors are: J. W. Sheffield, Americus; Cecil Gabbett, Americus; John Flannery, Savannah; W. W. Mackall, Savannah; John K. Garnett, Savannah; James D. Stetson, Macon; S. A. Carter, Columbus; John Middendorf, Baltimore; C. Sidney Sheppard, New York; Adolf Ladenburg, New York; J. Wilcox Brown, Baltimore; R. B. Sperry, Baltimore; John Skelton Williams, Richmond, Va.

The new company will take charge of the road on August first. It is understood that there will be no change for the present in the heads of departments.

The road will be extended to Savannah at once and the new company has already bought several thousand tons of new steel rails for it. These rails were bought before the recent advance in prices.

A well founded rumor states that the Columbus Southern will be made part of the system, as successful negotiations for the purchase of this property have about been concluded. This acquisition with the Savannah extension, will give the road a mileage of about 500 miles.

The capital stock of the new corporation is $6,470,000, consisting of 64,700 shares, each having a par value of $100 Of these shares 38,832 are common stock, and 25,868 are preferred stock; these latter are to draw 6 per cent on par value before the common stock is entitled to a dividend.

The shops and general offices of the road will not be removed from Americus for some time, if at all, as the present officials do not contemplate such change, and the matter will not be discussed by them at present.

MISSISSIPPI POPULISTS

Hold Their State Convention and Name a Ticket.

The populists of Mississippi held a state convention at Jackson Wednesday and nominated a full ticket. Interviews with the most prominent leaders developed the fact that they have strong hopes of such dissentions in the democratic ranks that a political revolution will be brought about and that they will have a chance of electing their ticket from governor down.

Hon. Frank Burkitt was nominated for governor. Forty-seven counties were represented by 122 delegates.

A resolution arraigning the democrats for the treasury defalcation and severely criticising the democracy was passed. The platform demanded economy and declares for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, without international agreement.

It was the largest and most enthusiastic convention in opposition to democracy, composed of white Mississippians, since the war.

RATE WAR INAUGURATED.

Big Cut in Freight From the North by Steamship Lines.

The rate war on goods coming south, between the Ocean Steamship Company and the Merchants' and Miners' Transportation lines is on in earnest. For two or three days past, wholesale dealers have been receiving circulars from the office of the Ocean Steamship Company at Savannah announcing heavy reductions on all classes of freight. The circular stated that the rates would go into effect on July 29. The reduction is equivalent to about 60 per cent. on all classes of freight.

Circulars were also received from the officers of the Merchants' and Miners' Transportation company, announcing a similar heavy reduction in rates on all classes of freights, and the reduced figures offered were identical with those made by the Ocean Steamship company. Unless the rival lines agree to go back to the old basis of rates, the contest between them will likely prove very interesting.

GEORGIA HORTICULTURISTS.

Fruit and Flower Growers of the State Assemble in Cuthbert.

The Georgia Horticultural Society assembled at Cuthbert Wednesday morning. The display of fruits, flowers and vegetables was magnificent, and reflects great credit on this section as a fruit region. The attendance was large, and was composed of the most prominent and practical fruit growers in the state.

Was a Blank Cartridge.

The schooner Carrie E. Lane, which the Spanish gunboat compelled to heave to off Santono while bound from Cienfugos to the Delaware breakwater, arrived at Philadelphia Sunday. Captain Quick denied that the vessel was fired at, and said that only a blank cartridge was shot across her bow as a signal for the Lane to heave to. This she did promptly, and no objection nor protest was made when the vessel was boarded and searched by the Spanish marines.

TRADE TOPICS.

Bradstreet's Review of Business for the Past Week.

Bradstreet's bulletin is to the effect that the most striking features of the business of the past week are the influence of improved crop prospects and the continued large demands for iron and steel, with one of the largest makers in the market as a buyer of Bessemer pig. Most of the commercial and industrial features of the week before are retained. The volume of trade has not varied materially, but in instances is larger than the corresponding period last year. Trade in almost all lines is fairly active for the season, and the general tendency of mercantile collections is toward greater ease. Commercial travellers are being sent out in all leading lines, and reports from those now on the road appear to meet expectations. Among larger eastern cities no striking changes in the condition of trades are reported, with the exception of an improvement in industrial lines and in the lake trade at Buffalo, and a rather smaller volume of business reported from Baltimore. Pittsburg iron furnaces are sold months ahead, and at Philadelphia the strike among the textile workers remains unsettled.

Fair orders are being received by jobbers and merchants at both Chicago and St. Louis, but no pronounced revival in the demand for fall delivery is expected until after August 1st, country merchants preferring to await the corn crop prospects at that time before giving orders. Cotton and steel industries there are refusing orders except at full prices. A fair business is reported from Kansas City, although needed rains throughout Kansas are expected to improve things in the near future. Excellent crop prospects in Nebraska have resulted in more activity at Omaha, where trade in some lines is in excess of that of 1894.

At northwestern cities—Milwaukee, Duluth, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sioux Falls—there is the customary volume of midsummer business, with prospects for a greatly improved fall trade. The feature of the week at the south is in the rather more satisfactory report from Memphis, Chattanooga, Augusta and Galveston, where orders have been received in some instances in excess of expectations, and the volume of business is larger than at the corresponding period last year. At such points as Charleston, Savannah and New Orleans no material change is reported as compared with a week ago, and the like is true at Birmingham. Atlanta reports rather less doing in dry goods, notions and groceries, but that the outlook for trade this fall is good. The volume of business has fallen off at Jacksonville. The most disturbing influence in Louisiana is the withholding of payments of the sugar bounty.

The total number of business failures in the United States for the week as reported to Bradstreet's is 237. The week before the total was 214 and in the week a year ago it was 237.

"GRAVEYARD" INSURANCE.

A Gigantic Swindle Being Aired in Court.

The hearing of what is known as the graveyard insurance swindle cases at Beaufort, N. C., there being twenty-five in all, was begun Tuesday before two magistrates. It developed that one of them was the son-in-law of one of the defendants—a fact which it had been sought to conceal—and he was forced to withdraw under fire and another justice was substituted.

One case was heard during the day, it being that of Charles Arthur, a street beggar who had been represented as a robust man with a fine hereditary record, whereas he had had consumption of the bowels for two years and died a few months after having been insured for $9,000. The applications, signatures, etc., in his name had all been forged. A great crowd is attending the preliminary hearing.

A Beaufort, N. C., special says that a warrant for another arrest in connection with the alleged insurance swindle has been issued. The accused is Dr. L. W. Perkins, formerly of Morehead City, but now practicing at Newport, N. C.

OKLAHOMA DIVORCES NULL.

Justices of the Territory Have No Right to Grant Them.

Following the decisions that probate justices have had no right to grant divorces in Oklahoma since August 13, 1893, the supreme court at Guthrie has decided that even before that time their jurisdiction was confined to persons who had been residents of the territory two years or more, and that all divorces granted by them to persons on ninety days' residence are null and void and subsequent marriages bigamous. As all outsiders coming to the territory for divorces took advantage of the ninety-days' residence clause this decision invalidates between three and four hundred divorces granted to eastern people in addition to the seven or eight hundred rendered invalid by the previous decision.

Puddlers on Strike.

The puddlers at the Oliver Iron and Steel Company's works at Pittsburg, Pa., went out on a strike Thursday morning. The company has been paying the Amalgamated Association scale rates, but refused to recognize the union. The strike of the puddlers is for recognition as union men. The firm will give the puddlers an answer in a few days.

All Hands on Full Time.

The Santa Fe railroad has put its entire force in the shops at Topeka on full time of ten hours a day. There are between 1,200 and 1,300 men at work, and up to the present only about 800 men were working full time.

DEBATE CLOSES.

THE WORDY BATTLE BETWEEN HORR AND HARVEY ENDS.

Twenty-Four Hours in all Consumed in the Debate.

The Horr-Harvey silver debate came to an end at Chicago Monday. Every seat in the art gallery of the Illinois Club was occupied when time was called for the closing session of the great war of words and the walls were lined with listeners eager to catch the closing remarks of the contestants.

Twenty-four hours in all had been consumed in the debate, which ran through eight days, and 145,000 words in all were spoken, according to the original agreement. The two gentlemen still had 2,500 words in which to close. This is to be submitted in manuscript any time within seven days to be inserted in the book which is to be published. During the entire debate Mr. Harvey read from a manuscript. The audience was on every occasion composed mainly of free silver men and did not seem to weary of Mr. Harvey's reading, but cheered him at every opportunity.

Mr. Harvey denied that he had been furnished with money by silver mine owners to aid in the debate and the tone in which he said: "I was not hired to talk here," seemed to indicate that he thought his opponent was.

Resolutions were passed thanking the Illinois Club for the use of their house and expressed appreciation of all that had been done by various ladies and gentlemen to assist in carrying out the debate. A resolution was also passed thanking Messrs. Horr and Harvey for the information which they have presented to the public since the debate began.

HURST FOR GOVERNOR.

Maryland Democrats Hold Their State Convention.

The Maryland democratic state convention assembled at Baltimore Wednesday to nominate candidates for governor, attorney general and comptroller.

Mr. John E. Hurst, senior member of the well-known Hopkins Place dry goods firm of Hurst, Purnell & Co., was nominated governor on the first ballot. The ticket was completed by the nomination of Marion DeKalb Smith, of Kent county, to succeed himself as comptroller of the treasury, and State Senator Charles G. Crethers, of Creit county, for attorney general.

The surprise of the convention was the almost desertion of the reassessment advocate, State Senator Thomas G. Hayes. He received but two votes on the roll call.

Colonel L. Victor Boughman, of Frederick county, chairman of the resolutions committee, reported a platform which praised Cleveland, announced against free silver at the present ratio and denounced the McKinley act.

There was no allusion whatever in the platform to Senator Gorman. It was stated this was his desire, and he gave as a reason that his course at Washington was not an issue in this campaign.

The platform was unanimously adopted.

Nominations were made for members of the state central committee; a resolution was adopted indorsing the plan to hold a centennial exposition in Baltimore in 1897 and favoring a state appropriation therefor, and the convention adjourned sine die.

DOUBLE MURDER AND SUICIDE.

A Texas Man Slays Wife, Baby and Self.

Henry Bradshaw, residing near Petty, Texas, shot and killed both his wife and little child Saturday and afterwards committed suicide.

Bradshaw was temporarily insane, it is thought, from a delirious attack of fever. He slipped out of bed, secured a shotgun and stole upon his wife, who was churning on the rear gallery. Without a word of warning he pulled the trigger, emptying the contents of one barrel. Mrs. Bradshaw fell mortally wounded with a hole torn through her body three inches across. The wife murderer then hurried to the dining room, where his little girl was engaging in frolicksome play. With unerring aim he shot her down as she was innocently running toward him. The baby's head was torn off and portions of the skull lay around the room and the walls and ceiling were bespattered with brains.

This last act may have brought him partially to his senses, for he then sought another room for a supply of ammunition. Having carefully loaded the gun, he placed the muzzle just under his nose and with his toes pulled both triggers. The double load blew his head from his body.

A still younger child was apparently undisturbed. No motive except temporary insanity can be assigned. Bradshaw enjoyed the best of reputations and the entire section near Petty is horror-stricken.

OLD LADY QUINLAN

Makes a Partial Confession Regarding Holmes' Misdeeds.

A Chicago special of Wednesday says: That Mrs. Quinlan, wife of the janitor who is supposed to know so much about the misdeeds of H. H. Holmes, made a partial confession to the police is almost certain, although Chief Badenoch and Inspector Fitzpatrick refuse to say whether or not this was the case.

Down With Liquor.

Editor View:

I am glad to see the interest you are taking in trying to put down the sale of whiskey. From the number of stills registered in Chilton it seems that we are to have a full supply of liquor on hand soon and who can tell the trouble that these fifteen stills will bring among families.

I now call to my mind men whose heads are almost white, advocating the sale of whisky and will buy a bottle of the stuff, carry it home and drink the last drop of it in two days or a jug and empty it in a week and then say they are not drinking too much. If they could picture themselves before their families while doing this moderate drinking with eyes red as two moons peeping through a cloud and lips hanging to one side, surely they would think the devil himself would be ashamed of them muchless their families. We can not expect such men to bring up boys to manhood and make good moral citizens. And if men of whom we are now writing should see their sons intoxicated they could not feel ashamed of them without first feeling the shame on themselves. How can fathers expect anything else when they set the example before them?

Moderate whisky drinkers are the most dangarous drinkers. They have more influnce in leading others to drink, because even the moderate drinker will refrain from drinking with the drankard in the wallow. Last, every bottle and every jug is costing from fifty cents to three dollars of their wives' and children's hard earnings as well as their own that is probably badly needed for bread stuff and clothing. I wish that every man could feel and know the fact he can not drink whisky and be a pleasure to his family and have all due respect that a father should have.

Yours etc.

B. H. Jones.

Kenneth Bazemore had the good fortune to receive a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when three members of his family were sick with dysentery. This one small bottle cured them all and he had some left which he gave to Geo W. Baker, a prominent merchant of the place, Lewiston, N. C., and it cured him of the same complaint. When troubled with dysentery, diarrhoea, colic or cholera morbus, give this remedy a trial and you will be more than pleased with the result. The praise that naturally follows its introduction and use has made it very popular. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and Smith and McNeill, Jemison Ala

GOLD STANDARD IN CHILE.

Convinced the Silver Standard Is a Failure—To Stand With Other Nations.

In spite of the warning of silverite statesmen the prosperous republic of Chile has abandoned the cheap silver basis for her currency and has adopted the gold standard. Chile is one of the most enlightened and progressive of the South American countries, and her action is an evidence that she has found the silver standard to be a failure and wishes to be in accord with the majority of the great commercial nations with which she trades. As all her outstanding loans, both principal and interest, are payable in gold the change in the standard will cause but little confusion, and financial interests are already adjusted to the new basis.

While Chile adopts the gold standard of value, the same as in this country, she will continue the use of silver, and the banks will be authorized to issue paper currency somewhat on the plan of our national bank system. Only as much silver will be coined as can be maintained at a parity with gold. The result of the change will be to give the business interests of the country a stable financial system, which will doubtless be of great advantage to it in its competition with silver standard countries.

It is now in order for our silverites to denounce the horrible crime of 1895, by which the wicked goldbugs secretly destroyed the prosperity of Chile.

SILVER AND PRICES.

Wages, Industrials and Farm Products Advance While Silver Declines.

We venture to put in the form of a brief table some facts given by The Financial Chronicle as to the connection between the price of silver and the prices of staple commodities. They make an effective answer to the constant assertion of the silver inflationists that "low" silver gave the low values to all products and that there could be no recovery except through higher prices for silver:

Price of	April 1.	June 14.
Silver	68½c.	67¼c.
Cotton	5⅜c.	7c.
Wheat	60½c.	80c.

It will be seen that, while there was no material change in silver, and what change there was was slightly downward, cotton advanced a little over 19 per cent and wheat a little over 32 per cent.

These changes, as we all know, have been accompanied by increased activity in trade and manufactures and an advance in wages. So that we have, as The Chronicle aptly remarks, "very substantial gains to the factory, to the foundry, to the wage earner and to the farmer, without an atom of help from silver."—New York Times.

"Free Coinage Dissected."

The sound currency committee of the Reform club has just issued a short pamphlet entitled "Free Coinage Dissected." It puts the case against free coinage in the clearest possible light, and the language is so simple and the sentences so short that no ordinary mechanic or farmer need have any difficulty in understanding the discussion. Ex-Congressman John De Witt Warner, the author of the pamphlet, dissects in turn each of the principal claims of the free coinage advocates.

Many excellent answers to "Coin's Financial School" have been written, but heretofore there has been no first class pamphlet to put into the hands of the millions who have not read "Coin's Financial School," but who are interested in the currency discussion, and who will be glad to get in this condensed form not only the principal objections to "Coin's" book, but to the whole question of free coinage at 16 to 1.

The pamphlet is well adapted for general distribution and merits a wide circulation by the friends of honest money in all sections of the country. It is No. 16 of "Sound Currency," and can be obtained by sending 5 cents to the Reform club, 52 William street, New York city.

Silver Craze Waning.

That the people are returning to their senses, and that, therefore, the silver craze is waning is evident from the humorous way in which the Indiana editors disposed of the subject a few days ago at their state association. They adopted the following resolutions:

Whereas, There appears to be a large and varied assortment of opinions on the money question among the members of the association, and each one seems to think that all that is needed to bring his brothers into agreement with him is further study of the question on the part of the latter, and as each and all doubtless concur in this, therefore,

Resolved, That nothing should be done on any day that does not have to be done on that day and that can better be done tomorrow.

That if one does not really have to cross a swollen stream at once, if the bridge spanning is shaky and in need of repair and is being repaired, and if besides the stream is falling and gives promise of being in such condition that it may be forded or crossed dry shod before one needs to be on the other side, it is the part of wisdom to camp under the olive branches in the shady grove on the side of the river.

ENGLISH CLASSICS for CHILDREN

The placing of our best English authors in the hands of children from eight to sixteen years old marks an era in the School curricula of our day. This advance step in a school course has been coming for several years and is now fully arrived—and arrived to stay.

Much of our best literature heretofore deemed too difficult for children has, by means of explanatory notes, glossaries etc., been easily brought within range of children of average intelligence. They do not of course study the books critically, but they necessarily catch the spirit and expression of the author, and enlarge their vocabulary of our language. Again, in these days of degenerate and debasing dime literture it behooves us to pre-occupy the minds of our children with that which is pure-elevting and ennobling or suffer the consequences. From a mere educational stand-point the day has gone forever when the dry details of English Syntax, Rhetoric and English Literature (tho' important each in its place) will be accepted by any respectable institution as an adequate course in English.

Pupils must have a reasonable acquaintance with many of our best authors—not with detached fragments of lives and writings but with their works en masse.

Our last catalogue announces a parallel reading course in English Classics for next sessions.

The reading of at least one author a term (every three months) is required. Pupils of the advanced grade should read at least double that number. There will be no daily examinations in these studies, but the last day of every month and the last ten days of every Term will be spent in examining and directing students in this department of their work, and they will be graded according to proficiency shown. The studies in these Classics require of all pupils of the Grammar and Advanced Grades.

The cost of the books range from 20 to 80cts per volume, average cost being about 45cts. If patron prefers he may rent the books for one-fourth their price. The following have been selected for next session. First Term.

Aesop's Fables; Tom Brown at Rugby; Crusoe; The Ten Great Retreats of History; Gullivers Travels; The Alhambra; McCauley's Peter the Great; McCauley's, Warren Hastings.

Second Term.

Ruskin's, King of the Golden River; Greek Serves; Peasant and Prince; Plutarch's Lives; Ivanhoe. McCauley's, Frederick the Great; McCaulay's Earl of Cheetham; Legend of Sleepy Hollow.

Third Term.

Lay of the Minstrel; Marmion; Pilgrim's Progress; Prophecy of Dante; Pope's Essay on man; Lays of Ancient Rome; Debate of Webster and Hayne on the Tariff.

Above course required unless positively forbidden by parents.

Sometimes by reason of an unusually robust constitution a man may drink excessively of intoxicants and abuse his health all his life and yet live to a "good old age," but generally the "drafts made on nature" during youth and young manhood must be paid at an earlier than was expected. The secret of a healthy old age is aptly explained in the following words:

"Though I look old, yet I am strong and lusty;
For in my youth I never did apply
Hot and rebellious liquors in my blood
Nor did not with unbashful forehead woo
The means of weakness and debility;
Therefore my age is as a lusty winter,
Frosty but kindly."

We have received the Educational Exchange for July containing State Superintendent Turner's notice to County Superindents of Education of a free scholarship for each county at the Bailey Springs University in Lauderdale county.

By his announcement it is made the duty of every County Superintendent in this State to apprise his constituency of the fact that one young lady in his county is entitled to a State Scholarship in this institution. These sholarships are for four years, and entitle their holders to not only the high grade collegiate education for which this institution is noted, but also to art music, use of piano, elocution, physical culture, stenography, typewriting, &c., without charge. The only expense is for books, clothing and a very low charge for board and washing. The mode of appointment is left with the County Superintendent. Those interested should apply to him for information.—Florence Times

"Incurable."

We know that it sounds quackish to talk about the Electropoise curing incurable diseases, but bear in mind the fact that it is the old treatment which has pronounced the case incurable. We do not make the claim, that we can cure all so-called incurable diseases, but we do maintain with all earnestness that a case pronounced incurable by your family physician, is a splendid field for the operation of the Electropoise. It may be just the treatment necessary, and is quite likely to be so. If it fails this is no argument against the "Poise," but in such a case, the fact of the physician's statement is proven to be true. But many's the patient who has been given up by his physician who has again received life through treatment of Electroise.

As a curative agent the Electropoise can not be equaled.

The View has for sale, or exchange for country produce, some splendid family medicines, books, scales.

On Habeas Corpus proceedings held before Judge Honeycutt on last Monday German, Alias Dutch, Crosby was allowed to make bail in the sum of fifteen hundred dollars. He is now a free man greatly to his own and his friends delight. He has the sympathy of many friends who believe that he never had any idea of shooting Mr Ogletree until the passion for the moment stole his reason away and made him fire the fatal shot.

My boy was taken with a disease resembling bloody flux. The first thing I thought of was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Two doses of it settled the matter and cured him sound and well. I heartily recommend this remedy to all persons suffering from a like complaint. I will answer any inquiries regarding it when stamp is enclosed. I refer to any county official as to my reliability. Wm. Roach, J. P., Primrose, Campbell Co., Tenn. CROSSROADS LOGIC.

AN OLD LETTER FROM PETROLEUM V. NASBY.

Cheap Money Wouldn't Buy More Whisky—How Bascom Would Equalize Matters—The Corners Could Stand Dilated Currency, but Not Weak Liquor.

CONFEDERATE X ROADS
(Which is in the state of Kentucky),
Jan. 22, 1878.

I ain't so certain that I want the silver bill to pass ez I wuz. The fact is, the thing don't work ez I s'posed it wood, and I ain't clear on to it. There is suttle principles in these finanshel questions w'ich requires a great deel uv thought, and there is underlyin principles w'ich a man hez got to understand afore he is competent to set hisself up ez authority.

One thing I am certain uv—Bascom ain't no finanseer, nor never will be, and I told him so.

"W'at is a finanseer?" asked he.

"A finanseer," sed I, assoomin the look of Dan'l Webster, "is a man w'ich kin pay his debts with nothin—a man w'ich kin git suthin with nothin."

"The Corners, then, is full of finanseers," he remarkt bitterly, castin a casual glance at his slate w'ich wuz jist full enuff to turn over and begin on the t'other side.

But he hezn't any uv the science uv it. I wuz argooin with him the other day in favor uv my noshun uv a leather currency, though I told him silver wuz much the same thing, and, for example, I would assoom that silver wuz to be the currency uv the fucher.

"Now, don't you see, Bascom, that ef I hed twict ez much money, I cood drink twict ez much whisky and pay for it?"

"How much is twice nothin?" wuz the unfeelin anser uv the tyrant who holds the destinies uv the Corners in his hands. "That's w'at your capitle hez bin ever sence I knowd you."

"Parson," sed he, "I don't see w'at earthly difference it's goin to make whether silver is currency or anything else. How are you a-goin to git silver ef it is made legal tender? Ef silver wuz ez plenty ez bricks, w'at hev you got to git any uv it with?"

"Troo, G. W.," wuz my anser, "but can't yoo see that to hev silver wood releeve the dettor class? Even now, afore it is legal tender, it's only wuth 92 cents on the dollar, and when the country is flooded with it it will go still lower. Then we, or rather sich uv us ez hev property to raise money on, kin pay off."

"Eggsactly so," retorts Bascom; "you kin pay me for the good, honist likker uv mine w'ich you hev consoomed in coin w'ich is less than the dollar you promised. All rite. But look here—come in here all uv you. I want you silver men to know exactly w'at you are rushin into."

And this feend led us into the back room—that back room w'ich contained the subsistence uv the Corners. There, in long rows, wuz Bascom's stock. There, in barrils, piled one on top uv another, wuz the delishus whisky uv Louisville, uv different ages, rangin from that uv two weeks old to that w'ich hed jist left the still and wuz scarcely cold yit. There it lay, and ez my eye ranged affeckshunately over it I felt ef I cood hev the drinkin uv all that likker I wood be content to lay down and die when the last drop wuz gone.

Bascom p'inted to an immense tank w'ich he hed erected within a few days, with a pipe runnin in from the roof.

"I shan't raise the price uv likker in consekence uv bein paid for it in a depreshiatid currency!" sed he.

I fell on Bascom's neck in an extacy uv delite, while the others shoutid, "Rah for Bascom!"

"G. W.," I remarkt, while teers suffoosed my eyes, "I never placed you much below the angels, but this generous act has histid you a hundred per cent in my estimashun. Bless you, G. W., bless you!"

"But I'll tell you w'at I shell do. Do you see that tank?" sed he.

"May I ask w'at that is for?" I sed.

"That tank will fill with rane water," sed he. "The moment you git to payin me in silver I shell take out uv eech uv them barrils jist eggsactly three and one-fifth gollons uv likker and fill it with water."

"Merciful hevings!" we all exclaimed, "and your likker so weak now!"

"And when silver gits down to 75 cents on the dollar I shell take out 25 per cent uv whisky and fill her up with 25 per cent uv water, and so on down. Ef silver goes up, I shell add whisky eggsactly in proporshen. In short, my whisky is jist a-goin to foller currency and nothin shorter. You fellers w'ich work for wagis may swet, but I won't."

"But you'll increase the size uv your glasses?" sed I.

"Not any. But you may drink twice ez many times to git the same amount uv drunk ez before by payin for eech drink."

And Bascom stalked hawtily back and took his posishen behind his bar.

Ther wuz consternashun in the Corners sich ez I hev never seen. Ther wuz a hurried consultashen at the Deekin's house, and I sejested that we emancipate ourselves from the dominyun uv this tyrant by startin a grosery uv our own on the joint stock principle, w'ich wuz agreed to, each man agreein to contribbit $10 to the capitle stock, w'ich wood be enuff to buy a bar'l or two for a beginnin.

We wuz enthoosiastic till we come to ballotin for the man to keep the place, when it wuz found instid uv my bein chosen yoonanimusly, ez I eggspected to be, that every man hed votid for hisself. Ez not a soul uv 'em would recede, the skeem wuz blocked rite there and finelly hed to be abandoned, and we went back to Bascom's and submittid. That tyrant hez us.

Uv course we can't stand likker dilootid in that manner. We are willin

World's Production of Money Metals.

The New York World says: "The world's production of gold and silver for 1894 has been compiled by Richard P. Rothwell, edidor of the Engineering and Mining Journal. The result shows that a little over eighteen times more silver than gold was mined—5,205,065 kilos as against 280,146. The increase in the production of gold ($27,219,438) was not as great as was expected, the output of the Transvaal reaching only 60,707 kilos ($40,346,000;) but the production for 1895 will be much greater. The decrease in the production of silver (134,681 kilos) was caused by the fall in the average price of silver from 78 cents per ounce in 1893 to 62 cents in 1894. The decrease in the commercial value of the year's production was $28,812,087, in a total of only $105,429,034. There were several serious errors in the different mint reports of last month, which Mr. Rothwell has corrected, and his revision from official and original sources may be considered final."

Too Late.

The house had been aroused by a burglar. Mr. Jones saw a man with a mask going through the pockets of his pantaloons, and as quick as thought he shot at him, the intruder making good his escape.

"Why," said Mrs. Jones, thoroughly awake, "what did you scare me for?"

"I saw a man robbing my pockets, and fired at him."

"Well, he didn't get anything," said she, complacently.

"How do you know?"

"Oh, I tried 'em myself before we went to bed."—Adams Freeman.

A BLOODY RIOT

Precipitated by the Murder of Two Officers by a Negro.

Brookside, a mining camp twenty miles west of Birmingham, Ala., was the scene of a bloody riot Tuesday night. Two deputy sheriffs are known to have been killed, and it is said that a dozen negroes were shot, four or five fatally. The town is in a state of panic and the telegraph operator, the only source of information, is locked in his office, too frightened to go outside to obtain more details.

Messages were received at Birmingham by Sheriff Morrow and Chief of Police McDonald for all the available officers they could send. An hour later a carload of deputies was enroute to the scene of the trouble.

Tuesday Mine Boss Culverhouse, of the Sloss Iron and Steel Company, discharged a negro driver named Jim Biggers. Biggers remained about the place making threats. He refused to leave the company's premises and a warrant was sworn out for his arrest for tresspassing, and Deputy Sheriff Arthur P. Wood and Special Deputy John Baxter went to arrest Biggers.

As they approached Biggers fired upon them with a winchester rifle. A bullet passed through Wood's head and another through his heart, killing him instantly. Baxter was mortally wounded, but was able to get back to the camp and give the alarm.

The white miners at once organized and went to arrest Biggers. The latter meanwhile had called in a number of his negro friends and when the two parties met a pitched battle resulted. Over 100 shots were fired, the negroes finally going to the woods.

It is said that half a dozen or more negroes were shot down, several of whom were killed outright and the others badly wounded. Whether any of the whites were wounded or not cannot be learned.

The town of Brookside is in a state of panic, every man being armed. The shooting was kept up at intervals for two hours.

Biggers and his friends are in hiding in the woods, but will be taken dead or alive. Brookside has been the scene or race troubles before. Both colored and white miners work there, but the feeling has not been very cordial, especially since last summer's strike, when negroes went to work in white miner's places.

Deputy Woods, who was killed, was ex-sheriff of Talladega county and leaves a wife and children. Later reports are to the effect that two officers and three negroes were killed, while six negroes were desperately wounded.

CANNOT FIGHT IN TEXAS.

Governor Culberson Down on the Fitz-Corbett Mill.

Governor Culberson, of Texas, has issued a proclamation prohibitive of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight. He asserts that it is a flagrant defiance of law and will bring disrepute upon and foster a spirit of disobedience of law. The proclamation itself is as follows:

"Whereas, Texas, with her hospitable and intelligent population and limitless resources, needs do incentive of violated law to induce immigration or investment, and whereas, the constitution of the state enjoins that the executive 'shall cause the law to be faithfully executed,—

"Now, therefore, I, C. A. Culberson, governor of the state of Texas, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the constitution and laws thereof, do hereby urge the various officers charged with such duties, both to prevent the commission of such offenses and cause offenders to be punished. And all persons contemplating future infraction of said laws are warned to desist therefrom and are put upon notice that to the limit of executive authority I shall take care that the law is faithfully executed to the end that such offenses may be prevented and offenders punished."

FERTILIZER CONSOLIDATION.

A Number of Companies Will be Placed Under One Management.

Three of the largest and oldest phosphate manufacturing companies of the state have consolidated their business interests, and on September 1st the entire number of plants owned and operated by these companies will be controlled by the Southern Fertilizer Company, with headquarters in Atlanta.

This deal, which has just been completed, represents a paid in capital of $850,000, and the energies and business experience of three of the oldest fertilizer men in the south.

To Call in Bonds.

The directors of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company have decided to call in the outstanding 10-40 six per cent. bonds of the company, amounting to between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000, which are now subject to redemption. They have also decided to cancel the existing bonds of the Mobile and Montgomery Railroad Company, all of which are held by the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company.

Signing a New Contract.

About 1,500 tailors of the Protective Brotherhood at New York have resumed work. The strikers stated that many of the contractors who have signed the new contract are prominent members of the Contractors' associations. The contractors denied positively that their ranks had been broken, and continue to state that they will not grant any concessions to the strikers.

Greatly Exaggerated Reports.

Advices from Salt Lakers who are summering near Yellowstone park, and who passed recently through Jackson's Hole, indicate that the news of an Indian outbreak has been greatly exaggerated. No special anxiety is felt over absent tourists in that locality.

Sugar Planters Engage Lawyers.

A Washington special says: Judge Semmes, of New Orleans, one of the ablest lawyers in the south, has been engaged as one of the counsel for the Louisiana sugar planters in the hearing before Comptroller Bowder, August 7. It is also said that Judge Hoadley, of New York, may be employed in the same interest.

STORM IN MISSOURI.

Seven Persons Killed by Lightning in One Town.

During a cyclone in Missouri Sunday seven people were killed by lightning at the town of Three States. They are: George McClellan, Mrs. George McClellan, three McClellan children, Mr. Thomas and Mrs. Thomas.

The cyclone struck the village of Three States, which is situated about fifty miles south of St. Louis.

A shanty boat which was tied at the bank was struck by lightning, instantly killing the owner, George McClellan, and wife, and fatally injuring their three children, who have since died. Their home was said to be Kenosha, Wis.

Three miles west of the village at Barnes Ridge a farmhouse was struck and a man and wife by the name of Thomas were instantly killed. The gale was from the west. The smokestack of the Three States Milling Company's mill was blown down. The stack was 123 feet high, made of steel and well braced. The chimney did no damage. A large number of persons who sought refuge in the mill were badly frightened but escaped unharmed. The cyclone literally cut a swath through the woods about 100 yards wide, uprooting trees and filling the air with flying debris.

WILL QUIT BUSINESS.

Union National Bank of Denver Will Wind Up Its Affairs.

The Union National bank at Denver, Col., of which W. H. Woodbury is president, has closed its doors. It will liquidate its affairs and go out of business. The Union bank was closed during the panic in 1893, but subsequently resumed business and later was consolidated with the State National bank, which also has been closed during the panic. It is said depositors will lose nothing and business will not be seriously affected.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND OUT.

The Tailors' Strike Grows to Big Proportions.

A New York special says: About 4,000 of the United Garment Workers out on a strike met at the Walhalla and Washington halls Monday morning, and there discussed the proposed settlement with the contractors. The remaining twenty of the 630 shops represented in the organization were called out, making a total, it is claimed by the workers, of nearly 15,000 men in New York, Brooklyn and east New York on strike.

Mrs. Corbett Gets a Divorce.

Referee Edward Jacobs has decided that Mrs. Ollie Corbett is entitled to an absolute divorce from her husband, Pugilist James J. Corbett. With reference to the question of alimony, Referee Jacobs says that is a matter which the parties have agreed to among themselves. He recommended that Corbett's agreement to pay his wife $100 a week be adopted.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Situation as Reported for the Past Week.

A review of the industrial situation in the south for the past week indicates that the usual midsummer dullness among industries is not at all in evidence this year, but on the contrary they are more active than for two years, especially the iron, textile and lumber industries. Reports from all over the south indicate an increasing demand for lumber, but no advance in prices. The iron foundries, mills and furnaces all over the south are busy, and new furnaces that have been out of blast for four years are resuming. Iron is stiff at present quotations. There have been several advances in wages during the week, chiefly among textile plants. Reports from Alabama indicate a revival of interest in gold operations and the purchase of several abandoned gold mines by new companies that will work them extensively.

Among the thirty new industries reported for the week the most important are as follows: A $75,000 cotton compress at Birmingham, Ala.; extensive mines to be opened near Birmingham, Ala, and Montreal, Ark.; a mining and smelting company, capital $100,000, organized at Little Rock, Ark., and the Hope Oil and Delinting Company, capital $100,000, at Hope, Ark. The Standard Cotton Seed Co. has been chartered at Little Rock, Ark., with a capital of $100,000; a $50,000 metal and stove polish manufacturing company at Wheeling, W. Va.; a $100,000 sewer pipe and drain tile factory will be built at Elmendorf, Texas, and a $20,000 oil mill at Williamston, N. C. Two cotton mills will be built at Greensboro, N. C., with a capital of $200,000 each; a 10,000 spindle mill at Lumberton, N. C., and one to cost $60,000 at Salisbury, N. C. Woodworking plants will be established at New Orleans, La., Gum Neck, N. C., and Georgetown, S. C.

Among the enlargements are planing mills at Cog Hill, Tennessee and Glen Easton, W. Va., cotton mills at Knoxville, Tenn., and Raleigh, N. C., and a lumber mill at Chester, S. C.

The list of new buildings include a $100,000 business house at Evergreen, Ala.; one to cost $14,000 at Louisville, Ky., and another to cost $12,000 at Knoxville, Tenn. A $50,000 church at Atlanta, Ga., a $90,000 court house at Paris, Texas, and a jail at Edna, Texas. A residence to cost $20,000 will be erected at Thomasville, Ga., one to cost $25,000 at Victoria, Texas, and $35,000 school buildings at Abbeville, Ala.—Tradesman (Chattanooga, Tenn.)

WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

ROSES FOR THE BONNETS.

The flowers preferred for the bonnets and hats are pink or red roses, large poppies made of silk, red, mauve, pale yellow or white, with black centres. The hydrangea, either pinkish-green tufts or pink with a mauve tinge, seems much affected for hats, placed as cache-pinge on the turned-up brim or on the sides. Irises, cornflowers, lilac, cowslips, all are worn, mixed in with the bows on hats or the sparkling wings of capotes. Poppies are imitated in black gauze pliss, with yellow centre, and used on hats and also for neck boas, tied with a wide ribbon.

HATS FOR LITTLE ONES.

Of course hats for little ones should never be elaborate, but sometimes there are styles that seem elaborate without being in the least so. It is not in good taste, either, to use many rich trimmings on a child's hat. The lovely Dresden ribbons and the pompadour effects are particularly pretty for children's hats, and there is no lace or chiffon that is too fine for them. The broad-brimmed hat is the favorite, some being of very fine straw, and others made of shirrings of chiffon or silk mull. The flowers selected for a child's hat should be light in effect, like lillies of the valley or wild roses, if roses or anything so heavy are selected. Buttercups make a pretty childish flower, and white violets, but the purple ones are so somber.—Washington Star.

SOME NEW TRIMMINGS.

Butterflies are generally in vogue. Some good specimens are made on net, with large pieces of jet and sequins, intended for ornamenting the fronts of bodices and skirts. Sometimes they have a fall of deep fringe from the bust. All kinds of trimmings have been brought out for the bag fronts, which are often repeated on the back of the bodice and are frequently carried out as consecutive strings of the jet and cord attached to side trimmings of the same, between which they droop. Pearl garnitures are popular, and will remain so, such as pearl and gold butterflies, appliques and galons. Crystals and gold and pearl heads are arranged as bodice trimmings, to droop from one side of the shoulders; sometimes these are mingled with silver.—St. Louis Star-Sayings.

CRINOLINE IN SLEEVES.

As to evening dresses, the enormous and outrageous width of the sleeves is the great feature. Two very elegant Paris models shown me were velvet as far as the center of the bodice was concerned—watercress green in one case, yellow in the other—finished off at the bust with folds on the material with a stomacher of "jewels" very beautifully. The sleeves were of brocade in one case and in the other of shot glace velvet, harmonizing in color with the center; they were made with a shoulder strap to go over the shoulder, and then there was a few inches space to bare arm and the immense puff began and continued to the elbow. These sleeves were in fact held out to that size by a crinoline inside them! A piece of narrow steel passed around the lining just above the bottom. Firm though the material was in each case, it could not have supported itself without this aid.—Philadelphia Times.

EARTHQUAKES AND ETIQUETTE.

A curious revolution on manners and customs has resulted from the earthquakes in Calabria, Italy. In the little town of Gioia Tauro, which still has a wretched aspect, the well-to-do families are obliged to remain in temporary huts. Now, in Gioia Tauro the young ladies were condemned by custom to remain much within doors, scarcely ever enjoying movement in the open air. But since the families have been obliged to dwell in the commodious wooden huts, it has become necessary to give more liberty to girls who have made the utmost use of their freedom, and in the exquisite spring weather, may be seen running merrily out of doors at any moment, without hat or bonnet, or taking long walks through the wild rose shrubberies among the hawthorns, adorning themselves with the innumerable wild flowers that bloom in that favored climate. Having once tasted these delights, it is to be supposed that the young girls will not readily give them up when their native town is restored to prosperity, and that they will run out of the stone houses as readily as they have done out of the wooden huts.—London News.

WOMEN IN FRANCE.

Women are the stronger as well as the better half of France. They do everything but build houses. The best inspector in the French customhouse is a woman. She is in the Havre office and she has a nose that can detect dutiable goods without opening a lock. She is naturally amiable and slow to anger, but woe to the foreigner or countryman who provokes her ire. There is no sadder spectacle in the republic of France than the women shoe polishers, who doze under the sheds of the markets and quay, one eye shut and t'other fixed on the bootbox over the way, patiently waiting for trade. They ask five cents and accept two cents for their unwomanly work. At Thiers, the blackest town in France, the women sit outside of the grimy little machine shops mating scissor blades and polishing knife and scissor handles. The stream that turns the 10,000 little mill wheels is blacker than the Chicago River, and, as the furnaces never burn without belching, the toilers and their devoted lifelong apprentices are sometimes Malay and sometimes Mongolian, but seldom Caucasian in color. Not long ago a college woman went down to Thiers to teach school for the winter. The promise of eighty pupils was a temptation, but on reaching the colony of soot-begrimed and smoke-stained smithies she found that the position paid $5 a month and the teacher was expected to furnish the fuel for the winter.—New Orleans Picayune.

WOMEN ON HORSEBACK.

Some writer, either from the petty desire to say spiteful things or through dense stupidity, makes an assertion that has aroused considerable feeling in the mines of sensible women. The statement is that there were, last year, in London, several deaths and serious accidents among the horsewomen on the famous thoroughfares. After a little general comment, the paragrapher goes on to say that this is no more than to be expected; that it is the old story anyway; that women get along very well on horseback until there is some emergency or accident, then they lose their heads altogether.

The tendency of many persons to indulge in senseless flings at women is greatly to be depreciated. While no one can question that there may be more accidents among women than men equestrians, nine-tenths of the trouble is chargeable, not to undue terror or incapacity among women, but to the fact that their seat on horseback is so much more insecure that circumstances are very largely against safety if anything goes wrong. Taking into consideration this state of affairs, and the consequent very great additional risk that women run in the exercises, this balance in favor does not altogether rest on the man's side. Men are, all things being equal, quite as likely to become panic-stricken and meet with serious and fatal accidents as women. The custom of cross-saddle, which is slowly but surely gaining in favor, and will increase more rapidly as the bicycle fancy becomes general, will do away with very many of the serious mishaps that threaten the woman that rides.

It is a pitiful comment on the present state of things that paragraphers must indulge in such senseless expressions without even taking the trouble to inquire whether or not there is any justice in them. Men often write these things thoughtlessly, but there is a class of women who are a disgrace to their sex, and who never fail in order to cater to the vanity of some weak man of their acquaintance to carry the idea that women are rather poor and incompetent creatures at the best. It is women of this sort who block the wheels of progress, and handicap their sisters in their onward march toward a better condition of existence.—New York Ledger.

FASHION NOTES.

It is rarely that fashion remains so long pleased with one fabric as she has been with crepon.

White wings are used with flowers on hats of yellow, rough straw with medium wide, straight brims.

Chiffon fichus are beautiful as accessories on class day gowns of silky crepon or white striped taffeta.

The new and correct shade is the reddest red that could be imagined. Nothing in nature compares to it.

Stem and art greens in denim and linen are in great demand for making summer lounge and floor cushions.

Huge bows of colored taffeta ribbon are often the only trimming on hats which closely resemble the sailor in shape.

New creped zephyr goods appear in stripes, plain, chineed, or else crinkled in the way familiar in old-time seersuckers.

Dainty swivel silk dresses have for garniture various accessories of open-patterned white nainsook embroidery and satin ribbon.

The new straw hats come in every imaginable color, plain, shot and plaited, but the most popular hats for midsummer are butter yellow.

A dainty little bonnet is of puffed chiffon over a passementerie edge. The crown is of passementerie, and the trimming is of ostrich tips.

Brown straws, trimmed with yellow or blue flowers, are very popular, and shaded grasses are tied into unique loops, which are used as ribbon.

A blouse waist of silk or cotton with a skirt of tweed, serge or mohair makes the most comfortable and practical traveling dress for summer.

Some very elegant satin and brocaded satin skirts open in front directorie style over a gored skirt, or simulated one, of plain or striped satin.

Panama hats, trimmed with velvet and a pheasant's wing, are useful hats at the seashore, where perishable things will not survive the dampness of one day.

Bead garniture of a rich and elaborate sort is becoming a rage. There is no handsomer trimming made, and it rarely stays out of favor for any length of time.

Wraps to wear over bathing costumes are made of any sort of fancy plaid. Heavy material is preferable, as it stays in place much better and is more manageable.

Finely woven zephyr cottons of a single color, either light or dark, are shown with machine embroidered insertions around the skirt, and similar bands for the waist and sleeves.

One of the most desirable everyday hats is made of fancy chip in a modified sailor fashion. It is turned up at the back, and trimmed with many loops of satin-striped gauze ribbon.

The little capote bonnet fitting the head and occupying but little more space than a head-dress is much liked. A handsome model is made of box-plaited velvet, with three full ostrich tips.

Some of the new weaves in double width, all-silk crepon, though exceedingly tempting and beautiful, are quite beyond the reach of those who count their dollars in doing their shopping.

Velvet sleeves and soft belts are worn with dresses of extremely thin material. A dress of embroidered chiffon over silk has enormous puffs of velvet for sleeves and a soft belt set on corslet fashion.

A novelty to wear with an Eton suit of black satin trimmed with jet bands is a shirt waist of pink or yellow taffeta, belted in at the waist, the wide box-plait in front and the collar covered with a jetted lace insertion.

A stylish waist is made of taffeta in shepherd's plaid. The front is in blouse fashion, with plaits from the very narrow yoke. A long point of lace is sewed down each of these plaits to the bust. There is a lace collar and a standing ruching of the taffeta. The sleeves are very large, with taffeta ruffles below the elbows.

Sun Flowers.

The cultivation of sun flowers for their seeds, which are fed to the poultry, is said to be on the increase in Pennsylvania, the country of fine farms and economical, prosperous farmers. As long ago as 1826 the following notice of the value of the sun flower appeared in a Charleston publication:

Native Oil—Finer, sweeter oil, no country can supply than what we can, with little trouble and expense, prepare for ourselves. The tall annual sun flower will prove this, its seeds bruised and pressed yield an oil as sweet and as fine as that we import from Florence. From a bushel of this seed a gallon of oil may be drawn and with this advantage, that it can be obtained at any time, quite soft, bland and fresh. The seed also and mass that remain, after the expression of the oil, are of excellent use to feed and fodder hogs, poultry, etc. But besides all these uses, the growing plant is of eminent service, it having been proved that near twenty times as much pure depelogisticated air is exhaled from one plant in twenty-four hours, in light and clear weather, as a man respires in a vitiated and impure state in that space of time. Hence the inhabitants of close, ill-aired and unwholesome places should be diligent in its cultivation.

Couldn't Deceive Her.

"You have been a good while getting upstairs," said Mrs. Smarte, who, with her lord and master, was stopping at one of our hotels.

"Yes," said Smarte. "I stopped to take an elevator."

"Oh, you need not have taken the trouble to tell me," said Mrs. S., tossing her head. "I smelt your breath the moment you entered the room."—Boston Transcript.

How it looks,

to the women who wash with Pearline, when they see a woman washing in the old-fashioned way with soap—rubbing the clothes to pieces, rubbing away her strength, wearing herself out over the washboard! To these Pearline women, fresh from easy washing, she seems to "wear a fool's cap unawares."

Everything's in favor of Pearline—easier work, quicker work, better work, safety, economy. There's not one thing against it. What's the use of washing in the hardest way, when it costs more money?

WASHINGTON NOTES

GOSSIP OF THE CAPITAL IN BRIEF PARAGRAPHS.

Doings of the Chiefs and Heads of the Various Departments.

Acting District Attorney Taggart states that the case of Miss Flagler, who shot and killed the boy, Ernest Green, while he was stealing fruit, would be taken before the grand jury on the 9th of September. Miss Flagler was exonerated by the coroner's jury.

The Merchants' National bank, of Rome, Ga., has been authorized by the comptroller to resume business. The bank suspended April 27th, 1893, but has fully complied with the conditions imposed by the comptroller of the currency and its capital stock is [illegible].

The inauguration of a series of naval evolutions and strategic maneuvers greater than ever attempted before in this country was marked Wednesday by the departure of the cruiser New York, Montgomery and Cincinnati from New York to Newport. For the next two months these vessels, with [illegible] belonging to the north Atlantic squadron, will execute a maneuver program, extending from Hampton Roads, Va., to Halifax, N. S., which will include a strategic attack on New York and the working out of a series of problems prepared by the naval war college.

It is not probable that the statement concerning the success of Cuban filibusters published by the Cabinet in New York will be noticed officially by the administration. A member of the cabinet, discussing this subject, said that the government was doing all it could to and was acting in entire good faith with the Spanish government. He scouted the idea that any further proclamation would be issued by the president, for the reason that all that [illegible] said by the president had been said in the proclamation issued [illegible] ago. The United States, [illegible] stated, is exercising due care to prevent filibustering expeditions for Cuba from any ports of this country and the machinery of the treasury and navy departments was [illegible] to that end.

To Recall the Atlanta.

The navy department has practically decided to recall the cruiser Atlanta [illegible] duty of watching for Cuban filibustering expeditions off the [illegible] coast, and to substitute the [illegible] Cincinnati in her place. It has [illegible] considered best, however, not to make the change at present, because the departure of the Cincinnati would interfere with the coming maneuvers of the north Atlantic squadron. The change will take place very soon, however, and the Atlanta will return to New York where she will probably go into dry dock, and then if sufficient [illegible] and there is no urgent need for her services elsewhere she will [illegible] Cincinnati's place with the [illegible]

Postoffice Statement.

The postoffice department has prepared a statement showing the receipts [illegible] largest postoffices in the [illegible] for the second quarter, [illegible] 1895. The total receipts [illegible] for the quarter [illegible] increase over those [illegible] quarter of 1894 of $490,- [illegible] per cent. [illegible] show a decrease— [illegible] of $1,000, and Washington [illegible]—the latter because [illegible] sale of Columbian [illegible] to collectors in 1894. Criminals Safe in Mexico.

[illegible] Matt W. Ransom, United States minister to Mexico, called at the state department and had a talk with Acting Secretary Adee about the [illegible] which confront the United States government through the refusal of the Mexican government to grant a request for the extradition of [illegible] Bow, the fugitive Iowa embezzler, and his brother, Richard Bow. As matters now stand any criminal may flee from the United States to Mexico and secure himself from extradition by taking out neutralization papers, an easy thing in that country, where the purchase of property and the declaration of allegiance to the government is sufficient qualification for citizenship. When Mr. Ransom returns to Mexico he will probably make an effort to have the naturalization law amended so that it will not allow fugitives from the criminal laws of the United States to become citizens. Meanwhile he will ascertain the views of Secretary Olney on the subject. Mr. Ransom is much improved in health and expects to be able to return to his post in a short time. He has been recuperating in North Carolina.

Bounty Argument Begun.

The extraordinary argument which began in the office of the comptroller of the treasury Wednesday was brought about by Mr. Bowler's refusal to issue a warrant for about $12,500 in favor of the Oxnard Beet Sugar Company, of Neb., certified to by the auditor and the commissioner of internal revenue, and by the auditor sent to the comptroller for his action. Mr. Bowles was in doubt, upon looking into the case, of the constitutionality of the appropriation to pay bounty on the crop of 1895, contained in the new law, inasmuch as the court of appeals of the District of Columbia had decided that bounties themselves were unconstitutional, and he notified the claimants that until he was satisfied of the propriety and legality of the law he should decline to issue the warrant and Wednesday was fixed for hearing argument on the question. This determination of the comptroller interested the cane sugar men of Louisiana far more than it did the beet sugar men of Nebraska, as they had five millions at stake to about a quarter of a million by the Nebraskans. So Senators Caffrey and Blanchard and Judge Semmes, of Louisiana, joined ex-Senator Manderson, of Nebraska in the efforts to satisfy the comptroller that the proper thing to do was to issue the warrants. They tried to induce either Secretary Carlisle or President Cleveland to interfere in behalf of their clients, both those officials asserting that the comptroller was supreme in his sphere and beyond any influence or direction from them. Senator Manderson opened the case for the sugar men.

NEGROES DRIVEN OUT.

More Trouble by the Italian Mob at Spring Valley.

The Italian miners of Spring Valley, Ill., Tuesday, made an attempt to carry out their resolution of Monday to expel all the colored people remaining in the city, and the result was one of the most disgraceful outrages ever perpetrated in Bureau county. It was done under protection of the mayor and policemen. Innocent women and children were driven from their homes and insulted and their trunks and belongings dragged about and despoiled.

The affair outside of Spring Valley has created a sensation and the news spread rapidly. Condemnation of the proceedings is coming from every quarter. The "location" presented a dismal scene during the latter part of the day. Wagons were hurrying about, gathering up household goods and carrying them off on all the principal highways.

During part of the time, Martin Delmargo, the Italian mayor, accompanied by several Italian members of the police, were on the grounds watching the proceedings. Mayor Delmargo said he was there to see that the negroes got away peaceably, but if this was his purpose he did not accomplish what he went for.

Governor Altgeld has interested himself in this matter. In the afternoon Sheriff Clark, of Princeton, received a message from the governor asking for information on the subject. He wished to know what was being done by the officers of the law. Sheriff Clark replied giving a brief history of the events, being substantially in accordance with the United Press reports. He also said the authorities in Spring Valley were doing nothing and that he had never been called upon by the mayor for assistance.

CROP OUTLOOK IMPROVES.

More and More Favorable Conditions Reported Daily.

The weekly report of the local forecast official of the condition of the crops in Georgia indicates that the farmers of the state will have plenty this year.

The following is the report of the official for the state at large:

The rainfall of the past week was too heavy in the southern section, while in the northern portion of the state the showers were so light and scattered as to be of but very little benefit. In the central counties the amount of moisture was needed. Temperature was normal in the southern and slightly below normal in the northern half of the state. As a result of the dry weather corn in the northern counties has suffered slight injury, and while the outlook is not quite so promising as it was very recently there are still encouraging prospects for a large yield. In the central and southern counties an immense corn harvest is already assured. The complaint continues that cotton is small and backward and in the northern counties it has made little or no advancement during the week; but taking into consideration the fact that there is a remarkable absence of such evils as lice, rust and boll worms, there is every reason to hope that the crop will eventually turn out much above the average.

TEXAS SILVER MEN MEET.

The Convention at Fort Worth Passes a Set of 16 to 1 Resolutions.

At the free silver meeting at Fort Worth, Texas, a platform was adopted declaring radically in favor of free coinage of silver at 16 to 1, and strongly condemning the financial policy of the administration. After passing a number of unimportant resolutions the convention adjourned.

PATTON'S PLANS ACCEPTED.

A Chattanooga Architect to Build Tennessee's New Penitentiary.

JUSTICE JACKSON

DIES SUDDENLY AT HIS HOME IN WEST MEADE.

The Distinguished Jurist Had Been Declining for Over a Year.

Justice Howell E. Jackson, of the United States supreme court, died Thursday afternoon at 8:45 o'clock. Justice Jackson had been critically ill at his home at West Meade, Tenn., near Nashville, for several days and his death was expected at any moment.

Since his return from Washington, Justice Jackson had slowly declined, and though at times it has seemed that there was a chance of prolonged life, that hope was abandoned Thursday morning and the end came during the afternoon.

Howell Edmunds Jackson was born in Paris, Tenn., on the 8th of April, 1832. In 1840 he removed with his parents to Jackson, and was graduated in 1848 at the West Tennessee College. After being graduated there, he spent two years in the University of Virginia. In 1856 he received a diploma at Lebanon law school, and began to practice law at Jackson. In 1859 he removed to Memphis, and was twice appointed a judge of the state supreme court. On returning to Jackson in 1878 he was elected a representative in the legislature in 1880.

He was elected to the United States senate from Tennessee for the term beginning March 4, 1881, but resigned in 1886. In March of that year he was appointed by President Cleveland United States district judge for the western district of Tennessee, and afterwards associate justice of the supreme court of the United States.

Among his last official acts was hearing matters at Macon connected with the Central railroad receivership.

THE BUILDING FELL

And Many Workmen Thereon Caught in the Crash.

An eight-story building in course of construction at the northeast corner of West Third street and South Fifth avenue, New York, fell Thursday morning and a number of the workmen were carried down in the ruins.

Eighty odd men were working in the building. The great majority escaped. One was taken out dead, and four injured, but alive. A dozen or more are missing.

All of the dead, injured and missing were workmen, plasterers, carpenters and electrical fitting men.

A policeman was near the scene when the accident occurred. He said he heard the roar of the falling building and immediately after it saw a horse running away.

Hurrying towards the animal, he saw the cloud of dust near Third street and turned towards it. There he saw two men struggling in a pile of debris. He pulled the men out and began to release a third when the floor beneath gave way and let him down into the basement. He was terribly bruised and it is feared his back was broken.

The structure was to be an office and warehouse building, the property of John Ireland, real estate dealer. It is supposed that one of the supports in the centre of the third floor gave way and let the upper stories fall, crushing the lower floors.

What adds to the confusion is that a number of the men who were engaged on the building soon after the accident occurred left the scene. This makes it impossible to state just how many men are actually missing and the true number will not be known until these have reported to the foreman.

The ruins fill the centre of the building with broken timber, twisted iron girders and columns, brick, laths and plaster. It makes a mound as high as the second floor and is a mass as dense and hard to handle as a bank of clay.

It is said that seven men were at work in the cellar directly under the centre of the wreck. The building was filled with plasterers, electricians, plumbers, gas fitters and laborers. Contractor Parker and Foreman Seigmann have both been arrested.

It was said at the scene of the disaster that the cause was undoubtly the overloading of the sixth floor with plaster and building material.

LOW FARES AGREED UPON.

Passenger Men at Chicago Consent to Cheap Exposition Rates.

The whole territory included in the jurisdiction of the Ohio River Central Traffic and Western States Passenger associations is now assured of cheap rates to the Cotton States and International exposition at Atlanta.

The agreement which assured this was ratified at a mass meeting of representatives of the railroads and traffic associations interested, held at Chicago, Thursday. Concessions obtained are the result of the agitation for liberal rates which has been made by the projectors of the exposition.

THE DAVIS MONUMENT.

Committee Named to Raise Funds Meets in Richmond.

The committee appointed by the Grand Camp Confederate Veterans, of Virginia, to help raise funds for the Jefferson Davis monument, held its first meeting at Richmond Wednesday. President Ellison made an encouraging statement of what has already been accomplished by the monument association. There is $13,000 in the bank to the credit of the "monument fund," exclusive of $10,000 pledged by the people at Houston.

MRS. TALMAGE DEAD.

Wife of the Brooklyn Divine Passes Away.

A telegram from Danville, N. Y., announces the death of Mrs. T. De-Witt Talmage, which occurred there Monday morning. Since the burning of the Brooklyn tabernacle last year Mrs. Talmage has suffered from nervous prostration, and has never fully recovered from the shock sustained then. The fire broke out while the doctor was holding his usual Sunday reception, and a large number of parishioners and visitors were in the building. They all escaped, but Dr. Talmage went back into the burning edifice for something he had left there. During his absence Mrs. Talmage, who, with other members of the family, was outside awaiting his reappearance, became greatly excited and alarmed for the doctor's safety.

As soon as she was informed that he was all right she broke down completely, her overwrought nerves being unequal to such a strain. Her doctors suggested a European trip to build up her failing health. While in Rome she became ill with Roman fever and accompanied by one of her physicians returned home and was removed to the Danville sanitarium.

While Dr. Talmage was absent on a lecturing tour in the west last week he received a telegram summoning him to his wife's bedside. He at once cancelled all his engagements and hastened back to find that there was very little hope for the patient's recovery, and he remained with her until the end came.

FERTILIZER CONSOLIDATION.

A Number of Companies Will be Placed Under One Management.

Three of the largest and oldest phosphate manufacturing companies of the state have consolidated their business interests, and on September 1st the entire number of plants owned and operated by these companies will be controlled by the Southern Fertilizer Company, with headquarters in Atlanta.

This deal, which has just been completed, represents a paid in capital of $850,000, and the energies and business experience of three of the oldest fertilizer men in the south.

To Test the Dock at Port Royal.

The new Port Royal, S. C., dry dock, the largest in the United States, is now ready for use and will be tested on the 15th instant with the monitor Amphitrite. A board consisting of Captain Wiles, Naval Constructor Hanscom and Civil Engineer Asserson will enter the dock three times, the gates will be reversed and the condition of the structure carefully noted after each entrance.

Three Steamers Burned.

Fire at Cincinnati Monday afternoon destroyed the steamers, Big Sandy and Carrollton and the Memphis line's and the Louisville mail line's wharf boats, and injured five people. The loss on the Sandy is $60,000, on her cargo $10,000; on the Carrollton $40,000 and on the wharf boats $32,000.

Crooked Postmasters.

Chief Postoffice Inspector M. D. Wheeler has received information from New Orleans announcing the arrest of John R. Pellerson, late postmaster at Tyler, Tex., for robbing the mails, and also the arrest of A. J. Neely, postmaster at Waxahachie, Tex., for embezzling postal notes and money orders.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Situation as Reported for the Past Week.

The features of the industrial situation in the south for the past week as gathered from full reports received from every portion of the south, are the advances in wages at large southern mills and the resumption of important establishments that have been idle in some instances for years. The reports show no change in the iron, coal, or lumber markets, but all are stiff at present quotations, with prospects of an advance of 25 cents a ton in steam coal.

The leading southern factories that advanced wages during the week were the Norton Iron Works, Ashland, Ky., being a second advance, and the Ashland (Ky.) Wire and Iron Co., advance of 5 per cent. The Old Dominion Iron and Nail Works, Richmond, Va., 15 per cent.; Athens (Ga.) cotton mill a 10 per cent., to take effect September 1. The Birmingham Rolling Mills Co., advanced from $4.00 to $4.25 per ton, and the Alabama Rolling Mill Co., of Gate City, will make similar advance. The Maryland Steel Co., Baltimore, an advance of 10 per cent. Among the plants that have resumed are the following: Citico furnace, Chattanooga, and furnaces at Cowan, Tenn., and Buena Vista, and Pulaski, Va., Warwick Pottery, Wheeling, W. Va., Harriman (Tenn.) tack factory, Buescher Sons oil and gin works at Moulton, Texas, the Monroe (N. C.) cotton mill, and the Inman (Tenn.) iron ore mines. Other concerns to start up at an early date are the Gadsden (Ala.) pipe works; lumber mills of the Jacob Weiss Mfg. Co., Greenwood, Miss., and furnaces at South Pittsburg, Tenn., and Anniston, Ala.

Among the most important new industries reported for the week are large cotton compresses at Corinth, Miss., and Dallas, Texas, a 20-ton ice factory at Ocala, Fla., a $80,000 coal mining company at Windom, W. Va., and a $50,000 concern at Atlanta, Ga., to make telephone and telegraph supplies. A company to manufacture faucets has also been chartered at Atlanta, with a capital of $50 000, one to make bicycles at Owensboro, Ky., and a $25,000 company to do a building and manufacturing business at Richmond, Va. A cotton mill will be erected at Burlington, N. C., one with a capital of $100,000 at Hillsboro, N. C., an $80,000 mill at Bamberg, S. C., and one to cost $50,000 at Greer Depot, S. C.

A $150,000 lumber company has been chartered at Alcolu, S. C., another with a capital of $80,000 at Morgantown, W. Va., and $10,000 box factory will be built at New Orleans, La. Other woodworking plants will be established at Poplar Grove, Ark., and Orange and Waco, Texas.

Among the enlargements for the week are coke ovens at Horse Creek, Ala., an ice factory at Mobile, pipe works at Gadsden, Ala., a furniture factory at High Springs, Fla., and a lumber mill at Jasper, Ala.

The list of new buildings include $15,000 churches at Monroe, La., and Sherman, Texas, and one to cost $25,000 at Fairmount, W. Va., a $15,000 club building at Raleigh, N. C., and an $13,000 engine house at Louisville, Ky. A $40,000 hotel will be built at Tifton, Ga., one to cost $25,000 at Gaffney City, S. C., a $30,000 hospital at Charleston, W. Va., another to cost $25,000 at Dayton, Ky., and a $100,000 opera house at Knoxville, Tenn.—Tradesman, (Chattanooga, Tenn.)

BY UNANIMOUS VOTE

McLAURIN IS NAMED FOR GOVERNOR OF MISSISSIPPI.

The Nominee an Advocate of Free Coinage—Other Officers Named.

The biggest convention in the history of Mississippi was called to order at Jackson at noon Wednesday by Hon. J. B. Booth, of Panola county, who is chairman of the democratic state executive committee. Representatives' hall was packed upstairs and down with the bone and sinew of the state. Representative men of every calling and profession, whose chief mission to Jackson was to make ex-Senator A. J. McLaurin, of Rankin county, governor of the state were present.

The convention was called to order promptly at 12 o'clock by chairman Booth, who made an enthusiastic free silver speech, urging harmony in the democratic ranks and naming Hon. J. C. Longstreet, nephew of the late senator, as temporary chairman, whose nomination was unanimous. After a considerable squabbling as to committee on credentials, which was named by the chairman, the convention adjourned till 2:30 o'clock.

The convention reassembled at 3 o'clock, when C. C. Miller, of Lauderdale, and Senator George, of Carroll, were placed in nomination for permanent chairman, resulting: Miller 131; George, 150. Senator George took his seat amid the most terrific applause. Senator George made a red-hot free silver speech on taking the chair.

After the conclusion of Senator George's speech, on taking the chair as permanent chairman, a resolution was adopted that no nominating speeches should be made, and ex-Senator A. J. McLaurin, of Rankin, was chosen governor by acclamation. He was called for vociferously and responded in a short speech, thanking the convention for the distinguished honor. No man was ever nominated governor of Mississippi by acclamation before.

Mr. McLaurin, who is a native of Rankin county, Mississippi, is forty-four years of age. He first came into notice in 1894, when elected to fill Walthall's unexpired term in the United States senate. He championed the cause of free silver and the first day he took his seat voted against the confirmation of Hornblower for the supreme court bench. His record in the senate made him thousands of friends at home, and when he announced his ambition to be governor he swept aside all opposition as chaff in a whirlwind, the two aspirants abandoning the race some time ago. Other nominations followed in rapid succession, all on the first ballot, as follows:

Lieutenant governor, Colonel J. H. Jones, of Wilkinson; secretary of state, J. T. Power, of Hinds; auditor, Colonel W. D. Holder, of LaFayette; treasurer, M. Q. May, of Simpson.

The committee on resolutions reported as follows:

"Whereas, We, the democrats of the state of Mississippi assembled, deem it advisable to have uniformity of expression among democrats upon the official question, and the democratic party of Missouri in convention on the 6th of August, 1895, having adopted the following resolution, which meets with our approval, therefore be it

"Resolved by the democratic party of the state of Mississippi, That we adopt as our declaration of principles upon the money question said resolutions."

Here followed the Missouri official resolutions in full.

Other resolutions indorsing the present tariff laws, demanding an income tax law and reviewing matters of local interest, were also adopted, without a dissenting vote.

Pending the nomination for attorney general, over which there was a division, the convention adjourned until Thursday morning.

Thursday the state convention added the names of the following to the democratic ticket: Wiley N. Nash, of Okittibaha, attorney general; A. A. Kincannan, of Lauderdale, superintendent of education; Rev. W. E. Brown, of Copiah, clerk supreme court; J. M. Simonton, of Lakeland, commissioner; Wert Adams, of Hinds, revenue agent.

GARY WAS DISCHARGED.

The Governor Decided that He Was Guilty of Infraction of Rules.

Porter Stocks' death in a convict garb some two weeks ago at Mineola camp was given an airing in the governor's office at Atlanta Saturday. Four witnesses, each of whom was supposed to have known all about Stocks' death, were listened to attentively by the governor, the principal keeper of the penitentiary, the attorney general, representatives of the lessees and Col. Glenn, attorney for Captain John T. Stocks, father of the dead convict. The testimony covered a long time in its delivery; in fact, the hearing was adjourned over until Monday. The hearing was concluded Monday and Governor Atkin on decided against Captain Gary. A formal order was then issued revoking Gary's commission as whipping boss.

To Meet at Saratoga.

The New York republican state committee met and voted to hold the state convention at Saratoga September 17th. The committee voted to meet in Saratoga on the evening of September 16th.

POINTS RECAPITULATED

In the Horr-Harvey Financial Argument at Chicago.

In accordance [illegible] an agreement entered into by the silver and gold debaters—Messrs. Horr and Harvey—governing their recent contest [illegible] Chicago, each was to prepare a recapitulation of the points made in their respective arguments, not exceeding 2,500 words each, and to complete the same within a week from the close of the contest. This has been done and in substance the summary of Roswell G. Horr is as follows:

"Mr. Harvey admits that the book is pure fiction. He repudiates its motto, by declaring that it does not mean what it says. His statement that primary money only is the measure of value he has not even attempted to sustain, though his proof has been called for repeatedly. Mr. Harvey next based his case upon the assumption that the law of 1873 was a crime and stated that it had its origin in fraud and its birth through bribery and corruption. He introduced no evidence in support of either proposition and he stands convicted of making everyone of these charges without any proof that would be received in any ordinary court of justice. If congress was bribed to pass a bad bill, then the bill must have first passed in bad shape. Now, if that be true, then there would be no need of a clerk to do the dirty work. If it was done by the enrolling clerk, then it follows that congress passed the bill as it ought to have been and consequently they could not have done what he says they were bribed to do. If congress passed the bill all right and the enrolling clerk enrolled it correctly, then the bribery could apply only to the members of the conference committee. All these villainies are then abandoned when he claims that the whole thing was accomplished by means of a 'substitute bill.' He misled people by partial statements which led to false conclusions when the whole statement would have been perfectly clear to any one. The civilized world is clearly on my side of the issue."

Mr. Harvey, in summarizing the debate, says:

"It settled the proposition that gold and silver are the money of the constitution. Mr. Horr did not controvert this. The silver dollar was the unit of value in our coinage system fixed by the act of 1792. Mr. Horr admits this. Silver and gold were the measures of value of all other property until 1873, and the debtor had a right to pay in either metal. The act of 1873 was surreptitiously passed. The prices of all property are now measured in gold alone and are substantially one-half which they would be under the bimetallic system. I have made good all the propositions set forth in my opening statement. Mr. Horr found no errors in my book except the statement that the silver coined prior to 1873 was $105,000,000 instead of $143,000,000. Mr. Horr shows that he does not yet know what bimetallism is."

ALABAMA MINERS ON A STRIKE.

They Object to Piling Up the Coal on the Cars.

The colored and white miners working for the Sloss Iron and Steel Company, at the Ruffner, Ala., ore mines, went out on a strike Wednesday afternoon for an advance in wages. There are about one hundred and fifty men employed at these mines, and nearly all of them are negroes. A committee from the men, composed of three negroes and two white, went to Superintendent Goodsen and made known their request. It was refused and the strike was the result.

One of the white miners states that the cause of the strike was for an advance of 5 cents per car, and the taking off of the six-inch pile on top of the carload. He says that company is now paying 55 and 60 cents per car for the ore mining. Recently it has been demanded that the men load six inches above a reasonable level of the car. The strike is for an advance of from 55 and 60 cents to 60 and 65 cents per car, and the taking off of the six-inch rule.

He said also that the committee who had carried the miners' request to the superintendent had been summarily dismissed from the company's service Thursday and had been given orders on the company's office for all amounts due them.

The negroes seem to be determined in the fight, so he said, and have begun taking out their tools.

The situation at Brookside, Cardiff and Brazeal remains unchanged. Only a few men are at work, and they are said to be loading the coal dug out before the strike began.

MISS FLAGLER UNDER BOND.

Surrenders Herself to the District Criminal Court and is Released.

Miss Elizabeth Flagler, who shot and killed Ernest Green a few days ago, surrendered herself in the district criminal court at Washington Wednesday, and was released on $10,000 bail to await the action of the grand jury.

Her bondsmen are John Cassell, a wealthy real estate broker, and General Robert McFeeley, ex-commissary general, U. S. A.

It is stated that this action is in accordance with an agreement made by the prosecution and defense immediately following the verdict of the coroner's jury.

Four Burned to Death in a Hotel.

Four people were burned to death by a fire at Pendleton, Ore., which destroyed the Transfer hotel and several adjoining buildings on Main street, one block from the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company depot.

BABB AS GOVERNOR

IOWA DEMOCRATS NOMINATE THE JUDGE EASILY.

[illegible] Money [illegible] Adopted by the Convention.

The Iowa democratic state convention met at Marshallton Wednesday and was called to order in the Odeon opera house, by Chairman Howard, at 10 o'clock. The body contained 1,070 delegates, every county being fully represented. Judge Nathaniel French, of Davenport, was made temporary chairman and addressed the convention.

After speaking on state issues, mainly the local option law, Mr. French took up the currency question, and spoke of the conditions leading up to panic.

Caucuses held prior to the assembling of the convention by various districts revealed the fact that the free silver men were in a hopeless minority. The committee on resolutions is nearly unanimous for sound money.

The ticket nominated was as follows:

For governor—Judge W. I. Babb, Mt. Pleasant.

Lieutenant governor—Ex-Governor H. L. Bestow, of Chariton.

Superintendent public instruction—Liman B. Parshall, of Maquoqueta.

Railroad commissioner—Col. George James, of Dubuque.

Supreme judge—Senator Thomas G. Harper, Des Moines.

Judge Babb made a brief speech in which he said he only accepted because of repeated urging and his devotion to the party and its interests in the state in which he was born and reared. He said the differences existing in the party as developed in the convention were in regard to details rather than to great principles involved in financial and other leading issues, which should be left to legislation.

The Platform Adopted.

Following is the platform in full:

"The democratic party of Iowa, in convention assembled, reaffirms the national platform of the party adopted in Chicago in 1892. It points with satisfaction to the evidence of wisdom of that convention in results accomplished, according to promises; to evidences of returning prosperity, restoration of wages and re-establishment of industry upon a prosperous basis—conditions which have extorted congratulations from even the republicans of Iowa. We declare the rescue of the finances of the country from the baneful effects of the Sherman law; the repeal of the un-American federal election law and uprooting of McKinley to be works worthy the history and prestige of the great democratic party and of a courageous democratic administration.

The financial plank in the platform of 1892 is reaffirmed and the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people is demanded. The platform speaks for a local option high license law for Iowa.

The minority report which was signed by only two members of the committee declared for the immediate repeal of all laws against the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1. The roll call in the resolutions showed that the minority report was defeated by a vote of 651½ to 430½.

WILL TOUCH THE BUTTON.

President Cleveland Will Start the Exposition Wheels.

Governor Bullock, of Georgia, chairman of the committee on ceremonies and ceremonial days of the Cotton States and International exposition, called on the president at Buzzard's Bay Tuesday to request him to press the electric button to start the wheels in the exposition at Atlanta, September 18th, and also to tender the service of the Gate City Guard, the crack Georgia military company, as honorary escort from Washington to Atlanta and return on October 23d when the president and his cabinet will visit the exposition. The president assured Governor Bullock that he would take great pleasure in pressing the button and starting the wheels on the 18th, and from Gray Gables or wherever he might be on that day. As to the escort the president said he fully appreciated the compliment tendered by the military company but his desire to avoid display compelled him to decline the honor.

FOURTEEN DURANT JURORS.

Two Extra Men Sworn in Case of Emergency.

District Attorney Barnes announces that for the purpose of avoiding delays that might arise from the sickness or death of jurors, fourteen jurors will be empanneled to try Durant.

The attorneys on both sides have agreed to this action from the fact that the trial is expected to last several months. Two extra jurors will attend the session of the court regularly, the same as the other jurors, but will take no part in formulating a verdict unless called upon to act as alternates.

The law authorizing the swearing in of extra jurors was passed two years ago by the California legislature and this is the first time the new provision will be put to use.

Will be Argued at Washington.

The hearing of the complaint of the Georgia Railroad Commission, about the fruit rate, before the Interstate Commerce Commission, was concluded at Atlanta Wednesday afternoon. The matter will be argued at an early date before the whole commission at Washington, and the result will be awaited with much interest.

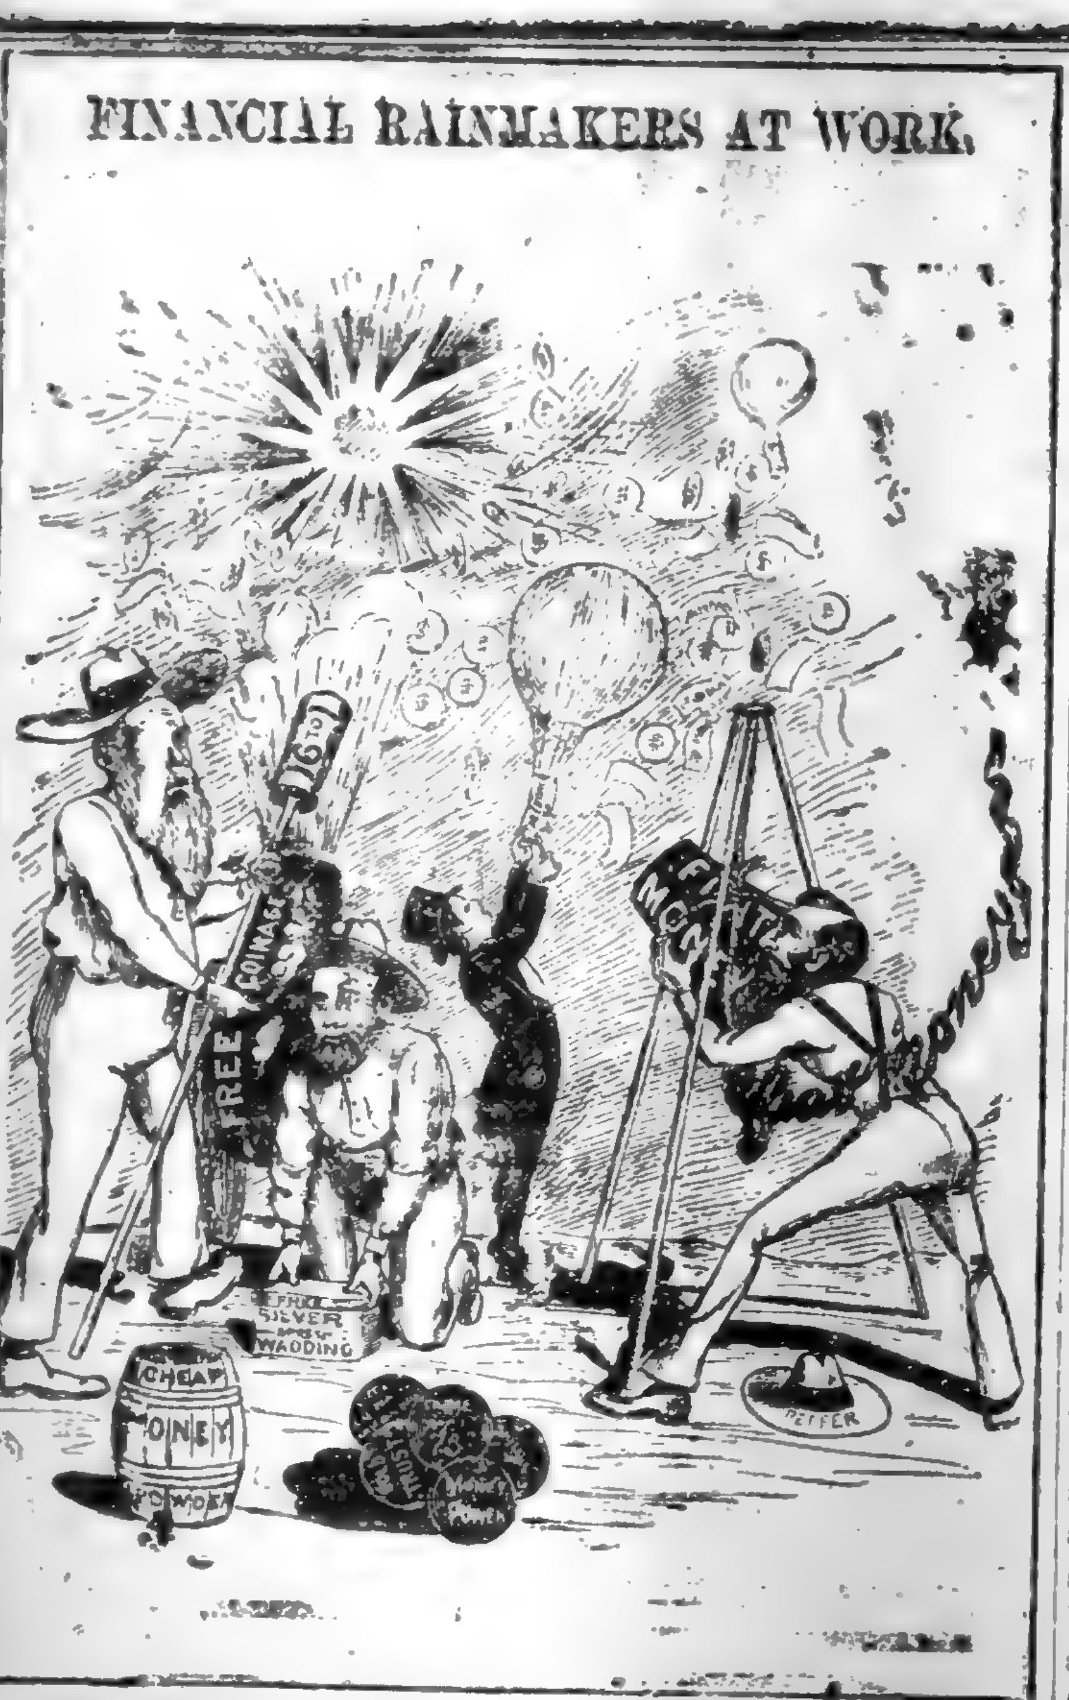
FINANCIAL RAINMAKERS AT WORK.



A COLORADO CONFESSION.

FINANCIAL RAINMAKERS.

An Editor Throws Off His Free Silver Mask and Tells the Truth.

The seeds of sound currency and likewise of sound sense are taking root even when sown in stony places. The Durango Democrat of Colorado, which has been "whooping it up" for free silver and the mine owners, took a turn which must have surprised its readers and have dumfounded the gold contract silver mine owners. Its leading editorial was headed "A Confession Wrung From Conscience." In this editorial the writer throws off the silver cloak disguise and asserts his manhood. The following is a part of this interesting editorial:

"Kentucky has spoken. Her honest stroke in support of the gold standard sounds the knell of the silver humbug within her borders and sets a good example for other states.

"It is time, for the sake of Colorado's reputation for honesty, if not for common sense, that some one in authority should disabuse the minds of eastern and foreign investors of the notion that this whole state has run silver mad. It is true that The Democrat has joined with other newspapers in Colorado, for reasons which need not be specified here, in 'booming' silver, while everybody knew that it was steadily and irresistibly on its way down hill. But the limit has been reached. Conscience revolts, as decency long ago revolted, against carrying on this fraud any longer. The political ends to be gained by it sink into insignificance when contrasted with the damage which is bound to result from it in the long run."

The rest of the article is a clear common sense exposition of the certain operation of free coinage as a "debt scaling" scheme, and of the effect upon Colorado of continuing to advocate that scheme. It shows how hopelessly any business man would be discredited who should adopt any such principle and declares that communities, whether states or nations, must suffer in the same way, and it adds:

"But since for once The Democrat is permitting itself the luxury of telling the truth on the silver question let us make still a further admission. We cannot, by any hocus pocus or tomfoolery: by any false estimates of our own strength, by any brag or bluster or empty swagger, prevent the old world from collecting every dollar, every dime, every cent's worth of debt due from us, with full interest to date of payment."

The result must be that, if free silver were successful, only Americans would be cheated. The process by which Colorado has been kept in "the front rank in the past as a silver state" is described "not in bitterness, but in sorrow," for "The Democrat is ashamed of itself for having lent its influence so long to the perpetuation of the humbug." But the end is coming. The article closes as follows: "But there is not an intelligent and educated reader within reach of these lines who does not know that every word we have penned is downright, solid, unassailable truth. Bankers, merchants, mechanics, farmers—we do not rule out any of these classes. In their innermost hearts they know that we are upholding national honor against dishonor, national credit against contempt, national prosperity against failure."

How Will They Get It?

Silverites reply to the proof that there is far more money now in this country than at any previous period in our history by saying: "The money is all locked up in the banks. We want free silver so the people will have the money." But they never explain how free coinage, under which the silver mine owners would take their bullion to the mint and get back coined dollars, would put those dollars in the pockets of the people, or how it would keep them out of the banks if their owners chose to deposit them. The fact that we have nearly five times as much money per capita as Mexico, a free silver country, should lead the believers in free coinage to think a little about the probable results of their scheme.

Free Silver Charlatans Endeavoring to Humbug the People.

It is only a year or two ago since the country was thrown into excitement by the announcement that a man named Frank Melbourne had discovered a method of bringing rain out of clear skies. To the farmers of the western prairies the news was especially gratifying, as they had so often suffered from drought that a means of supplying artificial moisture was of the greatest importance. In spite of the warnings of men of science that the man was an impostor many villages and towns paid considerable sums of money to Melbourne and his imitators, expecting to be favored with refreshing showers. It is true that in some cases it did rain after the rainmaker had sent up a balloon with dynamite and had set off some gases out of a machine which he carried around in a wagon, but in the great majority of cases no rain fell, and the people lost their money. Even when it did rain no sensible man believed that it had been brought by the bombardment of the air, and now Melbourne confesses that he cannot and never could make rain, saying in a recent interview: "There is no such thing as making rain. The American people like to be humbugged. The bigger the humbug the easier they are duped."

Another set of charlatans are now traveling through the south and west engaged in trying to fool the people into believing that wealth will be rained down upon them if they will only elect a free coinage congress and president. Peffer, Bland, Stewart and "Coin" are preaching doctrines that are just as silly and as much opposed to natural laws as were those of the rainmakers. It is not strange that people who could be deluded into thinking that a quack could make rain should believe that debasing the measure of values would make more wealth. But fortunately they are in the minority, and the intelligent majority will never consent to be made the victims of such foolish schemes. The new rainmakers are making lots of noise and sending up plenty free coinage gas, but they are only laughed at by the men of sound common sense. Let the quacks go on, but don't waste any money on them.

Free Coinage and Labor.

It is unquestionably true that no part of our people is so vitally interested in the preservation of a sound and stable currency as the men and women who work for wages, and in the term wages I include salaries and compensation in every form paid for personal services in all the occupations of life. The evils of a depreciated and fluctuating currency must always fall most heavily upon the poor, who do not produce for themselves but for others, and who are therefore compelled to purchase with their wages everything they eat, drink and wear. Their wages will remain stationary, or at best they will rise slowly and at long intervals, while the prices of the necessaries of life are liable to rise suddenly from day to day as the value of the currency changes, and consequently what may appear to be a fair rate of compensation at the time a labor contract is made may prove to be grossly inadequate long before the labor is performed. The laborer cannot protect himself against fluctuations in the prices of commodities, for he cannot purchase at wholesale when prices are low and keep out of the markets when prices are high. He must buy day by day, and he must pay out of his earnings, whether their purchasing power be great or small. The employer cannot afford to promise higher wages in advance, because with a depreciating and fluctuating currency he cannot possibly foretell what the prices of his products will be at any time in the future. Thus the laborer is the victim of two influences, neither of which can he successfully resist. He must accept whatever wages are offered by employers or go without work, and he must pay whatever prices are demanded in the markets or go without food.—Secretary Carlisle at Louisville.

AT THE CONVICT FARM.

Governor Oates, accompanied by Col. R. H. Dawson of the convict bureau, Dr. Judson Davie, physician-inspector, Mr. Frank P. Glass of the Advertiser, Mr. Robert Tate, clerk of the convict bureau, and the Age Herald man, boarded the early morning Louisville and Nashville train and went to Speigner to pay a semi-official visit to the state convict farm located at that place.

The party found conveyances in waiting at the station, and under the chaperonage of the warden, Mr Cowling, went over the farm and inspected the growing crops. Citizens who live in the northern part of the state and who have never visited the farm have little idea of the great work which is being done there. Five hundred bales of cotton will be produced at a conservative estimate, and a number of thousand bushels of corn.

The crops are scrupulously clean and Mr. Cowling has shown himself to be an excellent farmer.

The acreage of the different crops is as follows: Cotton, 850 acres; corn and peas, 300 acres; potatoes, 75 acres; peanuts, 50 acres; peas, 20 acres; truck patch, 30 acres; rice, 8 acres; millette, 1 acre, sugar cane, 1 acre, making a total of 1335 acres in cultivation. There are 222 negro and forty-nine white convicts at the farm, but very few of them are able to do a man's work. The farm is really a hospital for convicts in ill health taken from the mines.

After being shown over the entire farm and inspecting the stock and talking to the prisoners, the governor expressed himself as being highly pleased with the conduct of the farm. The crops are really wonderful considering the unproductive quality of the land.

SILVER AND WAGES.

HOW FREE COINAGE WOULD AFFECT THE LABORER.

American Gold Wages Will Be Reduced to India Silver Wages—Profits of Employers Will Be Advanced—Silver Question In a Nutshell.

The following is an extract from "Free Coinage Dissected," a recent number of Sound Currency by the Hon. John De Witt Warner:

But there is another way to look at it. We have seen how appreciation of gold means higher wages to the laborer. Now let me show you what the so called appreciation of silver means. I lately since heard a very pleasant gentleman, Mr. Cannon, a delegate in the next congress from Utah, expound the silver side of the free silver question, and he went on to explain, first, that prices of goods were low here because they were measured in gold, and then that, on account of our wages here being paid in gold—which was costly—and wages in India, China and Japan being paid in silver—which was worth only one-half what it had been—they had a 50 per cent advantage, and that therefore there was great danger of manufacturers being driven from the world's markets. Do you see what that means? That their wages are so much lower than ours on account of the appreciation of gold here; that, unless [illegible] wages are made equivalent to theirs [illegible] that respect at least—unless [illegible] inflate [illegible] in this country so that our gold wages will pay no more than their silver wages—their labor will tend to drive our labor out. In other words, the proposition to appreciate silver is practically a proposition to cut the wages of the laborers of this country squarely in half in order to increase the profits of their employers.

Three months ago, though I should have argued this—for I believed it to be true—I should not have ventured to state that it was the serious contention of the free silver advocates. But I have not merely heard it put squarely by the gentleman I have mentioned as speaking for that issue, [illegible] other statement. Sir Henry Meysey Thompson [illegible] silver advocates, [illegible] a man who would write [illegible] explaining how it was that China and India and other silver using countries were getting an advantage over England, and a great many people competed for that prize. Mr. Jamieson, the British consul at Shanghai, wrote so good a paper that he was awarded the prize, and that essay is now the chief stock in trade of the British agitation for the restoration of silver. Now let me read you something from it. Sir Henry Meysey Thompson is proud of it. Here it is: "Wages in the gold using countries have, through the appreciation of gold, become 100 per cent dearer than they were relatively to silver wages, and the manufacturer in the silver standard countries can obtain his labor at half the cost which he formerly paid;" hence "while old established industries in England are barely paying expenses new industries in India are arising broadcast and paying handsomely." And the remedy proposed by silver advocates in England is to correct this appreciation of gold and raise prices, so that the British workman though getting the same nominal wages, will get only half the real wages he gets now, and the British manufacturer thus be enabled to compete with the Indian manufacturer.

A similar view is taken by Senor Romero, the Mexican minister at Washington, in his article in The North American Review for June, when he asserts that the depreciation of silver has favored Mexican capitalists by lowering the actual wages of their employees.

There is the silver question in a nutshell. It is simply the question as to whether our wage earners are getting too high wages. They may as well face the question. If wage earners believe they are getting too high wages, and that this country is suffering in consequence, all they have to do is to take lower wages, or if they prefer a round about way they can favor free coinage of silver, and they will get their wages cut down half without any further trouble on their part, and we will be blessed as are India and China.

Fiat Wheat.

Farmer--Wheat is only half a crop this year.

Free Silver Politician'—That's all right. We'll have a law passed to make two pecks a bushel, and then you'll have as much as usual.

A Historical Fact.

The Nashville Banner says: "This is a historical statement that can't be refuted, and it goes to the very heart of the financial issue. No country has ever circulated concurrently for any considerable length of time both gold and silver money when there was free and independent coinage of both. The attempted bimetallism under such conditions has resulted always in alternate circulation of the two metals, the cheaper metal taking the place of the dearer as ratios were varied, either by commercial causes or by legislation."

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osgood,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Kincheloe,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. Archer, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Household Hints.

Strong alum water is efficacious as a vermin destroyer.

Add a teaspoonful of powdered borax to the bath, as it will soften the water and prove very invigorating.

In boiling rice, peas or macaroni, save the water in which they were boiled for use in soups.

In making hard pudding sauce add sugar gradually to butter, and it will cream more quickly.

Poultry that is scalded will not keep as long as will poultry that has been dry-picked.

Thread a needle from the end of the thread last cut from the spool.

Stuff a rag saturated with cayenne pepper in rat holes.

Buy new rubber rings for fruit jars. Don't use the old ones if you want your canned fruit to keep.

Laugh and Grow Fat!
You shall do both, even if you are a slab-sided, pallid, woe-begone dyspeptic, if you reinforce digestion, insure the conversion of food into rich and nourishing blood, and recover appetite and sleep by the systematic use of the great renovator of health, strength and flesh, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which also remedies malarial, kidney and rheumatic trouble, nervousness, constipation and biliousness.

All sensuality is one, though it takes many forms; all purity is one.

Pure and Wholesome Quality
Commends to public approval the California liquid laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs. It is pleasant to the taste and by acting gently on the kidney, liver and bowels to cleanse the system effectually, it promotes the health and comfort of all who use it, and with millions it is the best and only remedy.

Supreme Court Decisions.
Since Chas. O. Tyner began the manufacture of Tyner's Dyspepsia Remedy, many people have inquired as to its efficacy. Chief Justice Bleckley, of Georgia, has tried it for indigestion and dyspepsia, and gives this as his decision.
"Atlanta, Ga., March 14, 1894. Chas. O. Tyner, Atlanta, Ga.: I have used, and am now using, Tyner's Dyspepsia Remedy. It is a mental as well as a physical elixir. With it and a pair of spectacles I can frequently see the law in spite of unsuitable or too much diet. "LOGAN E. BLECKLEY."
This is a splendid decision and people are profiting by it.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.
KENNEDY'S
Medical Discovery.

DONALD KENNEDY, OF ROXBURY, MASS.,

Has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures every kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common pimple.

He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases (both thunder humor). He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston. Send postal card for book.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the right quantity is taken.

When the lungs are affected it causes shooting pains, like needles passing through them; the same with the Liver or Bowels. This is caused by the ducts being stopped, and always disappears in a week after taking it. Read the label.

If the stomach is foul or bilious it will cause squeamish feelings at first.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it. Dose, one tablespoonful in water at bedtime. Sold by all Druggists.

MISSOURI ACTS.

THE DEMOCRATS OF THE STATE MEET AT PERTLE SPRINGS.

Free Coinage Resolutions Adopted. Executive Committee Reorganized.

The democratic state convention of Missouri was called to order Tuesday morning, at Pertle Springs, by Vice-Chairman John H. Carroll. He stated the purpose of the convention and introduced Hon. Richard P. Bland as temporary chairman. Mr. Bland began on a speech which lasted but a few minutes. He stated that it was the desire of the delegates that the state committee should be enlarged, and he hoped that this enlargement would be made in such a way as to leave no bitter feeling or disappointed hopes.

After the usual committees had been selected the convention took a recess until 2 o'clock p. m. The committee on resolutions sprang a surprise by electing as their chairman Congressman De Armond, of Bates county, and they immediately began their labors. The committee on permanent organization decided upon Hon. R. P. Bland for permanent chairman.

The convention reassembled at 2 o'clock and the temporary organization was permanent. It was recommended that the present state committee be enlarged by the addition of one committeeman from each congressional district and by the election by the convention of four committeemen at large, making the total committee thirty-four, instead of fifteen, as at present constituted. The proposition was carried.

The Resolution Received.

The resolutions committee's report was read and adopted. The preamble and resolutions are as follows:

"The federal constitution names silver and gold together as the money metals of the United States.

"The first coinage bill passed by congress under the constitution made the silver dollar the unit of value and admitted gold to free coinage at a ratio measured by the silver dollar unit.

"From the beginning of the government, following a policy formulated by Thomas Jefferson and firmly established by Jackson, the democratic party has been the party of bimetallism, favoring the free coinage of both silver and gold at the national mints, and opposed to farming out to banking corporations the government's sovereign power of issuing and controlling the money of the people.

"The act of 1873 demonetizing silver was surreptitiously passed, without the approval or knowledge of the American people, and from the time when the effect of this act in fastening upon the country the single gold standard was understood, the democratic party had consistently and persistently urged that the grievous wrong be righted.

"Failure to accomplish this object has resulted in the steady appreciation of gold, a corresponding fall in the prices of commodities produced by the people, a heavy increase in the burden of all debtors, public and private, the enrichment of the money lending class, paralysis of industry and impoverishment of the people and unexampled distress in all gold standard countries.

"Experience has shown that while under the single gold standard there may be an occasional revival of business activity, accompanied by enhanced prices of a limited number of commodities, such revival is due to artificial and temporary causes and cannot permanently alleviate the sufferings due to falling prices brought about by the appreciation of gold and an adequate supply of primary or redemption money.

"Duty to the people requires that the party of the people continue the battle for bimetallism until its efforts are crowned with success.

"Therefore be it resolved, That we, the democrats of Missouri, in convention assembled, demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold, into primary or redemption money, at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the action or approval of any other nation.

"2. Resolved, That we are irrevocably opposed to the substitution for metallic money of a panic-breeding-corporation-credit currency based on a single metal, the supply of which is so limited that it can be cornered at any time by a few banking institutions in Europe and America.

"3. Resolved, That we are opposed to the policy and practice of surrendering to the holders of the obligations of the United States the option reserved by the law to the government of redeeming such obligations in either silver coin or gold coin.

"4. Resolved, That we are opposed to the issuing of interest-bearing bonds of the United States in time of peace, and especially are we opposed to placing the treasury of the government under the control of any syndicate of bankers and the issuance of bonds to be sold by them at an enormous profit for the purpose of supplying the federal treasury with gold to maintain the policy of gold monometallism."

Additional resolutions were adopted instructing the state committee to call a convention not later than April 15th to elect delegates to the national convention, also sending congratulations of the Missouri silver democratic convention to Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky.

The resolutions were adopted amid enthusiastic applause and without a dissenting voice. The delegates from the different congressional districts then named their candidates for additional members of the state committee and they were unanimously elected.

Asked to Demand Gold.

The old soldiers of Topeka and Shawnee county, Kansas, who called for their money at the office of Pension Commissioner Glick Monday had the following circular distributed among them:

"Comrades—Halt! You are entitled to gold in payment of your checks. Demand it. Do not accept depreciated currency."

The pensioners are paid by checks, which are cashed at Topeka banks.

A JUROR TALKS.

Says the Verdict in Miss Flagler's Case Was Changed.

A Washington special says: Renewed interest in the unfortunate shooting affair, in which Miss Flagler killed the boy Ernest Green, is aroused by the publication of a card from Geo. J. M. Dorsey, a member of the coroner's jury, charging that the verdict agreed upon was changed at the suggestion of the counsel for Miss Flagler after it had been signed and given to the court crier. Mr. Dorsey says:

"When the jury was ready to announce its verdict that verdict was concluded with the sentence: 'We do think that the shots were fired carelessly and indifferently.' I believed that the wording was sufficient to carry the case to the grand jury, otherwise I should not have signed it. After Coroner Hammell and Assistant Attorney Jeffords came into the jury room, Mr. Ross Perry, counsel for the defendant, entered in company with Miss Flagler, and then the crowd came crowding in. Mr. Perry heard what was said and remarked to Coroner Hammell that something should be added to the verdict. Mr. Perry then reached over and, picking up the paper on which the verdict was written, and already signed by all the jurors, handed it to Mr. Hammett and suggested that these words be added: 'And from the evidence, we cannot hold the prisoner.' Mr. Hammett then wrote these words before the signature, and turning to the jury, said: 'Gentlemen, is this satisfactory?' Four of the jurors nodded in the affirmative, but myself and one other member of the jury remained silent and gave no indication of our opinion. * *

"I was, when on the jury, and still am firmly of the belief that Miss Flagler should be brought before the grand jury and that that body should consider the evidence and decide whether Miss Flagler should be prosecuted. I wish to say further that Coroner Hammett assured me that all the facts connected with the case would be brought to the grand jury. My intention in holding out was, and still is, to disagree with any verdict that would set Miss Flagler without the jurisdiction of the grand jury."

YOUTHFUL MURDERER.

A Boy of Twelve Kills His Schoolmate.

At Houston, Fla., Albert Tillis, aged 12, killed Annie Avant, aged 9, as they were returning from school. The boy knocked the girl on the head with a lightwood kno, dragged her body into the woods and partly covered it with leaves.

It seems that Tillis, father of the boy, and Mrs. Avant, who is a widow, had quarreled, and Tillis had ordered his son not to allow the little girl to walk with him from school any more, even if he had to kill her. When the children left school the boy told Annie not to walk with him. The little girl came on, however, and then, in obedience to his father's commands, the boy picked up a lightwood knot and killed the child. The Tillis and Avant families are well to do.

TO BUILD ELECTRIC MOTORS.

A Move to Operate Steam Railroads by the Current.

A Philadelphia dispatch says: The successful use of electricity as a motive power on steam roads has led the Baldwin Locomotive Works and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company to effect a combination.

Conferences have been going on between the two companies for the past two or three months, which have resulted in an agreement by which they will hereafter work together the development of apparatus for the operation of steam railroads by electricity.

It is expected that the union of the two great companies will result in the early introduction of improved forms of electric motors for standard railroads.

COULDN'T BLUFF CARLISLE.

The Secretary Wins a Case Against Obstroperous Contractors.

A Washington special says: Justice Cole of the district supreme court has refused to issue a mandamus asked for by W. H. Whatley and Harry Taylor of New York city against Secretary Carlisle and Treasury Morgan.

The government owed Messrs. Whatley and Taylor $17,000 for certain contract work done at Willet's Point, N. Y. Secretary Carlisle ordered that the checks be paid on a certain date in the presence of certain alleged creditors of Messrs Whately and Taylor.

The latter objected to this course and attempted to make the secretary make payment in another form. This he refused to do.

CHINESE BURNED THE HOUSES

And the Missionaries Killed While Trying to Escape.

The London Globe publishes a dispatch from Hong Kong, saying that the massacre at Whasang, near Kucheng, commenced early Thursday. The mob set fire to the houses of the missionaries and killed eight women, one child and the husband of one of the women. Several Christians were wounded, two probably fatally. Chinese troops have been dispatched to the scene.

The British and American consuls will interview the viceroy of the province in regard to the outrage. All foreigners who were killed were British; the Americans all escaped. The members of the attacking party belonged to the Chinese sect.

A TRUCE DECLARED.

The Race War at Spring Valley, Illinois, at an End.

The war on negroes by the Italians of Spring Valley has been declared off. The Spring Valley Coal Company will be permitted to resume operations and the negroes will return to their homes. This action was taken Wednesday at a mass meeting of all the white miners, which assembled in the public square. About 500 miners were present, the largest part of whom were English-speaking. Interpreters were present for the Italians and French.

Don't Carry Out the Effect.

"Very few women are altogether consistent in their tailor rigs," remarked a masculine critic. They are very apt to commit some little solecism in their dress that quite spoils the general effect.

"I saw a funny sight today that was a case in point. A pretty girl rode past me on a very handsome horse; she wore a skirt and shirt, and looked very nice, I thought, until her horse broke into a canter.

"Then suddenly up rose two excrescences on either side of her, which bobbed about in the most ridiculous manner. They were the big leg-o'-mutton sleeves of her shirt—very pretty and becoming in their place, but utterly absurd for riding. The effect as she galloped off ahead of me was indescribably funny."—Philadelphia Press.

TRADE TOPICS.

The Outlook as Viewed by Bradstreet's Agency.

Bradstreet's review of business for the past week says:

The week presents a large volume of trade in many lines and at many points than in the week before and one year ago. The rush of orders for steel and iron leads in interest, displaying remarkable strength. Western manufacturers have been obliged to purchase eastern billets to meet their orders. Less confidence is placed in last week's rumors of serious damage to the spring wheat crop in Minnesota and Dakotas. Another conspicuous feature of the week is the evidence of reviving confidence on the part of western and northwestern interior merchants now that the corn and spring wheat promises well. This is shown plainest at Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee and St. Paul, where demand and sales to buyers in person have increased to a striking extent.

At the south general trade remains of moderate volume, as previously noted. Nashville and Galveston report material gains. There is a better outlook and feeling at Charleston, but elsewhere midsummer quiet rules. All the mills are busy at Augusta, delay in paying the sugar bounty effects trade very unfavorably in Louisiana.

At large eastern centers there are no changes beyond a better demand in leading staple lines at Baltimore, New York and Boston, based on improving interior demand for fall delivery.

The general industrial situation is somewhat improved, though the probable success of the striking New York tailors, the end of the strike of the Cleveland wire drawers, continued frequent advances of wages, starting up of new manufacturing enterprises and a further increase in demand for leading manufactured staples, notably in iron and steel. At Chicago pig iron manufacturers have been refusing orders.

There are 221 failures in business reported to Bradstreet's this week, as compared with 239 throughout the United States last week; 220 in the week one year ago, and 459 in the corresponding week of 1893. In the like week of 1892 the total was only 155.

WHITECAPS IN TEXAS.

They Post Notices Demanding That Negroes Leave.

A bad state of affairs is reported as prevailing in Delta county, Texas, which adjoins Lamar county on the south. One night recently every negro was notified that he must leave the county at once or he would be taken out and hanged. Notices were posted informing white men who undertook to protect them that they would meet with the same fate. This caused a perfect stampede among the negroes, who began to move out of the county at once, although the citizens offered them every protection.

In a radius of five miles 2,000 acres of land, crops and all were abandoned and contracts for another year abruptly canceled. The whitecappers, or whatever they were, continued to post threatening notices and not a family is left. Some negroes who owned valuable farms have remained behind to sell their lands for whatever they could get for them. One colony of negroes owning 100 acres of the best land in the county have as yet got no offer for it, although it is well worth from $25 to $50 per acre.

ABOUT THE NEWSPAPER TRUST.

It Will Not Be Perfected Until the Year's Close.

D. L. Ward, the Philadelphia agent for a number of manufacturers of newspaper paper, who are expected to make members of the proposed newspaper trust with a capital of $35,000,000, states that the trust will not be perfected until the close of the year. The delay in organizing the corporation, Mr. Ward says, is due to the fact that most of the manufacturers have contracts that will not expire until late in the fall.

GOFF SUSTAINS THE LAW.

South Carolina Legislative Enactments Not Unconstitutional.

Judge Goff, at Richmond, Va., Tuesday, dismissed the complainants' bill for an injunction in the South Carolina registration case, thus upholding the present registration laws.

The case was that of Joseph H. Gowdy against W. Briggs Green. Gowdy is a negro voter and Green a supervisor of registration at Columbia. The negro's allegation was that the registration laws were in contravention of the constitution of the United States.

BROKEN IN HEALTH.

Now He Can Run and Jump "Equal to a Sixteen-year-old Boy"—The Effect of Six Boxes of Pink Pills.

From the Messenger, Wilmington, N. C.

The following letter from George Russell, a citizen of Laurinburg, N. C., will prove of interest to many of our readers who may be suffering from that dreaded disease—rheumatism.

LAURINBURG, N. C., April 8, 1895.

Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Gentlemen:—During the summer of 1858 I had a severe attack of typhoid fever which left my constitution in a wrecked and broken-down condition. Ever afterwards I had to be very careful not to get the least damp for if I did an attack of rheumatism would be the result. I was able, however, to attend to business the most of my time though I could never say that I was well. I continued this way till the summer of 1894 when I was taken with a more severe attack of rheumatism which commenced first in the back of my head and neck, then my shoulders became involved. I suffered untold agonies, could not rest day or night, could get in no position that would give me rest even for a few moments, could not sleep more than 15 minutes at any one time, had no appetite, my flesh was reduced till I weighed only 121 lbs. The disease moved down or rather spread to the small of the back and into both hips, then to the left knee joint. I could not walk up the door steps, but had to crawl out and into the house. About this time I was taken with a shortness of breath which one doctor pronounced heart dropsy, another an excess of water in the chest. I gave up all hope of ever getting any better or even living for more than a few months. I wrote many of my relations that I did not expect to live but a very short time. Of course I had been under the care of men who called themselves good doctors all this time; I had six of them to attend me during my sickness. I tried everything that I could get that was said to benefit people who had rheumatism, but instead of getting relief, I continued to grow worse. One day a friend came to visit me, and like all other friends, had a remedy for my ills. Her remedy was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. She showed me a paper which praised them very highly. I told her that I had no faith in them, and as for the article in the paper, it was nothing but mere bosh. But like a drowning man that will catch at a straw I concluded to try the pills. I commenced to get better from the first day. I took six boxes and am well, my appetite is good, I sleep well, have gained in flesh from 121 lbs. to 167 lbs. I have been in the rain till I was literally drenched without experiencing any annoyance afterwards. I can run, jump, hop and skip equal to a sixteen-year-old boy.

Any one doubting this statement can be satisfied by writing me.

Yours truly,
GEORGE RUSSELL.

Mr. George Russell has this day appeared in person before me, a Justice of the Peace for Richmond County, N. C., and made oath that the statement contained in this manuscript is true in every particular. Sworn to before me this 13th day of April, 1895.

M. K. JONES, J. P.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure all forms of weakness arising from a watery condition of the blood or shattered nerves, two fruitful causes of almost every ill that flesh is heir to. These pills are also a specific for the troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, all forms of weakness, chronic constipation, bearing down pains, etc., and in the case of men will give speedy relief and effect a permanent cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of what ever nature.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood, and restore shattered nerves. They are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade-mark and wrapper at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and are never sold in bulk or by the dozen or hundred.

Speed of Electricity.

The speed of electricity under the most favorable conditions is now established to be 180,000 miles a second. What this enormous speed implies is somewhat dimly suggested by an illustration recently used by the eminent scientist, Sir Robert Bell. Suppose that a row of telegraph posts 25,000 miles long were erected around the earth at the equator. Suppose that a wire were stretched upon these posts for this circuit of 25,000 miles, and that then another complete circuit was taken by the same wire around the same posts, and then another, and yet another. In fact, let the wire be wound no fewer than seven times completely about this great globe. We should then find that an electric signal sent into the wire at one end would accomplish the circuit in one second of time.

GREAT BOOK FREE.

When Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. It contains over 1000 pages and more than 300 illustrations. The Free Edition is precisely the same as those sold at $1.50 except only that the books are bound in strong manilla paper covers instead of cloth. Send NOW before all are given away. A New Air Ship.

An electrician, Mr. J. Cooley, of Howellsville, N. Y., has invented an air ship which he claims is superior to anything for aerial navigation yet devised. A small model ship has been tested and worked successfully. The vessel is an odd affair with wings about twelve feet long, connected with a body some twenty feet in length. The inventor is now constructing a practical machine which is intended to carry a person any distance with ease and safety. An electric propeller will give the motive power, and the slightest touch on the rudder will suffice to steer it.

IN CONFERENCE.

BIMETALLISTS MEET TO TAKE COUNSEL AMONG THEMSELVES

As to a Plan of Campaign for Next Year's Contest.

The corridors of the Metropolitan hotel at Washington were crowded early Wednesday morning with delegates to the conference of silver democrats called to meet for the purpose of agreeing upon a line of policy to be pursued in the interest of silver in the democratic party. While the call for the conference issued by Senators Harris, Turpie and Jones, of Arkansas, did not specify the hour the meeting was postponed until noon.

The forenoon was spent in a general exchange of views and in formulating plans for the meeting. There was a rather larger attendance than had been counted upon and the hotel was crowded by delegates and silver sympathizers.

The conference was called to order promptly at 12 o'clock. Senator Jones, of Arkansas, was made chairman and Mr. Hinrichsen, of Illinois, secretary.

Senator Jones in opening said that the conference had met in accordance with the call which explained its purpose. He wanted to see a silver militia organized to cope with the gold forces.

A roll call of states showed the following delegates from twenty states were present:

After the roll call Senator Harris, of Tennessee, suggested that the business of the convention be promptly outlined. Senator Daniel, of Virginia, offered the following resolution, which was agreed to without discussion:

"Resolved, That a committee be appointed by the chairman of the conference of such number as he may see fit to prepare a programme of proceedings and resolutions and report the same to the conference at an adjourned meeting to be held at 4 o'clock.

"The chairman of the conference to be ex-officio chairman of this committee."

After the adoption of the resolution a recess of thirty minutes was taken to allow the chairman, Senator Jones, to prepare the committee. He decided to appoint a committee of one member from each state represented.

After the recess Chairman Jones announced the following committee:

Missouri, Governor Stone and H. M. Hill; North Carolina, Senator Jarvis; Illinois, W. H. Hinrichsen; Indiana, A. W. Clark; Georgia, ex-Senator Walsh; Alabama, J. F. Johnston; Tennessee, E. W. Carmack; Virginia, Senator Daniel; Kentucky, W. Woodson; Colorado, A. Newell; North Dakota, W. R. Bierby; Ohio, P. S. Yoder; Delaware, J. F. Sanesbury; Maryland, M. M. Pullman; Mississippi, W. S. Stockdale; South Carolina, J. F. Trention; West Virginia, J. J. Cromwell; Texas, ex-Representative Hare; Arkansas, Senator Jones; Florida, J. S. Beard.

The conference adjourned unti 4 o'clock. Late in the afternoon speeches were made by Governor Stone, Senators Harris, Call, Daniel, Jarvis, ex-Senator Walsh and others. After a long discussion a subcommittee consisting of Messrs. Stone Hinrichsen, Walsh, Jones, Jarvis, Carmack and Daniel was appointed to prepare an address and present a plan of national organization to be submitted to the general conference Thursday morning.

Thursday's Proceedings.

The silver democrats continued their conference Thursday morning. The committee on resolutions and program being unable to report when the meeting was first called to order, it was suggested that the conference should listen to speeches by those present.

C. F. Cochran, editor of the St. Joseph, Mo., Gazette, addressed the conference. He said that it semed anomalous that a meeting such as the present should be called, for he knew of no doctrine of the party which was not in consonance with the purposes of this conference. He said that congress was the place to look to for the declaration of the party's belief. He declared that gold monometalism would be more disastrous than war, pestilence and famine.

Representative Neill, of Arkansas, announced his entire sympathy with the objects of the present conference. He wanted to see the free coinage of silver provided for at the next session, "regardless of the position of the distinguished citizen at the other end of the avenue."

Ex-Representative Fithian, of Illinois, denied that the free silver sentiment was dying out in that state. He said that all the democratic farmers and 90 per cent of the democratic voters in business in the state were silver men. He declared that Illinois would send a delegation to the next national convention favorable for free coinage at 16 to 1 independently of other nations.

Representative Livingston, of Georgia, said the time had come for another declaration of independence.

"It is the purpose of the men in the country from which I come," he said, "to prosecute the fight with their coats off and their sleeves rolled up and not to desist until the end." It was England's purpose, he asserted, to control the United States, and finding herself unable to do so by force of arms, she had undertaken to do it by controlling our finances.

Colonel Casey Young, of Memphis, who conducted the correspondence incidental to the preparations for the conference, said he had written 4,000 or 5,000 letters in connection with the movement for the conference. He had corresponded with representative democrats from thirty-eight states, and asserted that four-fifths of the democrats were friendly to free coinage, and he believed a properly organized movement would be irresistible.

Speeches were also made by Senator Call, A. A. Lipscomb, of Washington; J. M. Hill, of Missouri; Representatives Jones, of Virginia; Lockhart, of North Carolina, and Mr. Bodine, of Missouri.

Mr. Hill criticised Mr. Cleveland's administration in severe terms, saying the president had betrayed the democratic party by a series of acts of perfidy and treachery which were without parallel, one of the principal of which consisted in his ignoring the bimetallic declaration in the last democratic platform. He said the bond transaction was enough to consign Grover Cleveland and John G. Carlisle to everlasting political oblivion and shame. They would "go down through the ages hand and hand amid the execrations of mankind, as two of the most stupendous frauds of the century." He denounced senators Brice and Gorman as disloyal to the democratic party.

Platform Reported.

It was almost twelve o'clock when the committee on resolutions filed into the conference room and Senator Daniel was recognized to make the report of the committee's proceedings. This was divided into two sections, one consisting of an address to the democrats and the other of a plan of organization. He said the address in most respects was the same as that adopted by the democrats of Texas, Missouri and Mississippi. The address was read by Governor Stone, of Missouri.

The address issued disclaims speaking with party authority, the assemblage being a voluntary one, but strongly represents the opinion of the conference that the party should declare for free coinage of silver.

The address concludes as follows:

"Duty to the people requires that the party of the people continue the battle for bimetallism until its efforts are crowned with success; therefore be it

"Resolved, That the democratic party in national convention assembled demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold into primary or redemption money at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the action or approval of any other nation.

"Resolved second, That it should declare its irrevocable opposition to the substitution for a metallic money of a panic breeding corporation credit currency, based on a single metal, the supply of which is so limited that it can be cornered at any time by a few banking institutions in Europe and America.

"Resolved third, That it should declare its opposition to the policy and practice of surrendering to the holders of the obligations of the United States the option reserved by the government of redeeming such obligations in either silver coin or gold coin.

"Resolved fourth, That it should declare its opposition to the issuing of interest-begring bonds of the United States in the time of peace, and especially to placing the treasury of the government under the control of any syndicate of bankers and the issuance of bonds to be sold by them at an enormous profit for the purpose of supplying the federal treasury with gold to maintain the policy of gold monometallism.

"With a view to securing the adherence to and re-adoption of the democratic financial policy above set forth by the democratic national convention to be assembled in 1896 and of the nomination of a candidate for the presidency well known to be in hearty sympathy therewith, we hereby pledge our mutual co-operation and urgently recommend to our democratic brethren in all the states to at once begin and vigorously and systematically prosecute the work of a thorough organization, and to this end the adoption of a plan or organization here submitted.

Plan of Organization.

The part of the report dealing with the plan or organization above referred to, was read by ex-Senator Jarvis, of North Carolina, and is as follows:

"Believing that a large majority of the democratic voters of the United States are in harmony with the sentiments expressed in the foregoing address, and knowing that a full and free expression of their views can only be ascertained and made effective through properly organized efforts, we recommend the following as a plan for such organization:

"First, There shall be a national committee of democrats who are in favor of both silver and gold as the money of the constitution, which shall be composed of one democrat from each state and territory and the District of Columbia and the executive committee herein provided for.

"Second, That until otherwise ordered by the national committee, Senators Isham G. Harris, of Tennessee; James R. Jones, of Arkansas, and David Turpie, of Indiana; and Hons. W. J. Stone, of Missouri; W. H. Heinrichsen, of Illinois, and Casey Young, of Tennessee, be, and they are hereby constituted the executive committee and shall have full power and authority and it shall be their duty at as early a day as possible to appoint the members of the national committee herein provided for to fill vacancies in the same.

"Third, That said national committee shall have full control and direction of the patriotic efforts of the bimetallic democracy of the nation to secure in the next democratic national convention the maintainance of these time-honored principles and policies of the democratic party and when the national committee herein provided for is not in session, the executive committee shall have all the authority and discharge all of the duties hereby conferred upon the national committee.

"Fourth. It shall be the duty of the member of the national committee from each state immediately after his appointment to take such steps as he may deem best to organize the bimetallic forces of his state, and it is earnestly recommended that in each county and election precinct of each state, bimetallic democratic clubs be organized for the purpose he may appoint such committees and sub-committees and canvassers as he may deem best.

"Fifth. That, fully realizing the fact that this or no other plan of organization can be successful without the hearty co-operation of the voters themselves, we urge upon every voter in every state in the union who is in sympathy with their movement and who wishes to restore permanent prosperity to his home and country, to lend his aid and influence to perfecting this organization and that each of them shall enroll himself into a club.

Adjourned Sine Die.

This report of the committee was adopted without opposition and after listening to a few brief speeches, the conference adjourned sine die.

DISREGARDED CONTRACTS.

Members of the Bond Syndicate Discover Some Schemers.

The government bond syndicate added $1,346,000 to the gold reserve in the United States treasury Tuesday. The deposit was made at the subtreasury in New York. It was mainly in checks issued by the assay office for gold bullion delivered to that institution. Some coin was furnished. The assay office checks were purchased by the syndicate from bullion dealers. The syndicate is to supply more gold.

Arbuckle Bros., the well-known coffee importers, withdrew $750,000 in gold during the day for shipment to Europe. The withdrawal, it is stated, was made only after a meeting of the members of the syndicate. As the story runs, the syndicate after a close investigation discovered that all the members were not adhering to their original contract in regard to gold shipments—that two well-known firms, instead of appearing in the matter themselves, used the house which has recently done the bulk of the shipping of the yellow metal. It has been said for some little time that Crossman & Bro., were not forwarding gold in such large quantities to meet payments on the firm's account, but that its bills were sold against the gold for the profits accruing directly from such operations. Arbuckle Bros. are recognized as competitors of Crossman & Bro., and shared in the bond syndicate profits, whereas Crossman & Bro. were not in the deal. While the syndicate members would speak only in whispers, it is evident that they have discovered treachery in their camp and have taken the initiatory steps to punish the offenders. When the inside facts are known, they are liable to cause considerable commotion in financial circles.

Having made enormous profits through their participation in the syndicate operations, it was believed for a moment that any of the foreign exchange houses would ship gold and thus hamper the Belmont-Morgan interests, which have been striving to keep the treasury gold reserve as high as possible.

WHISKY TRUST SOLD.

Purchased for $9,800,000 by the Reorganization Committee.

The end of one of the most remarkable legal fights in the history of the corporation's litigation came Wednesday when the property of the Distilling and Cattle Feeding Company, commonly known as the whisky trust; was sold at auction on the courthouse steps in Chicago. The sale proved a mere formality, as there were no other bidders besides the reorganization committee, whose bid of $9,800,000, incorporated in the judicial decree of the sale, was accepted. General John McNulta, the receiver of the trust, began the sale at 10 o'clock. Marshal Arnold and four deputies accompanied the receiver and stood by his side while he read the long decree, which took an hour and a half. At the conclusion of the reading he said:

"I am now authorized to accept bids for this property. Anybody can buy it, provided they pay me the earnest money of $50,000 in cash, as provided by the decree which I have just read. Do I hear any bidders?"

Levy Meyer, of counsel for the reorganization committee, stepped forward and on behalf of the reorganization committee, whom he called by name, renewed the bid contained in the decree of $9,800,000.

"I renew this bid," said he, "on condition that the receiver prosecute the suits for over a million dollars as provided in the decree just read, and also on condition that all the other terms of the decree be carried out to the letter."

He then handed General McNulta a certified check for $50,000. Ten minutes were allowed for other bids and at the expiration of that time the property was declared sold to the reorganization committee for the sum offered.

SAVED THEIR NECKS.

Dinkin's Slayers Plead Guilty and Sent Up for Life.

A telegram from Brandon, Miss., announces that when Marshall, Coleman and Fox were arraigned in court Thursday morning for the murder of T. F. Dinkins a few days ago, all three entered pleas of guilty and were sentenced to the penitentiary for life.

INDIANS IN THE RIGHT.

The Report of Agent Teter is in Their Favor.

The report of Indian Agent Teter, of the Fort Hall reservation, upon the recent Bannock trouble was received at the Indian bureau at Washington Tuesday. It confirms the heretofore published accounts of the killing of the Bannock Indians.

In connection with the killing of these Indians an interesting report has been received by the secretary of the interior forwarded from the war department. It is from Captain J. T. Vanorsdale, of the Seventh United States cavalry, formerly acting agent of the Fort Hall reservation. The report says in part:

Being short rationed and far from self-supporting, the Bannocks hunt for the purpose of obtaining sustenance. By treaty they are granted this privilege. It would seem that the killing of these Indians under the circumstances was nothing more nor less than murder. Further, I believe that there is no wanton slaughter of game by these Indians, while it is a notorious fact that hundreds of the animals are killed by white men for nothing more than heads and horns. There are men that country who make it a busines to pilot hunting parties from the east and abroad, which not only slaughter elk, but capture and ship them out of the country. The killing of game by the Indians interferes with this business. The Indians can hardly be expected to submit to the killing of their people while engaged in an occupation which they think they have a right to follow, more quietly than white men, and failure by the government to take proper action is liable to result in serious loss of life and property."

JUSTICE JACKSON BURIED.

Laid to Rest in the Family Vault at Belle Meade, Tennessee.

The funeral of Justice Howell Edmund Jackson occurred Monday at Belle Meade, the famous house of his brother, General W. H. Jackson, six miles west of Nashville in the presence of many distinguished men from a distance and a very large concourse of personal friends.

The services were conducted by Rev. J. H. McNeilly, of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. R. Linn Cave, of the Christian church. A special train went out to Belle Meade at 10 o'clock.

The handsome casket was placed in the wide hall of the historic mansion and about it were grouped the governor and all state officials of Tennessee, the clerks and employes of the local federal courts, while without on the lawn and moving silently in and out at the front door were hundreds of people. The rooms adjacent to the front hall were filled mostly with ladies. In a small room somewhat apart from the others stood Chief Justice Fuller and Justice Brewer, of the United States supreme court.

After the ceremonies the casket was borne from the house, across the lawn a hundred yards and placed in the family vault.

DIED IN THE PEN.

The Sentence of John Quarles, the Whitecapper, Cut Short.

John Quarles, one of the Murray county, Ga., whitecaps, who made the assault upon Henry Worley's life and was sentenced by Judge Newman a few months ago, died in the federal prison at Columbus, O., Tuesday afternoon.

By this bereavement fourteen children and a helpless widow are left upon the tender mercies of the public.

Quarles died of meningetis. He was a remarkably stout, well built man and the news of his death will read with surprise by all who were present at the trial and remember how well he looked at that time.

He was sentenced by Judge Newman at Atlanta during the spring of this year and had just commenced to serve out his term in the penitentiary. He was forty-five years old at the time of his death.

To Meet at Saratoga.

The New York republican state committee met and voted to hold the state convention at Saratoga September 17th. The committee voted to meet in Saratoga on the evening of September 16th.

Odd Accidents.

An ingenious boy of Hannibal, Mo., has succeeded in shooting a playmate with a gun which had no trigger.

Andrew Coleman, of Athens, Ga., had his eye put out, and later died, from the effects of a pin shot from a child's toy gun.

J. M. Pike, the "Orchard King of Kennebec," was loading a cart in his barn cellar when he saw the cart tipping up. He sprang upon the pole too late to keep it down, and the end of the pole pinned him to the ceiling by the head. He couldn't shout, but made some noise which attracted attention to him, and he was released.

Sewickley, Penn., has its council chamber over the lockup. When the latter was cleared out recently so many bedbugs climbed upstairs that they broke up the next council meeting.

Financial Astronomy.

Sir Robert Ball, the famous English astronomer, has been reckoning the cost of a trip to the stars, supposing a celestial railroad could be constructed. At the rate of 2 cents per hundred miles, which would never enable a company to pay dividends, it would cost $3,865,000,000 for a single fare and 5,000 huge carts would be needed to convey the number of half eagles required to defray expenses. At the rate of making change at certain offices how many passengers would be likely to catch the train?

In a false quarrel there is no true valor.

MRS. NOBLES DECLARED INSANE

According to a Physician of the State Insane Asylum.

Mrs. Nobles has been declared insane by Dr. W. A. O'Daniel, of the Georgia state insane asylum. The doctor visited the jail at Macon for the purpose of examining the prisoner. He was in company with Mr. Marion Harris who, together with Colonel W. C. Glenn, of Atlanta, has been retained as counsel for Mrs. Nobles.

The attorneys of Mrs. Nobles will present as grounds for a new trial the following:

1. That Mrs. Nobles is now insane, was at the time the murder was committed, and prior thereto.
2. That she was practically abandoned by counsel, who did not take the proper steps to secure a new trial.
3. That at the time of the trial prejudice ran high against the prisoner in the county in which the trial took place.

Should Judge Smith sign the motion for a new trial, the state must have twenty days in which to show cause why a new trial should not be granted, and the execution would then be delayed until September.

If the motion should be refused and Judge Smith refuses to sign a bill of exceptions, the matter would be taken before the supreme court, and a mandamus secured directing Judge Smith to sign the bill of exceptions, and the motion for a new trial will be held in Atlanta.

In the event of the failure of the supreme court to grant the motion for a new trial, Governor Atkinson will be urged to exercise executive clemency, or a writ of lunacy would be taken out and Mrs. Nobles be tried before the ordinary of Twiggs county.

It is the opinion of leading lawyers that a new trial will be secured and that the defense will be very ably managed.

RESPITE GRANTED.

Mrs. Nobles and Gus Fambles Allowed More Time.

The attorneys for Mrs. Nobles went before Governor Atkinson Wednesday morning and asked that Mrs. Nobles be respited until after the October term of the Twiggs county superior court and the result is that Mrs. Nobles will not hang on Friday.

The new lease of life which she obtains is given her by the governor of Georgia; and although no lawyers appeared in his behalf, a similar stay was granted to Gus Fambles, her partner in crime.

The governor's orders give them a respite until noon of Friday, October 18th; and as explained in those orders, this is done to give them an opportunity to present to the court their extraordinary motion for a new trial.

It is a purely legal step. The governor was not asked to go into the merits of the case of Mrs. Nobles at all. The attorneys who appeared for her simply asked that they be given an opportunity to be heard in court in her behalf, which, as they showed, was impossible without the intervention of the state's chief executive.

GEORGIA'S CORN CROP.

It Will Be the Largest Ever Gathered in the State.

If present indications hold good the corn crop this year will be the largest ever gathered in Georgia. This gratifying piece of news, however, is offset by the condition of the cotton crop, which, according to the weather bulletin, is not by any means as promising as the farmers had every reason to hope a few weeks ago.

The cause of this discouraging report is due to the unequal distribution of rain. The damage from this complaint alone the past week amounted to quite a serious back-set. The rains during the past few days have not fallen in the right spots nor in proper quantities, but the damage reported from this source of complaint is not quite as serious as it was the week preceding. Peaches and watermelons, however, have ruled the day. The market has been overstocked with them and the crop is, perhaps, the largest ever known.

BIG BLAZE IN PHILADELPHIA

Flames Start in a Paper Box Factory and Cause a Loss of $400,000.

A fire which did damage amounting to between $350,000 and $400,000 started in the big five-story building occupied by Brown & Bailey as a paper box manufactory at Philadelphia Monday morning. It extended to the big gas fixture establishment of Buck & Co., which, with a dozen dwellings surrounding the two factories, was laid in ashes.

"REPUBLIC OF CUBA."

Camaguey the Capital and Masso the President.

General Quesada, at New York, has received letters via the steamship Niagara, by special messenger, dated August 1st, at Santiago, Cuba, stating that a republic had been formed by election at Camaguey, which had been proclaimed the temporary capital, and that General G. Masso was elected president. The cabinet will consist of three members—a minister of the interior, a minister of war and a minister of foreign relations.

Philadelphia Weavers Strike.

One hundred and fifty weavers employed by Hoyle, Harrison & Kaye, manufacturers of upholstery goods at Philadelpeia struck against a reduction in wages of two cents and two mills per yard. The announcement of the reduction was posted in the mill and when a committee of the employes waited on the firm and asked for an extension of time the request was refused.

PARLIAMENT OPENS.

GULLY RE-ELECTED SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE.

The Liberal Members Showed Up in Fine Force.

The English house of commons assembled at London Monday morning. There was a large attendance of members. The government benches at an early hour were crowded to excess and many membess were compelled to take refuge in the cross benches. The liberal and Irish benches were not crowded early in the day. Among the Irish members of parliament present was T. M. Healey, who sat between Mr. T. P. O'Connor and Mr. Edward Blake. Also present on the Irish benches were Mr. T. D. Sullivan, Mr John Dillon, Mr. Charles K. D. Tanner and other distinguished leaders of the Irish nationalist party. Later in the day, however, the liberal benches became crowded and when the proceedings commenced, the liberals had showed up in fine force.

The right Hon. Sir John Mowbray, Bart moved the re-election of Mr. William Court Gully as speaker of the house, and congratulated the house upon being able to open its proceedings with such an act and without a dissenting voice. He pointed out that Mr. Gully had eminently proved his fitness for the post.

The liberal whip, Mr. Thomas E. Ellis, member of parliament for Merionetshire, seconded the motion and complimented the conservative leader, Mr. Balfour, on the course he had taken in this connection.

Mr. Gully then thanked the house for the honor done him, which he said he did not think he owed to personal considerations, but to the manner in which he hoped he had acquitted himself during his term of office. The speaker was then conducted to the chair amid loud cheers from all parts of the house.

Upon assuming the chair Mr. Gully again thanked the house for the honor done him and the mace was then laid upon the table.

Mr. Balfour congratulated Mr. Gully upon his re-election in a few words, expressing confidence in his impartiality.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, on behalf of the liberals, also congratulated Mr. Gully, but it was noticed that he was not cheered as warmly as was Mr. Balfour.

The house of commons then adjourned until Tuesday.

MAJOR BLACK NOMINATED.

The Warrenton Free Silver Platform Reaffirmed.

Every county in the tenth district was represented in the congressional convention at Crawfordville Wednesday except Wilkerson, which was represented by the Richmond county delegation with a proxy to that effect.

Some of Mr. Watson's friends were present as interested onlookers.

Hon. Wm. H. Fleming was chairman of the committee on platform. At one time before the convention met it looked as if there would be trouble over the silver plank. Some of the sound money delegates wanted to place themselves on record as opposed to that portion of the platform, but at the same time pledge themselves to the hearty support of Major Black. They finally decided not to make the point on the appeal of friends of Mr. Black who said that it would precipitate a discussion that might prove hurtful in the coming election.

The convention was called to order by Colonel Kendrick, chairman of the congressional committee, who in a brief speech, stated the object of the meeting. Colonel Preston Johnson, of McDuffie, was made permanent chairman and in a strong speech urged harmony in the party and predicted the success of the democracy in the congressional fight to take place in the district. Judge Caulk, of Jefferson, was made secretery.

Platform for Free Silver.

The committee on resolutions were out but a few minutes, and upon their return Mr. Fleming read the resolutions and moved their adoption, which was done. The platform is as follows:

"We reaffirm, word for word, the Warrenton platform, which is as follows: That we, the democrats of the Tenth congressional district, in convention assembled, hereby renew our allegiance to the democratic principles ennunciated in the Georgia platform of 1892. We favor the immediate repeal of the prohibitory 10 per cent tax on state banks; we favor an income tax that will cause the rich to bear their just proportions of the burdens of the government; we favor a tariff for revenue only, so adjusted as to relieve the necessities of life from taxation and place the tax upon luxuries as far as possible; we favor the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and demand that such law be enacted without waiting upon the slow process of international agreement.

T. W. Hardwick of Washington county, nominated Major Black. The nomination was seconded by Henry C. Hammond, of Richmond. Black's nomination was then made unanimous by a rising vote. A committee of one delegate from each county was appointed to notify Mr. Black of his nomination and to request his acceptance.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

A valued friend from Lily writes sorrowfully of the fact that notwithstanding the great revival so recently held at Mulberry Church several professed Christians have been working at a whisky still and hauling fruit to it. Surely Christian people have not thought this matter over carefully, or they would in no way lend their countenance to the whisky traffic. A still though licensed, will before its work is done cost the communities in money $10 to where it benefits them $1, and ruin both soul and body, besides, of some poor man,

When moving into our present home I found a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm left by former tenant. On the lable I found the state that it was good for cuts and burns. I can testify to the truth of this. Nothing in all my experience has found its equal for treating blisters or burns. F. E. Barrette, manager Le Sueur Sentinel, Le Sueur, Minn. Pain Balm is also a sure cure for rheumatism. For sale by Clanton Drug Store Clanton, and McNeill and Smith, Jemison, Ala.

Kenneth Bazemore had the good fortune to receive a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when three members of his family were sick with dysentery. This one small bottle cured them all and he had some left which he gave to Geo W. Baker, a prominent merchant of the place, Lewiston, N. C., and it cured him of the same complaint. When troubled with dysentery, diarrhoea, colic or cholera morbus, give this remedy a trial and you will be more than pleased with the result. The praise that naturally follows its introduction and use has made it very popular. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and Smith and McNeill, Jemison Ala.

ATKINSON'S PLAN.

HOW HE WOULD PAY OUTSTANDING NOTES AND CERTIFICATES.

The Official Treasury Statement Is Not a True One—Silver Bullion Given Its Coin Value—No Deduction Made For Claims Against the Government.

The following statement has been prepared by Mr. Edward Atkinson. In his opinion the official statement, issued monthly, is not now and has not for 30 years been a true one, in that it includes as assets silver bullion at its cost price, when, in fact, it is worth only about two-thirds of this amount. It also makes no deduction for notes outstanding which are claims against the government treasury.

"All as Good as Gold."

There has been a good deal of controversy and argument about what free coinage is. Here we have in this bill the plain, unadulterated free coinage of silver. That is not what the people want. They do not want cheaper money; they want more money, plenty of it. All as good as gold. These two ideas have been blended together in the popular mind as if the only way to get more money was by the free coinage of silver. Free coinage of silver would reduce the volume of money because it would demonetize the whole of the gold we have on hand. How long it would take to supply the vacuum by the hoards of silver that may come from all the countries of the world I cannot answer, but the immediate effect would be the lessening of the quantity of money in our country.—Hon John Sherman, June 1, 1892.

DESTRUCTIVE SILVERHOPPERS.

A Plague That Threatens to Be Worse Than the Grasshopper.

The farmers in Kansas, Nebraska and other western states have in past years suffered greatly from a plague of grasshoppers, which swarmed in millions over the prairies, devouring hay, grain and other crops. Wherever the greedy insects came they brought desolation, and many flourishing settlements were completely ruined by the pests. With increased cultivation the swarms gradually diminished and of late have done little harm.

But another and worse foe to the farmer is abroad in the land. Especially in the south, west and northwest there has sprung up a plague of silverhoppers that threatens the destruction of our national prosperity, credit and honor. These new pests would if unchecked cause the country a greater loss in one year than have the grasshoppers since they first appeared. They seek to establish a financial policy which means the repudiation of debts, the debasement of our money and the adoption of the 50 cent dollars which are the currency of Mexico. With false and misleading promises of increased wealth, which they pretend would follow the enactment of a law for the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1, they try to delude the farmers into supporting their schemes. Were they to be successful trade and industry would be paralyzed, capital would be withdrawn from agriculture and general business depression would follow. The only safeguard against the threatened danger is to vote down the repudiators and elect only men pledged to support honest money.

Worth Considering.

Workingmen may not have time to study carefully the various cheap money schemes of the silverites, greenbackers, etc., but there is no reason why they should be deluded into voting for any of them. So far the 50 cent dollar or the fiat no cent dollar have not made many converts among the laboring classes, but it is likely that in the next national campaign a special effort will be made to induce workingmen to vote for the silver standard. To all appeals for such support the intelligent workmen should ask this question, "Is it not a fact beyond dispute that in every country of the world which has the gold standard wages are higher than in the countries which are on a silver basis?"

The boys and girls of Chilton, or surrounding counties, who desire to attend our school and who are willing to pay their board by working before and after school hours and on Saturdays may write the editor of the View and he will give them all the assistance in his power.

Faith without works is a sign over the door of an empty shop.

In connection with the above statement Mr. Atkinson presents the following plan for the payment of outstanding notes and certificates:

The forced loan under the Bland and Sherman acts exceeded $500,000,000, deducting the silver dollars in circulation as specie and token coinage together with the paid up Sherman notes, this debt has been reduced to $435,710,460, against which the government owns silver to the nominal value of $512,338,750.17. The remainder of the Sherman notes if presented would make a demand of $115,978,708. They could be funded by issue of $90,000,000 of 4 per cent United States bonds at the present price of 123 or 124. This would add $3,600,000 to interest charges. But it would give absolute stability to the remaining outstanding notes, both war and Bland issues.

The amount of Bland silver certificates outstanding after the funding of the Sherman notes would be $320,000,000, secured by $512,000,000 of silver in the treasury. The market value of this silver would about cover the Bland certificates, for the redemption of which in silver at market value authority may presently be given by congress.

When notes issued under the Sherman act are presented and paid in coin they are paid notes. Their reissue is not mandatory under that act, only permissive in case the government should be short of money to pay current expenses.

The revenue is now sufficient to meet all current expenditures and will soon be in excess; hence it follows that when Sherman notes have once been paid they cannot be lawfully reissued, because by such executive act a new loan or borrowing of money would ensue.

Many of the Sherman notes are doubtless in bank reserves. They could be gathered in by the banks and presented for payment in gold. This would put the banks on a gold basis. It could be undertaken at the rate of $10,000,000 per month. The gold needed would either be retained from our own rapidly increasing product or from the gold waiting safe investments in Europe.

Mistaken Idea of Capital.

Honest men who believe in property rights and the just payment of debts would do well to note the attacks on "capital" which are such a prominent feature in the free coinage press and literature. Capital is denounced as a robber of industry, and the people are urged to vote for cheap dollars as a means of injuring the oppressive capitalist. To any one who knows what capital really is—that is, wealth saved for the purpose of aiding to produce more wealth—these denunciations are extremely silly. Of itself capital is an inert thing and can do nothing without human labor and natural resources. In the form of money its only use in production is to purchase real capital—buildings, machinery, raw materials, etc.—for giving men work, and thus adding to the general welfare. If a man has a right to own that which he produces, he must have a right to the capital which he saves. If he has a right to own $100, he has an equal right to $1,000 or $1,000,000, so long as he honestly earns it.

Rev. J. G. Lowery in a recent sermon at Mulberry said; "the man who makes and sells whisky is meaner than Rube Burrows.

Rube would hold up a train or an individual and take the money from them and then let them go on their way; but not so with the whisky man. He takes your money, his whisky takes your honor, your integrity, your manliness. It takes the honor and virtue of your family and brings you down to degradation, covers you with shame and finally drags the soul away from God and down to hell and ever lasting night. Oh, how infinitely great is the shame and moral degradation of the whisky man when we take into consideration the long train of sins and crimes, the long, deep, dark shadow of blighted prospects and withered hopes, his whisky leaves hanging over the race. There can not be much difference in the man who makes and sells it, and the man who furnishes the material."

"Incurable."

We know that it sounds quite foolish to talk about the Electropoise curing incurable diseases, but bear in mind the fact that it is the old treatment which has pronounced the case incurable. We do not make the claim, that we can cure all so-called incurable diseases, but we do maintain with all earnestness that a case pronounced incurable by your family physician, is a splendid field for the operation of the Electropoise. It may be just the treatment necessary, and is quite likely to be so. If it fails this is no argument against the "Poise," but in such a case, the fact of the physician's statement is proven to be true. But many's the patient who has been given up by his physician who has again received life through treatment of Electroise.

As a curative agent the Electropoise can not be equaled.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

The summer is at hand and your wife and daughter need nice low cut shoes. W. I. Mullins is ready to supply the need.

Mr. A. F. Gulledge of Verbena was in Clanton last Thursday and gave us the sad information of the death of his step mother Mrs. Joel Gulledge, of Rockford. She was a noble woman, a loving wife and withal a Christian neighbor. To her afflicted husband and family we extend tenderest sympathies.

The three year old boy of Mrs. Calloway from Wetumpka died here last Saturday night and was buried on Sunday. We give to the bereaved ones our tender sympathy.

Mr J. L. Beard, of Verbena died on Thursday last at 8 O'clock A. M. after about a week's illness. That was indeed a very sad death. Mr. Beard had been practicing law for some five years having his office at Verbena until a month or so since, at which time he removed to Elmore expecting to practice there and at Montgomery.

He was a young man of fine moral character and his pleasant manners won for him friends of all whom he met. His afflicted family have our deepest sympathies.

The Commissioner's Court passed a small quarterly allowance for Miss Wright of Kincheon who is so badly afflicted. While small yet it will greatly help her.

Mr. Joel Gulledge has removed to Verbena and will make his home with his son A. F. Gulledge.

Our worthy assistant Post Master Capt. Middleton had a few days illness last week but we pleased to report his improvement.

Everything needed in the line of undertakers goods for sale by W. I. Mullins.

There will be services at the Episcopal Church next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, by Rev. F. B. Ticknor.

The View has for sale, or exchange for country produce, some splendid family medicines, books, scales.

My boy was taken with a disease resembling bloody flux. The first thing I thought of was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Two doses of it settled the matter and cured him sound and well. I heartily recommend this remedy to all persons suffering from a like complaint. I will answer any inquiries regarding it when stamp is enclosed. I refer to any county official as to my reliability. Wm. Roach, J. P., Primroy, Campbell Co., Tenn. For sale by Clanton Drug Store, Clanton, and McNeill & Smith, Jemison, Ala.

Parties indebted to Dr. J. A. Sims will take notice that settlements can be made with me. Call early.

SILVER AND PRICES.

Commodities Have Fallen Twenty Per Cent. Silver Has Reduced One-half.

In his speech at Gainesville, Ga., on July 28, the Hon. Hoke Smith said:

"The claim, therefore, that the money of final payment has been reduced one-half, thereby depriving the public of a sufficient volume, is simply groundless. We still use gold and silver both and have more than we ever had prior to the passage of the act of 1873. The claim also that the currency has contracted, thereby appreciating the value of gold, is shown to be false by the enormous output of gold last year. It was the largest in the world's history and amounted to $181,500,000. The world's coinage of gold in 1893 rose to $232,785,000, and that of silver to $185,389,000, making the largest yearly coinage in the world's history, with possibly one exception. The world's stock in full legal tender gold and silver, today is, by the largest statistics, $8,965,800,000 gold and $4,475,800,000 silver, and it must not be forgotten that even though the gold standard may be in force, the silver coined furnishes money for final redemption to relieve the pressure upon gold, just as if it had been coined upon a free coinage plan.

The claim that gold has appreciated, thereby depreciating the value of products, is based upon the theory that the decrease in the value of silver and in the value of products has been contemporaneous. A careful examination of the facts shows this not to be true. The average [illegible] of commodities since 1873 has [illegible] 20 per cent [illegible] have [illegible] those things which the [illegible] people buy. All these reductions in prices are partly attributed to a lessened cost of production and partly to the [illegible] panic. While the commodities have fallen 20 per cent silver has [illegible] per cent.

But to consider particular [illegible] In 1873 corn sold for 31 cents a [illegible] silver was worth $1.31 an ounce. In 1895 corn sold for 52 cents; silver was worth 67 cents an ounce. Silver had fallen 50 per cent and corn had risen 25 per cent. In 1873 wheat was worth $1 17 a bushel; silver was $1 31 an ounce. In 1878 wheat was $1.34 a bushel, silver was $1.15 an ounce. In 1889 wheat was [illegible] cents; silver $1.04. In 1895 wheat was 85 cents a bushel; silver 67 cents an ounce.

Cotton. This is the production in which our people are directly interested The claim that the value of cotton depended upon the rise or fall of silver has been shown to be without foundation this year. Cotton in the last four months has risen 30 per cent; silver 5 per cent. Prior to 1878 the price of cotton varied from 4 to 40 cents. Silver never fell below $1.29. In 1845 cotton sold for 4 cents. Silver was then $1 32 an ounce.

RIGHTS OF PROPERTY.

The Spirit of Free Coinage Is Essentially Socialistic In Its Tendencies.

It cannot be denied that the spirit of much of the free coinage literature is distinctly opposed to those rights of property which are at the bottom of our whole social system. It is not needful to dwell on the fact that human progress is only possible when the producers of wealth are protected in the possession of all they create. The examples of those countries where property is insecure is sufficient proof that the enjoyment of property is the first requisite of civilization.

Various schools of agitators, such as the socialists, communists and anarchists, are seeking to abolish the institution of private property. In the cheap money agitation which is sweeping over the country we find the essential ideas of the socialists, etc., in another form. There are in this country a large number of people who have saved a little money, which they have loaned out to others. The advocates of free silver boldly claim that the result of the adoption of their money scheme would be to take from all creditors one-half of their property by enabling debtors to repay their loans with dollars worth half as much as of those borrowed. This is nothing less than a proposition to take the property of those who have saved money and invested it, and to give it to those who have borrowed, or, in other words, the confiscation by law of one-half of all the loans of the country. When the farmer and workingmen understand that this is the real object of the free coinage agitation, will they continue to favor the attack on private property?

A Financial Charlatan.

The Minneapolis Tribune says: "Congressman Joseph C. Sibley of Pennsylvania is put forward as the silverite candidate for the presidency. Mr. Sibley is not widely known to the country, but he gave the public some taste of his quality in his speech at the Memphis convention on Wednesday evening. The gist of his speech is contained in the four following 'political axioms,' which, he says, embody the result of his study of the money question:

" 'First.—Double the volume of money, and you double prices.'

" 'Second.—Divide the volume of money, and you divide prices.'

" 'Third.—Double the volume of money, and you divide the debts.'

" 'Fourth.—Divide the volume of money, and you double the debts.'

"If Mr. Sibley's first proposition were true, how easy it would be for government to regulate values by simply increasing or decreasing the volume of circulating medium. If doubling the volume would double values, quadrupling it would quadruple values and increasing it a thousandfold would make every dollar's worth of property worth $1,000. In this way property could be increased in value sufficiently to make everybody rich."—Baltimore Sun.

Kentucky Fashion.

"What will you take?" the Nation said.
Kentucky then replied,
"I guess I'll have sound money straight—
With silver on the side."

What is
CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
Dr. G. C. Osgood,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
Dr. J. F. Kincheloe,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. Archer, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Newspapers in the Schoolroom.

Newspapers have as much place in the schoolroom as histories and grammars.

The clean country and city papers teach language, history, civil government, geography and spelling. Their teachings are all fresh.

There are parents who object to teachers carrying newspapers into the schoolroom. They argue that children, by reading the newspapers, become too familiar with the doings of criminals.

This plea is a feeble one. Children will soon learn that sensations have nothing to do with real history or the world's advancement. 'Tis even better to know of wars and murders than to know the gossip and scandal of the neighborhood.—Missouri Democrat.

They Cure The Cause.

Most of the discomfort in life comes from the stomach. You'll admit that without argument. The proof is in your own stomach. A great many seemingly different diseases come from the common cause—a disordered stomach. Coming from one cause, it is natural that they should all be cured by one medicine. Ripans Tabules not only cure the disease they cure the cause.

They are good for dyspepsia, biliousness, headache, constipation, dizziness and all troubles of the stomach, liver and bowels. Druggists sell them.

WASHINGTON NOTES

GOSSIP OF THE CAPITAL IN BRIEF PARAGRAPHS.

Doings of the Chiefs and Heads of the Various Departments.

The treasury department has promulgated regulations governing the importation of articles for exhibition at the Cotton States and International exposition at Atlanta, Ga. The regulations follow closely those enforced at Chicago for the Columbian exposition.

A Washington special says: At last it is definitely announced that a new bond issue will be made the moment the gold reserve is threatened. This news is said to come straight from the president. The same syndicate that secured the last issue will probably get them, as by the terms of the former contract this syndicate has the preference in case of another issue. From present indications it will not be long before the new issue is made. About $1,600,000 in gold was withdrawn Monday for shipment abroad, leaving but $1,300,000 above the $100,000,000 mark.

The inauguration of a series of naval evolutions and strategic maneuvers greater than ever attempted before in this country was marked Wednesday by the departure of the cruiser New York, Montgomery and Cincinnati from New York to Newport. For the next two months these vessels, with several others belonging to the north Atlantic squadron, will execute a marine program, extending from Hampton Roads, Va., to Halifax, N. S., which will include a strategic attack on New York and the working out of a number of problems prepared by the naval war college.

To Recall the Atlanta.

The navy department has practically decided to recall the cruiser Atlanta from her present duty of watching for Cuban filibustering expeditions off the Florida coast, and to substitute the cruiser Cincinnati in her place. It has been considered best, however, not to make the change at present, because the departure of the Cincinnati would interfere with the coming maneuvers of the north Atlantic squadron. The change will take place very soon, however, and the Atlanta will return to New York where she will probably go into dry dock, and then if sufficient time remains and there is no urgent need for her services elsewhere she will take the Cincinnati's place with the squadron.

To Investigate the Kucheng Riot.

Advices have been received at the state department that Minister Denby is consulting with the British and Chinese authorities relative to the full and complete investigation of the riot at Kucheng. The commission had not yet been appointed, but it was being formed. There is no doubt expressed at the state department that United States interests will be carefully looked after when this commission is appointed. It is stated also that Minister Denby, so far, has done all that was possible for a representative of the government to do to bring about reparation and redress. The state department has given such instructions as will cause the minister to neglect nothing that will insure better protection of the interests of Americans in China.

The Egyptian council of ministers have formed a commission to investigate and determine practical means for the destruction of the cotton caterpillar in that country. The commission will be assisted by a botanist, entomologist and chemist. Twenty-five hundred dollars have been voted to defray the expenses of the investigation. United States Consul General Penfield, at Cairo, who forwards this information to the state department, shows that the caterpillar has been destroyed in the past by picking and burning all the leaves on which eggs or young caterpillars were found. The consul general states that the cheapness of Egyptian labor enabled the foregoing methods to be followed at a cost of about 6 shillings an acre.

To Protect the Reserve.

Evidence that the Belmont-Morgan bond syndicate intends to protect the gold reserve of the treasury against raids upon it for export to Europe was received at the treasury department by Acting Secretary Curtis Tuesday afternoon. A telegram from Acting Treasurer Muhleman reached him, stating that J. P. Morgan & Co. had deposited $1,346,000 in gold coin in exchange for United States notes.

A previous telegram to the department contains the information that $900,000 of gold coin had been withdrawn from the subtreasury for export Wednesday. With this deposit of gold by the syndicate their deposits since the gold exports have been resumed on a large scale reached a total of $3,346,600. It is estimated that with exchange at the high figure quoted—$4.90½@$4.90¾—a net profit of $3,000 on each $1,000,000 gold exported is made by the shippers. Treasury officials are much gratified at the action of the syndicate, as it is construed to mean that they will not permit the gold reserve to fall below $100,000,000.

The Striking Miners.

The striking miners of Marquette, Mich., marched in a body to each of the mines tied up by the strike to ascertain what terms the companies had decided to offer. They were headed by a committee representing the miners' union. The committee sought a conference with the managers at each mine, but they were told that none but actual employes would be recognized. This was the the first effort on the part of the strikers to ascertain what concession in wages the companies would make.

To Consider the Paper Trust.

A meeting of newspaper publishers throughout the country at some centrally located city is contemplated at an early day to consider the question of the paper manufacturers' trust, which has been lately organized. The movement for the meeting has its origin, it is said, with the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

SHIPPED ITS LAST ORE

For the Present Year—Action of Michigan Mines.

It is rumored that at least one of the big Ishpeming (Mich.) mines has shipped its last ore for 1895, and it is believed by many that the mining companies are not averse to having the present strike continue until the close of navigation. The ore now mined and stocked will bring 50 cents or $1 more per ton next season than this year. There are 750,000 tons in Ishpeming stock piles, with enough in the country to bring the figures up to an even million tons. There is already much want among the strikers and their families, and now that stores will sell for cash only, absolute starvation will face hundreds of families within a few weeks.

UNLUCKY CYCLISTS.

Fined for Fast Riding and Ordered to Work the Streets.

At Lincoln, Neb., three British bicycle tourists—Edward Clegg, Coleman Nichols and Henry Cartstensen—refuse to work out their sentences for fast riding, and will seek the protection of the British government's authorities in this country. They were arrested and fined $1 and costs each, aggregating $5.70 each. They have plenty of money, but refused to pay and were committed to work on the streets. They would not work, but sat down under a load of hay.

THIRTY PER CENT PROFIT

Is What the Monetary Trust Will Return to Its Customers.

Wall street has been surprised again concerning the monetary trust. President Carley, in an interview at their office in the Tower building, predicts that the next movement of the trust will return profits to its customers of more than 30 per cent in the early future. The fact that the trust has made so much money heretofore, combined with the general caution of the officers, has caused this bold prediction to attract much attention.

BICYCLISTS AWAY AHEAD.

Both in Distance Covered and Cash on Hand.

W. B. Taylor and C. H. Mitchell, two Denver, Col., wheelmen who started from their home June 28th to ride to Philadelphia on a wager that they could reach that city by August 25th, earning $500 on their way, arrived at Tyrone, Pa., Tuesday, being nine days ahead of schedule time. They have earned $430 of the money by giving concerts. They expect to reach Philadelphia by Saturday.

Distilleries Will be Sold.

Justice O'Brien, of the supreme court at New York has handed down a decision denying the application for an injunction to restrain the sale of seventeen distilleries of the old whisky trust, and the sale will be held as contemplated.

Holmes to be Tried in Chicago.

A Philadelphia special says: It has practically been decided that Holmes, the alleged murderer of Minnie and Nannie Williams, R. B. Fitch and half a dozen others, will go to Chicago for trial for the murder of the Williams girls.

Three Dead, Ten Wounded.

A boiler of a steam thrasher at work near Oakland, I. T., exploded Wednesday killing three men and injuring ten others. The cause of the disaster is not known, as the engineer is too badly hurt to say anything.

Pugilist Corbett Married.

The statement is printed in New York papers that James J. Corbett and Jessie Taylor, known as "Vera" Stanwood, were married at Asbury Park Thursday. The marriage is said to have been private.

New Furnace in Tennessee.

The furnace of the Embreeville Iron Company, at Embreeville, Tenn., will go into blast September 15th. It has a capacity of 200 tons of metallic iron per day.

GROWTH OF THE SOUTH.

The Industrial Situation as Reported for the Past Week.

Reports regarding southern industrial matters for the past week show a continuance of the satisfactory condition of business, with increased activity and improved outlook in lumber.

The iron industries all over the south are busy, many being compelled to decline orders for early delivery; the iron production of the south is considerably increased.

A feature of the lumber market was the placing of an order for one hundred million feet of pine by a St. Louis company with a Mississippi manufacturer, and is regarded as significant of the activity in the future.

Southern hardware houses report better business. The activity in new textile industries in the south, according to all reports received, shows no signs of abatement, the number of important cotton manufacturing companies organized during the week being considerably larger than usual. The following concerns have advanced the wages of employes: Glamorgan Pipe & Foundry Co., Lynchburg, Va.; the Watt Iron and Steel Syndicate, Middlesborough, Ky., advance of 10 per cent., and the LaBelle Iron Works, Wheeling, W. Va., 10 per cent. advance.

Among the most important new industries reported for the week are two cotton compresses at Newport, Ark., to cost $80,000 and $60,000; a 100-barrel flouring mill at Fredericksburg, Va., foundry and machine shops at Morrillton, Ark., and iron works at Birmingham, Ala. A $50,000 piano manufacturing company has been chartered at Charleston, S. C., a $80,000 cotton oil company at Clarksville, Texas, a $500,000 cotton mill company at Meridian, Miss., a $100,000 cotton mill will be erected at Raleigh, N. C., and one to cost $25,000 at Newport News, Va. An $80,000 water, light and ice company has been incorporated at Weatherford, Texas, a $200,000 lumber company at Morgantown, W. Va., and one with a capital of $125,000 at Whitfield, Fla.

Among the enlargements reported for the week is a flouring mill at Port Republic, Va., cotton mills at Stanley Creek, and Union, S. S., and woodworking plants at Hartman, Miss., and Florence, Ala.

The list of new buildings include a bank building at Galveston, Texas, to cost $53,500; a $10,000 church at Raleigh, N. C., a $20,000 depot at Lynchburg, Va., a $13,000 hotel at Cleburne, Texas, a $50,000 office building at Galveston, Texas, penitentiary for Tennessee to cost $300,000 and a $25,000 school building at Ruston, La.—Tradesman (Chattanooga, Tenn.)

Iron Foundry Destroyed.

The whole of the iron foundry of the Knowles steam pump works, at Warren, Mass., have been burned. One pattern house adjoining was also burned with all the patterns. The loss is estimated at over $175,000, fully covered by insurance.

Over fifty years under the control of one family, and in their full possession forty-five years, has been removed from LaGrange, Ga., and opens its 53rd session in Manchester (College Park), Atlanta, September 11, 1895. The new brick building, with electric lights, water-works, steam-heating, accommodates 300 boarders. Campus of 25 acres. Library, museum, laboratory, telescope. Thirty in faculty. Mrs. Sallie Cox Stanton and Miss Alice Cox, Directors of Music. Pupils attend Exposition; Alumnæ Day, Nov. 7. European party next summer. ADDRESS C. C. COX, PRES., OR W. S. COX, BUS. MANAGER, MANCHESTER, GEORGIA.

Old Virginia Ketchup.

Take one peck of green tomatoes, half a peck of white onions, three ounces of white mustard seed, one ounce each of allspice and cloves, half a pint of mixed mustard, an ounce of black pepper and celery seed each, and one pound of brown sugar, writes Eliza R. Parker in an article on "Some Pungent Ketchups," in the July Ladies' Home Journal. Chop the tomatoes and onions, sprinkle with salt and let stand three hours; drain the water off; put in a preserve kettle with the other ingredients. Cover with vinegar and set on the fire to boil slowly for one hour.

Hadn't Thought of That.

Several nights ago a well-known physician bought a package of peanuts from a Main street peddler, and while the man was measuring out his purchase the doctor drew a cigar from his pocket and proceeded to light it.

The peddler looked at him with a sorrowful expression on his face. "They don't smoke in heaven," he said.

"No," answered the doctor. "Neither do they sell peanuts."—Buffalo Courier.

The Cox College.

The Southern Female College, removed from LaGrange, Ga., to Manchester, near Atlanta, has been in charge of the Bacon-Cox family over fifty years. In the new location the facilities and advantages of the College are doubled, and it now stands in the front rank of Southern colleges.

TAILORS ON STRIKE.

Five Thousand Pants and Jacket Workers Out.

Five thousand jacket and pants makers at New York went on a strike Wednesday morning. Besides these, fifteen hundred other workers, classed as unskilled workers, are thrown out of work. By noon fully nine thousand tailors had quit work. The children's jacket workers' union called out all its members. There are besides some twenty-five hundred pants makers and nearly four thousand unorganized workmen who have been forced out of employment by the strike. Men and women are joining the strikers each hour. The coat makers and shirt makers will probably go out in the course of a week or two, which will swell the number of strikers up to fully twenty thousand men.

SEVENTEEN ROBBERS KILLED.

Executed by Mexican Authorities for Robbing a Messenger.

Advices from Fronteras, Sonora, Mex., say that six weeks ago Colonel John Weirs, a messenger, was killed and $6,000 taken by highwaymen in Sonora, south of Bisbee. The Mexican authorities have pursued the bandits with unrelenting vigor. Seventeen of the number, who were in some way concerned in the affair, have been convicted and shot. One of the accused was an American. Forty others who belonged to or sympathized with the robbers have been pressed into the Mexican army. Nearly all who were taken were from Fronteras. All of the robbers who had infested that region have been shot or are under arrest.

TAYLOR GETS FIVE YEARS.

He Robbed the South Dakota Treasury of $367,000.

At Pierre, S. D., Wednesday, ex-Treasurer Taylor was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. The court room was crowded when the sentence was pronounced. The defendant in reply to a question as to whether he had anything to say, said: "I have not."

The court then reviewed the crime and the statutes bearing on the case. He considered the much discussed section void and intimated that the two-year sentence was not intended to cover such a case. The worst part of Taylor's crime, in the estimation of the judge, was that he had tried to force a compromise after getting his hands on all the state funds he could.

BICKERING OVER THE BELL.

The Courts Asked to Keep "Old Liberty" Away from Atlanta.

A bill in equity has been filed in the common pleas court at Philadelphia to have an injunction issued restraining the city from taking the Liberty Bell to the Atlanta exposition.

The bill is filed by Thomas G. Morton, Wm. F. Frazier, Wm. S. Bligh, Wendell B. Bowman, Joel J. Bailey, Samuel R. Shipley, Harry Rogers and George Phillips, citizens and taxpayers, in behalf of themselves and all others who may care to intervene. The bill sets forth that the Bell is too precious and historic to be endangered by such a long journey.

BEN AND MARION SPEAK.

They Entertain a Large Crowd at Concord, N. C.

Senator Ben Tillman, of South Carolina, and Marion Butler, of North Carolina, spoke to 3,000 people at Concord, N. C., Tuesday. They both made strong free silver speeches. While not flatly coming out in favor of a new party, there was a strong intimation that way in the speeches of both. They both advocated the getting together of all silver men of all shades of opinion to nominate a president in 1896.

CORN TAKES AN UPWARD JUMP.

Short Selling Has Been Overdone and Cash is Demanded.

Corn made a 2-cent advance at Chicago Tuesday, shooting up to 38¼ for September, after selling at 36 Monday. The short selling, it was stated, has been overdone and the cash demand has finally made itself felt. There is also a better demand for cash oats from the seaboard. All the markets here—wheat, corn and oats—appear to be on a cash basis.

NINE BULLETS IN DINKINS.

His Killing by Marshall and Friends Regarded as Murder.

The killing of R. F. Dinkins at Brandon, Miss., by Senator Dabney Marshall and his friends, Coleman, Fox and Volars, of Vicksburg, is considered by many as the most foul murder ever committed. Nine bullets were found in Dinkins' body, four of which entered the back and one the back of his head.

SMALLPOX ON THE INCREASE

Among the Negro Colonists Who are Quarantined in Texas.

There are now 335 negroes in the government quarantine camp, near Eagle Pass, Texas, and thirty more refugees from the abandoned Mexican colony are looked for. There are 120 patients in the smallpox hospital and deaths average five per day. New cases are on the increase.

Signing a New Contract.

About 1,500 tailors of the Protective Brotherhood at New York have resumed work. The strikers stated that many of the contractors who have signed the new contract are prominent members of the Contractors' associations. The contractors denied positively that their ranks had been broken, and continue to state that they will not grant any concessions to the strikers.

At Their Own Risk.

A London cable dispatch says: Though Lord Salisbury is determined to avenge the recent massacre of foreigners at Kucheng and the other outrages committed by the Chinese mob at that place, he refuses to entertain the claims of the missionary societies that their agents be protected wherever they may go, and in this action the premier is backed up by the liberals.

Trials of Newspaper Men.

"One of the great trials of the newspaper profession," says T. DeWitt Talmage, "is that its members are compelled to see more of the shams of the world than any other profession.

"Through every newspaper office, day after day, go all the weaknesses of the world; all the vanities that want to be puffed; all the revenges that want to be heaped; all the mistakes that want to be corrected; all the dull speakers that want to be thought eloquent; all the meanness that want to get its wares noticed gratis in the editorial columns, in order to save the tax of the advertising columns; all the men who want to be set right who were never right; all the crack brain philosophers with stories as long as their hair, and as gloomy as their finger nails in mourning because bereft of soap—all the bores who come in to stay five minutes, but who stay five hours.

"Through the editorial and repotorial rooms all the follies and shams of the world are seen day after day, and the temptation is to believe in neither God, man or woman. It is no surprise that in the profession there are some skeptical men; I only wonder that journalists believe anything."

ODDS AND ENDS.

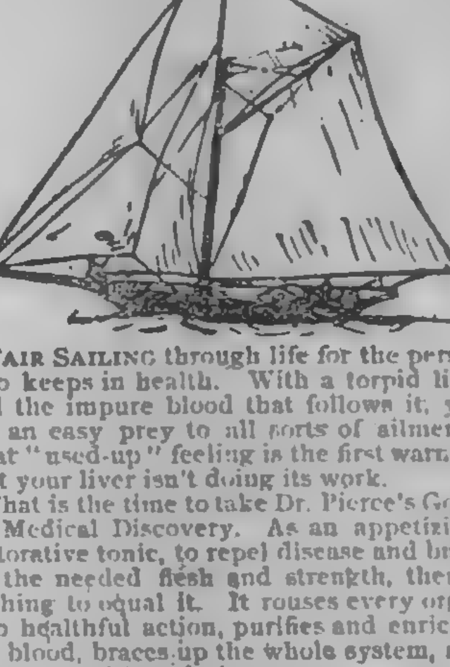
Two catfish, one weighing 35 pounds and the other 42 pounds, were found in a saw log in a Minnesota mill the other day.

Bicyclists must first learn to ride fairly well before they are allowed to use their wheels in the public streets of Russian cities.

The acreage planted to corn in Kansas this year is reported as 8,410,948 acres, which is greater than ever before planted in this state.

A pair of Siamese twin eggs were laid by a hen at Union Springs, Ala., a few days ago. The eggs were perfectly formed, though small, and were joined together by a hollow neck of shell.

G. K. Gilbert, of the United States geological survey, has discovered three valuable deposits of fireclay in Pueblo county, Col. The find is likely to prove of great importance in Colorado, as the furnaces connected with the smelting of silver ore and the making of iron require a large annual supply of this substance.



FAIR SAILING through life for the person who keeps in health. With a torpid liver and the impure blood that follows it, you are an easy prey to all sorts of ailments. That "used-up" feeling is the first warning that your liver isn't doing its work.

That is the time to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, to repel disease and build up the needed flesh and strength, there's nothing to equal it. It rouses every organ into healthful action, purifies and enriches the blood, braces up the whole system, and restores health and vigor.
